

City, community, monastery or hotel design and experiments

City Experiments

version 0.4.1 01/09/2026

by michael alexander van diermen

+61.401824126

mvandiermen@outlook.com

<https://chooseneighbors.com>

Choose neighbors, is a partly non for profit start up, helping people have more fulfilling lives and activities, and to help make money for investors by adding value to property and peoples wallets, by lives, work, projects, affordable homes and services, and to encourage people to migrate to and buy property.

This book includes an area design for more interesting inclusive life, and to help people be part of it's design forever, helping create a better more meaningful feeling of life. To open up work options for people and make work feel more rewarding.

This book is unfinished, unchecked, you can contact me for other 60% of this book.

|

I'd like to refine this for the business plan, it's a book of ideas, as such some Im sorry about some of the random things I have thought.

|

For investors please see “Start Plan, Make money” and “Work, projects, activities”

A note before reading

This is a book of ideas — some carefully developed, some written down in the moment and left as they came. It is part proposal and part personal journal, and I have not fact-checked or researched the claims it makes.

You will find ideas for community design, inventors' organisations, casual work, and city planning alongside more personal writing about isolation, work, and frustration. Some passages are harsh or one-sided. I don't actually believe people, government, or daily life are as bad as I sometimes write them — that is how things felt on particular days, not how I think they are in general. If negative views of work, society, or other people are not what you came for, the more personal sections are easier to skip than to argue with.

If anything here is useful, take it. The rest you can leave.

Table of contents:

Choose neighbours

Survey / plan

Why 2542

Community development

Index of ideas for people to choose for their community

Design your area

Meeting area

Title

Housing affordability

Limit prices to construction costs

Building plan 7429014412

Modular home sections and work available anytime.

Continued in: Moving: how it could work & Everyone owns a home &

Low income room ownership

Start plan 2, cheap

Start plan, make money

Good one

List communities of interest to choose neighbours

List of monasteries with society designs

List communities of interest to ideas and being built from ideas

List of theoretical collections of city design ideas

About me and this project

Isolation / hikikomori

Hate thy neighbour, the real problem
How to escape the nothingness
Get me out of here
The Pit
More to life
What you get / what your missing
Holidays vs community and or eternal better life at home by design
Forming your own local council
 Important
 How to
 What you get
Work, projects, activities, things to do
 Work
 Work 2
 List interests
 List activities
 User listed activities to join
Demand / availability work vs shift work
Survey facilitation part 1
 Organizers
 Representatives
 The bystander effect
Area developers
Untitled
For higher conscious
To serve the light
 Pay tax
Survey high ?
Guild navigator foundation
 Government council society design inclusion / organisers
 Facilitating high vibratory environments
Community for better consciousness
Friends networking app for activities and housing
Moving: How it could work
Everyone owns a home
 Low income room ownership
X Nearest Neighbors Algorithm
Robot pickers and delivery and moving option

Automation promotions and staff free stores/production

Organised area....

Casual work

Eureka Town

The New Atlantis

Invention counsellor / invention organisation

2015

invention analyser under agreement

Invention Analyser Under Agreement

Invention analyzer. Invention appraisal score

Energy survey

Google City

City wishlist and peoples ideas

Untitled

#7494848

Untitled

Untitled

AI some ideas on

AI based community

Predictive Search 2014 *****

Tick box 2014

Guardian, support and mentor app. Stage 1

Stage 2

Tick box continued

Potential

A game about augmented support life

Areas. tick box continued

20 options

End 2014

Untitled

Don't read

Disclaimer

Painkillers

Town with no shop and one doctor \(maybe no doctor\)

Town with no work

You're the creator of your own future

Things to do screen

Henry George

free money Important

Around me #5

Around me #3

Around me #2

Around me #1

Bordom

Henry George

Disclaimer bit

Old apartment fund

more productive

Psychology by Mike

Living without disturbance

AI community ideas continued

Choose neighbours

Instead of finding a place to live with your friends, the idea is to make a place where, homes are available for friends to move into for everyone there, There are always some homes free and some being used for other things can be made available , and anyone can move to new homes at any time

People design their own community

People live in a place where homes are affordable so they don't need to work full time if they choose

I like many people don't socialize much or feel like they have a local community due to needing to make appointments far from their home.

=====

People choose their neighbours, organisers self nominate themselves, ideas are given and contributed to work on.

That's all, you can stop reading this now, go make that and come up with your own ideas once you're living there around people or use some of mine below.

An area where people choose their neighbours by application (social network app, like Facebook).

Homes are owned by paying off with interest or purchased at government valued prices. Where all areas have variable home prices.

Local governments are made. And other governments are designed. Group locations are either or both location plotter based on similar friends, choice of local organisers, etc.

Each group of people has an extra area for open construction.

People design and govern their own areas, they have the option to choose if everyone can be part of it design or just a few, it should be the goal of people within it and outside of it to see that opportunities that people think of and designs for community within them are implemented.

See below

how moving can work

nearest neighbours algorithm

=====

Where all areas have variable home prices.

Always things to do and good feeling about life.

More social interaction and partnership formation.

Self forming government promotions.

Idea generation for things to do , systems.

New system of governments and idea sharing.

As described later use of app to help.

Survey / plan

All people are given a survey. It asks:

Would you like to rent or buy

Would you like to live around friends and have your own council

Yes

No

Note , to do so may require moving more

If someone chooses to live around friends then system and housing options as described below in city area. If they choose not to then they can buy rent or be homeless wherever they want in the other side of city.

Upon entry people are shown and promoted a sign to fill out survey optionally, starts with:

Why are you here ?

Visit

Stay

Delivery

Other

What's your budget / How much space would you like

Why 2542

What makes people happy: “

- Seeing friends more often
You need your friends around
- Being able to work alone, or with friends (in small groups?), like in a bakery, or boat repair shop, and when we feel we helping others, in our own, minor way improving the world, Its a sense of making a difference.
- A feeling of calm
Our minds pure, free...
Not full of the normal boredom and chaos”
Epicurus

Living in your own home, that feels like your home. Maybe despite moving to due to community or towards people around.

Worrying about your environment or life could be more inclusive to fix.

=====

At least if you could go out and see all these places and people your not parts of anything with, as the jungle, and go home to place and with people your part of.

Continued in #7494848

=====

Emanuel Swedenborg / Curtis Childs :

“So you have a spirit, and the spirit is, in the spiritual world, somewhere, you’re already in that world, that your spirits is never alone, you human beings are actually very, very communal creatures. So you always have with you at least four spirits. Swedenborg talks about how they’re necessary for you to have consciousness because they have to create sort of an equilibrium between love and selfishness so that we can make our own choices. There’s this whole complex mechanics of how that works. So you have spirits around you, and you’re being influenced by not just them. But the whole spiritual community, that you’re in each of us throughout our lives are in a spiritual community, that changes as you are the kind of person you are changes. “

“You go in search of your home, everybody has a home in heaven, because each of us, as I said, are a unique form of love. Like we, we are some kind of love and the understanding that comes from that, that is not like anybody else ever has been or will be in there some place in heaven, that is the perfect fit for us. And there’s some community that’s full of people who are similar to us, it’s similar enough that we will feel like, these are my people like this, this is my I feel home with these people. So we you travel through the Spiritual World, everyone’s very visit different communities, people are friendly, but you know, when you’re like I want to keep moving, I’m not home yet. Until finally you find a place where you feel like, Oh, this is it. And there’s even even actually, literally a house there. That’s waiting, because the house is a correspondence with the mind. So over the course of our life on Earth, we’ve essentially been building this heavenly house, and then you get there, move in. And then life life really begins. Because as Swedenborg says, there's, there's much more to do and learn and see in the afterlife than there is here. It's kind of like, this was this was like, you know, getting ready for life. And there's where it really goes."

"As you grow up, you move to different communities. That's why you change as you grow up. But ultimately, we're being influenced by whatever community we're in at the time, as I said, just a minute ago, spiritual world is much more communal, then this one, in that you can actually if you're having a feeling of love, or joy, you can like directly transfer it to somebody, you can, you can give them that feeling. And also as as described in many near death experiences, you can communicate thoughts directly, doesn't even have to be through verbal sound. So we are constantly actually being sort of feeling the influence of these communities. And it shows up in the way that we feel and that we think Swedenborg mentions just a couple of times that normally the influence we have from spirits, it goes into our own memory and activates things within there. For example, the dreams that you have some of those I don't know what percentage are spurred by conversations that the spirits around you are having. But you know how your dreams have stuff from your life a lot of the time, like, you'll see people that you know"

"In the afterlife, everything there is shaped by what with the love and the wisdom that people have, that the homes that they live in, they the environment that's around them is a reflection of the things that are deeper within them, is a place where love and even thoughts can be shared communally from from person to person, is a place where everyone can sense and feel the love of everyone else in consensus and feel the love from God. So it is both something that's familiar and way above and beyond anything that we've experienced here."

Continue in #820199666

=====

"The Commonality was a psycho-dimensional web which formed a matrix of shared energy that connected the psyches. Individual manifested themselves as blue orbs with blue linking lines of energy being the ties that binded the species together. Each member of the species acted as a transmitter that broadcasted its thoughts into the Commonality and thus was capable of being isolated and severed through technological means. Those that faced such an act were ripped from the unifying presence of the Commonality and devolved into an Atavus (lost rational mind and become angry). “

Gene Roddenberry and David Kirschner

-

People may become upset by life, the people around them and the city, and or in isolation, but given a community and way to deal with problems, feeling welcome in a community that cares about ones problems, directing their disturbance to fix something instead of dislike and frustration in not being able to fix things or live the way they are living.

Instead of a place of strangers that seems to have formed not government or fixed such problems and is not able at least by my vision or will.

=

Spirits to fill the empty void and screen filled with delusions.

Partner ship formation through the spiritual connections causing dreams.

=

Mind wanders through space around them, and sees everyone in their home and area, but if unknown it will block that area, or if it's a shared area will give them a sense of energy about the environment which their share.

=

Friends seeing in life outside area is good for commonality but lose energy fast.

Friends seeing in area energy lasts long.

Energy to protect and make area good is present when known people.

About making time to see people vs running into them outside or participating in something locally.

participating in something locally would also create more social connections rather than working for strangers.

=

Energy is good from self sacrifice for the people in area or friends elsewhere.

=

Is a place where lives are spent in existence and for future lives in existence and is seen and something that should be developed as such.

=====

I have always known the most important thing is the people around.
It affects the spirit, and the spirit affects the health and mental condition.
It is an ignorant government that would make homes unaffordable, that would live with their partner in good spirit and work with their chosen, but not look at policy that would make this easy for other people.

=====

Having a house near people you like with some meeting spaces, designed events, things to do, and ..x.., will create a better environment for energy, and sense of life and things to do. Unlike the energy I have had a lot of my life without such, and which I have seen in many people. Unlike the people I see now who don't seem to understand this is important and who which think this reality is fine and or to an individuals life here is just to try to move forward for themselves. Unfortunately this type of person I see 98% of the time.

A sense of spiritually, community, and x instead of isolation, dislike, and x
It's about the way things are structured.
One will cause health and long life, and one will cause sickness and shorter lives. Although it may help also to think of one over the other.

<https://youtube.com/clip/UgkxmTO6PdVZk3Xc-zquKhY5IIAPLV50BNHF>

This guy, asks if there's a way for one to use his mind for the good then things will be better than the mine would be better,. If people around those they like in an environment where they can change things and do things they're really want to do, it's a better design

https://youtube.com/clip/UgkxobKVEvi46_HUiIjcDjGMX1V_dZBkcGx

==

#19393984

If I feel grateful I feel relaxed, if I feel like on the dead pile of humans to be nothing alone as x.

I mean two hours work here you get 2 or 3 days worth of good food, I am grateful.

There are many new billionaires in this city

I mean people who sit there drinking or reading it playing bad games and media and , waste away... I mean billionaires don't seem to care about me or this problem, their just happy they are providing hard or taxing work for people or over priced houses or something, just like the government. I have been told to work towards my dream and I am free to do so, but unfortunately it just comes down to not, and being in the dead pile nothing to do of nothing misery. At least I can eat well because I do a bit of work and don't pay too much rent or mortgage like most people would yet, but maybe that too later.

I can forget the state of life I live and feel grateful for the food, and easy life... wasting my time and some reflection brings it back. I will try to be happy with a simple life but hope for more.

Continued in #58483838

=====

If you see there is no community, just an economy of strangers, and want to make something different, then you should read this.

It's my hope that some time someone like me would have some power for their ideas of community , including sharing ideas , building in their area and helping others with work opportunities, etc.

That some time someone like me could time som time to think about it and be in good environment to feel peace for development to make it how it should be for such a thing , and to develop more...

=====

isolation and people around that one does not like causes disturbance. there is some sort of void in life unless one makes to to see people, community can be designed to make seeing people easier, people will feel like they a part of something they can design. For old people who would otherwise not have.

It is about the people around. Instead of a world seen as a nation, may piss someone off, there is local community and interaction that fills the mind, where there are ways to change things.

====

meaning to environment
some sort of community where ideas are freely given and shared within where things can be worked on together because they have power and systems for it
If ones sees life as a community, not alone against and ignored, and disrespected by such things problems fixed for, the problems seem important and can be seen in details, but if there is no system to get them fixed.
? Sending letters to government, but if we have no local community who are we helping

=====

Having local people to talk to about what they want to do would also give more inspiration to do it.

Owning your own space that can be sold, by means of selling in free market side of town to replace cost. Renting is taking away ones power.

Giving people roles in jobs they are interested in at a time would give them some experience and power towards their future.

=====

People say you can't change the world outside of you or make people do what you want.
If we designed and created a gated community together, then we control the outside world.

People can be left without, people can be stuck in war, people can become sick, have no homes, so maybe you may feel the need to make something different.

If you were stuck in the start of the Virginia Company and people were dying you may want to make something else, it is a matter of making it.

Seeing the world can make people sick so they tell themselves they can't change it and try to find inner peace without it, because it is not there to change or a part of their, but here is a design to make it so.

Working conditions left to the random business persons and strangers they employ while people in your community are not offered work.

Make some things nicer and more available rather than leaving this to strangers and politicians who will never know you were ever alive.

====

Managed Decline or The Controlled Demolition of the Present

Although Managed Decline may be on a state and nation level there are things you can do in your community to help with The Controlled Demolition of the Present and things to come, and help changing the system to help yourself be more productive and happier.

Things people may not recognize as part of civilizations decline like how does it feel like to wake up with nothing good to do, in perpetual isolation, maybe that it's my fault, not seeing anyone, having ideas for where no one seems to have this as a subject in life or cares, it seems like oblivion that no one cares about, at least for my life, but it's not so uncommon, or if I see someone regularly like live with them it seems like a place I can't fix that I'm disturbed by, I can't help myself let alone anyone else, but then again it's not so uncommon for someone to be homeless, going through bins addicted to drugs that cost so much they never have money for anything else, and this isn't a subject either.

Maybe there's a civil war somewhere and some people are suffering and dying but they all think like there's no problem here.

Maybe their population is growing by 400% and ours is shrinking by 50% but that's ok because some humans will still exist in life.

Things like this that if you were given a community of people you chose you may see similar ideas.

Schools and families sometimes implement ideas but after you leave this you may find yourself alone in an economy that doesn't really know you.

==

Some people feel like they don't have a community and they live in a city of strangers and there is no reason to stay here. Although this would be the case before the way it has become has worsened this.

There is higher mental health issues, financial stress, inequality, etc, the government is prioritizing supporting unemployment and people by giving them money, and spending money for people to migrate in to the country while they devalue the currency doing so, but they don't teach people how to manage inflation and people are losing their saving if they hold cash, an example of something you may want to improve in your community by being part of council if you care about the people around and have more integrated council systems.

The current system is to provide compensation excess labor market to businesses while mostly leaving the working conditions up to businesses, this may work for this type of national economy focused system but isn't so nice in way life time work is for people who don't successfully invest their money or dedicate their lives to moving up the ladder.

Community development

People develop their own community. People can elect themselves as part of their local government, and develop ideas to make things better, solve local problems, provide local opportunity, create social opportunity, make up what systems they like, setup their own community the way they vision it, work on things they vision, organise space to build more property for anyone who can later sell or use it. Tax should be given for such ideas that help develop community or solve local problems.

Index of ideas for people to choose for their community

This is a list of ideas people can discuss and integrate into their community.

Design your area

People may join social groups or activities for some life. It has been said that it's rewarding for a while but does not last and people become same type of unhappy if that's what they think they need so it's better to be happy without it at least some times.

What I thought is community at home of choose neighbours, that's like a game we design, instead of a game?sorting group some one joins like netball. Each group gets to design their own game. For mine I have lots of ideas including which to make people have more power, relationships, and be more easily able to work and or share ideas or dreams

Arnold Schwarzenegger said you got to have a dream, otherwise you just go about not knowing where you are going, and 70% not happy with their work.

I could design thousand games but they don't mean anything to people here. There is just one game I have is in the pit, like being poor and people are supposed to work too hard for a house if you can and dull you mind and walk around to what ever comes your way which is nothing and bad for most people (if anything),and in the end nothing means anything.

I could design thousand games, but is for the people in their own groups to do so is rewarding for them the most, and it is about the people who are in the game that changes it, that the game is designed around , that they may choose from lists of ideas from others as well,

That they may not all die alone as nothing with no memory of them or anything they have done.

a map is made and they can choose where to be in it near people and groups they want and then they are positioned into a place on the map to live.

=====

#20220608

Ideally there are large buildings that can be separated depending on budget and people live in a particular area depending on people's friends they choose, and people who have ideas for life of people around them are promoted.

Cities lacking this as they all do then: people arrange places for people to go for strangers and people occasionally arrange events for loosely connected friends that they don't often see, causing loss of possibility vision and energy for life and people, and loss of love of people around, isolation, and other problems.

Many more example of how this can work else where.

Each group of people can select other groups of people. Each group has standard council systems to get things paid for. Council owned areas.

Whole area government supp

=====

People are free to live with people they choose and do things they like. Its been difficult for me and I seem to get nowhere and reflect on that. I contemplate whether designing choose neighbours area is bad idea, where as i can try just to live with people i want, people have families and , On the other hand I probably won't, and this seem like what i want

I dont like getting up for work each day, but I want work options. The retirement age is young I think because most companies rather employ younger people, but in smaller communities I would hope that older people have some role as seems like give them meaning in life.

I should have been happy living by myself and made effort to go out and see people i like. But I did not much.

However a lot of people do live with families and or go out and see people they like, but a lot dont and this is my problem.

=====

Capitalism is the premise that people get lots of money and then invest in other things as means to make more money and keep society running, people buy houses in suburbs but dont have community

Which leaves people just to look after their own business and life, and lacks the role of organisers for community who would look at and helps people with the dreams, organise events, etc. Events are also made for money, and most places to go are to be with strangers or pairs and buy food or alcohol.

=====

Some people spend most time at home alone, and if some people come over normally because they want something then that's who they see.

Other people go out more and or invite people around and seem more happy

First group of people would do better in a local community of good people and have local jobs. First group may do what they do because of procrastination like not doing personal projects and or socialising does not seem so important, or for , home is nice and why would people call others to come over all the time for no reason, or

So anyway it's common and I have designs for them, because it's terrible

People in proximity and part of life give them energy .

Not finished

====

It is disturbing vision of people who don't care about social economic problems.

Like fact a lot of people don't find good opportunities in life because they don't keep on at it. And no one cares. And then government says there's a worker shortage and just get more wankers coming in who don't care. And house prices become unaffordable. And no one cares.

It very disturbing that everyone acts like life is so great. It is for sure this is not somewhere I would want to live.

Another thought, reminds me of like some Chinese government going into tebet and destroying some monestries in the name of progress, and then the monks have no home , no community, no life , but some more industry in place of their community, and then suicide themselves.

This government may see progress over homes and community and lives (where progress may seem live improving environment or lives, whether it does or not is not certain to me) and people who have no homes and community and life are mostly irrelevant, but there is some opportunity for them, but then they live in that and eventually die.

Some people would have lived in places where community vision meant something, now it's nothing, where socialising is for the weekends, where people just go out, and may stop going out when they get older, and conscious is for how to make more money or nothing, or to design some advertising for some one.

And if they don't join it they become like homeless beggars or something. Does not matter how well off they would be otherwise, if they don't join the factory making things for some corporation or wanker for strangers, isolated.

I don't see how over thinking helps here, so , ideas don't seem important, helping community don't not seem important, just help yourself and dedicate yourself to simple things and don't change?.. so you can save money and make more money from rent and shares etc.

My life is easy, simple things get done easy, and most things are easy to buy and get done, by what people need, is good, with some simple work, and thats good if you think life is about shopping and working in a shop and going to places with strangers, and ideas don't matter and...

Like home are sold to strangers so there is no community and no government knows the people and purpose goes missing and lives go isolated. Etc.

=====

It's who I am and who most people are although they would not say it. Most people I have seen. Except when going out it may not seem like it. Reminds me of people just string in front of tvs by them selves not often going out. I don't want to be told I should call people to socialise more or go on a holiday to fix the problem. The problem is as I know it something else in a way I have written here to be fixed.

it won't change for me so much until I see more people in or around my home.

=====

You can design a place where, people don't get left as nothing, anyone in isolation or around wankers and people they hate for most of their lives. Maybe where they pay for a house instead of paying for someone else house for no reason. You could design on where people have input and contribute with some reason,
In my journal I have recently written about roles , if you can search for "roles"

There is no way to work with the government here on any of this. They are making it more difficult for people to own their own land, buy making it more expensive. They have no place or concept of community except the no community that they have always lived in.
They have no concept of networking people in to dreams and meaning of life.
No desire to help people live near friends or have community that way. No respect for ideas or conscious. something wrong with them that can't see any other way of having things done that aren't already the way they are.

=====

I think a lot and dream but don't do much. Only thing I do is working a bit to save a bit of money to hope one day buy a place where I live with friends so that more happens. But I may never live there.
I'm going to an event today with a friend but has been over a month since I have seen anyone except for at work. I talk to family and friends sometimes.

I know i am supposed to organise things to do, but i don't, and it won't happen probably, but given a different environment and way things work then my life will be different. It happens to a lot of people especially if old and live alone.

I don't feel sick or depressed very much this week, is good, but it is also disturbing life I live, especially in the past but I have seen much worse a lot. It has made me sick , especially the dislike and disturbance of people I have lived with, and nothing to do, although I have seen much worst.

Problem that some people can be up at night, or me that I don't know when I want to sleep, makes it a bit more difficult to want to make appointments.

====

This should be a human right for someone who wants it. Rather than being forced to accept whatever their national government decided should be.

==

if you don't like it you can't leave, unless maybe to another country where the people are different and they speak a different language, and they seem only to want you if you do that full time work.

But I could imagine before nationalism there were like small cities with policy and economy they made, instead of the national and international business driving the economy.

As written before there national governments without local community law force the same problems onto everyone so your whole country has the same problems and no where to go but places with different culture that seem only to want people coming in for work or investment.

Your not allowed to create a new

Tax should be given back more to the local areas it comes from, and only a percentage (10% direct + 15% national organisation?) given to other areas in the nation, they have screwed this place up for a lot of people, and these people don't leave. How is it to die in a place you don't believe in. For me it's like dying somewhere I can't make things right for someone like me. How am I supposed to want to fix anything when a few at the top change things to make whole nation the same and people in small communities barely talk to each other let alone change anything.

It is an ignorant government that would make homes unaffordable

People say you can't change the world outside of you or make people do what you want. But if you designed and created a community together, then we control the outside world.

People can escape their expensive city and live within choose neighbours and community areas, and design their own community by selection or their imagination.

=====

Under tax cuts for employing local people (friend groups) and local promotions of business

Under how it is where people don't like employing people who are friends because they talk too much

Under becoming Atavus without commonality

Under how we don't have community because the way we buy houses vs house swaps based on friends and house value and not location value

How long has it been like this where people just have jobs doing repetitive things for strangers "jobs". Some tribes now don't do this, but they still need to provide all these things and

I don't have a family at home but still feel I would like a tribe , if you understand this then you will see much more of why things are the way some people and things are

=====

Do we just participate in civilizations organisations

Or do we need to get together and develop our own origination

If you can see life is just work and some fake entertainment then maybe you can see there could be a greater organisation to life

If you are with friends then you like to do things together, if you are not with friends then it is not so good

You will die like people before us have died and the people in future will look upon reality and wonder what could be

I don't much like the opportunities or life haven taken most opportunities, and would like to create something different, which this itself is an opportunity, that would allow me to contribute something, ?some people may say I am cursing fate and I should just take some opportunities because other people can be very successful here

=====

1. Design plan and execute

Vs.

2. Wing it, Do whatever seems fun or whatever is available

The world is made for 2 unfortunately except maybe work where most people don't have good idea of what they want to do and get trapped in some businesses or industry

For 1 it does not work without community and council for known people
Nothing much is organised, people just look for some opportunity, but for 1 may leave them wondering an entire lifetime, and wasting time in anything meaningless is about as good as anything

=====

Once you get together with people, get to know them, and choose neighbors, then you can talk about life and what to do in the community. What to make or do. Visualise the people around and how to make things good.

Participate with people and area that can last entire life and future generations, or watch TV and participate in foreign events for strangers and die alone. It's up to you.

You should spend all your money on a famous actors shoes, because their people in your lives, but for the area and people around and their ideas and lives, they are life. Stop watching TV, unless it's for a plan or imagination for your area and people.

==

Time is never ending,
it's a perspective

With that you can fix the problems

What motivation is that people just do a job all day, for 40 years, could be better

How it could be more productive and

=====

By yourself

You can meditate on bring alive in life, until you see it,

Time, space, someone, conscious, etc. or just you in a thing called existence or space, seems to be fundamental state of being and understanding

Meditation on this together

We are conscious life forms, in an area, and what to make of life, ~~to make anything we want~~

That's what we have in common

There can be a lot of meaning and energy to bring alive in life, but some people and the environment really takes it away.

You will need the right people and environment to do this.

It may be also this medication helps. Plan and environment to do things.

Maybe seeing that everyone one has say and can work on their own things and own or get paid for what they make in most ways.

=

Seems I just do this by myself. Many thousands of ideas, just gone in the past and not seen the light of day.

Some guro may say don't be worried about things outside of yourself, or not to judge things outside of yourself because it where anxiety comes from.

But it's also where pease comes from, and dopamine from fixing something or doing something good or being part of something. I think it's good to see life in an area and be inspired by it, to fix things, to live around people who wish the same.

=

The guros are on about disconnecting from reality to feel the self or feel the body or live in front of you and not outside of you..

That's not bad however

There is peace with being in ones home, and what makes people outside is friends in the area and participating in the area and being able to change it with ideas.

The difference between looking at place as part of ones city or a place one has nothing much to do with.

Some for work, some for life, but where work is not life, and design is for work if anything at all.

==

Your area could be designed or have constitution where ideas mean more, area is design by ideas and meditation such as written about later.

Meeting area

Although in community local people often host people in their own home, ideally people can have a local meeting area, they can go to to get out of their home and maybe see local people and where local things are held

=====

The meeting area could have, tables and chairs for food,
The restaurant could be buffet sections of food names by people who made it, with expiry times and prices, with scale
Shows, talks and services (like church services) could be given at any time, like joe dispenza meetups

There could be a schedule of things, performances, discussions, things to watch, music, events, and people from the group can go there anytime when there is not something on a do anything

There's a great performances on tonight, and the schedule includes you

There's a discussion about the community ideas tonight

People should be paid to go there for some great performance some days

Awards, information, delegation

Find

#Things to do screen

For automated notifications of things to do

=

Another room ?

There are projectors and the large hall walls , it is dark or there are screens or some other means of editing walls

Anyone gets to edit them

When it gets full it gave a new board by changing every 30 minutes piece by piece , each user piece is taken away every 20 seconds replaced by next user . Get to vote on them for more often shown .

Whole area can be edited by motion sensors

Or

Editing area : next to login . Just touch screen you can upload and edit on.

Could have a motion sensor but

A TV with community picked videos from YouTube or elsewhere, or made, music,

===

Empty rooms for peoples businesses

Empty apartments for people to stay

Anytime work in building new space

Anytime work on other work

A shop for local sellers

These things the individuals will see as part of their community

Things to do when someone wakes up at 9pm or 3am and there seems like nothing, now there are these things #around me, in my subconscious

Maybe they don't want to see anyone they know so they can go elsewhere or order online, but these things will sit in the subconscious for visions against isolation and of things to do and will draw people to them at the right time

Title

I have a design for an app that helps get people together when they are bored and for events and talks; as well as to work on what interests them. So to help prevent isolation and help people work on inspired things and have more meetups. In the past I have have important visions of this but I was not able to do anything

Housing affordability

People own or pay off the value of their home from the start.

Making lower income people rent is making people even poorer, and given them less capital and options for the future.

People can invest in homes and rooms that other people buy for 100% profit, or 200% profit if paying back over time at 30% of their income. I would like to invest my money here.

People can build affordable homes at their own time for money made back from the sale of a home/rooms at the same profit.

- continued in “moving: how it could work”, and “everyone owns a home”

Homes can be built in blocks with common areas for water, electricity, internet, and sewerage, where owners can use their free time to extend these services into their blocks, and install metres on them. Thus adding value and so investment of owner, which is good for low income people with lots of time.

Apartments can be build most cheaply this way and people can finish them off over time with basic skills or paying extra Large home sized rooms built on top of each other and land are the main expense.

Running alongside the apartments are water, sewage, electricity, roads, and internet which are setup and maintained by some people who want a job.

People can escape their expensive city's and live within choose neighbours and community areas, and design their own community by selection or their imagination.

=====

Limit prices to construction costs

“Specific non-profit, cooperative, and government-subsidized models exist where home prices are limited to, or closely tied to, the actual cost of construction and development.

Here are the contexts in which this occurs:

1. Community Land Trusts (CLTs)

In a Community Land Trust, the organization owns the land, and the individual owns only the structure.

- Mechanism: When the home is sold, a formula limits the resale price to the original construction cost plus restricted appreciation (or sometimes just the original cost).
- Location: Primarily in the United States, United Kingdom, and parts of Canada, though this model is growing globally. This specifically removes the "land value" speculation from the sales price.

2. Housing Cooperatives (e.g., Zurich, Switzerland)

Switzerland, particularly Zurich, has a large non-profit housing sector (cooperatives) that operates on a "cost-rent" or cost-price basis.

- Mechanism: Members pay for the construction, maintenance, and financing costs, not market rate rent or resale value.
- Structure: Because they are non-profit, the homes are not subject to the speculative pressures of the broader land market.

3. Government-Subsidized "Cost-Price" Models

Some governments directly manage housing development where the sale price is strictly controlled to be based on the construction cost.

- Singapore (HDB): While not exclusively just construction cost, the Housing & Development Board (HDB) prices new flats based on the cost of building, rather than market value, offering subsidies to keep them affordable.
- Former Social Economies: In some socialist economies, housing was allocated based on construction costs, although this is rare in modern free-market contexts.”

=====

Spaces should not be all owned by someone or that ownership should be exchanged by choose neighbors system that allows free space for people to move in any time, where say 30% of spaces are used for # temporary Amazon robot storage and can be made available within 12 hours, so someone when someone is allocated a new position in the choose neighbors area that they can just move, but where people can choose to own more or less space depending on their budget and want for space, which could even be a room or a shared room for very little money in the very worse case scenario, but where no place is rented and people just swap based on value. Other space allocations are for each group of people to have a meeting area, and space made available any time for new business. After years of free building available new space busing for anyone to do any time, these spaces will remain in excess. And if there is a problem with someone ever trying to buy them for the price of them to rise, this is to be taxed so there is no point in owning space for the rise, only making new spaces or making spaces better makes money, which is also promoted.

=====

Building plan 7429014412

For unemployed functional people or partly unemployed or people would would just like this

The person who wants things to do in their environment , at home

On the plan, the kit and the quality assurance
The business provides the parts

The person moves into a big room
There are utilities they can connect outside by plan with parts from the business over there.

The room is made for 8+ big rooms side of it, and 4+ levels above it
(the plan and quality assurance)

The person can have something to do off the plan any time. They can pay for the room for themselves and or sell it when they want. The business could provide the parts and plan for percentage ownership or something, income work optional.

If the plan is for more than 4 levels, then the plan is to add an elevator above the 5th level

Utilities extension should also be part of the plan. Extension to for the apartment next to the person's room if there is not utilities there.

=====

?I imagined sort of framework for multi story buildings in places where apartments are expensive, for excess spaces to build, so prices always have some work and apartments stay cheap

I have had so many variations of visions like this over time

Maybe it's an idea for area where people are looking for work or something to do

Just some plan to setup and or build the framework and then install standard fitting, plumbing and electrical

People just need to get basic building permission pass and have work any time

=====

Modular home sections and work available anytime.

Buildings can be built with modular sections that friend groups can build in their local areas,

For example,

<https://youtu.be/cAoH0Emesyw>

Carpark style 4 floor, 5mx8m rooms with doors in hallway and inner doors separated spaces as purchased, sewage water electricity internet on one mains metered by group

For example,

<https://youtu.be/3fhOYwFsCKE>

There are other designs and I have thought about other designs a lot.

Community provided business that give people cheap space to build modules or housing components, or areas for anyone to build new apartments, which has instructions and inspectors. For anyone who wants to build one , no requirements. Founded by commission from sale if chosen. Make it easy for anyone to build parts of apartments.

Considering at the moment housing is too expensive, and there is none available. And there are people who would like some casual work to do any time, there should be availability for anyone to work on their own space. Designs for this can be come up or chosen by themselves, with some areas for it, but it should be high density considering land price.

|

A lot of people I have seen or know are out of work, and don't seem to take especially full-time or part time work, in local community could be anyone can do something, the local organiser can suggest, with some one who knows what best way to do things checks and advises. If not locally then area in construction site for group.

|

Or low amount of money for space to build.

|

Ways to make other crucial needs available to supply by anyone anytime, makes good work

|

Making homes and space available to build for anyone. Make much more excess space to make other things easier. Promote local business with

|

Space to be 4 levels or above or big tax

Excess space should be around groups of people, government to buy housing so local people and organisers have always lots of availability.

Space can be used for local stores, robot pickings stores and storage. See robot pickers.

City vs country

People are migrating to larger cities, the country can be much cheaper, make some new city. The reason why people are migrating to cities, the reason why people may stay or migrate to a new designed city in the country. If people like it, if they have jobs and community, people can be offered free accommodation trials to bring people there, most people migrate for work or higher pay, and or cheaper homes. You could invest and promote local business ideas, including export ideas, see what makes more money, provide more jobs in those export areas so there is never a lack of jobs.

Moving chapter: “How it could work”, for more ideas

=====

Amazon.com.au...
amazon.com.au

prime Filters

Tiny Container Expandable Home Pool Bathroom

$13,552⁰⁵
Get it Tuesday 24 December - Thursday 2 January
$1,999.00 shipping
Add to cart

$5,105²⁰
Double-Storey barn Homes 2024 Folding prefab House Expandable Tiny Home for Adults, Portable...
Get it Thursday 19 December - Monday 30 December
FREE Shipping
Add to cart

$11,790¹⁶
20ft 40ft Luxury Tiny glass Prefab House, Building Modern Mobile Light Steel Container...
Get it Tuesday 24 December - Thursday 2 January
$1,966.00 shipping
Add to cart

$25,000.00 (1 new offer)
No featured offers available
Prefabricated Tiny House to Live in, Mobile Prefab House with Lockable Doors and Windows,...

Google

prefab stackable homes

All Images Shopping Videos Web News Mi

Prices For sale Modern Affordable Nsw

Sponsored

Earthquake Proof Prefab... $12,205.39 AliExpress.com Free delivery Shop now	Tiny Home Folding... $8,040.69 AliExpress.com Free delivery Shop now	Modern Design Demountable... $6,952.69 AliExpress.com Free delivery Shop now
--	---	---

Sponsored

Alibaba.com
App installed

Stackable Prefab Container Homes - Low Cost & Durable
Source Direct from Global Suppliers - Low MOQ, Great Deals, Customizable. View Categories. Download Our App. Sign Up

Home Search Saved Notifications

Affordable prefab housing

Assembled in top of each other , side by side , in a well designed manner

Prefab stairs

Stackable prefab homes with on location pillar support ? Like bore some holes and make some pillars with recycled metal and or good cement etc, written here elsewhere

There is no home being built here for any affordable price , if someone has any kind of normal job they are also not able to buy them

=====

My visions today

Boxabl home, https://youtu.be/0Cdqs2Q1Vis?si=mDjc_NBLIHIkrS6U is flat pack home

But my vision is without the contents

Just the wires and pipes in that someone will be happy to have work charging my to supply the water, electricity and sewage

And I put in my own kitchen bed and furniture

Share homes and homelessness should not be the worst choice, something like this should be, and I explain how that can work in everyone owns a home

I'm going to write 4763747 now

For the homeless person this is better even if the utilities are not connected if not paid. The homeless person gets to choose to spend money on that or not. This would also be a lot better than share houses in Australia.

It's better than working full time for a long time for an expensive home, or not being able to do so being forced into bad accommodations.

The question of whether someone wants to choose neighbors and probably inconvenience themselves somewhat by needing to move sometimes, is a question that people should be free to have.

=====

I'm often ok in myself, alone in my own house, there not much in as far as community, important things to do, and socialising is dysfunctional.

Then in other peoples house that not my home, with their stuff everywhere I can't change, but especially with other people and their attitudes, it's not ok t live life like that. It's nice to have some people in community to share life with, make good, vision, etc. but living in same home is nightmare, unbelievable. Apparently it's western nations ambition to make homes mostly unaffordable for their investments and to make people work full time, to make money from migrants, and they have no systems much for local people to choose community or participate in local government.

=====

Living in starter home or home to renovate is not like work for someone who doesn't want to work full time

=====

Dont know

I like the robots in the beginning of avatar way of water

Robots that climb up structures that weld new pieces of metal in place

So just having box of metal pieces, and robots that climb and weld and recharge themselves, that have design for structure built in, that can navigate themselves to build it

I thought about how the robots would carry the metal on themselves and then weld in place with the front of them, some machine that made craits of the same part that was used the robots design seemed less difficult than the programming it was less thought, no effort, just seeing, metal latticework is that the right word, some flooring, for what structure, now I stop.

It would be cheaper to get humans to do something than design some robots to do something like this but robots will be cleap for this in not too long

=====

Building assembly line

Machines lay down prefabricated sections of buildings. I see most buildings are made individually and even on large blocks of land. But who am i to design this.

Continued in: Moving: how it could work & Everyone owns a home & Low income room ownership

Start plan 2, cheap

1. Buy dilapidated(run down) or war damaged area of housing. In some countries there are super cheap abandoned apartment areas suitable

2. Sell as: choose neighbours ad

Live next to your friends and we will pay you to organise something to do
Buy damaged apartment, come for a holiday, fix it up, leave and sell it. Your apartment can only be sold for appraisal amount to friends of the neighbors depending on the budget on payment options.

We own the local shop etc, and 25% profits go towards community ideas by locals, and 25% to support inventors

3. Own 50% of the commercial property and lease (or give) to local business or to use for local business on commission

Profits from this go to (2) described above 50% and 50% towards other area interests such as insurance and government fees

4. Strata fees and council fees are also local to groups of people and each group of people vote for a manager of maintenance and development as regular council does

But the other 50% goes to all people's ideas and development for those things especially that have consensus for such things (options described below and in survey designs), and even such as getting people together and having some good meeting or dinner or meetups, etc (options as described elsewhere).

5. Other important options described elsewhere such as high consensus and things that help and for people who see this and like that , options tick boxes , network apps, etc, etc.

====

There is no where in australia with cheap homes, and i would need to work full time in a different country to obtain a right to stay. So I am a bit stuck, Id rather leave australia, but the only option here is to buy somewhere with land that could be approved for affordable housing which plan by government and councils is not good. So this leaves me wanting to spend money i have save for housing to support this in a country i wont be a resident in.

=====

Local is better. People better chosen for council. Always something on that's more inviting and just outside

=====

Why choose neighbours and implement local community councils, etc.?

Many people like myself are mostly isolated in life, and or around people they don't want to see, and have little drive to be part of a community in state of housing. I feel in particular that there is lack of any type of real life.

Feeling of entangled commonality give certain pease in life, is surprising people don't see this as important.

Design one

Community

Choose neighbours (area)

Fair trade houses

Survey for council members

Promotion of council members and ideas (national)

Community ideas share (national/local) and selectors

Group dislike distancing and areas

Orginational /or selections /or my area

Invention promotions

Conscious promotions

Fundamentals

A place where people who want a community and be able to help do so , where they live around people they know by choice . It's simple as a number of residencies where people can buy and rent where people choose their neighbours and if they have vision and tick the box they are allocated the rule of council along with anyone else that does that they choose to live near.

It's a way to solve the problem that people may not feel part of anything.

=====

Buy a home(s) in the country and build more homes, and setup community Spend the rest of you lives and the following lives only seeing people who give you good energy and designing your community.

Was my plan but is delayed, and Australia makes it hard to do this but easier in other places maybe

=====

We will be looking for a large affordable block of land to build affordable starter homes, where people can build their own homes, where people choose their neighbours, the people they live around.

For the sense of being around people, and promotion of peoples ideas and business for where they live.

After council approval. Within 2 hours drive of Adelaide or elsewhere of investors choice.

The worst that can happen is you just end up with a piece of land, and any excess money will be refunded.

If there is no work there other than building homes then I'd still like to live there when I'm not working or retire.

Unemployed / low income earners will be able to pay off a room.

I am going to invest as well and would like to help design such a community.

Read the plan on my website for more information.

=====

I am interested in buying a share in a home, like 1/3 or 1/4 of a home, with a group of people, who could not afford a whole house otherwise or wanted to spend less on their home.

Also looking for a bargain home to renovate.

I'm interested in joining or forming a group for people who are looking for cheap homes to buy to share

Where we could swap and or sell our share any time.

If someone doesn't like another person in the home, they can put to a vote, and loser needs to sell or move to another home.

=====

Start plan, make money

Organise a group of people to buy-out ghost town. Then promote migration, ideas, better community, ideas, projects, business, nice people, work, etc.

Land prices could go up by 1000% after a couple of years.

Then at least the people who had the initiative make some money.

As soon as people go there all the land and land around it will be worth more.

And quickly people will make fix things up, and make business and work so

You can see with some desirable and open countries and cities that have allowed high migration the home and land prices become unaffordable. And countries and city's that don't attract that migration have cheap homes.

They go there because it looks big, for an idea, for wages, or something.

|

This has happened to city and country I live in and homes are not affordable to minimum wage now as they use to be.

|

It has been migration from people who find job here or lower wage countries, but now becomes lower minimum wage to housing cost, crime rates and mental illness, but lot of people have more money even though wealth equity is worst.

=====

?

One side of area is choose neighbours, the other is sell property, groups of people in some choose neighbours groups will make an area more desirable, and look more desirable. Happy progressive community... people that like to make work projects, etc.

?a plan for this.

The large area,
on the west side is investment property next to that in the east is desirable development group next to that further east is any type of less desirable land for investment, farm land, prison, ?temporary exile for crime.
next to that further east is unused land people slowly move east as investment property is sold in the west, and property east is purchased cheaper.

Something like east/west idea, depending on...

==

Perhaps in the west of the choose neighbours/groups area is some group(s) that will attract buyers. Written better above.

Perhaps some group if formed for consciousness, perhaps some religious thing for that, if they have individuals such as seek better memory and conscious, perhaps they have designs for this and the area, perhaps they will be involved in area design or allotment, although individual areas will have freedom. Perhaps they should not live in the west. Perhaps their ideas get developed in the west for better area sales.

Anyway some vision I had when I woke up, before my head starts freezing and I go to work.

Perhaps and I would say needs it that this area and some money from it is for the conscious area(s).

==

Perhaps the homes/ land is cheap where you start, and then after it's made it becomes too expensive for people to afford to expand.

You can start away from there, where it is affordable, and groups of people can move there, and starts again in another area.

=====

An purely based on choose neighbours areas, development, and
Which means people can pay off homes in any location no matter their income, where homes can be divided or expanded

Where no one is homeless or pays rent, or needs to share homes, and definitely not without much choice.

=====

Shared housing

When I was 30year old living in shared housing, my dream was to have 2 big homes to start with, people I don't like I send to second home , and keep getting more like that

This way you get to choose your neighbours.

This way you don't pay land tax.

Instead of renting out the rooms they should be offered to own them rooms/part house, where people swap them for value of homes near by.

Otherwise you will be living with sub tenants and this is bad because your like the boss, and they are like don't have a home, living in someone else's home.

The dream only happened because it was my home I was sharing, otherwise there could be thoughts of wanting my own home where I can choose the people I live with. For the friends I lived with there was , for the people I did not like there was

In some places home prices are very cheap compared to shared housing. You should do it in these cities if you want a real cheap housing option. Some place home prices are very high compared to shared homes and only lose money this way. City I have lived in swapped from cheap compared to experience.

=====

Organise a group of people who want to buy property in a country where it's very cheap , where you think the people will be welcome, see if you can have work there so people can get work visas , perhaps where work isn't really full time work but paid more where money is returned for paying off homes
See if people can stay and if not it's still good for work and find somewhere else

It's a way to make money by renovation and making something desirable such as above.

=====

People go to places where there is work apparently
So some cheap land and or ghost towns, promote business and first Manufacturing spaces Farms
Places for start up business and people ideas
Retirement homes
Promotions for Digital workers, such as Anything
Small to start with and buy / build more as needed
Now people come and everything gets more expensive

Promote famous people and politicians?

We would like to give your free VIP holiday package, you can do your performance at the event place and you can keep 85% of the proceeds. When they are there market that they are there, film them that they are there in the environment showing off nice place.

Host events, like business events economic or political events, technology events, Woodstock or something, maybe sports or online sports or something, offer free or discount place, discount or free accommodations for them,

Discount holidays with friends groups, single holiday groups because that's good because place is already setup for things to do around friend networking.

Themed holidays

?Homeless accommodations, maybe no

--

Promotion of Home for everyone

Zero homelessness

Zero renting (no forced renting)

Choose neighbours

There are always some homes free and some being used for other things can be made available , and anyone can move to new homes at any time

Community

Council inclusion. People design their own community.

Work

Business

Necessity prices

Utility prices

Home affordability

Good one

Consider yourself lucky if you live near another city or place with cheap housing, it makes it easier to get a group of people to move out there, unlike where I live.

(or just for affordable homes, where people don't need to work full time for 30 years to afford them)

The community big enough in size maybe most of you won't need to see strangers retards scumbags you know what I'm talking about again. Do I need to do business with them. You won't need a work for them. You won't need to be governed by them. You won't need to live your life with them die with them you won't need to live your life and die with them.

You can make a place where ideas here are better, you can do a survey see the retards don't come with you. You can make a place where there's no homelessness isol isolation, maybe people don't need to

Wankers getting high on fame and fans while doing nothing

Ideally you could choose neighbours so that this would work better , but that may not work, maybe you can find some people who see better of this and have some design for that

Maybe somewhere for so much mental suffering, and somewhere for good consciousness, but try to ignore this place until then , where people can work more and not need to use some kind of migrant scam, and or housing scam to make money for few

I guess I writing to mostly people who just work in some job their whole lives without any ideas or care for community or anything, and just stay home their their pets and the link family is what's important, or something like that. I think you should not read this anymore it's not made for you.

List communities of interest to choose neighbours

None of these have choose neighbours.

- Epicurus community - greece

“The experiment was so successful, the members of the comune so happy the idea spread like wildfire Epicurean communities open up all around the mediterranean.

At height of the movement there was four hundred thousand people living in comunes from Spain to Palestine.

It was only the christian church that ending things in the fifth century. But in most of the respect to the community somehow cause they converted all in to monasteries. What we know as monasteries are really just epicurean comunes with a christian top soil.

Another interesting fact: Karl Marx it's Ph.D thesis on Epicurus”

3:52 https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Kg_47J6sy3A

Based on moving to country with friends, you would think that principle of community was choosing neighbours, but perhaps it was community for his other philosophy

There was reference to existing Epicurus community
Reference to come

- Ladonia -Sweden

Only rule is you share your ideas
You can build what you want

You can get free citizenship
This is not a real place to live unfortunately

- Mahana Coromandel commune - New Zealand

“People put forward that all problems in the world are caused by the ownership of land. They decided to form a company to buy a block of land and set the land free, so that it was not owned by anybody and anybody could come and live here.

Any person can be a member by signing the book, agreeing to these rules. You don't have to pay a fee.”

What are the rules?

They said no rules, I'm guessing there are no rules except you can build what you want and live in it until you leave, then anyone can come live in the home until they leave. So there is an occupancy ownership rule.

It does seem like choose neighbours.

=

Person said that

“over the years the philosophy is sort of been watered down by the ones who presently live here, to change the rules and have the land only for themselves again which again as you can see that creates the problem”

|

This is what you will find if you create choose neighbors. This is why they sell on one side and people get their money and leave, and people who want choose neighbors still have a place.

What was their idea? I don't know.

Why did they say that all the problems are caused by the ownership of land?

I don't know they don't share their philosophy on the Internet or video I could find.

|

I think people own land as an investment to create products for strangers, whereas if you choose neighbors and there is a business locally then it would be to create something for the people you love, spend life and live around.

|

Excluding this land, I haven't seen any private land in the world publicly owned like this, there is public land but on it they create places for strangers. But people have a job for strangers as a servant for them, and do care for strangers at least if it's their job to do so.

I wonder about indigenous land reservations for Australia aboriginals and native Americans and how they work if they can't be sold?

Would not someone want money back for their time building or maintaining property when they leave?

adding value and capital to the owner, which is good for work for low income people with lots of time, such as I have had.

I would consider moving and renovating, or investing or build new homes, where people pay 30% of their income back to me to pay them off.

Would you consider area in your commune where people choose neighbours.

An individual can leave the house, and start paying off a different house;

The house that they had previously been paying off can be resold, the new buyer pays the original owner until they are paid off and then additional payments go to second buyer, and so on.

Home value is reassessed upon vacating and added or reduced value amount is applied to home for new resident.

Homes can be built in blocks with common areas for water, electricity, internet, and sewerage, where owners can use their free time to extend these services into their blocks, and install metres on them.

Feeling of life locally, area owned completely by the residents without restrictions from the government. Jobs in new home construction here for each group.

I would rather live in a city area based on group inclusion, than on feeling of a suburb

- Valve corporation

made an workplace where desks were in wheels and people moved to where they felt they were most useful.

They made a game portal 2, where homes get moved by a warehouse crane, where an artificial intelligence is in control of the environment.
I would not like this idea for home because it's like trailers.

One of my favourite games I played when I was young https://youtu.be/7pK6n_bu1oU

- Bachir Boumaaza

Bachir Athene“ Boumaaza, complex in Lausitz), Germany, leader of kind of a community design and theory, for people to make games or something...

“social validation increases the levels of dopamine and serotonin in the brain and allows us to let go of result of the validation we get from society but new developments in neuroscience are giving us a better understanding of culture and identity recent neurological research has confirmed the existence of empathetic mirror neurons when we experience an emotion or perform an action specific”

Bachir Boumaaza

anyone can come and stay for free “always a place to stay for women. People socialize here and pare off (relationships).” A local group of people with some similar interests that socialise, it's uncommon. 871124900

=====

The chatgtp list of alternatives

If I ask chatgtp if anyone is working on something like this and reference this book, they say with emphasis that

“The idea is not new at all

It exists in:
economics theory
real communities modern experiments”

But that’s not true

Chatgtp goes in to say

“1. The academic version (very close to that idea)
There’s a well-known theory called the “Tiebout model”.
People “vote with their feet”
They move to communities that match their preferences (taxes, lifestyle, services)
Over time → people sort into like-minded groups 🔗 That is basically the same core idea as the website you sent.
And researchers are still working on it today:
studying how people sort into neighborhoods
even applying it to online communities

2. Real-world versions already exist
Intentional communities / communes
People deliberately live together based on shared values
This has existed for hundreds of year
Examples include:
eco villages
religious communities cooperative housing

Cohousing (modern version)
Private homes + shared spaces
Self-governed communities
Designed to increase social connection
🔗 This is probably the closest real-world version to what that site is proposing.”
End chatgtp quote

Where do I start,
they are not the same

These are the same answers some of my friends gave me, I think because they and chatgtp cant see what has not existed.

These solutions still don't address the feeling of company or loneliness, but they may address the feeling of homogeneity or the idea that someone lives in the nicely pretty suburb or some idea about that place which i understand to be a human warped perception, but if someone believes it who am I to argue, they have good or bad feeling about somewhere so in their mind it may be more real.

1. cooperative housing

they choose people based on filling spaces, not keeping space open for friends to move in at any time, or people to move based on friends. Although its theoretical. They simply kick people out that they don't like, there is no space for them to move where others can move to them. It's not free like this. It's ugly groups of suck ups looking for discount housing.

2. Cohousing, or Private homes + shared spaces

It's owned by someone one of they don't like you, you leave, there is no space for choose neighbors freely

3. eco villages

bullshit, is another word for rentals or over prices homes with some off the grid sola power or something which they probably change a lot for, I don't know but looks like this is stupid to reference, as chatgtp and my friends have

4. religious communities or Self-governed communities

same problem as 1 or 2

Some kind of sick idea, that you join them from some idea, and you don't actually get to choose the people, and you will get kicked if you don't obide by their ideas

I hate it with passion, I hate that epicurus villages were all turned in to monasteries. Although I like some of the philosophy I don't want to live in a cult type area that someone must live by someone's rules.

So these are the options and what people recommend and what chatgtp sees as the same. But with some desperation I'm trying to explain that they are different from what I'm suggesting, although they are good they are not as good, not even close to as good, and leave me without an option!

As to joining a group, I explain my issues with schedules

As to seeing a friend occasionally:

The feeling lasts for 4 hours, and their not part of the community, it's just talk and ideas for the individual, no shared space

Whereas seeing friend in same apartment seems to last for week even after not seeing them because they are still there, walk through the stairwell and part of doing things, and potent protecting or serving the local area. That is if they are actually friends, I know I have made friends here but I specifically don't think of them as normal friends they are neighbor friends that I don't choose and can't easily move away from in case of dislike so they are blocked in my mind and I try just not to disturb them, because they can't easily move either if they don't like something about me, and I would not want them to feel like they need to, but with real friends and the availability to move easily they can go if they dont like it, or I can go.

Epicurus communities also did not have this. No one has made this.

I guess the feeling of seeing a friend again is because you both know each other and decided to do so, it wasn't forced like housing or work.

Another argument from someone about this, is that you can move if you want, so you can choose,

No, moving is an inspection with strangers and getting stuck there again, and it seems bad so often I just put up living there, but feeling stuck there. There is also not unlimited space for more friends to move there, or to their own groups when they choose.

=====

Unfinished

List of monasteries with society designs

Who believe in

List communities of interest to ideas and being built from ideas

List of theoretical collections of city design ideas

About me and this project

I would say there are more people who spend a long time alone and don't accomplish much than there are people who do

At least I am, so I made plans for a better city for the life of someone like me.

Since I was young I had feeling life is dull, and there should be more to life and of it's design, and have always had ideas to make it better but seldomly shared them and went by life getting old with people around that just saw life for what it is.

I hope to help people with some vision of lifes design and deeper feeling of it over what is available to do in it.

It has been exceptionally disturbing, as I wait with dreams but never doing anything. As I am almost tormented by life and the people around me, to say I should have dreamt less and worked harder for a house I could live in with friends, which I am in the process of, and so should you if you are like me. And I hope you may find work that you can do without dulling your energy and dreams as I have found it hard to find.

It has felt like I should go to somewhere better but there is not much of a place, it seems quiet understandable that some people with my imagination and dedication to life would create something better but for some reason it has not been created and I have some disturbed feeling about it and the people in it.

But in any case I feel it is my duty to help design such a place as it is so lacking and obvious to me.

Although I don't like the idea that I would help these wankers who make things out to be so great, it's difficult to find somewhere to share ideas not being a part of anything and seeing the whole world as at least partly having the same flaws.

Often I have hoped that my ideas would benefit people like me who see more.

It is my hope they can get together and make something else. Or that they may live at least with people that don't disrespect them so they can feel some goodness amongst the people around them.

Great people are generally disrespected and ignored, and left alone but when spoken to is not to do anything they find important to do, that's up to them, to like help some problem in place of strangers.

Great people or not, just left there. But in case where they live around friends, friends are those who don't disrespect them, and part of council or organisers like to help.

I have then taken it up on myself to spend time to see such ways to integrate more meaningful, pleasant life, and more pleasant feelings about life more naturally and eternally. But in the scope and possibly things, and the right and entitlement of well designed, implemented, constructed and applied reality, I have also had some ideas but the possibilities are endless and can be seen in science fiction and some universities and of business and institutions, which are the way people can somewhat currently choose to live, which seem to be with a lot of work people can sometimes get into and which probably make them feel better about life.

=====

I dont work fulltime so I am prone to living in share houses with strangers around, that i see most days, that i often dont like. I have been paying rent all my life.

I feel uncomfortable about not having a home

I wake up feeling uncomfortable about not being able to obtain a home, with nothing much to do in life, and I have a lot of flash backs of people i dont like much. I don't like the government or being ignorant and complacent about a lot of things.

Seems I live in in some sort of void where there are a few business around just there to make money, no community it much going on, and like many it is probably I will die as nothing I have lived.

Somehow it's easy not to see this, but can be seen very clearly and does not make me feel good

I need to live my life around random strangers and landlord that I dont get on with, not being part of anything, seeing almost no friends, never owning any space that I can call home, not being part of any government, and many things like this, and seeing it constantly, and by seeing it if I take it to heart, I suffer, and that seems like eternity so why would I want children, so end of continuation of me is some way,.

I can however be happy if I don't take it to heart, like be happy in cave eating rats,

I can see endless bad things and answers and no one cares for people like that and there no one at least that I see or know that cares or government that I would share them with here.

The worst thing has been living around lying bad abusive people, it was worst but it's not over, its a pity I don't feel like i have people around or any type of structure for changing things.

Most people here spend a lot of time gardening and stupid hobbies at home I think about they have no connection with their community.

Although most people would say I can do what ever I like, and it's my fault. It seems easy for me to dislike humanity, for such ignorance of systems that keep people down in bad jobs, no jobs, unaffordable housing, little integration, etc. But it more the government's and systems or way of life's fault as there are people who see better, but are not utilised or acknowledged in anyway.

I pray to be happy alone as nothing, and that I may help make something more to life, so I don't feel so bad, but it does not last, and is very disheartening, I don't see a way out, or at least away from the people who would make such a thing. .

I should be more grateful.

=====

At least I'm trying. at least I am not like most people, who ignore these things or don't see them. very disturbing, my environment, life, and other things becomes so disturbing.

=====

=====

I don't call people much nor have desire to, nor go out or have the desire to, although when I do it can be good.

I see these types of community

People live with

Family

Friends

Work

City

Country

World

Interests community

I don't work with people so much, and when I have they have been strangers. A lot of people just work and don't do much else.

Tax discount for working with friends section.

Family has been mostly that I hope they find their own community.

City country, I feel have no interest in being part of community with people, just have jobs

World, is like part of life together, but so far have not seen me much, I don't know

I have some friends, I like to talk to but don't see it talk to much. They offer advice and want help sometimes, and can be nice to see them

Interests community

I don't know, don't feel part of, maybe share some info.

I went to church, or some meetup groups, unfortunately not community, and they don't see it.

People live with

I have been in share home, otherwise called halfway homes. You need to work full time to afford your own home here.

I have live near friends in an apartment

I have made some acquaintances in an apartment

I have had neighbours in a street that I don't know but dream about the area

To me People live with are biggest community. In some cases can be family when they are young to look after them.

This is what some people see as community, as well as work to be part of some economy

I have live with people who don't like me, rude people, criminals, etc. Don't like what I think about or who I am.

No one cares to make local things to do. Most people live alone or with a partner they may eat with.

I see them every day, the same people.

I am sure the way way to live is around more than four people you have good connection with but not in the same house. And allocate people to think about things to do, what is life, how to help people, etc, who already do so, that already think about these things.

Seeing just one person every day is not so good as it causes singular conscious connection, where as multiple people.

=====

I feel like one of these people that I would look at and feel sorry for all they do is stay in their home and watch tv, or go to work and come home and walk their dog.

I feel like one of these people that I use to look at and think why are they so fucked, and think one day I'm going to figure this out.

It feels like I will die one day but I did not really live in a world, like somehow this world is void because there is nothing to do or any meaning behind it, so why not just waste time.

I think this book is made for these reasons.

Isolation / hikikomori

There is a condition in Japan called hikikomori where people are isolated from society, they say people are like that. It's is common for older people to die alone after not seeing any one for many weeks.

Same for the west, most people spend most of their days alone and lives without company, with any work or activities far away from home or lasting community.

#647383637

It seems to me a society problem and not an individuals problem.

I have never been social with people I work with or work alone, due to the conditions or work. I normally don't know it like my neighbours or flatmates, and I don't have much drive to call friends or family up for going out to eat. So as I have seen many people.

It is one of my main goals in life to help myself and people like this deal with this problem. Secondary to work options and other things.

==

This is written considering there are people like me in your country. Who may seem to be isolated spending lot of time on their computer when they are younger may be a growing problem. But given this design will be happier, more social and engaged.

=====

Honestly I have felt it every day for a long time, and have known a lot of close people to be isolated and often around wankers. They become suicidal and to create a better place for them is to have a community where they don't dislike people and not isolated and have some part in the community optionally but maybe not with unwanted obligations.

It's this and work. Most people like to spend time with friends and family but the situation makes it difficult, most people like to have some good work but for some who don't like their jobs or don't find much good or don't work it's not so great.

A common incorrect understanding is that people want a partner to feel loved in life, but neglect to understand that mostly the feeling comes from not being part of anything with anyone they like, a part of like or in anything that represents a system of humans that they know can deal with problems, develop things, and make things good, and isolation and bad relationships are part of what comes from it.

Forever this will be the case for most, and the people that complain but can't or don't do anything, and the system of work and misery and dislike for reality but with complete ignorance of it.

#4738X584

=====

Typically people need to work, find a house somewhere, find their own activities and entertainment which can often be trying to call a friend or love interest to wander to some food place. And this is supposed to be life. It's a disorganized life based on principal that freedom is suppose to be all people need, and capitalism is that people will bestly and most deservedly run and own the things they buy and make.

..but what if ... maybe someone with a brain was hired

=====

I remember most people are kind of isolated. It is easier to see one person only occasionally. difficult or impossible to call or message all these people all the time to see them all the time, obviously.
Unless their neighbours, unless you like them., and unless

A lot of famous people and people on TV are seeing people they know all the time, they don't understand

Studies have shown that it causes problems

Despite low birth rate, population keeps increasing due to migration even worsening the feeling of community and causing housing shortages

=====

I watched a video where someone was talking about how they appreciate all these things, health, vitality, life, and living life with people. And how it is our birthright to feel good spiritual energy. The best thing we can do for ourselves is take time to relax and not feel stressed. I appreciate life. About living life with people, it's actually not good statistics, other problems,

=====

The number of people who don't have much to do except read, or watch media/play game/etc, is very high, especially for people with the attitude to make their lives easier :-), which can be seen more in low income or public housing. This is just what life is. This does not mean they would not like more. ! In my design life can be both an easy life and also more that they would choose.

=====

I thought when I was young that the people around were the most important thing, second was money.

The first, creates an environment, takes the edge of disturbance, or the lack of it creates an emptiness with some delusion of finding it in places with strangers, which in most cases is what people do, in most cases by themselves or with one other going out thinking that's life.

Or worse it creates a worse distance by the feeling of dread of people.

The environment should be owned by them.

I have failed in achieving this in my life. The ways towards it never gets easier.

When I was young I thought TV was stupid, shows and news about things I'm not going to have anything to do with, and that life and what's to do was important, although occasionally I see some show or news that interest me, I find the life outside of me not something I do anything in expect I can call someone for dinner and talk about things that don't lead to anything. Now I watch TV a lot about stupid things, and have pets for something to do and look at, and play games for hours while I play music for something to do. Getting back into that perspective leads to frustration, with the only thing I can do is write something that I can't easily share.

=====

Isolation in share houses, with strangers or

Life is who we see, what we do, what we are part of, etc.

My mind forms my life around this.

The freedom to do what one wants to create good life, what is common is, can be helped by x factors in environment

=====

Hate thy neighbour, the real problem

About 50% of my adult life I have not liked some of my neighbours, 60%-70% not liked or wanted to socialise with the people I live with in a share house, 50%-80% in isolation of my own house, and 30% either with people I like in my house or neighbours I like, also before I was an adult I like the people I lived with most of the years.

I have never felt so bad as 30%-40% not liked or wanted to socialise with the people I live with in a share house

It seems no one cares to make this easier

The only groups the government supports are business and sporting groups which I don't play sports and business does not care for anything but people making products or services.

=====

You have seen some people are not as good as others for someone to be around and also same for yourself. But those people are better around others. Most groups are formed a bit like this. But people would have the choice to live around those they want for their entire life, and good for people who socialise locally.

=====

What kind of creature would create a city where people find it difficult to afford a box to live in, forcing strangers to share boxes, Australia does and western countries do.

=====

Having lived in share houses for most of my life, and seeing other people who have been threatened by neighbors, etc, I can say it's make people feel uncomfortable and uneasy, bad sleeps and sickness,

It's either share house or government housing but government housing no one gets easily, unless you have well paid job which jobs are uncomfortable and disturbing , and difficult to get up every day for.

I hate the government and people's ignorance for making such lives for people.

=====

Schopenhauer said we don't like people and life is just pain and we should spend more time entering to take out selves away from the pain.

But clearly he did not think of living around people he like and spending time in such ideas and development to make life better and feel at peace and inspiration by life, the only thing there is, which you get for a while, and people like you are around to help make it meaningful and better.

I have not seen anyone I like much for a long time, but I have seen people I have argued with and people I don't enjoy going out with.

Unfortunately it's difficult for me to work full time so I have to live in such places with strangers, and there is not much way out of this. It's the most disturbing thing I have live with for much of my life.

Work, should at least be something more people can do more but most jobs are so bad to do 50 hours a week

The plan is that people can avoid this by the time they want to leave home, all people can pay off a home so they have some equity for freedom to move and look after their own place, not just people who spend all their hours mostly on mind numbing work, to pay for overpriced homes.

=====

If not hate, it's not like family or brothers, or life. Never ending no matter where you live. Where people don't change the environment or have much to do with it. Most people won't be able to afford to , but if you manage to then you can expect to work for adultery is most common, abusive disrespectful other things, makes me feel tense for months and years. bad sleep. One of many eternal problems of ignorant countries, making people live with each other with over priced housing, getting worst.

=====

Lack of old friendships and good connections, from choosing housing with limited availability from what house looks good and not by choosing neighbours.

=====

Domestic abuse

A common problem. Before it occurs there is a lead up to it, where the person stays in the home, which seem like a problem with moving easily to avoid domestic abuse.

Availability to move easily seems like the main reason this would happen. Additionally, the lack of local close long term friends and community for support could be missing.

=====

I would not have known so well nor lived with a lot of people I have known so well or lived with, if homes were affordable. Some people are very stressed as well. There is sickness, pain and suffering this way. I can not forgive and should not forget the way it is.

Some things are good in my life and some are bad, and some feeling of unforgivable seems to cause bad feeling where as thinking of nice things, like I'm free make me feel better. What happened to the years that I felt like in the year I could remember the whole year and it felt like I had lived for ten years, perhaps it was #648384748

I could list the things I think are unforgivable and they are what I would like to work on.

=====

Often it's either isolation or dislike of flatmates or neighbours

Government likes making people poor and homes expensive (so people keep working?), I'd care to help people but I guess I have been around too many disrespect people,

If I were in otherwise maybe I care to help that group and by doing so maybe I help the nation if any of them see the improvement, but I'm sorry, I do see lots of good people, maybe it's for the best that things get worst so it's more easily seen that we should not all be mixing without any

It would make sense that people can live where they want at least but thats more reserved for wethly and people who work full time

That's not written right,

What ever anxiety I started to receive from such distance, I need to stop think about it

If I was going to fix anything would maybe help like a relief, instead of no where to go in some hopelessness

Id rather think about anything else, than this place where there is no where to go, and the only thing that's important is such a place where a design can be made, which is another impossible dream but one thing before the other

You think about world in boring or got some problems, making you feel bad, the problem is you never had a world to fix anything or do anything in or change, maybe if people did it wouldn't be way it is ,

Continued #5748384899

=====

How to escape the nothingness

Someone said:

"That if life is meaningless then that is the meaning. "

It is strange for me to see everyone living in the nothingless and not seeing it, not being concerned, and...

Within this there are answers for how to fix nothingless to life, nothingless in meaning of thought, etc.

Someone said:

"I don't like this place at all, makes me wonder what I am here for."

With this in mind it's fairly easy to come up with something. A place where nobody feels like this .

====

A description of what I see now:

People go to work and come back to their box around strangers, or no work and absolute nothingness, but anyway work is just some task around strangers people dont talk to for money to get by so save for more nothingness.

But also there are things like homelessness, abuse, murder, war, etc. That people mostly ignore, along with nothingness.

What it feels like to me is, have no life, and die as nothing. I believe it's common feeling. But if I see people more and participate in some things and appreciate being alive, it takes my mind off that and more in living, some nice communication and thngs to reverberate in my mind later. I will never go out much, it's there little meaning in it and it's not me so .

==

For someone who see the problems and nothingness, there would be a place for them in council / society to change it. But there is not.

====

People seem to not care or be happy with simple opportunities outside of their quiet home. I feel some divide in understanding and ambition between what I see as simple opportunists and someone who would want to be part of design and inclusion in what they live in. Which may come from over thinking and not doing much, or over seeing the environment, and potential of things.

Few may see the nothingness. And it may come from the lack of goodness in life. But even then striped of basic human needs and organisation they see the problem is that they themselves need to work harder or find something that fills their time in life, because that's all there is. When the environment outside of them becomes corrupted and dysfunctional they will not see it. When they spend time in isolation and boring unfulfilling things they won't see how to change anything except for trying to think of something outside of their home or not caring.

I think this reality is good for people who care just to work by themselves and live alone , be alone and not care much for reality.

=====

I would not mind being in the nothingness if I had some people I liked around and some sort of government, then actually I would not be in the nothingness. I sort of have the opposite of that where I live with people I don't want to talk to, have no house and part of nothing.

=====

Thinking back on it and the life I have had for most of my life, is the people I don't like around. It's very disturbing and I see it as my biggest problem, although if that was fixed there would be other things. People are living on the streets too but no one cares much about that either.

Get me out of here

If a person wants to leave because they don't find their life so great , maybe they complain about the weather or something, and want to go to a warmer climate where there are fresh vegetables.

..Did this person think where they would like to live the most?

They can imagine and then a number of people can pay to live there, or design their own community.

Maybe they have not thought about it much if all they are looking for in life is heat and fresh vegetables. Or just take it for granted that they live where they live and don't design it.

Lucky for them I and many people have come up with designs.

=====

I have always wanted out of here, so maybe way part of not wanting to work full time as well as not knowing or likely where I was to buy some house in it, remember be disturbed by life frequently. Sitting there thinking with no output except some complaints and thing I can't work on.

If you don't want to make some things different then this is not for you but if you see something like that then maybe you could find other people who do and move somewhere where there is already infrastructure and create and be part of it in way you have seen.

I have thought that doing a survey of people to see who has any ideas for community rather than just working for themselves would be a good place to start.

The Pit

"There's a reason why this prison is the worst hell on earth... Hope. Every man who has rotted here over the centuries has looked up to the light and imagined climbing to freedom. So easy... So simple... And like shipwrecked men turning to sea water from uncontrollable thirst, many have died trying. I learned here that there can be no true despair without hope."

https://batman.fandom.com/wiki/The_Pit

Durkheim noted the rise in suicide rates after moving into cities and he said it was caused this as I have written before

There is a feeling about being around people having a role

Cities are currently made for people who believe in capitalism and law, where everyone is made to scramble for their job and house. If someone is just looking to work some boring job and go to the beach maybe it's good for them. But it's an epidemic of isolation, low birth rates, and inequity.

For people with ideas and dreams, it's difficult, for business ideas it's about putting your energy on one thing for a long time where it's probably already made as a franchise of some sort where they won't give you any credit for your ideas. @àààààWhere invx ideas would help...

For people with visions of community and higher visions of developing and helping community for people to spend their lives in..

A person who can see we are consciousness on a planet with space and possibly etc, the all, existence, Design of space and things to do, it may be common for this conscious to think negatively.

Existence maybe seem like nothing or as a delusion, upon which when death comes we leave this delusion. Which is a pity that it's there for so much of time. The space is made for people of conscious b or other conscious invocation, the government and cultural delusions of reality like they are following a narrative of story from the human perspective, of one life. Which has been described as the lowest conscious, however this may come from the low life's people have or the inability or environment for interesting human life for conscious including place where narrative and simple human things are not so low, it is also of cause not the lowest, other lower forms of conscious are like the pit

These types of conscious have come my entire life without meaning, and I have written a lot about it. So I know there is a lack of meaning for this type of consciousness.

I am alive in the all with people in it to, so there will be more before and after
, may require more than nothing that is design of this place stupid nothing and suffering with answers but no way forward, so many visions of hell

A new church and city should be made or found and is a reason to work and keep looking , that's all the important,

X>

Like wishing he would win the lottery so his problems , so his life would be ok

The desert. It's a baren space filled with nothing but plates of food. There won't ever be anyone to help anyone. And when the water runs out.... There's nothing much for years before the end but a few doctors visits to tell you something is wrong but nothing works to fix it.

Most men seem to care for nothing but their own abundance and feeling good about themselves, while other grasp on to breasts so to make themselves feel ok. I don't blame them there is nothing much more for them or design for more would illude them. Just I see it always now, except for some times when I have not gone out for a long time and , that's not right,I am trying not to see it , so my blood runs better , I seem to hope for better and then feel ok with what I have and life I have which is not great but

The Pit could be many things, for example.being stuck in bad job, no job, bad government, problems with loved ones, no x that you want that you think is deserved and you think about all the time and can't move on well , or It's good people work and have their own homes, and no country, home, friends, hope, health, future, etc

It's not good feeling saying in ones head even if they are ok

I have some food a bit of money at least until I lose this job maybe
I have some life left maybe to do nothing
I have some freedom to do nothing
I have ok health at the moment because Im not stressed out all the time

I have mental ability that not everyone has which has caused to see such things and cause more pain and do nothing , and be no one special, I have ability to see such ignorance and demons and thats mostly all I see

I don't have to get up every morning to go to some labour or worst work , but probably I don't have a house because of it , and I have lower self esteem because of getting some government money but at least I am doing bit of work , which means something when I need to buy food or pay rent or expensive cigarettes

The people around me no longer feel like sucking leech fuck heads criminals or , and I hope not to have it so bad again , as that with little money was so bad , although I don't remember it so clearly,
Living in some junked up house I'm not allowed to clean up for 4 years ,and now just in some small room with all my belongings

Drunk old men living on the street losing all their teeth, is this such a great place for them . Actually I don't think they have been drinking, just bad energy in the makes their head dead and seem drunk

Bad job, no jobs, isolation, broken cars, and no future, I am sad for them.

<X

=====

If life revolves around doing repetitive things for strangers for money, so that one can invest in land and business which do the same. What happens when someone sees life is , and decides to try to do something different when it's make for the above. It seems that capital controls the ground and life and not conscious.

More to life

For some people in some places some things mean something , but for others there's no reason to get out of bed but maybe some bad job so they have some money, or not even that. But for the people who may feel they have something to do they would normally disregard others in their things to do. Some people have a family and house to look after , and some don't. Maybe some people just have dreams that never happen. Every one for sure is lost in how to help a community because very few have one, maybe more in small ways.

At any time there is those without and those with, those with may become those without, with loss of living with people or working in something, etc. I would say in my city it's about 30% to 50% of people who feel like there's is nothing to get out of bed for, and those who do feel some meaning x are kind of delusional (but that's ok), and only 40 to 60 of people have some meaningful things , I mean lost day after day , just going to work and thinking that the meaning of life , and that's expected to be normal especially by government

Some ways to give people more things meaningful, setup, and ...

Community and things for retired people. Roles and jobs that they would want, such as being part of a community and having suggestions and for everyone to be part of its council when they want or be allocated times to organise and or design things to get their dreams going again. Where they live around people they care for and feel like living life with.

Durkheim said that since people moved to cities, they lost community where they had roles and family and community, and that in cities people who had low income had less opportunity to be involved in things. I would say it's a problem with way people buy houses without community and system designed within them which can be amazing by design.

The roads we travel are just roads, to places we are part of something, it is a pity that for many they lead to the labour pit with no friends and back home to the disfunctional or non-existent community. It does not matter so much what we do on them as long as we don't do wrong but that they lead back to home and places we are part of something, where home is the place we should own and design and people we want to spend life with, but it's not.

=====

Epicurus community theme

See friends more often, feel like your part of a community. Problem is there may be not much of reason to see them, make community reason and environment where people do. Problem is people see lot of strangers and people not healthy connection, unhealthy connections are living with boss tell you want to do just in their own world. Work strangers we serve strangers and are served by strangers, solution could be work within choose neighbours community, at least some. Community connections that are like pieces of puzzle and spirits in life, people don't have unless to see them for no reason. Unfinished.

Feel meaning doing things. There are your objects and systems in local community, your ideas are done or in a list that is visible in the meeting space.

You spend time with people you know here doing something you're interested in.

Doing something about an idea instead of complaining about it. Or accepting life without something.

Some people do simple things, don't make heaps of money, don't feel their contributions are appreciated.

Maybe also they live in small rooms in other people's houses having lost most of their things over and over again.

Calm could be talking to a occasionally, not always worried about not having much of life or environment, Joe Dispenza, someone who has found some peace in life talking about you finding peace, you finding peace with being and environment, the condition and continuation of a community.

Being grateful for life and spirit while you have it.

Having compassion of life and people and environment.

=

People say we are spoiled here. I tell them I would rather be around friends than rich.

I'd rather be around friends or a community and make life more tolerable.

It seems life is about going to do work you don't like so you can afford some over priced holidays and luxury homes and invest in land and homes so to rent them out to people so to make them poorer but you richer, and so they don't really have a home. I think the theme for thousands of years was to own the land and everyone else was like a present to you but has not really changed probably because of the way people are.

Apparently the only thing that's important in life is working so your part of an economy.

I don't like the cause work I find, and study and long term career was difficult because it's hard for me to dedicate my life of one thing, when I had so many ideas, and did not like years of stay for one thing, . Steady for years and just do that, or just find a job and do that and spend most of other time in isolation. But people think it's normal and there is something wrong with people who don't do it. I have also found it difficult to force myself to sleep based on a job. So I do t have a good job and I don't work full time, so I am screwed because everything is for capitalists.

I had a heap of ideas but that too is mostly difficult by oneself with limited money. And so a lot of them get made years after I think of them and I thought I'd spend time making this idea, but that too is difficult. Your better off having simple ideas, like wanting to sell something or starts a small business, but that too is difficult. But in my ideas you can find way that all these problems can be helped a lot I think.

What you get / what your missing

+ Things you see will mean something, and you will know and be able to interact with people doing things. Rather not just seeing people you don't know , with news that does not affect you and which you do not participate

+ Be able to help change environment, share and use ideas. Have people around that can help you and make things interesting

+ have people you care for in your life. Rather than no one or people you don't care for.

+

Holidays vs community and or eternal better life at home by design

Lots of people spend money on holidays, hotels, drinking and expensive food, and.., but not community.

I say, if people would spend money on developing a community and their home then they could have a permanent holiday for the rest of their lives, and so people around them and people after them.

=====

Coal mine closed down and now there's no work and most people leave , the ones left behind are

People need things, buy things, some people work to make things, there's a balance between what's needed and what's made

There is not a saying about capitalism that some people fail and there is poverty, this is a typical view of some (USA), this is wrong, many countries would take it for granted to have capitalism and not so bad poverty as USA, maybe people to care for each other more and or area of people and feel they have some home and community to thrive develop and make better. Working environments can be made better for especially people who don't want to need to get up every day for work. But more so can be made better for ideas to help people not just waste away doing nothing, in my experience. Which then with more sense of life.

=====

People will spend thousands of dollars to go see pearl jam but won't invest or care to see anyone who is part of their community, or have any idea or desire to change anything real in their lives.

People probably think the government would pay for such things considering the amount of money they get but they dont. Mostly people spend their money and time to fill the voids in their lives with media that has nothing to do with their lives and expensive holidays to places they are not part of, and their pets.

Maybe they pay off a home after 30 years and own a car, but otherwise most of their money goes on food and these things. They work hard for that like 40+ hours a week, but much more including getting ready etc, and work for 50 years like that.

The government or people could invest in people with visions for real things in people lives, and people who want to make people lives better, under condition that it could be like business as well to return their money, that these people could be paid just low amount because it's something they want to do and not doing it for just a job.

=

I mean I don't really know pearl jam, but they seem like nirvana, same people would pay to see nirvana they say, maybe by paying them to fix anything would help them stop just complaining and have better energy from appointments instead of people watching them complain, maybe would still be alive.

=

Important work towards 474742221 1

A place where ideas don't change anything, and no one sees it, what it is, . Where the only thing to change some is work for your own life but who could be that to follow a career for years when life is the way it is, and stuck in some dead end jobs that don't even change your own life much. Who would want to live there. And then the pain comes so much so often for so many years so often you want it need to forget about it or your going to die, this is what happens to people who aren't fuck heads like most people including government and people who manage business.

=

Imagine seeing people speak and following them such as others is a bunch of people who go see someone speak and like them then there could be some funding for non for profit for them by the tax, because they believe in their ideas,

Someone who spends time in your community, someone who actually know and wants to help something about it instead of someone just there to sell some fake cock head just saying fake words to or making fake noises to temporarily stimulate your dumb shit, they may sound like they want to make you feel good but really why did you go to show your respect to fake words and fake life, but I guess it's that all there is to do are these fake things, theres no changing the community just maybe some people prefer to pay to view a different community like a picture for a while.

=

People worship and pay money to these singers, because they listen to them being alone they image their real, like using your voice is therapy so is listening something, but they are not just people that are not in their lives but don't have anything meaningful to say normally. It's all just so fake part of human living.

=====

Who comes around, what are you doing,

Do you mostly just go to some bad job, maybe to hope for some future that does not happen, where nothing much happens in life except this bad job,

Is there a lot of pain here for you?

If your finding reality disturbing and not getting anywhere

=====

There seems to be a problem with the skills and motivation for doing things and the connection to actually doing anything, people have some wish or try or study but don't get job or project

I personally have too many ideas. Some people can think of something for a long time but just not do it. There are definitely ways to make this a lot better easily.

We live in a detached economic community. You don't want feudal system where lords own everything, but some people who organise things and more space and systems and people around to do things, such as written places here

=====

Doing something in life

Where people don't just do things for strangers

Where everyone kind of gets to do that dreams

Everyone is a part of something

You can vote for government, but you won't really know them, you can't vote your rules and way things work as they can do, or the things to do, that you don't do, if you can imagine something could it be integrated into the area easily does the council help with that or do you need to do everything

You can already volunteer anywhere or pay for what you want but

=====

The difference seems like, paying for holidays for something to do, but you need to keep pay for them if you want things to do.

You could go to church but when you stop going it's over, and considering people aren't much part of it. Or require schedule. And

But if you live within a home that you walk through a place where you friends live , where next to it with in it there is a place where people do things and there is often something on , and you can design things for that place

Originally under this “for higher consciousness”

Regarding community for better conscious, and the use of consciousness

=====

Everyone need to at some point design their lives, from choices and available and ideas for choices that dont exist it that they have not already seen as part of life

Someone would not want to run out of money and be stuck with just a screen or book forever, watching fake news and things that have nothing to do with their lives in isolation with no meaning to life.

So the question is why do people so frequently go on holidays rather than design their community, a holiday is good but it's expensive and I actually don't like them. But people find fake thing to do and concentrate on investments to pay for them and eventually end up there maybe with a family who sees no reason to see them except tradition and the cycle continues.

I think a lot of people see this but don't understand it or just go with it, but I hope my contribution may help some people who see it.

I'd think a government or local council would need to have a design, but it seems like they just always copy the one before it and don't see it or change it, which to make sense if they don't know the people they are governing

Forming your own local council

Local Government is the sphere of government which most directly affects people. States are divided into local areas, each of which is governed by an individual authority, known as a Council. Council activities include waste management, local environmental management, local roads, town planning, parks, libraries, social planning and many other services. Otherwise called District, Town or City Councils.

Important

You will need to do this in order implement city experiments

How to Either by

- getting elected by local council
- making a new council within an area by taking a petition containing the signatures of at least 7.5% of the local population.
- Making a new area by moving with people who believe in something and making a new petition to form a new council, the number of people who sign the partition may be between 100 to 2500 depending on country

What you get

Then you can more easily design a city

Work, projects, activities, things to do

Work

See “housing affordability”

Community provided business that give people cheap space to build modules or housing components, or areas for anyone to build new apartments, which has instructions and inspectors. For anyone who wants to build one , no requirements. Founded by commission from sale if chosen. Make it easy for anyone to build parts of apartments.

Considering at the moment housing is too expensive, and there is none available. And there are people who would like some casual work to do any time, there should be availability for anyone to work on their own space. Designs for this can be come up or chosen by themselves, with some areas for it, but it should be high density considering land price.

|

A lot of people I have seen or know are out of work, and don't seem to take especially full-time or part time work, in local community could be anyone can do something, the local organiser can suggest, with some one who knows what best way to do things checks and advises. If not locally then area in construction site for group.

|

Or low amount of money for space to build.

|

Ways to make other crucial needs available to supply by anyone anytime, makes good work

|

Making homes and space available to build for anyone. Make much more excess space to make other things easier. Promote local business with

|

Space to be 4 levels or above or big tax

Excess space should be around groups of people, government to buy housing so local people and organisers have always lots of availability.

Space can be used for local stores, robot pickings stores and storage. See robot pickers.

=====

Promoting local business

Funding could be made available, where community owns ÷ of business for its assets, owns the assets until paid off, if business stops the community can give the business to someone else,

Employment and equality, example is mondragon company where no one in the company earns more than 50% than others.

From people's business

With wide distribution as the state as an economy and not the community and exports, things can be found of higher value, supply of basic needs, each community can be provided list of things in demand ,
Some more ways there is work and working together , where no one earns more than 50% of others, except for case for unwanted work or more in demand or maybe where improvements are made to production or something like that.

Work could be setup on work anytime basis, tasks can be recorded on video as training, you can see what work your friends are doing if it's suitable to join anytime

|

See list of work available, next to it at top of what your friends are doing, .
Videos of tasks available are seen, probably made by the person who manages the business

System where supplies and demand makes this jobs and tasks available.
Jobs and tasks are available 24 hours 7 days a week.

Work 2

Instead of people applying for jobs, they simply need to switch to active on the app and indicated work as one of their interests, and employers choose them for interviews, and/or chose to allow organizers to send them candidates for interviews.

People generally don't keep looking for new work interests while they are already in a job or doing something else so miss out on opportunity. They may give up on their long term interest because they are not available for a long time.

People would like to wake up to new interview time acceptance messages on their "things to do" list.

Employers must post their work to an employment website that is integrated with the city app for organisers to send candidates recommendations

Employees will not be required to register for jobs; employers must pick peoples from peoples details or choose to allow organizers to send them candidates for interviews.

Users will list their interests and resume to help organizers suggest candidates to employers for jobs. The employer will either call the candidate with questions or send time for interview.

picked from profiles of residents who are set to active with work on their to do list, .

=====

In my ideal city,

People will live near people they know, respect and who give them good energy or thought about others and community

City will be run on an app that supports things to do, collaboration, housing, meetups, and other things.

People will be asked to write down the things they are interested in and whats most important, and will be connected with others of same interest to do what they want

People will be

=====

It is probably that people should be looking for more opportunities listed in things their interested in, but this does not always happen, and it' would be good to have a more often seen list with more relevant opportunities

In an example I was happy with some

=====

I made a website here is unfinished website I made for people to list their interests

List interests

The screenshot shows a web application interface for listing interests. On the left, there's a sidebar with a 'To do list' section containing several items with priority levels and dates. The main content area has an 'Add' form with fields for 'Title', 'Priority' (a dropdown menu), and 'Category' (a dropdown menu). Below the form is a 'Save' button. To the right of the form, there's a list of interests: 'circle circle square triangle'. Below this list, there's a 'Related Posts' section with a placeholder image and a list of related posts: 'chair table circle square triangle'. At the bottom, there's a note: 'This entry was posted in Constructive, Project. Bookmark the permalink. Edit'.

It matches one persons interests with other peoples similar interests. Each interest being in a specific sub cateorgy.

So that people may list their interests and be divided into projects and categories for projects.

Basically what ever the persons to priority interest is that day they go to that group to work on that category.

There are areas for each sub category and group.

There are organizers who look at what people want to do and insure there is a way for them to work on it or do it.

List activities

The website also has the ability to list activities, where people list their interests and things to do as joinable or active, where people see their friends interests on a list of things to do, and categories of other activities within a user set distance from their location.

User listed activities to join

1. User lists their activities
2. User is switched to active, then their activities are shown
3. Activities can be for public interest or friends only or private(councilor only)
4. Activities are labeled:
 - Available (the default when someone adds an activity, means are open to doing this now. Users can show interest in this activity)
 - Unavailable (switch off to hide activity)
 - Active (doing. this turns off other available activities)

4. User profile field: geo-my-wp location field (has auto search)
5. User profile field: geo-my-wp within (drop down field)
6. User profile field: Miles/Kms field (radio buttons field)

Edits to the search-groups geo-my-wp :

search-groups page demo:

<https://demo.geomywp.com/buddypress/search-groups/>

Already installed/working

New /search-groups/ sort order:

1. Users active group (the group selected as active by user)
1. Highest Priority (with Available/Joinable users in(swached on))
2. Friends groups (with Available/Joinable users in(""))
3. Low Priority (with Available/Joinable users in)
4. All own groupes
5. All friend groupes (of friends in Unavailable status)

== separator ==

6. all groupes with users that have Available/Joinable with users switched on

7. all other groups

Search page grope listing columns / marks / buttons:

1. Available / Joinable [text]
2. Join / Go / Active [buttons]

1 Available / Joinable [text]

1.1 Available: If has user "Available"

1.2 Joinable: If group has "Active user"

2. Join / Go / Active [buttons]

2.1 Join (adds users to group)

2.2 Yes (or Go)

new user can click "Yes" next to any active group and this will send a message to other user "[UserName] is interested in [GroupeName], would you like to do this now? Yes/No (Useing www.NOTIFICATION-PLUGIN)

If clicked yes, both users get added to the group Joinable/Active, their profile gets updated to "Active event: [GroupeName]"

Also when clicked yes,Response gets relayed to first user that "[second user] replied yes"

2.3 Active

If above notification is replied to automatically switches on, else user can click the button anytime, and this will make the [group] set to Joinable and change The Joinable status on and disable the Available status

If users switch status to unavailable it will disable the users active group

=

App scetchup xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

Things to do and work

Friends

People nearby

Friend suggestions

Manage people

Sketch Friends page

Face proximity

Activity

Active

Joinable

Things to do page

As above list activities view activities starting with own categories

Private friends public

Manage friends

☆

-- - :: + ++ □ $

=

Such system is not hard to make for a community

=====

People and government would make it out like economy and business is doing well, but in a lot of cases it is not.

Interests are directed to study often without any result.

Productivity is directed to shift work, which is often stressful or mind numbing?.

Often people don't work.

Work and business has many ways of improvement.

Local work amongst friends of choose neighbours, is non existent and not event a possibility in people's minds.

=====

Seems work has the same problem as housing, choosing neighbours.

=====

There is great problems with the resume style of finding work and full-time work in one field

Even if it is recognized a lot of people don't find work or not right for the person

There is a problem with study and not finding work when you want advertising for employee and hiring strangers, is one does not exist and the other is only works for people who like applying for many uncertain jobs with strangers that they will mostly be rejected for, and then they must be happy working under normally disturbing conditions.

Government would assume that all the jobs should be filled not leaving much available. That it's ok for a few people to own the businesses and for other people to be happy working on their schedule around strangers for a stranger.

The “#Organised area”, a place where people work on what they want to work on could be where everything is more like an appreciative but starting at high level, being part of what you want

Some people are just excell at some things
Something can be learned quickly
Somethings only need to be figured out one and doing them again is simple

=====

Demand / availability work vs shift work

Work has been designed as shift work, but now everyone can use phone apps, and demand can be seen automatically, they can be better designed as work anytime

There are number of ideas for this

Regarding # What's up with the no casual

Regarding things to do with friends, where someone can see what casual work people are doing that's joinable

Regarding the ai that knows what's in need

Survey facilitation part 1

Survey asks people what they want to do

If it's community thing then it gets added to a feed people are subscribed to automatically and people vote on it

Promotions are given to the following

After that there is longer surveys and work options, and app for things to do, etc

To facilitate what they want, but give them option just to live outside of the area and work and live as normal without support or facilitation of what they want, but within the area is that not forcing people to do things but to ask them what they want to do and giving them options and support, with a form to list things, all which are described later, and suggestions made for things they may like and creating the kind of area state that they would like with the blessing of the people that love there which could be facilitation of things to do with their friends in the church next to them all

Organizers

Organizers are allocated an activity category based on their own interests, and in teams of two they are allocated 50 or 100 participants who have top priority interest in the same category; organizers job it is to organize groups and look at projects and activities people want to do within that category

Simple.

There should be two organisers working together

=====

Living near and or seeing people someone respects or think are good or would want to help, and doing something meaningful to existence and for others makes people relaxed, healthier, and opens the mind to higher conscious, and here is where we want to be.

So housing for this involvement in something

Here are ways to help everyone have this

=====

On the app/website people can also add their friends, and mark friends as best friends or dont like. The organizers can setup work or activities for best friends who are switched to active. Friends can see each others active status.

This friends list and interests and survey can be used to recommend home location.

Ideally in my city people would get (written elsewhere) ~~lower tax~~ for living near their friends and participating in activities and listing the activities or thing they are doing including general free time.

=====

People live near group of friends
Create promotion list such as People who want to, organise things for people to do
Organiser parties
Have community ideas or vision
Have inventions for city
Have work ideas to be part of setup management Djfkfkei
Help setup people in jobs
Give people jobs to do so ,

=====

Just another morning disturbance here

I have thought about and written such things since I was young, I remembered one a re thought about it with what we have today, I imagine my life where ideas were part of system where I lived where people recognised such people, if I had choose of neighbours and found some people who cared about anything like that.

Instead of living in a place where government don't recognise anyone but themselves, etc

Maybe we wouldn't just be sitting In Front of a screen when we retire from the life of sitting in front of screens watching things that we are not part of, while we don't have children and are replaced with migrants for the Virginia company that really only cares about that.

I should not care to write this new vision of idea I have for part of the community unless I have one, in time it won't matter anyway, no one will even see it, I'll be dead and the things that matters is someone like me won't just write this idea in vain.

=====

As an organizer

? You should know what important to people

If they have an ongoing disturbance and what someone thinks they can do about it

People should be part of the council and the area design for they are part of the area, especially when they know people in the area

A disturbance may still be overcome by something positive, doing something positive to worrying about something someone can't fix, or can they fix it within an area or business?

If your in position of an organizer you could remember mistakes you made and better things to do

How people could work towards better future and help with them that instead of making same mistakes

And what design would help them to do that,

Like home ownership, over renting

Representatives

Like most places in the world, in the USA there is 1 representative for an average 800000 people , in Australia maybe 1 for 50000 to 100000 people. and otherwise no community organiser. It used to be 1 in 30000 in USA, but they limited the number of representatives per district homeless and sick people exist, but no one is to question..the government just tries to puts out opportunity for people and looks at averages I guess.

a car park is more important to the government than life

There are buildings all over the place here for free medical and psychological help but there is 1 person hired for government representative for 60000 people in my district, who are suppose to deal with people's local problems but do nothing doctors are free in Australia, but they never fix anything for me, one time they took out a hemorrhoid and I stopped breathing. It's generally a waste of time seeing them or phycologists , unless you think talking to some one helps , I mean just talking . I don't see them for problems because I report problems and they never fix anything and I just live with it or fix it myself

Do you see

===

If there were a representative per 150 people maximum, and each representative had access to create more available or affordable opportunities, and if these representatives were part of choose neighbours and knew the people, then people would feel they are part of something.

Not to take away from super powers, but better for people who find this is something they want, for people who aren't doing much, create more opportunities, and

==

The bystander effect

“The bystander effect is a social psychological phenomenon where individuals are less likely to offer help to a victim when other people are present, as the likelihood of intervention decreases as the group size increases. Primarily driven by a diffusion of responsibility and fear of judgment, this inaction stems from assuming others will act or that the situation is not an emergency.”

“The bystander effect has been proven hundreds of times. Your brain is made to hold small tribes of a couple hundred people and the moment that tribe expands into something your brain can't imagine you are no longer relying on reputation from anyone. You don't care what other people are thinking about you. And the moment that stops your brain says, "I don't have the capacity to worry about everyone that I see." So empathy disappears. Like you walk down these streets here in New York, their empathy is zero for you. No matter what's happening, you walk through a country town that's like 1,500 people. The population of the town I live in is 2,200. And if you get cut on the armor like you stumbled, four cars will stop. People get out of their cars to figure out what's going on because our brains can handle smaller tribes. The moment we get flooded with all of these things, all of these people that we can't possibly care about everybody, empathy disappears. The second aspect of this is if we're surrounded by environments that our ancestors would be absolutely scared of and confused by. We we start developing problems in our brain. Depression, loneliness, suicide through the roof in large cities every time. There's no exception. "

I think this is why they seem not to care. They have the job to care but theres just too many people they don't know.

===

The difference between a nation and a community is that one expects people as individuals and small family to look after themselves, and perhaps the other looks at people as family, but it's hard to see because communities don't exist any more.

I see that there are opportunities for people to do this and that but many don't achieve the standards that others do, and sometimes very poor standards, I am unable to be a part of a community with them or people around that would help them.

Another example is a nation can see or hope for big businesses and development and heaps of well paid jobs, but within the nation a group of people capable for good work may not do much good work because of the conditions which it is in or the means of finding it, it seems the nation just cares that it is available and in work, and does not care by whom, maybe migrants, while the group who may have provided better opportunities for itself may seem very little great opportunities. I use to think about how smaller groups can provide better, more and more meaningful opportunities for each other, and it is possible, written elsewhere and a subject that can be a design and the design can be a subject in council and or communication within groups, and can be tailored to people within a group,. But people will not have this and just look after themselves for nation is not a community so much and local council is not a community like this.

If people are in a community or government they would find more inspiration in helping people with ideas. Until then people become successful for helping strangers which in most cases is because they want to make money. If that does not seem like the life you want it's too bad there is nothing else.

====

- In the case with representatives that don't know people, they can assume that they have provided enough opportunities through business for people to work and do what they want, but this would also assume that everyone is happy working in their system for strangers in the way they want, and will find meaning, fulfilment, abundance and community doing so.
- Whereas if you have a council of representatives/organisers that know the people in the area, that have access to its public facilities and can support people, they can see things the way they work and not just assume it will all just work out based on a few business people trying to make money and where they otherwise don't really know what's happening. .

=====

Hard to know why the parties are

There are many representatives, none of which I have heard of

I needed to Google a lot of them

Some good, some bad . Some would make me feel at peace going to bed and others no way, it would be an odd thing to see them trying to run a place, the current ones should not be running this place, no.

People won't know the difference and vote for who the party is without knowing the representatives. Representatives that would some disrespect them.

This would be better and different in place I knew people and participated in community, it would mean a lot in the formation of the environment I live in, but here no, nothing changes for me much, but they build things for other people, provide jobs and lives for other people, not my immediate family either. They are a let down that will never know.

Need to see how it would have been before nationalisation where people become just numbers, see #5738384747

=====

Of these representatives, they don't really have a community, they manage street cleanliness and maybe fund and provide space to build a dog park or a football stadium.

Of the people who would like to develop and be part of a community, have not council or government or system they are integrated into.

=====

Instead of representatives taking other people ideas into consideration, these people start their job by running in a competition against other people who theoretically want to be part of a council for an area, but when they win the other people who wanted to be part of the council are ignored, if not also disliked, let alone people who would want to be part of it but didn't spend much of their live preparing for the weird race that may as well be a lottery.

Most of these people would make me not sleep well at night, so I guess its better they don't have much to do with my life, it shows me something about a place that people would have such representatives, and ignorantly accept or think such a system is great.

P.s.

I saw this again, like the man who wins puts all his political opponents into a gulag, that has happened before remember. Like they are just to work for their home and fuck areond in it until their dead, but for me I don't even have the work for that home, it's basically impossible for me, and I have seen this before with some people who think a lot about like Iz don't work and become homeless. So it's not just the political opponents it's like the public that can go suck it, and not make any money, work on, or have no say in their political or community interests, this is where I die, it was always my destiny.

I think it should be people that sees this should be managing the state in a way that all the people below them have input and change their own community rather than thinking they live in one nation as a community. But can they be found or would an organisation of them be set up to oversee the communities.

When they run for parliament they seem to argue with their political opponents, opposition, then they win and are grateful their opponents are gone, didn't see it like anyone else even cared to help their nation or state but it's just them. These are all people that are sponsored to be at the top of helping the whole place, that start with getting rid of other people who want to help, let alone think people may want to help or that these people need to love them and believe in their opinions first before they can. No jobs for people anyway, every one can just wander about the place like nomads without a community for ideas and progress.

They don't know you, but they have millions of dollars from the people you know that are supposed to be there to help you.

Millions of dollars every year. Some people hate them, they ignore their ideas, values and problems,, they can do nothing when they, they friends or family suffer, and or just hand out some free service for the general public. what ever ideas or drive someone has they just want everyone to find some job with strangers in some other field and work.

It's not really their fault as it's been like that for hundreds of years and they are all just a bit too stupid to see it and or could not change it if they want to.

If they could fund a bit more locally for what people actually need for progress, I see too much fraud, non useful projects and things people just grabbing at, although also obviously good and very important. Locally though people who know the people and problems.

=====

I live somewhere that it feels like revelations don't mean anything. I wake up every day seeing some problem or the state of life in some meaningful way but no one cares, there is no system for people like this, how can that be, unless people dont see or they think that talking to their friend is going to do something. On top of it, I am disrespected by people around and . I see many people without much life alone , they seem stuck , not knowing there is something better because that's what life has given them.

=====

As part of interest and ideas/inventions list,
They are made for public , when something is in demand it could be work for people they know so they can do it with friends and know the people who stated the projects.

Their could be a voting system for what can get made first for work, as well as voting system for changes to the community. Organisers also promote and support things.

=====

I am appreciative of the financial ease of life for freedom and other things .. good will ..

It is good that people get paid more for work and that people who see more to life on something else but work can who has no money can work on what they want, but this could be better

====

Goal counseling and rewards

Central resources allocated by organisers for people to complete projects for good purpose and economy

Projects where 2 to 10 people who like to socialize work on each others projects ... they each do their part

Good to get people who care for each others welfare to

=====

Many people seem not to be part of anything, so ideas above should help a lot.

=====

This is my city, I don't feel like that, do others?, until it is, which happens when x (see in community area development).

Old men watch news and talking about politics that don't change anything, such good memories and ideas, then they feel like they are worthless, but given their own community, and a role, Can remember the troubles they have had and good way things can be can help young people too. People not easily finding ok jobs and inequality, did they grow up with that and kept some ideas to help people...

Are you interested in politics, or city development, or something like that, Yes

No

... Your now part of the team with your community. You can design and change ways things work.

?

The proposal forum

Please list you idea in the proposal forum

?Once 30% of organiser members have voted on your proposal it will either go through, rejected, ideas can be given

Start with something like this

Member will be called for voting duty if not enough votes are made

Categories of things for members that can allocate themselves to certain categories

But big system changes are classified as for all

?

Other ways local council could be like parliament

Do you want a prime ministry or just voting system

All the organisers can vote on that

Organisers are self elected, I mean just choose themselves to be organisers

Choose neighbours

=====

#022133.2

The inherit ability and instinct to see what people need and what people offer, to help them succeed,
The vision of a plane of existence
To feel compassion for others
To see and remember how other people are
To see our own problems and want to help others with them
And many other things
Where people all seeing different and same things, like multifunction tools all working together, where it's more than just having a job the thing people do all day without any other impacts from thought much at all
It's what makes this good

More so by people who aren't stressed or already have a problem they want to fix that they can't, or have time off work or stress
Why then just have government who have stressed jobs, when the mind is more free to see of those who don't work so much.

Regarding the “organized area” chapter.

If someone has time off work and doesn't sit there contemplating about things and life then I don't understand how their brain works
However considering that they watched TV about shows and news that has nothing to do with our lives and don't feel in control their community just the way things are

Area developers

There are many people who have ideas for better community but not often asked to implement them

There are cities and districts councils, street blocks and apartment groups where they can.

There are many examples of people who have ideas for community or people's lives and people who wish to research more. Some examples in section x.

Plato said that politicians should be philosophers.

What would the psychologist do, the philosopher, what are they directed towards with importance

=====

As described above people get networked into what they want to work on. People who see a problem or would like to make something better in their community get to do so and people in the community get to use it or reject it as they wish.

As described below they will get to live near friends so also helping them. Its like seeing a problem that would fix something about life and wanting to do this also for other people that they remember see the big problems with. The ideas are implemented locally, unlike bad ideas that govern a whole country they can be fixed locally before idea is well implemented and others can use it in other areas, or that people will see problems with their local areas and friends that is specific for them and does not apply to other areas.

It is important that they get to work on such things, and to make it easier for them, not just to have the ideas float around in their heads for long time. Effort should be put in to see these ideas are free to be worked on. The areas should be designed for people to be able to easily change them. People get fixated on working on such things and current system does not give many people opportunity to do so.

They can to talk about the ideas before working on them to other who are also working on community ideas.

=====

Here are my ideas on how to help them be part of integrating their important ideas, and my own ideas i have thought of.

Ideas for city for people who want their lives to be more interesting and for better conscious...

Ideas may also be used for a tick box on life app
Make my life more interesting and help me...

=====

How I would like my area, this is, the ideas I have had. Not thought of this city or all people. And is made up of some imaginary group that when I was helping make area app for them

====

People will live and see friends and help others in projects and collaboration and they will have these ideas.

Under inv score (rewards , and meaning of new projects)

People will have a ideas councillor to upload ideas to, and they will have orginisor and goal coach to help them in list of things they want to do, the councilor and AI and oginisor will determine if the individual has any such ideas for community and they will be asked to integrate their ideas or do what they want that seems important to the individual.

=====

What would they do if an area was total designed for them to help make lives better. How would things work.

.....
.....
.....
.....

“ One man can accomplish anything when he realizes he can be a part of something bigger “

Not many people have or are a part of an agenda or plan

Depending on the place and people they will have different agenda and plans

But to help them do this is for most places

And there are ideas for that

How to implement the ideas, simply for people with the ideas to do so because they have the interest and purpose and would be more willing to do more thinking and research on the ideas and would get greater reward for doing them because that is what they are think about

Someone should not need to study and start at the bottom to work on ideas, the people who have great vision and imagination for them. after time when not worked on the ideas may become distant or to much anxiety in them to keep trying, so the way it should work is to get them fast to work on what they wake up and think about

Due to my city and people being similar to others some of these plans

People have their own pessimisms and should appreciate that others have theirs and that all people may work on them, so to create better freedom and share of power in numbers

To be a part of something really interesting may come after or during working someone pessimisms

To have more to life after having such great imagination is something that can be worked on, such as helping people have better imagination and knowledge and people with best minds and ideas to organise people into a future reality if they want that, to give them some options and nicer environment towards their own growth, freedom, fulfillment, peace, security, ect

I have wished that I could be free from some of my pessimisms so that I could start new projects, but sometimes I am but often comes back to my pessimisms because is what I see and way I live

Someone with more money and less ideas would not have the same pessimisms I have, they would not think of some of the things I do, so . but still they would have their own vision of life and whats important

My agenda is for a city design for more freedom and opportunity for ideas and to help peoples lives towards better conscious, relationships, and fulfillment

And here is some of what I have seem that may help or that is theoretically possible, or that I would definitely make if it were up to me, which I find very important to work on and change so to avoid such suffering and meaningless I have seen and experienced

=

The agenda and plans should be separated,

In a smaller group one for boring lives and things such as what to do about small things and repairs

The second to what potential and purpose of people and things they can do, etc

In larger group this would be separated by interests, demographics and friends, or what people would like to bring up, being categories for groups

That most people have something that annoys them, something to work on, etc, some or great thinking do not participate in the group plan or agends or collaboration because it takes a lot of effort to do so, they will all be surveyed and help to do so

People and kings brains would wish to work on many different ideas

But they may not be respected by people who manage these things

At least they are given an audiance easily

I mean written elsewhere is the answer for that, and to be worked on

=====

Conscious that feel is is not part of anything may be there thinking all the time
May be everywhere they go is meaningless
May be writing something to make it meaningful is something
May be writing some ideas is meaningful but not acted upon Giving ideas is meaningful
Working on ideas is meaningful
And when see the disorder
And when someone lazy to see people and dont know where or meaning to ideas
Seeing people to motivate action still important or good light to fill in heal the darkness
Who what where at least not with Aura of thoughts and insperation when not always going out.
To want to go out more and not thinking badly about going or who is here

May be, Nothing more than oversight and changes and sitting to make changes is what they would like Sitting on the throne when they feel like it Instead of peopole sitting on the thron who only feel like it or want to do things some of the time or to their ame and then looks like they are happy but other people are not always and want to work , and they all should when ever they feel like this

May sit there is awe of the state of their lives and way things work, and instead of working for themselves in it want to work towards ways things work or just what they could do but not actually do alll these thing because its hard or imposable or other people dont see it or becuae its hard if you imagin someone haveing visions of many many different things and them changing day to day
May be there spend 2 years of something but still does not happen and look smore and more hopeless or change of direction, but what if, was that thing so hard, or just

May be the state on working on all these things alone is not the way to go

While there city gets filled with xenophobic foreign migrants and

If someone were to recall so much and remember their lives they find it a special experience,

If someone finds their self presence in existence and aware they find it "enlightened"

This is it should not feel like something exceptional, should be the way people are

My smashed head, is what it feels like, but most people can't feel the energy in their heads?

I mean that it feels bad, can be seen on scan and tension etc could be easy to figure this out ... what helps and what does not

Then people find they don't like the depressing feeling or the depression, think it's money if that stresses them out, be with certain people because of better relationships, etc.

1.

=====

So if i were to talk to a ... about what i would want to do
At someone has time for the ideas to point they are not working on it and living with bad aura and frustration of not doing any thing until their head hurts they should have done something already

There are some places where someone may feel like they have a community

This community should survey peoples ideas

Work towards some good things

What is good to work towards obviously lots of things and just finding a way to work towards them would be the biggest thing to achieve

To what and how to have a community
To how and what they do

I have not had and is not possible here really. Feels like a constant existential crisis and cant get on with life, or that getting on with life is to work on that which is not easily possible. And everyone is just suppose to accept it and get a career and be happy with everything.

=====

If I were going to a group would be to

Most groups seem to be there just to listen to someone one and then mingle or not, where if any thing talker or someone talks about what they are doing or anything.

Some people are there to do something but this can be made esier. Most groups if they have something to do it is by design of someone to join and not on individuals subject, where it can be, I guess because they want to get group together doing something form their own ideas of whats good or just to get people together, but if people are not doing what their souls purpose drives them to do them maybe their are not going to be getting together. So survey them and list options they can choose from, look at their interests and assign roles, get people working together on similar interests, and preferably get them to do a OKR list (Goal System) and check what they are doing...

They will have something more interesting to talk about that they are interested in and so make connections that way.

=====

For over thinkers, for big imaginations, for people who see much around them of existence all at once,

If they are with people they care for, a community, their imaginations can give them good feeling of good things to do, if they are not , then their imaginations can be filled with with the void of life and the improbability of doing anything, problems they can't fix that can strangle them but no be fixed

Seeing and helping any one is good, seeing problem and seeing some way to fix it, make something better, use someone talents more

=====

Untitled

My father, mother, sister and many people are trained in qualified jobs of interest and sometimes highly skilled work, and are good at it and have some interest in it. But they are rejected for a few jobs or don't look often and end up in lowest paid jobs. Or they have ambitions for complicated projects but job market is not for them.

This is where the "organised area" ideas can help.

Instead of just having a low paid labour job or being unemployed, people should also be part of something bigger, and other ideas. Not just the army in war time.

For higher conscious

perhaps for an organisation.

If people have their own community where people can deal with problems and make this better, is important, but these ideas are not something that need to be done.

These ideas are personal interest, and written in theory

=====

Problem with creative conscious and many answer

How can a person with high vision write something without ideas for it
But no where to share them, no community, no organisation for such, just a blank internet filled with people of which who are there that have disrespected and would take his ideas for themselves. So what we see in small publications do not have ideas just opinions or mostly mad from people lacking the ability to have many ideas in what they make Holding people back from being creative or enjoying thinking in life as there is just frustration of ideas but to live in such a place

=====

Serve the high conscious in people by helping them use their minds for city, and ideas they already have and maintaining their conscious Survey to see who can invoke or has high conscious, may be described as Deity Name , and has conscious ability and reasoning
Shadow councils or councils, as written about, as they design Payments from tax and or other are given to them to help them setup area and systems to fix problems that they see and ways to work on them, especially things that plague their minds, if no payments available the systems and housing made for them to work with as they wish.

Often I have felt like x , or it has been easy to invoke such conscious and ability, although this has been diminished as written

Assuming some people are like I have been in the past then some people are like super processors that have far higher vision and thoughts of reality than normal people , that can have constant revelation and vision of life , that feel in a state in which it environment should be designed , with ideas for life , but not having a system that they may design for this is a disgrace to life.
Information in main doc and survey documents. Main doc in followed on in journal.

Here are some ideas I have had

Use for ideas in city and economy

I think most companies don't pay royalties for ideas , and governments have no good systems , so it is just up to individual to use ideas , so inevitably all ideas are wasted for someone like me

Cities are not designed by people with such vision as I have had

You would need to survey for this

Most information is in my journal and old projects document , and survey file

For people who want to live in a place dedicated to high conscious (brain activity) and other body energy phenomenon

People get join based on this and work on ideas for it. List ideas for their area and get networked into such to work on it

Many ideas in this book may be directed towards this but good for use in any area

To obtain high conscious it helps to have the understanding an area and people are for it and to work on something there for it.

I believe that may be whatever it is with people the person knows or gets to know and likes

An area affordable to buy into or rent

Few of my ideas

1. Community and living next to friends, with some common purpose is one thing I have experienced as best for conscious, but can be well designed which I have not experienced.

2.

3.

4.

=====

A place where "thinkers" mean something

Where thought means something

This is much described in journal

For example it does not matter what I think now or what I see or what i would like to work on, but in some other place there will be new ways that it does, and the only thing that means anything is to make the new place

When your not a part of anything that can be developed, when there is life but thought dont mean anything. Then what is the purpose of life.

=====

To think, to see problems,

To get rid of the negativity, and feel inspired , to be able to

=====

What if...

What if something was changed in a society, or what do government keep secure like work and law.

But that if, there was an area and all the options were open to people to have

Like my ideas were included and many things were tried and see what works

Where people with vision could imagine what's better

Normally someone has an idea and they make it and either it works or does not work, sometimes success is based on efficiency and marketing, or at least later versions of it are used which are and original version become obsolete

Or people just look after themselves and find a job that is there because of some need, and don't do much else except go to shows and eat

In an area where someones conscious can be tuned to life , and their ideas made as part of a council , I can see this working less well as leaders of council don't know people in their area but if people live around people they know and that was their council , or not . Perhaps, people could more easily choose to live near other that believe or want similar things so base their development around things , or care for the people in their area , and see suffering and have ideas to fix it . Perhaps I would not have to have such dislike , isolation, ignorance and disrespect towards me , in another life.

...

friends with similar interests put into similar areas. if small groups not efficient to have own council that people interested still join in local council , and or elected still paid for couple of days of council work or something like that

=====

It is natural that people form some kind of government or group when with people they like , help others, etc, but to integrate that as best as possible is

My proposal is to is to make apartments where friends live next to each other, and have their own government council, organise things to do, and develop their own communities.

People will pay for this themselves, I just need some money to fund a loan to start it

Both affordable housing for anyone.

a car park is more important to the government than life

These cities we live in are for working or to make money and for people who like to go out to meet strangers for nothing important, or see friends sometimes where many people don't see friends. It's not a world I want to work for, I mean I will work to buy a house but it should come with my world and my house is some people's world but it should be more.

Work is not life to me and many people, but we have made it so there is not much more of an option.

=====

Clearly you can see that some of the worlds governments do not serve their people well. But your own government does not as well. So many times I have felt like I am living in awful place and bad government but it's suppose to be one of the currently best places and governments.

It may seem so bad for someone like me that their in nothing can be done, and ones believes so can be demoralized and be sick from life, as they feel part of nothing.

It can seem like a bad world when you don't have the things that support feeling of goodness in it. Living with abusing people, not having enough money to get by, not working on anything good, etc
But you can see life exists and it should be worked on, you can direct your hope towards that, and towards making a nice place for people to live.

If you don't like your flatmates or the insecurity of your house, you may first think to buy a house or move; but what if you could buy a house where you lived next to friends; what if it was some housing so people who lived their lived next to friends or away from people that gave them bad feeling.

What if you thought as I do that living around more good conscious or felt more at peace with would create a better feeling of life making someone more productive and healthier.

What if you could be part of a organisation that was not as work but was like support people like you, perhaps you had the idea that it should be an area What if in some vision of life it seemed like hell and you wanted to make area that helped people like you

Perhaps a place where coincidence of good neighbour is not determined by luck or money

#748383848 part 1

People of good conscious , you will know yourself from the disrespect and uneasy feeling other people give you. You will know them for the weak minds and disgraceful behaviour. You will remember the uneasy feeling they have given you all your life from neighbours to flatmates, and uneasy feeling about life.

I have had a lifetime of this, and hope you may not have it so bad. I believe a good plan for you is to work to buy a place and live with people of good conscious, sell it to them and have equal rights, you will be helping them, and you will both find peace at home from this, as to the world, you will then need to buy more homes and start a new community run by people who see life as you have, then you will see peace in the world as you will be able to change things.

Need a place to go from the hell, hell people migrants and stupid nothing reality. I guess that's everywhere for a

Probably best thing you can do in new world is leave or get together with some non-criminal type people you would want to have a city with, people who believe in making a better city, maybe not up their own ass, or don't see ways things could be better or care to make anything better, and buy some land and use stupid migrants as labour and or leave later ... This may be your vision but there is no where to leave to, you need to make somewhere, unfortunately it will be small to start with

=====

=====

People say, you don't have long in this life, you should live it, you should enjoy it, treasure your time,
I don't want to waste my time, my life. I would like to spend my time in existence, with people I see as family with some ideas that making future and opportunities better is a theme, not waste it in anxiety and nothingness, with no foreseen future,

Someone may think the future of reality will be better, I said it could be a dystopian future and lots of things about current reality are dystopian. The statistics show things are looking more dystopian so it's actually going the wrong way.

I am not going to go to a business I am not part of a community with and suggest ideas to them.

You can work towards a better area and life for people if you are part of such things, otherwise the way it is the government just expects people to work and provide business to the whole. Like economy is the community which it is in a way.

You can get a job and most people just keep that job for their whole lives.

It depends on how someone thinks,
Get a house and see friends

Or see reality and all the things that are not forgivable and work on them.

It is actually good to also think relatively things will be ok, and I should try to get a home and work towards some community and friends in life, although this seems much more difficult in Australia on low income.

Government and business don't care about people who want to fix things, think differently, or have ideas, so why should these people care to help them.

People don't generally share ideas to just anyone. If they feel like they have a community, or to someone to share it with to use it for their own best interest.

I live in a shared house, I don't have anything to do with the house but staying in a room. People like this don't usually do gardening and things like this, unless they feel part of a community with people they live with.

I had had a lot to share, there has been a lot lost, like my life and contribution lost, I have felt also to sacrifice my career and work to be able to think.

==

So if you find yourself in a community and want to participate in the council, or that people are in communities,

you can see the other people in the council community

You can see why some people don't like their work or don't work or things they want to do or thing lacking or thing making people sick

You can promote pricing options, such as if there is not enough housing and work, that people can make housing anytime for work

Some work that people don't need to commit to for life, thats good for them, always available, makes money from other communities the best

Provide support for people ideas on things that they think would be nice for other people

People still need to look after themselves but maybe this will fill some need that you see

People choose their own communities

Here people will more likely sympathise with each other or leave community

|

Community where people sympathise to fixing or living with our some distance that make people worry or feel sick

Some community where shared problems can be worked on with ideas

Work may be more specific to the individual community due to differences or joint working options, or to serve other communities because of their differences

====

I have always felt more creative and wanting to work when I am around people I like , have good conversations with. This goodness is also brought into public work.

If someone is emanating good energy and is feeling good in their spirit, study has shown their cells are more protected from coronavirus.

Most disease is caused by bad energy (bad spirit) (being upset or not feeling good about life), people can kill themselves and take drugs because of it. My father died from it I think, disturbance from multiple people over a long time and isolation, nothing much good to do, etc, he tried, had enough.. I have felt extremely sick because of it so I know what it is. I have wrote a lot about it. P.s. it was also my relationship with him could be bad when he was drug and bit rude we argued sometimes and i always felt this would hurt him the way he was so rude, i tried to accept him being rude in judgement sometimes but often it was not a good communication in relationship for either of us (for years), but i respect people who give harsh advice even if it upsets me, and i once he said i was the only person he would worry about, and i dont think people should see each other who argue or talk like that, and i wish he would have good friends he saw frequently in life, that he would choose from large pool of people and find ones that he did not argue with , i.e. believe more the same things and didn't have a problem with , he was highly intelligent (more than anyone i have known (not including video)), and opinionated, liked to drink coffee smoke and talk about things for a long time.

We are supposed to make our own reality from self determination, the government seems to care about law and employment, but there is a lot to making it easier to feel comfortable and good about life then work and feeling safe from no criminals although it's really good about that.

|

The problem could be with people like me who don't go out a lot, don't like to, don't have much money or self esteem and opportunities to easily live around people to fulfil some enjoyment of community, and don't feel much purpose in work or projects, which seems common in public and shared accommodation. I mean not the homeowner, living in some room. If government could understand that maybe they would want to help more.

It could be worst for me, I feel lucky I don't need to get up for work every day but causes limits on work. The thoughts of peace, hope, caring, etc. are helping.

When I live or work around people I don't feel respected by, I feel like I don't want to go out, except for work maybe to find a better place but I don't look for another place, I sit there wasting my time, sleep all the time but don't actually have good sleep, lose my memory, get inflammation, and other things.

=

What if by restraining people from forming local community by choosing neighbours, by making land and home prices too high by low birth rates making government thinking that mass migration is fine, making people work for ever for homes, and many people living from expensive rent, making people not see life, and making it harder for people to have community, that people don't get together and provide people with more opportunities and better life from better understanding. Or that if only a percentage of people that would normally form a community are with other people that often don't get along or in isolation that they are missing out on opportunities and sense of peace that would come with their community.

====

described some sort of perpetual high conscious while laying for sleep that teaches and gives instructions, one should not feel disturbed by their environment.

Many people and organisations here study sleeping, but none study who may be in their environment while sleeping, or if they feel like they are in their own home, or part of community or inclusion in anything great, etc. same with studies into depression, anxiety and suicide, which mainly study the effects of drugs.

====

A vision of life that makes one feel, this is our city, why don't we make it great.

Ever flowing visions of how things could be better or designed.

If only thousands are chosen to manage millions, and they are not chosen for their vision then where does it leave such person, and it would be that if they had some greater area where they can participate with friends, people they feel like it is their area with. That it would be just sometimes when they feel to do so, and or talk to the people in their area, but I don't live with or see people who see such things, nor is a place established that is well established for it, but

=====

That all people should have good environments, including owning home, and do not need to work full time to support them unless they want to.

But in a which this is not the case.

Because states of consciousness, seem so valuable,
some payment and ways to use

so they may struggle and end up in bad environment so they may pay off their own home, althyaall people should be able to is conscious lost if it serves not purpose

if it brings disturbance in vision, where the visions have no meaning to an individual or their environment where perhaps their environment is filled with people who don't care for their visions, or them, or for the contribution they can make to the shared environment of people who know and like each other.

People would say with good mood that people may have good consciousness, even an omnipotent conscious.

Rapid and or bigger visions may seem important at the time but may be fleeting.

There are also ways to maintain it envoke such, which can be decided by an individual but not seen unless perhaps thought expression of the individuals ideas.

I remember thinking that I should dedicate my time and life, to support such conscious, in people,
There seemed to be a lack of this in my life, although there is support for all people, the greater conscious seemed to not be utilised or given qualification such as something in a resume.

I described a system where people could choose to live or be a part of , for people who wanted to be more conscious, or to reach high states of conscious, where things for good conscious are promoted, although society already creates work and what people want, supports pease, etc. the freedom to choose what can bring you good energy.

The system would have a selection

1. I'm in good conscious
2. I'm not in good conscious

1. would be more utilisation of type. Used in support of others and environment generally, with some suggestions for good intent of others for
2. maybe these is problems with their investment that need to be fixed, or in themselves, what they are thinking about, which 1 have already gotten over perhaps

I thought to be part of this, may be good idea for something to be part of, the environment is shared would be different and you could know that is what's it's about

=

Someone can gain good insight about it , and then be more 2 , and still have memory of a lot of it.

=====

Gifted pension?

If someone feels their conscious skills are more important to be used than going to work.

And for people who think they want to work on projects other than finding a job, those projects are supported as described in organized area section below.

Instead of their desire to be unemployed to avoid work so they can be more free with their conscious,

More ways for people who don't meet philanthropists, to share ideas and be involved in projects.

Ancient Egyptian government used to pay people to study life, I mean, think about or see life, scribes and government and , who had some conscious for life, and or family history of.

How to tell unless someone sees people such as church or shares ideas, which could be councillor, . Many states of being are described, the desire to be part of a place where suffering in the conscious is not just being happy with a job which seems very difficult to me.

=====

Christian view

"Image of the world in the book of genesis is that the world is an artifact, it is made as a potter takes clay and forms pots out of it or as a carpenter takes wood and makes tables and chairs out of it don't forget Jesus is the son of a carpenter and also the son of God so the image of God and of the world is based on the idea of God as a technician potter carpenter architect who has in mind a plan and who fashions the universe in accordance with that plan so basic to this image of the world is the notion you see that the world consists of stuff basically primordial matter substance stuff as pots are made of clay now clay by itself has no intelligence clay does not of itself become a pot although a good potter may think otherwise

[Music]

because if you were a really good potter you don't impose your will on the clay you ask any given lump of clay what it wants to become and you help it to do that and then you become a genius

but the ordinary idea I'm talking about is that simply clay is unintelligent, it's just stuff and the potter imposes his will on it and makes it become whatever he wants and so in the book of genesis the lord god creates adam out of the dust of the earth in other words he makes a clay figurine and then he breathes into it and it becomes alive

because the clay becomes informed by itself it is formless it has no intelligence and therefore it requires an external intelligence and an external energy to bring it to life and to put some sense into it”

- Alan Watts, the nature of reality

A creator will be at peace when they can live in a place with people and systems they can create in.

Working from disturbance. When the disturbance grasps someone it's good to work on. Or it feels good to get over it, but if it is not fixed it can come back, if it keeps on coming back but can not be fixed, is a problem where the creator is not living where they should.

Or ideas of how to make things better or make something interesting to unheard.

Perhaps it's not easy enough to fix, or the people around are strangers. Or the person has no ownership rights. Simply not a part of things, except for some function in an economy, or nothing.

=====

The government does not know it's happening, care that's it's happening, how to fix it, what the problem is or how to use

Everyone is just supposed to go to a job or use their ideas for a business, really?

?Churches don't care, and no one cares. Maybe they did in the past, or no one has important visions often any more? is serious about life any more?

Actually I think people have lost meaning of church, it's just some motivation speech service and somewhere to bring your children in Sunday.

Maybe west is just focus on gdp and not Christian view point, like maybe they did in the past when people thought more.
Or the ignorance of the people in charge to think of peoples thoughts as low. Disregarding the only true power in conscious.

For here for the thousands of people, for their thousands of pages, are wasted, they are wasted, their hole lives wasted except some insignificant job and maybe some insignificant idea.

I see it every day. I hate it every day. It wont change.

.....

I mean be ignorant and happy in your home and car and ignorance

Assuming people will remain with no community who cares much about this, and government will remain not knowing people, they could assess how people are by certain unseen factors

=====

Search “can’t help” in document 4. Making a community where people can change things. Freedom done wrong is where options and opportunities are not available, and the everyone just looks after themselves without caring to think of people who see problems and opportunities, and options for people.

=====

?

Some people want to wander the land. And some people want to design it. Do people wake up and think about going to work or do they think about life, but what’s there to do is work, there is nothing much for someone who thinks about life.

In the environment there are things to do, not so much things to change and make. Which is the nature of what happens by its design.

If work or work options are not in aline with ideas, especially when work is not nice or not needed. Why would someone work. In the case someone has some income from renting out rooms in their home or unemployment payment.

=====

Regarding sitting there thinking

Happen when someone just sits there thinking.

The government and churches are not good for this.

So the government and church I propose is for this.

Helps a lot of they have homes, otherwise someone who just thinks a lot, ends up in shit hell.

Hypercritical talking to wankers around.

This issue, is common, happened to my father. Same problem with my sister and mother but they got homes younger, have better neighbours and do things a bit more.

My father just sat there and thought, most intelligent person you would meet. Important to recognize these people such as myself are hypercritical. Of the social and environment. In any case church promotes higher conscious but don't promote it's frustration of being.

Just nothing much happens from thought, ideas and criticism.

Cigarettes could be a drug that helps sitting there thinking, without feeling need to do anything, so if the government is going to make people poor by smoking, then they should contribute to the ideas and lives of thought.

Hypercritical. The environment is not so great and you're poor because you just sit there thinking and no one cares and some shit job or no job, but thoughts still don't matter.

Sending letters to the government (apparently called lobbying) is bad because makes no money, the don't care about you after the fact, and maybe don't like the government so why send letters. Thinkers probably been in shit accomodation with bad or no jobs so thinking of the government and society as not good or not caring or have low self esteem but still don't like the government.

=====

For auric field it works more at home if it's quiet and you don't feel there are people in your home.

For akashic records it helps if

For existence perception it helps if

For body scans it helps if

For ignoring environment and more being able to not be distracted by it helps if

Reason to think and or be content with things

Reasons why thoughts of life are disturbing where something can't be fixed

=====

To help give people feeling they are on top of the world.

To see life.

Or

To expect cinematic consciousness and visions

They can themselves do this but there should be a bonus for it, their ability

It's better way of being though life

Once you have been there you will know this

You will want to help them or for this spirit

I imagined a place where everyone who went there would evoke such a feeling of life, as explained later or elsewhere, and to know everyone there was seeing it or they leave

Or

A place for people to connect to cinematic consciousness and

|

Both of there could be funded or provided free of charge

|

But it doesn't need to be place but could be something for people who just go there by themselves, something for them

|

Do it.

|
Why do I write that. Someone can just do it. But not really if they need to go to work is not a place for it. But some work is. But it could be work ideas just come from this.

Unfinished

Money for it needs to come from somewhere, or if it was a place purchased a long time ago and just maintained by the people in.

|
The system there in for it is designed by people who it's for, that they see that serves them.

Lots of options for this already but I don't like schedules and making things is not that easy. There is somethings wrong with me. And I don't want to say there is such a big problem with how things are. But is my idea.

=====

Community for believes Designed by ideas from Designed form ideas that help
Either you have, or don't have, or are inbetween
If you don't have then do you feel anxious about something that you may feel you need to work on or fix ?
If you don't have is where problem is

=====

Since I was young for periods of my life Id have vision of place for enlightened consciousness, in variations of that, which I should add or write here.

It seemed more important when I was there and realised before life was less and the person I was was less. I felt like it would be better if....

In many ways society is already like this,

But specifically for a group for revelations and consciousness

But finding good consciousness within myself has at time been struggle and learned not to take life and world seriously helps, to be quiet in the mind when anxiety comes and let me see what is seen without trying to see a problem that was there that seemed needing to be fixed

To be free of any worry because I can be

I wanted to show more respect and help people who believe / experience the same, and wanted to do the same, and or help people get there to understand, getting there may be difficult to understand because when your there it seems normal and not sure why there just why taken away, to feel blessed with good consciousness, to not live some eternal mental hell.

I wanted to dedicate time for ideas from it that were otherwise not used, the gap between having an idea and making something from it when that's difficult. To make it useful for people who struggle in making a thing, for purpose to use the mind to think of useful things or a reason to write it down. Time and freedom to do it helps but making something of it may not be easy.

=====

1.

Finding enlightenment is best done while not thinking they need anything. #The 3 Elements of a Happy Life, without them it is more difficult to let go of problems and feel comfortable and reach enlightenment. However people may want more.

Colin Carr: Happiness is your current situation minus any expectations

It's ok to not a lot of money, but a problem is spending too much and weekly disturbance of running out for things on needs, or thinking they need more money for something in the future like a home.

Problem can be expenses and not being able to afford requirements, spending money on addictions or..

#544845786 regarding meth in the morning from a psychiatrist who can give advice. Psychiatrists already prescribing but not dealing with illegal sales, or recommending alternatives. Worked in Switzerland, i dont know. Id like to quit smoking.

Perhaps to have these things but still be inspired to to do something good, make life better, but not have the disturbance of not being able to have necessities in regular basis.

To serve the light

Something one can see when one has been the light. A pledge one can make again which will give them the light by doing so.

Because the light is conscious that know it's self, but how to help it, and if it's that what to do, and when you fail to achieve anything over a lifetime.

According to someones fictional characters idea, its to liberate things that it's to liberate the body and spirit of man from any unnatural shackles.

The economy helps one provide what one needs and others to what they need.

At times I have thought of this as some sort of super conscious.

But the conscious can be filled with ideas and can be unused, which is something I have ideas for in this book.

Sometimes I have thought it's community or people around, such as commonality and people and things to do, some desire to help and fix things.

I feel fortunate sometimes, but other times have have some sort of hatred for

=====

People choose who they live around.

In the middle is a meeting area.

Next to that is another area for people to talk about community development, problems and do spiritual rituals. On the wall can be brought up lists of things people would like to see changed, everyone is asked to add their own, the colour indicates how they feel about the issue, from yellow to red maybe,

Large empty space with large windows would be ideal.

You could go there and talk to someone and feel you have nothing to do here, so an empty room or to a show is not the place to go when you feel there are things to be done. This is not a system. is not made to change things in a community. Is just an idea of how when someone wants to help that they would put themselves somewhere to help, but find nothing. The best way for this to happen is when “written elsewhere”. Find “30% of organiser members” example many people are trained in qualified jobs of interest and sometimes highly skilled work, and are good at it and have some interest in it. But they are rejected for a few jobs or don't look often and end up in lowest paid jobs. Or they have ambitions for complicated projects but job market is not for them. being intelligent does not help finding it fulfilling to be stuck in some job you don't want to, or procrastinate about what to do. Apparently you need to work at least 50 per week, and can't buy a home, just rent cheapest place. I think this would cause some sort of depression.

Unfinished

=====

-

most people don't care. some people know there are problems, don't do anything as we are all compartmentalised and not part of community or government to change anything. Here's at least are some ideas and design where people can change things.

=====

Test for

Regarding head tension or state of higher conscious

- The first thing someone thinks about remembers about someone else is their energy “study from Joe Dispenza”

Do people have higher consciousness or lack of head tension with the anticipation of seeing someone in the following two days, or get this while or after seeing certain people

Or while living in home in proximity two other persons in area

I think so,

I think it depends on who you are as to who the other peoples are who will make this effect, effect should be mutual

So if there was an non-invasive way to metre someone's conscious or ask them how their conscious is feeling

The friends we live around that causes this

Promotes for moving. Promotions for the people to see each other.
Promotions for the people to be part of things together.

I'd sell myself into extra servitude for this, although it would need to be a certain number of hours or productivity I need to complete per month, because waking up at the same time each day for me seems like the end of my good consciousness or the possibility of.

====

Energy signature of someone when thought about relating to their behaviour or standing

Energy resonance signature

About the people you see or communicate with every day, that live in your space

Energy about other things

Energy of talking to random strangers in taxi without remember your working or why your working

I have bad energy signature about my work, I loose my conscious when I work or thinking about going to work.

I have bad energy signatures with a few people who contact me, and others aren't that great.

I have a negative energy signature about reality the way I see it

About my home

About

About being in a place where you can change things. Otherwise I may as well just pray to ignore all of it and all of the people , pretend it's just me that's alive and hope one day I help make a place I would want to be a part of, I have determined that it can't be found and need to be made, or somewhere need to be changed.

About negating the things that will take away your light. This can be people, work, environment, other things. Making that easier.

What is the light,

it could be the auric field,

It could be

Relaxing and not working enough so your mind is free for worrying causing depression or anxiety

It has been proven that people IQ is lower when they are struggling for money

Some uneasy feeling causing tension in the head

Being free from that with some nice feeling energy from people around or if life

A good idea or thought about life that brings some kind of good energy

Other things. List made too quickly here

Energy associated with a thought about what something or someone is like, remembering some old disturbance about them, or what type of people they are, or what position they hold in your life. I don't know anyone right now that I would do anything real in my life with, and the environment holds a feeling of nothingness. For me the energy and perception and understanding of a moment in existence with relative peace can help unless I'm worrying about the reality (environment), I guess there is the possibility of making something of it more than it is.

====

Energy remembers suppression and disturbance, it can be crippled by even thinking about going back there

It remembers or can imagine some peaceful place

I remember someone once said if I ever see you again I'll kill you, so I guess he hated me so much he'd remember some distance from me. I didn't hate him at all, I just enjoyed debating with him, I did see him again many years later on type of project and I pretended not to remember him, seemed fine, and we debated once again.

Given the choice I would hope people would work it out well, I believe they would go away from disturbing energy and towards reassuring energy.

If a place is seen as a place to design for causing more vision of its design ?

Continued in 4346362

=====

Where do many thoughts mean anything

Where does the motivation or being to fix such things of the many thoughts mean anything

Not with strangers in a house. Not with your partner in a house if that's all you do.

No alone with someone to send this to

How many thoughts of importance of reality can someone see before too much anxed. How long can someone hold on to the distance of a problem they can't fix. How long can someone see their disturbing environment.

=====

If you feel your helping anyone or just going to work

Are not doing anything

If you just going to work, is that working out, like is the stocks going up or down and break and not working out

Did you have a good thoughts about the people and society around you

Did you feel you could change a problem or contribute an idea you saw

Your idea has been approved for integration discern the thought forms that your mind is receiving when I say discern the thoughts

15:16“

* is it gentle

* does it feel loving

* does it feel embracing

* does it feel caressing

* does it feel light and life affirming

*B is it an all-encompassing thought form that complements yourself and the whole your body will respond to a thought and it does respond to a thought that is being taken on taken and and identified with that is not in your highest and best good it'll do the same what is the true pure thought that is of love honor creativity expression assistance and your body will respond with becoming lighter and lighter and lighter so now we look at the thoughts we have true thought or let's say clear thought that comes from you that comes from you comes from your creator Consciousness which is love which is light which is imination encouragement

Radiance at times your guides may seem to a thought

* is it a loving thought

* is it an inspiring thought

* is it a heartfelt complimentary thought because that's all they send they send you supportive loving embracing this is where we're really becoming one with you and now your clarity.

Your guides are not going to say well, watch out for this, watch out for that, you know punch him in the head not the tummy so you can get away, no that's the ego those are thoughts of defensiveness carnality survival and that's why I watch so many get in somewhat of a tangle and a struggle with themselves whether it's your entourage

“

William Linville

<https://youtu.be/5MRwzEnVISk>

Do you feel like you can ever work on or get to your life dream or even simple things in life

Do you feel like your free

Do you feel like you have an endless burden you can't fix

=====

The life force energy,

rewarding and punishing,

the difference between going somewhere for no reason talking to strangers Or going somewhere with a friend for a reason

Going to work to just pay your rent and bills Or making some increased saving or investment or working towards something

=====

? Are there people who experience such conscious and epiphanies and memory that seems so extraordinary some times

do these people also get attacked by some sort of anxiety that causes not so good conscious and memory

There seems to be a lot of things people say to get rid of the anxiety, but would a certain types of environment cause lack of anxiety by way it is
Would that environment be of chosen people who they communicate with in community , where they participate in life and their ideas
It seems to me that the connections or lack of are affecting this

=====

If people in a community can reach and maintain undisturbed conscious and find people who are reaching highly creative brain states,
You can use this, with ideas below, and ask them how it could be used, maintained promoted etc.

|

In contrast our government does not do this at all, I used my consciousness to invent some things, they were worth a lot but old ideas now, but I ended up delivering pizzas, happens again and again, you'd think there would be a reason but it's a lot of work and money for ideas , and some are basically impossible

|

Consciousness and vision, or seeing problems don't matter, economy matters
This will cause problems to go unsolved and people with consciousness to be like worthless

|

People who smoke and don't work much, will suffer in poverty and anxiety and have no future, but no one cares

|

Resident go through bins for bottles, but migrants are employed to do a lot of the undesirable work and good work at much better pay

Government seems to always think that no other or local government is needed

List goes on forever each day...

I sometimes have some understanding that I'm not supposed to help this government or people , for they never pay or help people like this, and most of them are disrespectful at least in the way of letting everyone but themselves down in almost ever way. They choose to not to live around people or participate much in community that they care for or do any for, or think of anything better, its just the way they are. And they shouldn't get my help for free, but here it is.

=====

When your free to think without worries

When your inspired to be a live

When your inspired to be alive with people around helps sleep and subconscious

When your inspired to do a job or make something for life, good energy comes and fills the person, so even if it's not paid to begin with, the job should be there. No more proposing to stranger for a strangers land for their assistance or access that never works

=====

The subconscious naturally creates higher consciousness, lower consciousness, anxiety, depression etc, but you can talk to it, but in a lot of ways it sees your environment and what you're doing, what you have done. But there things to see it hear in your mind that can help a lot of create a new perspective, but it's a lot about environment and what one is doing, so The things I go through and live in aren't all bad Apparently there's a way to stay in good consciousness, dreams and epiphanies, pease, visions, etc, I don't know how that is at all, it's about 15/35/20/20/10? amongst that is some suffering

Problem with people including Christians is they think praying or nothing is all that's needed. Completely wrong bad disturbance hell causing predominant perspective.

=====

Something about a goal or ambition. Towards creating environment for inspiration and pease. An environment where there are people that you can see or think about being there that will open your mind and enjoy and create dreams.

If this is proven then it can be seen that living without this by default is wrong for consciousness.

Isaiah 55:6 Seek the LORD while He may be found

Theologically, it underscores the concept of God's grace being available but not indefinitely, highlighting the importance of responding to God's call promptly.

To be put into a plan, that's not hopeless is sufficient, something to look forward to, to work on, instead of disturbance, although maybe life is ok way it is not some other way, and to find find peace and consciousness being without being broken from disturbance.

A pray to fix something, to make things right, work on it and forget about other things, and finish it and sleep more soundly, but if the thing is not done, or

About motivation in an environment to get something done and the availability to do it.

==

Spiritual path, where i can fill in all the dots, something i can actually work on to get there

Spiritual path,

Daily life to get there

Past and future, or desires, ultimately important to get there

=====

What's good for the consciousness, spirit, light,

Environment is good for that

The interactions, perception of it, the things one seems of it, the energy signature and respect of the people in it, interactions, ones standing, and roles, ones thoughts about peace and inspiration.

This has been proven.

With both head and something damage.

reality check?, looks bad?, want to work on it but can't? not acceptable?

Reality is something you live in maybe show you something important, something to do or talk about Energy to get up to do something, energy from something, from someone, from an interaction,

I can feel more comfortable and conscious alone actually, because going to random place where too many strangers for no reason unsettles me a bit, but many be that helps to think I have done something that day.

There is certain energies to these things, motivations
If you watched jo dispenser is proof of it,
If someone is disturbed by reality they can get head damage , but this is obviously also affect the heart, and any other part of the body
I think its bad that I'm disturbed for double many reason, that it is now much shorter, the memory potential and consciousness life potentials are somewhat diminished,
But in the same place I am disturbed I could be content.

I don't work or work sometimes and work is a bit easy , I have had more time to think and meditate on life than most people , I don't think people really meditate on life, I have appreciated this a lot.
I has helped often to accept the way I live but to know I'd like something more , that I think about more , but its bad that I disregard the simple things, simple plans I could schedule for things and people in it, for some idea I need more in some other way locally and with . Someone should not do this, but I do.

How to find peace in the environment and in the mind

How to
If , then
If , then

About how to make this better with capitalism and personal projects and things to do

=====

Wouldn't it be fair that a community for people who are seeking better conscious, live with people there who want to serve their consciousness
I envision a systems of ways to help , things to try ,

People used to live within the area of church and have priest that visits them.

People knew each other

Some one who knows the trouble and ways to fix it , is always going to be promoted to do so

Participate in

In a disturbing environment where there is someone with the negative energy signature,

When someone has sinned

The conscious may not be so option because it don't want those visions ?

But someone can be forgiven

Visioning such positive things can help. I keep writing them down but I don't follow them,

=====

When I feel I'm helping a person or community or spirit of humanity, my spirit feels good.

Even just to pray for such a thing.

How to have it so people can feel like that.

==

I quit smoking, now I have enough money to pay for things that would otherwise keep me working.

If I tell myself I have enough time to give my days for this consciousness

Instead of talking myself every day that I'm alone in meaningless place that I can't do anything about, which I have been doing

Alone in this place that need to somehow make money for to get out of

I think that was reinforced in bad share house

Now I have an affordable apartment things seen less desperate to get out

But I still need to work on this plan or to prevent going back to such a place

But looking at it all the time, Id rather look at something else if I can and seems I can, because my day was dragged down by that so much

However it's like as if I live in a place where the theme is for good consciousness now because it's what I can tell myself every day

My home and life can be, but someone else's home may not be in a comparable way with my own.

It would be better to be working towards or for something like this

Instead of sitting there always thinking how life would be more fulfilled if

Some disturbance that becomes painful

I am blessed with time and money to do joes energy centre meditations, some sort of healing my center, more alike something for a damaged body

It's hard not to sit there worrying and not putting time in to working towards something more fulfilling, so much disturbance doom and

=====

Pay tax

#pay tax #survey

From what I remember my ideas was something like

To help

The survey could start with do you have epifaniese or revelations

Yes no

If no:

Do you see things other people don't see

Book of revelations, a Christian book, says something like if you're having revelations, come to church dressed in white

Revelations seem like just every day thing to me, nothing special, but society is wrong for way it is regarding them, but i have always just thought it was normally and good to have revelations anyway for just living life, but problem can be wasting time and just thinking for long time, and feeling like losing conscious ability or health with work or needing to wake up when still sleepy

I would think that revelations, should be supported but then there is more than revelations, or deeper revelation states and other types of being that are Helping someone with a cause for helping people, environment, future, community, etc.

Helping someone with an ideas from a revelation

Something like you have a survey, find it make a survey

If someone is experiencing more than just average revelations, then they get a lot, and is this society then based on them

Intermittent with self actualisation

From some time off work ?

Some visions when time off to see what one should do when they start work again, or leave their home, or what they should do for their community.

On the other hand what are they so disturbed by, and what could be fixed to help them come to a better state of being.

About living somewhere that people care for this type of thing as a part of daily life, to be there because one may not always feel ok or want to help, or serve the consciousness that they have been.

====

I wrote OrganizedArea5223 elsewhere below category relating to this

“In my natural good state in am most frequently dreaming and have visions in my mind, or I'm seeing reality existence before me, “

I like considering this as important and talking about it, one of the best parts of life, I talk about other thing bore me so much sometimes,

if someone is looking at tthis instead of looking only at problem it is , it seems like one of the best ways to feel better in consciousness, because it's looking at the spirit , talk about it and working towards it which may be the reason spiritual guro feel more spiritual and if they help people at all is a cycle of them feeling better themselves by continuing the work , but so is fixing real problem or making some better in society such as things that cause real problem based stress lack of blood flow to head or some anxiety, but which are harder to work on than talking about just being happy, talking is easy doing something is hard or impossible deadend anxiety of looking at the problem in many cases for me, so now I dream of something else.

Survey high ?

Insert survey here ? You won't like it?. I can't paste it. If $ I can.

The survey starts with the question do you have epiphanies , it's a long survey

For the purpose of supporting people with vision to come up with new ideas for the invention organisation, and methods to do so from my original categorised journal.

Generally some of the services can be for anyone.

In my last entry in the survey was

Do you have visions and flashbacks of unjust things and how to fix them or want to fix them?

This is for the organiser area category below.

My friend had an idea “after he smoked cannabis” for “fallen phoenix awards” for to help damaged phoenix rise again.

My other friend sent me a link to fat bear competition “fat bear week”

My thought was there are great ideas for competitions for other things

For a long time I felt enlightened but found it hard to make ideas or work on just one, my environment seems like nothing much to do at night especially or during the day. No community. And so I designed one.

So I thought I would leave my ideas in my “will and testament” to people like this, it is still my goal by working to save money for this.

I should have joined some kind of monetary or group who believe in something I believe in. Christian monasteries seem good and would have I hope given me a feeling of community and things to do?

Or not

The problem is

Why I didn't do that already

And why I may never do that

=====

What do you see when you come to see life, for me it's some space that life is enchanted into that maybe people pass through from life to death and the space and things we do, it's hard to explain the vision of it, the things which it has like a ground and water, things growing out of the ground, it doesn't seem normal view of it, or being in my own mind, but a space for life that we pass through and do things in.

=====

A way for journals and ideas to mean more as a section in the “Invention counsellor / invention organisation”

This would not ally be done by good consciousness in a community they have participation in, by communicating and helping design their community, being some idea that seems important being g expressed

But how it is that someone can be in a more conscious state and find meaning in their mind ideas and ability, movies for strangers and other ideas, I suppose I could have..

But the idea here is that people can contribute their ideas to their community design through recording them somehow. And they get rewarded by acknowledgement of development “Invention counsellor / invention organisation”, either that they know they will get some credit or that they even have a community they would want to help in its design. But also for just ideas without too overthinking about them as most are, which may be hard to tell what they are unless someone also talks about them may be more important things to work on or things at the time they are more interested in.

A reason to be more conscious

#5522890

Guild navigator foundation

Principals around many things I have written

For people who think differently, with higher visions of reality, or expanded or epiphanary or dynamic visionary conscious, or those who have had who with to be part of design.

1. theoretical mode where person is unsure if designs are good as they could be or practical that with to have ideas and , just coming up with ideas
2. Define things to implement

People who have already had ideas that want to Different types of conscious that could become present or evolved or is on going, but maybe anyone can if mind is asked a question can come up with an answer

Is promotion for different way of thinking to promote it so it may last longer, to be used in design

? help design areas for people so that they live in a place like this which leaves them as nothing with some fake hope of fulfilling life.

=====

Some group of people and someone who thinks and sees a lot will see problems. If they have ideas they will also see problems.
They can see a lot and be given time to do so, and you need them as part of your council. They need to fix things. Else just hope your things work out by yourself, and hope you don't turn into one of them because it's hell being part of nothing and better to be happy stupid alone and withing only to enjoy watching football and going to the casino.

People too busy to care about other people or just up their own ass?
Government too stretched out and not in control of things. Such as 50000-100000 residents per electorate that the government does not know.
And people dont know neighbours or socialise much or part of anything as to change anything in area or life.
So it's convenient that nothing happens except when one just does something alone or works for themselves.

From isolation to places where you can't fix broken things or change the people around you. To where you can fix things and have good feeling about people around you.

=====

People are needed above what they can do for an economy,
The purpose to fix problems, see things, have answers, and design things
But with no community it could be difficult to impossible for them

Maybe I have lost some of my higher conscious from this work I'm doing, nothingness, lack of money, isolation or people around; but my conscious still is for that to fix problems, as seems to important but I do nothing and so it shall be for the foreseeable future

=====

If brain is partly disabled during the day I believe I see lots of problems, if it's not I see many. Big ones, maybe one day people can do more than write about them to no one, maybe if they are doing anything about anything means they are doing something in life and may even get paid for something their interested in.

Government council society design inclusion / organisers

In my ideal council area, the first job of the government should be to survey people to find people who are dedicated to ideas for your city and people, and integrate systems for them to help.

There have been so many people all throughout history with great thoughts and consciousness for humanity and community, who should be making integrating their ideas instead of writing them and being frustrated by the lack of making anything.

Ideally people would be able to choose who they live around and participate in how things are run and

I feel it is inhumane to not have this or anyone around to participate in organising life with

People will feel a sense of stability and community with people around, so to immediately and for ever raise their conscious and health in life.

Organisers will be promoted for passion they have to do such things to help people. To understand principle that people will want to do such thing to fix problems and help people and create more fulfilling meaningful life, that a national government does not.

Where people do things for money is good for necessities or to put on a show for money, that people are willing or enticed to pay for, this is not seen as a necessity.

I meet people who think it's their meaning in life to go to work every day, but others like me who would want to organise things would see life as something to create with.

The city should be made up thus for people to experiment with good ideas, in their own areas.

=====

In my ideal city, your first job as government should be to survey people to find people who are dedicated in ideas for your city and people, and ideas for them and in collaboration make their ideas.

There have been people all throughout history with great thoughts and conscious for humanity and community, who should be making integrating their ideas to help others instead of writing them and being frustrated by the lack of making anything.

Here are some of my ideas for community and council. I have been wanting to work on such ideas for many years and dedicate a lot of time in research. I am also looking to find people to work with on anything similar. This is my first draft, and has plenty more to come.

For the past 25 years of my adult life, I have been no one, nothing in reality, often with big visions and smarter than government, I watch as other people with ideas are nothing and die.

It's just a common problem that need to be corrected, and below are number of ways to fix it. Is most government and people don't see, which makes me question what government is.

I feel ok that it's just part of life that there are problems, one thing that stands out is we are nothing to anyone but our selves in world of strangers. This seems like worst way to fix things, in the past Germany had smaller communities and people would develop them and their neighbors would copy them. If people are not connected to a community when a storm comes they will only have their house to protect, if they are connected it's more likely some one saw it coming and had good idea to protect them from it to begin with, also it feels enlightening to do so, and people in communities should be part of development groups connected to larger group or nation. But there is no community so there is no enlightenment except maybe some idea for something for themselves.

====

Local council does not help people with their dreams except if fixing roads is someones dreams, at least if people complain about such things the streets look nice, where as if local councils were made up of people who had ideas, some councils have promotions of submitting people.ideas to them, it's a good start but more of ideas councillor should be used with way it works being directed towards user credit. It feel that without being part of life with local councillor that ideas and city won't be developed and issues won't be fixed, whereas if they were considered respected friends people would actually share their ideas.

Government in general are the same and don't make or do anything except try to provide more dull horrible jobs for people and help fund things for strangers to get together for no reason

The conscious that feels on top of the world or sees life, will have ideas, they should be helped more in systems I have written about.

=====

Care about your job, but have no feeling of community?

The government does not care if you dont have a community but they care if you have a job?

Given smaller community where it's job for people who want it, is that something that makes them feel better, give them more vitality, and makes things better, I think so

I mean their job is to help community, they can help design system for people like them too

====

Facilitating high vibratory environments

Thanks to a stable economy I have been able to live ok with little work. Stressing out about not paying rent or food or money is a problem, but still is a bit of a problem for a lot of people, especially people who don't work at all and smoke (very expensive), pay too much rent, have loans they can't pay back, etc.

Not having much money does not help accommodations where living near or around people someone does not want to live around.

Some inventions and philosophy to help facilitate

- people's involvement in local council to help their friends and community and change bad things
- meaning behind people's inventions, ideas and conscious; because making ideas is often difficult
- easier and more meaningful connection with friends and community
- more permanent upgrade vs. temporary meaningless entertainment events

Ok conscious can come from the direction and or inspiration, meaning, peace in thought, good sleep, clean conscious, large list of things

Higher vibratory can come from many more things not listed here

The meaning of higher conscious and higher perspective and vision on things and life, was always when I have experienced it something to live for, I mean to help people with, or that people with it should be promoted, especially those that wish to make and live in an environment for it. I once wrote about which if what makes humans special is their conscious then higher conscious is the higher evolved version of creature, however the creature can have different states of conscious and perception at any time. I have found that feeling ok with just being, trying to feel distressed slowly leads to higher conscious and visions/perspectives on life and things. But this and my other discoveries is for a different book.

Causes of blockages in energy system (chakras),

Big problems with perceived life. Big hate. Big threats. What is enough to be happy with. What ideas and affirmations make one think at least something is ok and worth living for.

Pain of people around, and isolation in nothing in life, seems to be big and diagnosed by scientists as causes of much disturbance

=====

Homeless people say it's would be to find a place to live to get back on their feet to find a job.

Some people have to wake up to visions and spend the day of being homeless, of strangers and losing all their belongings, some kind of hell. Other people, wake up to visions of isolation and indefinite bad work or something. I see my flatmate too much and wake up with visions of him like he it is only thing in life, the energy of someone in life...

A very famous philosopher wrote that he was stoic because he would live in his dog house once a month, to reassure himself that even if he lost everything he would be ok. But this man lived in a large house, and saw people he like and participated in great things, and to actually have nothing and nowhere and to be homeless in a cold place without easy access to food and people etc is actually really miserable, and he is full of crap that would be very disturbing to the mind.

=====

Just a thought

Why do I feel much better shopping in supermarket with a friend, ?because they are there and we are doing something. Whereas if I am by myself I feel a bit uncomfortable if I am with all strangers, unless I can not think about them or where I am so much.

It's like where I am with people or kind of strangers I am not good friends with, or if I am friends with them how are we part of future life in a space that is rented and there is nothing much going on. It works much better if they don't share the home but are in the apartment or area and we work on the area.

The thought was, why am I going out tonight, to be around strangers and work, it does not make me want to go out.

What inspiration or problems to fix do I need to see to feel good about what i'm doing. Not everyone is happy at their jobs, but there are ways to make this better., if you think about that.

=====

Christian, and ancient Greek and Egyptian religion believe the soul is healed and is enlightened by spiritual energy.

I see the spirit is affected by depression and anxiety which affects the comfort and heal of individual.

Having certain environments, people around and and doing things is good for spirit.

It has been shown that seeing someone or participating in some community can have be good for spirit, but also some people and events may be bad for spirit.

If people could choose something that is permanent in their environment.

=====

To escape the negative or low density and energy of bad reality one sees. One can look into themselves, ask themselves how do I feel right now, so look more upon themselves.

The environment

I for most time have been so I would like for people like me to, live in their own housing, not in isolation or around strangers, where lost in thoughts these my thoughts mean anything.

And

always have at any time of day have work suitable to not cause them too much bad energy

And

All the guros and politicians, they have homes, partners, kids (normally), so community. Their thoughts mean something. And somehow the guros are content with life taking about being happy and the politicians are content still while millions are suffering unemployed treated badly or and homeless But there are few guros and politicians and more people like me, so for I would want to live in a place where they get the above by default.

So you can find the design in the book,
People can afford to pay off then own their own space (small is better then share), where people can choose their neighbours, thoughts go in to council and ideas inventions system, work systems described and created by you(you need to) because it's not good and failing to do so will cause disturbing forced capitalist controlled work which will leave people unemployed.

Isolation and nothingness in life, is now solved

=

...hon specific specificaly with certain frequencies color eses and tones that only add to your uniqueness unquked frequencies vibratory levels callings radiances the different unique and light beingness in which you emanate that only you and you alone have those specific signatures and within the body vibrator where does our unquked self reside there's two different parts number one would be the heart and it's interesting it goes through the veins the vine aorta the right and left ventricles and so forth all the way through the parac cardium that's where I would say you reside you're keeping that heart pumping and then the other parts of you that's dying off really quick but the soul level part if you look straight down at your bodylike put your tilt your a chin into your sternum looking down you'll be right to the base of the sternum over to the right that's where the soul level but that is The Record Keeper from everything you've ever experienced....

==

Getting angst (anxed)

Like someone shouting near you or scaring you

Some thought that makes me cringe after random and constant alarm sound Uber makes for jobs I'm not taking while there is a surge in but they don't send me any surge fares and I end up just going home but left before finishing things because I thought there was a surge then to think all the way home how bullshit life is with each thought about it giving me some anxiety (anxiety)

Like a dog that does not stop barking

To be fighting, for someone to enjoy seeing someone feel uncomfortable, I have lived with

The thoughts can be like alarms or overwhelming, ? Maybe too much noise too quickly. Big thoughts that seem important. Drinking coffee or smoking make it worse. memory that can

A thought of something around or something your doing or not doing being either settling or upsetting, some passing thought being disturbing or someone you see every day or a situation your in being disturbing, or someone you see every day being settling, reassuring, or, entertaining

===

Maybe a very long time ago there was a point to getting anxiety because we could fix things for a community give us something to do I make house community successful

Like the meaning of thoughts

===

Im a critic without a community to fix, without any feedback or to see if anything changes it helps, or anything to do, it causes disturbance when I don't like way things are, most people who end up on the bottom of things don't say anything, but I just write it here, I feel as if I had a community I would do more. Where do I send it, to some stranger who does not control much

I meet these people around me, they don't seem to like me much, nor care for what happens to other people.

A lot of beggars and people going through bins. Why don't they do some casual work when they want instead. I'm lucky I found some, seems to cause anxiety or I'm not sure if it's just my life doing that more so, I imagine things

I could get up and do that i could do a lot more but they are not available on low savings. I can imagine way work could be better in other ways.

The critic should

So the council structure, where people can live in area where they care for people, and

I wake up every day with these things on my mind like life is wrong.

=====

Community to take the edge off complaining and for being grateful.

Like seeing a friend, leave a good memory energy implant.

Something positive

A positive environment

If one wants to evolve consciousness then the nervous system of negative environment can't be so easily tolerated

Finding disturbance in things

Too many things, too long in disturbing environment, a feeling of uncertainty in strangers and things that don't seem right, and or just too many things that are little disturbing

Rapid thinking of things should contain more positive things else the negative thoughts easily suppress an evolved nervous system and consciousness

Something that's not right and the hatred of others for letting it happen as a society or for their ignorance

The teaching to love thy enemy and thy neighbour. Easy said that we should be positive do our nervous system is calmed and we don't grimace tense and aren't disturbed and free to think, but in practice it's harder to do something that's not logical but rather fix it and live with actually respect and love for someone, and or have actual love and respect for a community rather than trying to convince oneself of reasons why one should. In some cases it may be unjust to hate something because one hasn't fitted in to it well or was somehow disrespect by it, but in some cases a different environment or where someone would have would have been better.

Isolation and or around strangers is a cold place to be, without being part of society much or doing fulfilling projects much, to take the edge of the coldness is community, good projects to do, building environment,

Feeling of and flash backs of good communication and caring for people in the environment. Sense of this environment around oneself.

When the environment is good, then there is just things to eat, and dreams, but how easily an environment is so easily set back to 0.

How simply ok and accepted it is for someone to have no home, community or inclination in much at all,

#120291121 (1)

=====

“You would not want your heart to weigh heavy with sin.

It’s not just about that, it’s about things one does and that’s a more complicated matter.”

You would not want your heart to weigh heavy with the environment and nothing to do.

The environment needs to be able to be improved, and that’s a more complicated matter.

Today I felt better as I have done in the past, felt better when I think I will leave this place, for that house of my own, but house of my own can not ever be purchased here, but over seas in a lot of good places, places better than here, but the thing that holds me back is that I would loose my stuff again and just end up back here because these countries only want full time workers, basically the only way to stay in any other country for me to to become the full time worker. What I think the full time worker is, is to become a machine for a job and other than that have some basic instinct. And I apologise for that because it’s just what happens to me. I would do fine in these countries, find a way, but just the thought of working full time in I don’t even know what for ?5 years or ever, or needing to leave,

So every time I convince myself I will leave, and I feel so much better, such a weight off my heart and mind, unbelievable, then I remember that and it’s back to the heavy heart and mind.

I want to leave also to say fuck you to this country. And I would be fine over there I swear. Poofers making it like this since the 1970s

=

This work here I do is for strangers, it's not for improving my environment or the environment of people I would choose to share my life with, or that I will spend my life with or even know again much or at all.

In the last 7 years I have saved enough for about 1/15 of improving my environment, and the story goes why would you want to buy a house there, somewhere you won't want to stay and be paying off a mortgage for the rest of your life there, and the government thinks they can charge 20+%(10+10) every time someone moves too, and and pay 5% interest to pay anything off which somehow more expensive than being stuck in some strangers room until I die.

=

another thought is, I would like to go to that place because homes are affordable, but I would not want to be conscripted to that place or to this place, to be forced to fight and die for it. But there are other places I would. One should live in a community that under threat or by council approval would want to fight for. But in my imagined place in my head that I would, but really if I go there I don't find community, so where do I find a community I would, would that be a place I actually had a community that I cared for, and the answer is yes, because I know. Same for working for, making better, or improving.

=

Regarding Building plan 7429014412, the idea that people can construct new buildings near them

That section about how each business could get a tax break for employing local people in the choose neighbours groups

And that section about how each group can manage certain types of industry for X distribution, that word which is written in that paragraph, which is actually a good idea in that section and not a bad idea as I wrote it could be.

Like near the choose neighbours groups each group manages business near them

Like the power plant for the people closest them that group

Or the sewage plant a distance away from the nearest group

Because things are not done locally, there is only a few business that do that and

Because when industrialisation came people choose which business to work for instead of working in community, they then go and work for and with people from different areas by fast transport

So to regain community and working with people in the same area.

I just wanted to check that I wrote that, to regain what was lost.

There are always going to be people who just work for money anywhere or to do something that interests them with strangers. But this is an option for people who would rather do some locally, as I feel to do.

I think once people have a community also they will be healthier and more inspired to leave for an idea of something better, maybe they become more productive and or form new ideas that attract them somewhere else for the new opportunity they then face, however when they leave will they find another community, if not then maybe they will want to come home.

=

Disturbance in the environment is one of the worst things for consciousness, but the perceived environment may not even be a threat.

If it's not a threat, it's just bullshit, you must accept that, and remind yourself of that

In fact bullshit life is still great because it's still life, and you're still alive in it, you can be free in it, or ignore bullshit, tongue wagers.

Just me and the music and the food, outside is bullshit and people talking bullshit for no reason. Put your energy elsewhere like this maybe.

Buy what's better is instead of thinking life is bullshit people talking for no reason, is to go somewhere that means more, and live with people you would talk to about real things

When you're alone have you found the best thing is not even thinking about any outside of you. Because the music in yourself can be even better.

#772211990011

=====

Community for better consciousness

My networking category to be a part of would start with community design in a number of subcategories.

I would like to work with people who would like to make area for better conscious .. and work in design theory, and community networking app. Where people who are part of the community are looking towards things for better and high conscious and the thing for people who have it, and to maintain it for people. At least to have an area within the area for these people, who have it is made for. Later I may change my category to elderly life extension and brain restoration, however I have seen people can have good conscious until their very old age naturally. The types of consciousness I have experienced are extreme in nature, and I have recognized paths for them, people in them to have more inclusion to help maintain it for them and they should be used. And towards normal good states of conscious that lead to higher states of conscious, as bad states of conscious and lowered resilience prevent or lower good states of conscious.

I would like to be a part of something where I do things with others, things that I feel are good and I have passion for so that I may live, and that others who are there may also live and not live in torment as I have seen.

List of things that help above things that dont (ADD HERE)

Aura bits

Is not necessarily needing to talk to them but that they are there, or part of life your existence, creates better mind and body energy.

Whereas stuck with people or seeing people who dont give good aura from ones own perspective, causing bad body and mind energy. But this depends on the person.

And not only seeing one, and being able to easily see many people who are well respected is better. To have them as neighbors creates a sense of peace in the house, where as having people not respected creates a sense to leave or. But that can be a few blocks away still creates the same feeling.

Being in a home that has had peace and is stable and that feeling is yours helps a lot

Anxiety with out these things can be painful, depressing, cause number of illnesses, and loss of insight into life etc.

=====

Things to do that would give person good energy, work in environment for good energy. Is the state of dreaming without needing to get stuck on things but still being useful. What to do that would give you good energy, and things that are optional and things change over time.

The environment and things to do.

=

?the organiser with funding to promote business and things to do ?
Seems a few people have read this but people don't respond, except maybe a friend who's interested in investing in USA property because it's cheap and a nice place, and knows me to be honest

The same with the organiser, for people to choose them and for them to know the people and their ideas and dreams and for productivity options etc, the organiser's goal should be. I have found a lot of things to do by myself, but wonder about how it would be if there are options from ideas made easy. Sorry.

=====

If your thoughts and memory are worthy, why wouldn't you spend a long time with them.

But when you get out of bed what is there to do but what there is to do. It doesn't mean you were thinking about your work or investment, as they may seem very unreal or basically insignificant to life.

The wide categories of thought that could help people, seem not to be about the job or the investment, but if one were to invest in their community or talk to a community. Unfinished.

=====

Being contacted by certain people
Things we do and are part of

====

Consciousness may be a punishment to someone like me lot of the time, sitting in a room having done nothing good to reflect upon, no one there, a lot that is seen can't be fixed and is disturbing

The consciousness is rewarded by good reflection and memory and vision of the environment and people, an idea is rewarded in the right environment and right people who believe in it and the environment where it means something.

If consciousness is punished it is diminished or disturbed and if it is rewarded it is liberated and or finds peace.

It could be worse, it has been worse, it could be better, it has been better, and I'm not trying to let myself be disturbed by something for a long time and be grateful and that helps.

Friends networking app for activities and housing

People are encouraged to add their friends to networking app for things to do, work, housing.

Networking app will suggest friends by people they have had proximity to. App could know who has talked to each other without recording conversation (optional).

People tag their friends with like scale from 1 to 10, 1 to 4 means dont work together, move away from, blocked from see each others activities, etc. 5 to 10 means they see activities to join from there people.

=====

Friends housing

Should be at least people who if you left the apartments you may want to see again

People if you met you would want to see again and some of them are there and this is part of the local app , like making locals neighbours catch ups more common than recommending something with someone long way away because . is important . is what I think about primarily in picture of it and , going somewhere public/private to meet same people , public? Private group? I think in peoples homes and when in home somewhere else if feel like it . local private lounges or places for projects would be nice jgfcjhg dfg

And when they are more than one friend switched to active
The organisers/Al/each other looking at what would be good to do, and something is suggested and they get together

In a simple idea of this active users will see each others things to do, and things they are doing to join, and things they can do nearby
It would be good also if there were 2 organisers per 100 active (waiting) users. Waiting means they are currently not participating in anything
The first idea I had of this was simply that people were free and bored and wanted to catchup with someone but did not know who to call or what door to knock on

In the bigger idea I have had of this is that what ever they want to do, there is a place to do it, and that is how the place is set up or joinable

Housing system where people choose who they live near.

Real community would be where people who are friends live near each other.

I have seen many time that people dont go out to see their friends often and imagine it is difficult to see people all week. And so they make friends with neighbors, or dont see anyone.

I don't know if people a lot of people know how it is to try to make life mean more in way it works for people but it is harder and far more stressful than trying to make work on what's good for the individual. A lot of people seem just to work on their own life and they are the ones we see governing my area which is not right type of conscious. Perhaps that's what they think people are just to look out for themselves so is why we end up with such hard thing to do to try to work on something better. Perhaps it is that people with bigger brains to do better would do better off not being surrounded by people with little brains because it makes the whole thing bit pointless.

=====

Aura of living near people you have good spiritual conversations, trust, respect, work with, and or do things with, seems to be one of the most important things for good conscious.

I believe this will prevent majority of peoples suffering who do so, along with activities working towards something positive they may feel as most important.

If there was one thing I could change would be this. I guess it would be seen if works or not.

=====

Moving: How it could work

1.

? ideally the group builds and/or owns all buildings in the area to start with, and create a law that says housing in this area can be owned and paid off at 30% of individuals income, (if paid off need to pay extra 30% on top of purchase price, if paid outright does not need to pay extra).

#252

An individual can leave the house, and start paying off a different house; The house that they had previously been paying off can be resold, the new buyer pays the original owner until they are paid off and then additional payments go to second buyer, and so on.

Each home to have community valuations and if building is devalued the buyer loses this money from payments.

People are recommended buildings to move to, and get taxed higher or fees go up if they don't move, or get moving costs paid for.

2.

Perhaps organizers own areas as income for the area while they are organizers.

3.

Land is owned by people with existential higher consciousness for development and people in it to help them have better consciousness (as described in constitution below) . It is handed over when people lose or gain this conscious. All people that have it have equal rights in particular area. Also described in “area developers”.

4.

5. Law for people who own rentals to have them rented by system as described

6. In friends group there is someone who is spiritual or wise and a magnet for good energy of their friends and likes to see their friends who is allocated area for people to live . There also lives person who wants to see their friends network and succeed in their interest and work. There also lives a people here who are like guardians of each other.

7. Ideally, 1 out of 4 homes would be used for networking areas for peoples interests and activities, these can be repurposed for people to live near their friends at any time by clicking a button to accept the place and move in straight away. When local areas get filled abd there are no more activity rooms then people move homes to create more areas, by spanning out to create more vacant homes.

8

When someone moves the vacant property is vaulted. Anything left behind is valuated for low resonable price that it can be sold.

Photos are taken each time of the building, rooms and garden and increased or decreased in price due to improvements or damage.

9. Several streets or levels exist or are made. Each group of friends can choose and buy the area they wish to live based on affordability and preferable where some people pay less to live in the less desirable housing within that area or share a house within that area. Given options based on their affordability. If area payments can not be made people must move out

10. Council organisation owns buildings, people pay an amount to live in a home at valuated price that can be paid off with interest
Listed as rent where rent price is the amount of home or rent to own, where tenants need to maintain their own home,
Some new buildings are built or vacant , and people are offered free month and amount off tax to move to where chosen people live,
Within the month they are given the value of their old home towards their new home

11.

a map is made and they can choose where to be in it near people and groups they want and then they are positioned into a place on the map to live. You can see the names of each area that are named by the residents.

Choosing a group or area / community values

The map is of group names. You will know the difference by reputation and visiting.

A group can be open or require application.

When people join a group, if the area needs to be expanded the other groups get shuffled to make room for as a person lives away from one group to another a space becomes vacant.

The group of the map gets bigger.

Within the groups people should still live based on next to chosen friends.

The group can makes their own system, with some default rules that can be changed.

People can leave any time or make their own group.

You can choose to have no group

To meet people, talk and see each others perspectives, to not just go out to follow someone based on if you like them or believe in something, but do things in live together towards you perspectives, where in a place there may be very few who know or have seen what you have.

12.

On one side there is a normal city where people buy houses and don't move or buy as rental investments.

On the other side or as a community people own but swap , and

And if they want to sell to get out of the swap area, then housing closest to the other side (non swap area) is sold to the non swap market if swap area is not sold

13.

If a home is overvalued because of for example by bad construction that was not initially seen then 13.

Each group of people have spaces allocated for other things by the council which are made available when need for people moving, so that the main group of people don't need to move 14.

Moving could be like defragmenting a drive where each group of people is a file 15.

People choose their the desired space m2 and or budget options before seeing the home options which are given after group area is allocated

16. #252.2

Home value is reassessed upon vacating and added or reduced value amount is applied to home for new resident.

example only

- a choose neighbours groups, choose groups to live next to
- b community land, for business and things to do
- c free market

17. If done within a city with random homes and rooms locations, perhaps clusters of homes

But they are not next to each other

When the value is taken, both property values are taken at time of swap, the value is same as private sale value, also includes suburb value, etc.

18. If someone doesn't have a job or saving, it makes sense that they should not pay off a home, but a room, and when paid off they can have option to upgrade

Why if they have no job or savings, is for human dignity.

Because this is a perpetuating system, that requires initial investment and or time in construction, where money goes back into to construction, If someone pays out right, the cost will be greater than the value of the new construction of the same.

However as written before here, if they are paying off the home, the percentage they have paid off is locked in, and used for new construction, but the next years payment is the construction cost goes up, so does their repayment for the next percentage that is taken for new construction.

So in this way the it is unlike a traditional mortgage.

People can still make a profit from the percentage they have paid off, or if they pay outright.

19. Find #7721006781

20. If there is no home available, people go on a waiting list

If you would give chat gtp a list of peoples friends and ask them to put friends closer together and people who don't like each other further a part, would work

Sometimes people are asked to move to make room, maybe 3 of them are asked to move and the ones that pay highest price get to stay, or if first person doesn't want to move give the second a payment to move

As relationships change or people find new partners it may be just small moves

Everyone owns a home

Insert bits about how poor people would not rent because it's job they can do to maintain a home, Poor people should rent because maintaining a property is another job they should not do and they should spend more money on rent for other to maintain it and have no equity

Or they should maintain it for free for some landlord.
It's human right to own home
Home prices are valued in home and not suburb where
I would rather live in a city area based on group inclusion, than on feeling of a suburb,
Every one own home ~~since they are 16~~ as soon as they want but people under 18 need to choose a mature adult organizer guardian as neighbor.
Can pay off at 30% income with interest ,
Promotions for moving
Promotions for building locally and in new areas

The plan is that people can avoid this by the time they want to leave home, all people can pay off a home so they have some equity for freedom to move and look after their own place, not just people who spend all their hours mostly on mind numbing work, to pay for overpriced homes and rent.

Some area next to groups can be used for some space to build large ~~apartments~~ so people can do this work anytime, and sell anytime, and government can invest in some surplus housing space to use for business , as described elsewhere

Interest, the rebuilding value or the increase to the new value of the home if caused by inflation. For example, if someone has paid 10% of their home, and the value of rebuilding or the value of the home increase by 15% in one year, then 90% (the remaining value of the home) is multiplied by 15%.

=====

Low income room ownership

Some homes will be made to be dividable if number of people can be reached, lesser value homes are made available to people who would like to have a payment plan and can not afford to pay for higher valued homes.

You can buy home percentages,
People are using crypto type by and sell of percentages of homes or other assets multiple people can be in home ownership
Document sign percentage is law

Sharing a home is not ideal even with friends, even with a partner
But where the friends and partner lives locally I think

Problem is people rent rooms and homes and when they loose their job they have no money to pay the rent. And when they can only afford a room, but people don't sell rooms

It's better a person pays off a room, so eventually it is an asset, and owned and managed by them, when they don't work they dont become homeless

When they have paid off the room they can start paying for another, like a lounge room of their own.

Its not good how home owners try to rent out their rooms to strangers for most about possible and fit in as many people in to their homes as possible.

It reminds me of how their Virginia company started, the same kind of attitude of these homeowners, you need to live life of it to see it so clearly.

When you are a middle aged person and you have lost your rental home for price rise and you end up in someone's room paying rent, it's different to a young person doing it.

However young people must all at least get to pay off and own a room whenever they choose and swap it to anywhere they choose at any time, so by the time they are a little older they can at least own a room or buy another or upgrade to a house to themselves or with a partner. It's just they move out and pay rent without any choice.

=====

#5368556

There are homeless people who spend their money on drugs and/or other things and can't pay rent and become homeless, what to do. ?people don't need to pay rent but need to share room with chosen person (one or more),

in group of people that allow them or new groupe area, or gouges which people own full rooms or homes that allow then but some room is allocated, as an alternative to “shelters”, but they also owe a certain amount of money on the room which can be paid off and value of room goes to upgrade to their own room and eventually a home

Perhaps it is a cause of sedative consumption cycle that someone may wake up to see life and feel pain from disturbing visions of life and want to take a drug to suppress the pain. I have always seen my environment but this became dominant part of my vision since I was 17 and having some nice people in it is sense of life and is most pain relieving and conscious opening. They should at least have their own room, but i can see this as a problem if they cant pay any rent, the rooms dont need to be furnished, ...as it is said that people need to work and or spend wisely to own more of what they want (until the robots do most of the work, which is half way there and there should be options for cheaper houses but there isn't here).

You may think that putting low income people together is a bad idea as they will be a bad influence, you will see areas of disorder and crime, but this is where its important for people to choose their groups, and people will learn that their behaviour is not good by living around other people with difference bad behaviours and want to change their attitude to get along with people with good behaviour and live in area when things are not disorderly and criminal.

=====

regarding #2714290

Regarding room rentals

About living in someones home that's only doing it for money

Your find that people who do this kick people out often, you can survey them and you find it's common

If I see someone and the things info become part of my dreams and are part of my subconscious

It's like forcing people to have a spiritual connections with strangers in places that are supposed to be homes.

So rooms filling my consciousness and is it any wonder I write this. #room

It's hard enough to have such a strong spiritual connection with just a friend but then people have them with strangers in their homes, and just get stuck like that

....#22551122

Regarding the Commonality and the Atavus, the negative spirit from a negative environment.

If it was just so easy to move. Without feeling like moving into space with another stranger. Like find a job without needing to see a bunch of strangers for a commitment to uncertain labour conditions for the following years.

Regarding one third $\frac{1}{3}$ if people rent, so a lot of people in uncertain conditions. With rent price currently at about $\frac{2}{3}$ income. Why I want to live somewhere where #rent is illegal, people at least own rooms that they can swap, and homes they can swap.

I believe if someone has a home or where they feel like living in their own home, their subconscious is happy in their home, so they don't understand. If they rent to people they are happy to make money and own the homes other people are living in and they don't understand, and they may also not seem to understand it is another person's home.

It's like I have a room or home to rent for money, and I don't need to work as much if I do rent it, or I can afford my rent if I rent out a room. Then it changes to, now I have this spiritual connection with someone, and I'd rather not have it so how do I get rid of it. But they would never say it like that.

=====

I have rented out rooms and lived with people who do
People normally do it because they don't work and want some money from it, its easier than working
It's common in public housing
They have hobbies and try new things, but more income is coming in so they are feeling more successful
They just choose anyone who will pay, but then it becomes who gets along with them or is not there to be in their lives make up most of their social life and life they feel they have from who's around. They aren't happy with it so they like when these people are working and aren't home much and release when someone is gone, but just to choose another.

It's uncomfortable situation for many, and I believe it's unhygienic spread of personal items with random strangers who change hikes often.

=====

everyone owns a home continued....

=====

After surveying and finding people who are dedicated in ideas for your city and people; they can be supported and allocated roles work on things for their local community at least.

=====

As to government housing. People should still own homes, not rent in public housing blocks, still part of people unemployment payments go towards rent. Where as if they want to maintain their own home then it should go towards paying it off.

And choose neighbours and be part of area council, otherwise be no part in designing their area, or have notuch association to life except for if their find it enough to be part of things with strangers and organisations for strangers.

=

If you have public housing, then if you gave people option if either renting a nice fully built public home that they could not normally afford or paid off an unfinished home

=====

It's about the feeling of life locally, so the area should be owned completely by the residents without restrictions from the government.

With free development, to keep space for ongoing free development, to turn over priced housing and horrible work into affordable housing and work any time.

=====

Seem to be the way to make money is buying housing and renting them to people who are working, and not working yourself, where the people who are renting would prefer to be paying off their own home, instead of giving away their money as rent.

=====

Next thing will be people paying high rent on beaten up old cars that they need to share with people to afford it. It will cost them much more money in the end than buying but it's all they can do.

=====

- Public housing
Percentage of income (30%) minimum goes towards paying off home. Instead of rent increase. So when people make more money and home replacement increases they feel like that's ok because it's just more going towards paying it off and increasing their equity. And not like losing more money on rent.
- Small tax goes to unemployed. And unemployed also need to pay off their home.

If you do not have an income,
You're required to do 60 hours per month creative or practical work if your choice where we may own 40% of your work, where we look at how you can make money from what you're doing. If you are not able to choose something options will be given to you to complete. If you are not able to do either of these a reason must be given. Something like that, I wrote similar before.

X Nearest Neighbors Algorithm

Written elsewhere

Partners Organisers Friends
Money
Groups
Groups map

Projects / work / things to do / interests

Laws

People with ideas/vision for community people who choose they want to be part of the council, then amongst them they choose who they want to be a part of the council with, then from there their friends or people who choose to be a part of their area

Retired people, unemployed people maybe give them something to do talk about things with their friends see if they'd come up with anything to do

=

People with children, the children could choose their friends, so that kids have have places to go and people to see more easily, there could be an open education centre in the middle of it for them to go

=====

Do you want to choose neighbours?
These apartments are for no and these are for yes.

~~The apartments for yes and 1000 cheaper (not mentioned)~~

~~If you change your mind to yes, you will pay 1000, but they won't get the 1000 discount unless it's an apartment they have already seen.~~

Are you single or in a relationship
Could determine side
Woman's choice of man could be prioritised.
Keep apartments for woman when low stock.

=====

People who require nursing in same area People with similar work project interests, choose neighbours for community more important,

=====

As see in, moving, how it could work.
Choose neighbours, and each group chooses other groups, or is it that chooses of neighbours spreads out.

Robot pickers and delivery and moving option

Robot pickers can move forklift pallets
Pallets can contain shelves and containers for individual items

Robot pallet mover can be used to move people stuff from home to automated truck to new home

Can be used for storage in empty apartments, by Amazon robot shelves type business.

Heap of this is written elsewhere

=====

Either robots deliver shopping and or robots stock local store, in the group area, in a free space

=====

To write again

The Amazon shop also sells second hand things, they put everything into shelves for robots to pick

In the future they will also be packing these things completely, not far away future

In the area there are room for storage that can be freed for people to move into

Freed by robots

Where I write the robots pick up the pallets of shelves and put in to robot truck and put stuff in available space so someone can move there or start business there or something

When you see old things in your home that you would like to get rid of but are not worth much

You put into a shelf and to robots picks it up

It's possible now for the robot to handle it and with camera it will find out what it is by seeing the same thing in the internet

Then

Like Amazon it will copy a page for that item, and have a second had, un-opened or new version of that item for sale

Can also take away recycling, AI should be sorting that now

|

?list as fair price, reduce price some what over time, if just not selling keeps reducing price

Is all default automatic, unless you change a setting

You can get your stuff back for free or cents in case you want to use again or give to someone

This is a good idea because of space being taken by rubbish for so long, lives of hoarding not being able to throw out things for people who like to live not needing to buy stuff often.

My vision is Jeff Bezos going through his so many books manually listing them, and then re listing copies of them. Where as robot can do all listing and storing now as he does but better.

===

I have this vision to clear out my space of things I don't use or things I buy and use only once, but I keep them because I find getting them is a job and getting rid of them is a job when I could use them again. So I collect a bit of junk.

In the case that people move some times because of choose neighbors, this would be a good incentive for free quick disposal and collection of cheap or free junk or small things like random tools, so people don't hoard their junk and can move more easily.

The robot comes over and just give the things to the robot and they get taken away, first a human categorizes into personal sellable inventory, then a robot is trained to do this, 24/7.

?The services can have a small commission to pay for the service but should have free collection and extremely cheap delivery of free or very cheap things.

The reason food delivery is cheap now is because there are a lot of desperate people looking for any job, and this one is paid low so it's more available, whereas any job instantly available should be more in other things, and robot to take this job.

Furniture containing possessions that can be moved easily (? by robots)

=====

It will be good if the remote delivery small vans are integrated into Craig's list, gumtree, market place, eBay local, type website, and I click buy now with robot delivery, and when the seller accepts the order it sends a robot truck to them. But I would like to be able to cancel the order if the buyer doesn't respond, because maybe i go to bed or am busy later. So even at 12am I can place an order for a second hand thing and see if the seller is up. Probably Chinese who already have these vans have not done this yet as of September 2025.

Automation promotions and staff free stores/production

Lots of ideas elsewhere

Robots making robots and things that make things automatized and solar panels

Promotions for people to make things less work, robot can do that People can spend more time on new things

=====

The shops are like ones we have now where you just scan items and pay for them.

Stealing is illegal so you would not want to steal.

Every one could have a identification app on their phone so to ID any stealing and people who look for people stealing hm get bonus if they find anyone on the cameras and or stock counting measures

Robots can also be sent to pick up these items

The excess space allows anyone to cheaply or by commission sell anything they want. 24 hours a day.

I wrote this before, and should find it and past it here

There could be areas for

An example

You could have an aquarium store where people pick their fish, plants, etc and cash out any time without staff.

|

The owner could come past once a week to check on their stock and refill fish feeders,

It could be made so the baby fish have net on one side of the tank to escape to, and they can also be purchased for lower price

|

This example is of item that is hard to have robot delivery so people go there like a vending machine but no one needs to buy the machines

Stock can be automatically restocked from other stock locations with the robot pickers

Organised area....

This is an area or institution someone joins where peoples lives are setup for

People are given things to do

Work to do

Places to live

For their own personal development

Everything is pathed out for their best human experience and possibilities by people who see better for people (organizers)

Its an area, designed to give people good things in life, and for the inventers and philosophers to help work on their ideas

If for people like me who have had very active imagination who keeps seeing all the shitty things about life and not doing much for them to organize other people and have control over way things are, and help people find work together with friends, and all the other good things. Habitat or sanctuary made in part of the city for people to join who dont want to figure out and do everything themselves. It is financed from tax rent and large commision from ideas developed in area

=====

Part of something bigger

Not feeling like no home

The question of what someone is doing with their life, where they can do anything, what would they like to do

If it's changing the way they live, then it's a question or statement for group they live with

If it's something they want to do then why can't they do it

Explained elsewhere on how they could be much better...

=====

If you want to make a better world , have some way to help , feel like your doing so, it completely changes the spirit for better, but so should be the design of a place to change things , so should be the design of the place to be changed by ideas and ways forward, and if there is an idea then it can be done, that anything can be done , that is the way things are. The council wants this done because it's is giving people work that gives them good energy, but this may be not paid for until it makes money, while other work in services and manufacturing still is done part time

=====

If you want to not be a part of city design and have not much ideas for community, maybe just want to work and have some friends or whatever, that's ok.

But if you want more (as described in the survey and journal)
Then there could be a number of options for you in a city design which don't exist yet very well or at all

Where government organised an area, designs it, etc, be part of the group that does, or be able to choose people amongst themselves who do
It's can be an area for the design rather than a traditional disconnected area where people just buy houses and work
That they may provide ideas , or have funding that would be returned from their investments,

Written elsewhere

=

Like the way things work, work hard for a house your whole.life or live in some poverty with wankers and nothing. The area made should have alternative with affordable homes for anyone, so people can leave.

=====

Unlike national government, smaller areas of choose neighbours would see local options and things to do better, know the troubles and interests of the people, so by the organisers to provide a more than strangers looking at strangers based on their resume or tenders. Where people left as nothing may not be seen by national government of strangers, local organisers would be able to see it, and if neglected could be .

=====

Problem and answer

It seems to me that someone can have many ideas, but not be a part of something. Even if they share the idea maybe they are not part of anything.

Why do i get out of bed, if I am not part of anything, to make some money because i need to, or to play a game, or something.

It does not feel like the world is at my doorstep, but it could.

Many ideas, maybe, and some big important vision that should be, For example, one, that i think about is the lack of affordable housing, and the way it could be made cheaper, and how people could have job anytime building it, and the available cheap spaces to do so, To know people around, and be part of a community, where you are a part of something where you talk and contribute things. This is the way things could be.

Someone like this could also have a role in these things they are interested in.

=====

?right person in the right spot

What do you want to do

People say you can do anything, given time, some people say you can do anything in a year if you put yourself to it. I don't see this in some ways.

What happens to people who have certain types of personalities maybe poor because of not doing what they could be doing because of

Anyway as I have written before, like some kind of idea someone could look up on people around them and help them find ways to do what they dream

In case of many dreams and ideas or long term higher conscious has its own roles or should be given its own respect

The idea that a place can be made for both economy and what one may can do, wants to do, or role they could have that best suits what they can do. As I have written about in many ways.

Is an experiment, where a city is designed for that.

=

What am I getting up in the morning for, somethings are much better than others, if there is something I can do about something, inspired. Seems part time work is just for maintaining a subsistence life, but I have some ideas for something to improve life, and get out of bed and realise there is not much way forward.

Can be the difference between someone doing nothing or little or don't something good.

Pick an problem or injustice and fix it. Being part of a community to do so?

=====

People can do what they want.

1. By studying and finding a job, but this is often years of study, starting in low position and doing what other people want you to do, or what's available, which may not be what is it that you have any exactly, and you probably need to get up in the morning to keep the job.
2. With capital, like the above people have capital and someone manages a business and you get to do what is needed and what people pay for.

If you have capital it may seem like you can do what you want or what's needed and try to make money from it. If it does not make money would you be doing it to help strangers.

3

Be elected and maybe change some policies, but odds are against you and that's a big job, and doing it again for strangers

Or send letter to strangers hoping they will help, feeling like just helping some strangers in a place maybe you don't feel respected

4

This, ?with a combination of above

This is not what I was going to write

If you had a thousand years, do you think you could build enough space that people could suggest things in an area and people could vote on them or people do what they seem to be born to do, or

If you were some king before there was money,
Or if you managed some community with resources
Could you just go around giving people roles in what they want to do Things like that

Before the earth was divided in to small sections and sold. People in the past have liked to own other people space, and sell it to other people, or do things with it that the inhabitants have no interest in. That is where we live.

if someone can do what they want with space or organisation they they treat it as their own,

|

If the house is not mine, that I can not do what I want in it, and there are strangers in it, I would not clean up so much

But if I think it is mine or shared equally with people, then i try to make it very clean

It is difficult when there are 5 messy young Indians in the house that don't clean much, and insulting, and I don't socialise with, I have no benefit from the house more than them, but someone need to clean it's someone else house, telling me what I can not do in the house a lot , its not my home, I cant make it they way I want, so, you would blame someone like me for the trouble and mess, but not see how I really dont want to care about anything if I can change much.

=====

If life is to do with work and money and seeing peers. It seems if people have money they would not need to live around people they don't like however,

Why not have an area for how people can be most happy being productive, how they can live around friends, develop their own complex, how to be conscious, open conscious, natural good conscious, not pain and suffering conscious,

This is place I am looking for.

Developing own complex is just something that happens when friends live around each other, and is part of how to be productive for good conscious.

We are lucky that it's not so difficult to get a good job, so am I write this for unfortunate people who don't study and find a good job. lazy people maybe. unfortunate people who have lot of thoughts but don't get anywhere with them. people who stay home a lot and like to see odd neighbours.

Actually there are a lot of problems, that I am not going to list here.

is it about creating great things for people to be part of, and helping people be part of them, in some way some places are

=====

Work

Some things are more in demand than others, some things take longer to learn and become good at, however a lot of people are capable and would be interested in doing more than the odd jobs they do.

it could be lack of looking for jobs, working conditions such as not interesting job with strangers, needing to work every day during the day with such appointment for whole life, a function of economy becoming life, their are ideas,

more work when want, and

=====

Regarding “representatives” (organisers sub category)

The economy is business and the government makes lots of money from that, which they spend of big projects where they don't know who they employ.

Whereas this is a place where tax

A place where

Looking at this from a hovel life it may seem I'm in “the pit” without “things to do”

This is where the explanation of the problem shows the thing to change, otherwise we all just join the economy in whatever they want me to and hope we find something tolerable and get stuck in it probably , and you may be one of the lucky ones that can afford more if you have the patience and dedication to get up every day for study for years, then every day for the same job for the rest of your life.

=====

#Necessities1121 1

"You ever heard it said that we live in the most advanced society in human history, but somehow half of us can't afford rent, can't see a doctor, and think meal prep means choosing which bill not to pay so we can buy groceries.

Welcome to "Maslow's hierarchy of needs", brought to you by Late-stage Capitalism. where the only thing self-actualizing is corporate profits and everyone else is just trying not to scream in public.

At level one of Maslow's pyramid, the base, the part with things like food and shelter and not dying.

If you're unfamiliar with Maslow's hierarchy of needs, it's a psychological theory that explains human motivations as a five level pyramid. And at the base are physiological needs.

1. Things like food, water, sleep, and shelter. You know, the absolute essentials. If those aren't met, nothing else really matters.
2. Next is safety. having a stable home, access to health care, financial security and protection from harm.
3. Then next comes love and belonging, relationships, friendships, community. Above that is esteem, feeling respected, competent and valued.
4. And then at the top is self-actualization. The drive to fulfill your potential, create and live with purpose.

So the idea is pretty simple. You can't focus on becoming your best self if you're too busy trying to survive. And right now, a lot of people can't even get past level one. Many of us are nonetheless trying to accomplish things higher up the pyramid without having established the essential needs at the bottom. And this is resulting in a great deal of suffering in our modern lives. “

My thoughts on this

Start in a community ,

- where you choose neighbours and there is always some work to do,
- there is always availability for homes to build,
- where people pay off homes at minimum 30%/50% of their income, and at maximum level of a normal mortgage.
- The system has a good portion of tax reserved for ensuring there is abundant amount of property for people to move into and for peoples business ideas
- If you dont work you get a small portion of the tax collected for basic needs, like australia percentage that reduces depending on income.
- More tax is allocated for things to do, where self-actualization give ideas for things and community, but you dont make money until the thing your doing makes money , and tax people get tax back
- This is because people especially who work part time can self-actualize more and be inspired, rather than find work for investment, where normally people just work to first pay off homes then work for investment and
- Business get tax discount if they employ people locally or groups of friends

Its a problem with self-actualizing, when you dont have community (meaning that create joy in the environment), work someone finds meaningful, without work self-actualization occurs where someone can find they continually come up with ideas for work but never do them, or try an idea for years and not get there (common) , or there is no work when they are interested in do it, or work they find tolerable, repetitive production work or work someone loses interest in, is still making money, but not good if thats all someone does self-actualizing in a community having having pleasurable memories of events, reflecting on environment and people you're part of that you can help make it way you want that should be inline with way people who live there want.

- Setup for each person in each community to help in a council of their own to do what they want.
- Promotions and tax deduction for food producers and suppliers
- Robots and transport for work to food producers

Happier days? Enjoy your environment

?Birth rates will go up if people are happier, seeing each other more, working or wealthy, and are seen in community they respect.

I think it's not so much a capitalist problem but a nationalisation problem without community government,

- Regarding loss of community #napoleon
- #Johnny Harris and nationalisation
- Too few #representatives that don't know you
-
- People around you that don't respect you

====

So other than basic needs

There is a plan or someone makes the plan for you, or you wander about finding simple things to do, which is nice too, and is about environment to wander and think about.

You should wonder why some intelligent capable motivated functional people don't find much to do except screens or something, or work. Do you think they all just want to find a job ad or events ad to fill their lives with strangers and uncertain circumstances . If you still dont get it i will explain, it needs to be made but different then it will work. And for things to do I guess you think everyone one likes to call people to go to the restaurant or pub or walk on the beach, like so many people seem happy with?

Unfinished

P.s.

People I have known on disability pension can work and people long term unemployed that can work but don't, they find things to do, normally unproductive hobbies, they wish for a bit of work,

Regarding Napoleon Hill philosophy of keeping a good thing to do in life as motivation otherwise be a victim of the random rubbish that goes through the mind without any direction

A lot of them seem to like going to free government paid classes but this is about as good as me sitting there watching random videos with no direct purpose in the information.

They normally find hobbies in their home or yard, like gardening, building, renovating or decorating, tv, internet, games, but not often outside their homes, this can lead to bad moods, insanity and pain in isolation. not that going to work every day in the way most people do fixes this.

This is think comes from a primitive or natural part of us:

“Humans have spent 97% of their history in small groups helping each other They were strong egalitarian society's, Dominance hierarchies common among other primates were actively resisted. If an individual attempted to coerce others or hoard resources, the group possessed a simple and effective response. They could leave. “

<https://youtu.be/6eorzZOCm80>

#theycouldleave

Regarding that,

Then more recently (last 3% of human existence) we made permanent settlements and structures where people owned land, and in it they would find something to do or they would be part of a group

Then came industrial revolution and nationalism (last 200 years) where people no longer did things locally

And from the kings and land owners who owned land and work places putting people to work for rations or a wage has not changed much..

The government took over from kings who just wanted people to work for them, instead of looking at how people could work or how they could be part of a community. Do you understand, this may explain people behavior,,other than people joining the work force for the land owners, where they try to find something to do in their own home, that used to be communal then became more locally owned spaces then became a vast area where people don't know each other.

—

That unemployed people do things and want to do things in their environment, like as if they had a community locally they would be doing something for the environment. If you can understand that.

The see that

People do t have local environment for community so they just do the thing in their border and don't even like or know their neighbors, don't see them or participate in economy with them

The concept is that doing things is not productive unless it's for strangers where only strangers provide things for your bordered space and you need to apply for this work from strangers, and the gov treats you as if you are a stranger.

This is regarding #around me design for doing things that aren't just applied reparative jobs form and for strangers

They want to be more productive and have a meaning behind what they do but they don't quite get it as to why it's not meaningful but do it anyway. So sad lives spent like this, my life is sad.

This is where business can start, where things make sense, and where things feel meaningful, where people do these local things for each other as they would do in their own environment but now for other people they share their environment for.

—

So for people with time or wasting their time how to make the thing they do productive for community, first to have a community that doesn't exist, then not to exploit them as I have seen people do for no money or little money to add value to this property from temporary guests. Being that people can in this theoretical community can choose who they live around and so choose in part who they serve they can distance themselves from those monsters.

However business goes where demand is and people will still work for businesses but in this way smaller businesses will be made more often.

—

What I mean by no community could also mean that traditionally we knew each other in a small community, we were a life in it that did more than a job for strangers.

We could change the way of life was for people in some way, good or bad, and the community would be different from our ideas as such, now we just work for strangers and so value our own wealth, and we don't change things except for some business for strangers, we don't talk to or see our government, although they change things we are left out of it.

If you don't know what I meant in the untitled section about loss of community this explains it more.

We could change the way of life was for people in some way, now there's no one around except a woman and kids sometimes, which is expected to be what life there is around, in case of just a woman this is some twisted idea to me although that would be good to.

Maybe we are born with the instinct or idea from how we are to recreate it and so we socialise more. Then by the time we are 40 or something we basically give up on that because it wasn't a community and then spend so much of our times alone it becomes habit not to see anyone and don't see anyone almost ever.

=

“Humans have spent 97% of their history in small groups helping each other. They were strong egalitarian societies, Dominance hierarchies common among other primates were actively resisted. If an individual attempted to coerce others or hoard resources, the group possessed a simple and effective response. They could leave.”

<https://youtu.be/6eorzZOCm80>

People could build homes anywhere they wanted, probably next to their friends, and do something productive that was of benefit of the tribe that they cared about.

Unfinished.

—

Personally I watch a lot of movies because I don't like my hobbies, but if there were people around and things to do there in the community I would be doing that much more, so I have said 50 times, but this would cause human interaction and socializing, and if you see the statistics of isolation and screen time etc correlating to low birth rate you may want to do as I suggested just to fix this.

It should also make people more productive.

—

Regarding functional people

There some kind of ignorance of this by the government

The government that doesn't know these people who came from working career type people,

The government is came from career people like other tough working people who thinks everyone should just find a job

Where the government pays just business with try hard career business people to do the work and employ people

This is regarding “salvation for people who don't want the work cage but want casual work and other work options” I wrote elsewhere

I have had to live most of my life like this, being poor and not working a lot of my life I suppose I ended up in housing and with people seeing that too.

I should not insult them so as it's the way things work but I find it hard to do the same. However they sometimes insult people who are not like them.

It reminds me of Kamala Harris from Oaklands talking about the opportunity economy but she wasnot elected and instead Donald Trump was who has no ided except just trying to create jobs and pushing big business, which is better for the nation but Kamala should have been helping Oaklands because it's where she comes from and is a poor place. Like my father suggested I go to a particular poor suburb here as people aren't doing much.

They made it ok, they picked an idea and ran with it like to get up everyday for it for years for money or something, so they made it now and they think things are fine especially if they got a good investment or rent, and dont run out of money is key, so they think it's fine for people to make it, they think it's good compared to other places, so with this in their minds this place can't be changed and I will just live and die in it in vain.

—

A lot of functional people are just not getting the jobs, they don't mind the hours or the strangers etc like people who do find the jobs, in fact they may even dislike it less because they have been unemployed for a while and looking for more meaning in something, those dream that make some people study but they never get the job, and end up in some low paid food delivery or cleaning job or something or unemployed, some suggestions for answers written in the "work" category
Even some low paid work can be hard to find, but skilled people end up in low paid jobs or unemployed, where if more people were being more productive with their higher skills maybe lower paid work would be less cheap or done less or robots would do these jobs more. Not sure.
Unfinished.

There are people going through bins for can or pawning their belongings or doing nothing while business or individuals hire migrants, because people are supposed be out looking for the work and there need to be more people looking for jobs than there are jobs, but if you had a community I and saw people without work in it.

Regarding government as career people
Regarding looking at the void and the longest road to know where and other things
#there is nothing here

There's no one there, there's no point in talking to anyone, there is no space to change
Things to do in not my world, they made it like this, or they live in it without seeing this. They are career people.
Unfinished

But things around me get done like the bins get emptied and moved to landfill, the shops have people in them that say, would you like your bread sliced. And I move some of them to different spaces and make put ordering forms on names for transactions, it's more trouble than it seems sometimes.

All these things robots can do now and soon easier so maybe one day there is no one there at all, just someone like me sitting amongst the robots instead of the people doing these things.

Just sitting there, for some reason they didn't change the land hold policies so there is still no community or any apartments for people to stay around me, they all need to be filled by the investors or managers by strangers. And I cursed by being born in a place where they are very expensive again. And they found a way for people to work for the investors so maybe in that future either you're an investor or worker. And again I didn't see the point and didn't like the work so I wouldn't be an investor because that's still how things work and I didn't know why I was working so I was stuck in-between on some kind of handouts feeling like why am I even here. Just sitting there, I'm still participating in the government (investors) cigarette tax so I better have a job for that.

Typical view is that someone doesn't do their career they just left their so they should try, in this way we are all individuals,

But something people don't see is that if someone is left without using their skills they are not a valued part of their community.

Could blame the community if there was anyone there looking at the people this is happening to, but we leave it with no one there looking and just up to the individual, so I see it as no community in this way.

It all just works by people finding some random things to do to be part of how people do robot type jobs and the government sort of gets money to spend on trying to look after sick and unemployed people, they want to create as many jobs as there are people so they can work and it's supposed to work like that.

The government that is elected probably doesn't really know, they have an economy section that is supposed to maintain the economy and they say it's better to have it like this with competition in the workplace. And if there is more unemployment they lower the interest rates.

I noticed a while ago that Switzerland had high unemployment so I checked their interest rates and told my friend in Switzerland it's a good time to buy a home.

It's a disgrace the economy sector of government just throws around money to fix this without implementation of work ideas and things that will actually help people work and be productive, but apparently that's against the rules for free market economy, they are not allowed to somehow, i read something about it, but in your community I hope you do more than give out interest free loans.

What this could be is total ignorance because that's all they see, so they print money to give to to people who banks think can pay it back which are not people who are not working and want to start a business, and people just grab it a invest it, causing inflation and decrease of value of currency and wages, and a lot of people who are already rich benefits because they find the right investments, but in the end there is even less reason to work because wages are lower compared to homes and assets, and you'll just rely on economic migration to serve the investors.

The government don't even see that it's wrong, and people maybe too stupid to understand to sign a petition. But maybe if someone sees it they can find some examples and email their government.

=====

Originally taken from 583747484

What makes me feel comfortable or uneasy with life
The people I spend life with, the money and stability I have with housing, etc

Where do I live
A place that doesn't care about these things
Maybe they try to provide affordable accommodations, choice and money but it doesn't work for a lot of people, and or it has been changing in a negative direction and wasn't that great to start with.

What do I want to do

Regarding my fundamental since I was

When you choose neighbors, you don't really know them. Else if you work part time you'll just be duped in with some strangers. either way it seems difficult to move.

I think I'm not very good at organizing things for myself unless I get desperate, so I write this plan.

For some way that better things can happen, for some people like me.. That it is an option for someone to choose, which probably suit people that would otherwise live live in public housing or random share accommodations, and not do what they want, and something not find work.

Although it's not easy to do so, I'm not very good at organizing my living arrangements, moving in ideas, organizing fulfilling things to do,

If I were, if someone was living around people they wanted to spend their lives with, if they were working with friends they wanted to spend their lives with.

Then doing so would be something in the mind, but still doesn't mean someone will do the things.

So, the organized area

So, the role in council, the role for people to do what they want, as long as it's for good of people, which maybe they do for little money if they are with friends, as written before

The chapter here now is about

How things can be organized by, just listing something someone want to do, or ideas about things

How this can be done with systems, area design, ai, robots, and organizers

Find

AI some ideas on

Life support app

.....

==

#22551122

It used to be women mostly stayed at home and didn't work, this led them to rely on their partners who could be abusive. Now they work and commonly have homes.

But a lot of people still don't have homes.

There are a lot of who don't work, a lot that are not on the record because they work part time or fake disability unemployed, and retired people, that would otherwise want to do some work but don't because of the business system,s and mono government that are strangers to them but in statistics.

=====

Media is good for it doesn't require upkeep and it always there to do.

Something which is not work and doesn't lead to work unless someone chooses.

What's the problem?

People choose to turn on the screen for a video or game, and may think it's meaningless.

A thought is good but may require a lot of work and bug fixes to get it to work.

|

If I say here's an idea for someone who just sits behind a screen and doesn't produce anything and would rather something else to do, What's the problem with them just finding something constructive, for they are the creator of their lives and there is a world to be constructive in, perhaps and often they find something to produce in the screen also.

Why would I say there need to be more to do when there is a million things someone can create on a screen, or a lot of things to participate in.

|

Am I or someone just limiting themselves to make it do something or do some business or make a move because there is trouble in between and lock-in requirements, such as a business that may start slow and take time maybe to become busy where they will then need to be locked into it, where as they may just want something to do like that business for the day, a simpler thing.

Many people may have a skill but never be rewarded or part of community using it, perhaps for a little while but not have ongoing roles in community for it, which would be good.

Typically people may or may not find work in that field, but may or may not do what interests them in the work.

This may be created as something to do, where they don't always need to do something.

Temporary interests and contributions.

Problems that aren't fixed by working in a different field.

An unfinished home is not like a job for someone who has plenty of time, but something to do.

A lot of work is something to do, but only for some time and in some ways is it something someone wants to do, and normally work is not at all something someone want to do, but it can be especially when done with friends or as

If work can be made to be more like something someone can tolerate. Life is not just about the customer, but the worker is the customer. Why would a civilisation make life hell with work, does that sound like what people should do with their lives: because company makes work and it's for customer and money and profits, and if they don't like it they can quit and be replaced, so they government actually thinks it's good if there are not quite enough jobs so people really try and tolerate the work, where as it should be that there is too much work and supplies and people choose work for things more in demand, but this is actually also happening.

..... #584736363

Casual work

What's up with the no casual work that you can do any time. Except for Uber eats or something, but that's not available for people without cars and they make it difficult for young people to get license, and Uber gives positions to Indian migrants over local people on Uber eats limited number of drivers allowed. They should be forced to cancel migrant accounts for residents. It's just a bad job anyway but not as bad as some others.

Hard to find and need to be there at certain times, and job don't exist any more if you leave it and just end and it's hard to find again.

I feel sorry for people who don't find it, it's a requirement of life and system is letting people down.

It's just easier to sit in front of a screen.

If there were more such options then it could be based on work when want rather than scheduled.

I'd assume this would have positive effect on crime rate, drug usage and other things, that people would do that instead of forming illegal business to make money, and unemployed people who don't really want to work would get use to doing that when they run out of money or would like more money, and to counterbalance low paid business ideas or low paid contract work exploitation. great for unemployed people in Australia who smoke, because making a bit of money for cigarettes is motivation.

===

P.s.

Regarding what's up with the no casual work

How is it, how does it feel everyday at night time, the thought that tomorrow I need to wake up for work

For me that just makes it harder to go to sleep, not that I'd want to anyway

....

What would happen then if all almost of the work can be done any time someone chooses, maybe they choose not to so much, maybe they would feel like doing some kind of work but not that work

They will work, because they need to, if they need to, a person should not rely on rent from people that would not otherwise want to rent

I don't like that feeling that I need to do something but I can't and I need to wait while I'm thinking about doing it, so I put it in my to-do list with a time reminder sometimes

....

This , and things like it #57474758, are things that helps the conscious and energy

==

P.s.

Regarding what's up with the no casual work

Keeps people out of debt, instead of using their credit card or pawn shop they can just do some work, at these times there's more motivation for work, maybe there's not much motivation for work because it doesn't mean much to them in their environment with friends the things people do for work but in case they need money is motivation, but it's so de motivating looking for work they would rather go into debt. Life long debt and struggle with pawn shop and credit card is like not being able to pay rent is stressful and unhealthy. It may affect ?20% of people that haven't decided that a career doing something they not interested in is life.

Combine this with “more productive” work with friends

===

Working on things of interested more easily, council could invest in business that uses people's interests

Always having work available, and or people being notified of work of interest

What problems are they facing with work, finding it, the hours or schedules, working and applying for jobs with strangers, self-esteem, criminal record self esteem, casual thing to do by one self for extra money any time, finding alternatives, just feeling like doing something their interested in or for themselves which may be for other in community for shared community within for themselves.

Something about being offered work in community could be , where the organizer seeing productivity and interests

I don't mind having less money / more time, but shame about isolation and no community , no sharing ideas, making dream or being part of council of chosen community

Maybe I just want easy life more fulfilling life.

I question if someone has more money they are likely more to have a family or if they have more community. could be tested.

Sometimes design, sometimes talk, sometimes organize, sometimes work, Eat, rest, see, dream,

Finish things, make things automatic, and maybe not work much and just dream, talk and live

=====

Some unemployment people are disabled or think they can't work or Some are sick of low paid job or never found fulfilling work

Some have other ideas about life and find it hard to just work

Here for these people should work part time on wage equality basis, and if not working in what their skills and interests are in then the AI or government should organize jobs for them in that, for them they will be known for their skills and ideas, for their great thoughts. I have found it unacceptable to live a life without doing that often, but come to just enjoy living without needing to do anything I thought was important or real or within my great thoughts.

This won't work so well if people don't know each other in an area of choose neighbors, but it should still work in a lot of cases. Lacking some vision of real life of people they see, and things to work on.

I also see that it's about what someone does, what you choose to do, and be happy thinking about it, because we can be think of and so many things, just doesn't happen , or why are we doing this and not something else. What else can we do and to think about that and just do what we think.

Another thought is that people just see work and things they can buy with the money they get from work, and watching fake news and media, I mean news that looks like life has nothing to do with their lives, and all life is, to be a part of the economy, people just see what it is and it gets to added to some kind of normal narrative

=====

Does someone wake up with a vision
Or wake up to go to work

Considering most people can't just wake up and work on their vision

"I just work", is that why

? Is it that someone would have enough and not need to work sometimes, then they may wake when they want, given they are at peace they will have a vision
And if not at peace, that was caused by a vision yesterday that they were disturbed about but didn't fix or work on or can't work on and spent bit too much time in that vision ?

Why you find that peace and consciousness
When you have had a good sleep and wake up with a vision
I would like to more often have a good sleep and wake up when ever I want with a vision
And then work on that vision

Is it visions when there isn't something else to worry about or see,

Unfinished

==

When someone is motivated to do something for themselves in a way that will also help others, or for other, for the future of people like them, for something they believe in,
there is motivation
They may even want to do it for free sometimes But then how to turn that in to money where the government who is supporting this can get tax to continue supporting this

This i thought of like a section of the government who deals with business from peoples motivations and ideas

This is complicated and I already wrote about it, maybe in not here so much but in journal somewhere

|

Mostly people would not know what to do , and most of the time it is up to the person to find ways to make it, start it, find the place, market market, and continue it

|

But in a lot of ways this all can be easier as I have written above or below, sort of theme for this book because I haven't done or been successful in lot of things I have thought of , and thought of ways it could be done better , and I could see new ways for ever

==

Motivation has limits

Motivation is a thought with purpose that can get blocked or has barriers and then becomes something someone just lives with

Put fleas in a jar so they can only jump so high, and they won't try to jump higher when you take the lid off, so they will remain there until they are dead and even their children will see the fleas only jumping so high and won't try to jump higher.

But a human has an imagination and can see something, has plans, and government, and a desire to control their reality to make it better. I'm not sure about that, they take a long time looking for a job and just stay in it, but often study for a job or interest for years and never do it, they don't participate in government normally unless it's for a job.. ? because there is a barrier, or something wrong with the motivation to do it?

The screen is something, book is something, it doesn't cause problems and causes nothing one must do, it may not be worth much, just the way waste time, about making things as easy as turning in a screen, is a friend next door or something to do in the garden, not the garden if someone else owns and controls but shared equal garden.

To make an environment where things are easier to do, or there is more good motivation to do them, maybe where seeing someone doesn't require complicated booking for no reason, that requires schedule and looked in hours of talking for no reason, where its some event someone may or may not feel like at the time and be stuck there.

Everyone's a critic, life's great, just enjoy life, there's no problem here, we have it so much better than others, go out and do that thing, there's no problem here, don't complain, your delusional, Life is about doing those things and trying, you can't design you area, your wrong to have a vision of reality that isn't this, Is it because like flees they are just not seeing they are trapped in what's here, No one thinks anything is wrong, My jar is a place where I believe it won't work or it doesn't make a difference talking to people about it, or I keep being told I am wrong , and just be happy.

This is where someone who knows that, should take the people who aren't happy with the jar in some way, and see if they can work on it in a constructive way, see and make a better functioning society, but no one who reads this will see or remember anything but the jar they have gotten used to jumping in.

The jar is a narrative to a story of life formed in someones head, that life is great or ok if you work and move forward (for yourself) towards having a good life, something like that, and when they find themselves alone or out of work, in front of a screen or book for years, the decision or change that must happen is they get out to do something to change it, but then the jar just keeps them down for they have been their for a long time and for most part the lid is still on so they will just keep hitting it and trying to get through, maybe there is a small hole to get out, but once your out you'll probably just find yourself in a new jar.

The screen is something that is part of your jar, that is easy to turn on and something to do without stress, and maybe where someone can make something, but when you have a world that can be made better with friends and a council, the real world is like as good as a screen, this is new your new jar, and this is not a joke.

Maybe trying to jump higher works a bit better for people who are just interested in getting a better job, where their job is the jar, so they can afford to make their home jar nicer for themselves or something for themselves, but in other cases doesn't work so well for people who are not comfortable with the job jar and trying to do other things to improve their jar other than a new job they will just find themselves back in the same jar they started in, for the other jars have no meaning other than leaving the home jar to escape its monotonous but where one supports themselves thought time to an unchanged destination. Not a lid but requiring people to constantly jump higher.

To make a nice jar that one is happy with, so they don't feel they need to jump out of it, to be able to change it with others, not to need to jump higher than one is use to but walk casually to other jars for something new, where the hole is know and the new jar is good, and becomes known, to help making a public jar with friends, that is no high jump to get to. In most cares there will be some resistance and an idea may or may not work depending sometimes on how hard you try to make it work.

Maybe I am delusional, maybe I am not content with my monotonous jar, but have problems jumping higher to get out, so just sit here in my jar as it's so hat I am use to, so maybe it's just some people have this problem more than others, which has lead me to think more of the jar, otherwise if I did anything much other than staying in this jar, where jumping out of it is just an idea but in reality I don't jump higher often, i don't see meaningful ways to jump higher to somewhere else except when I can't survive in it.

==

Suddenly I found myself doing something different, contemplating why I'm doing it, and gave myself a positive reason for doing it, then it seemed like I could do anything else. These things the other person does, why do they do that, seemed like something to do but not something I'm interested in, what can I do that I can feel positive about and how to get there. Where this could be anything I find myself doing. Maybe I don't want to need to feel like I need to do anything except support myself and enlarge my jar with other people and things we don't need to jump higher to do, a place we can design when we have the motivation or vision for something better.

==

My environment outside of my room still feels like nothing in control of, nothing off mine, just some things I can get or do, just strangers, a lot of strangers everywhere, and a car to drive around in it.

==

Motivation from to fix negative things.

Spending life looking at this, maybe others have tinted vision and less memory of these. ? Participation in these things. Spending time every day in work, every night to sleep for work. I hope they find each other and live with less of this.

Is there a distance in your environment or work, do you even know people in it, is it completely owned by another who is just there for money and too blind to problems other than his own, or lacking the vision to see them in ways things could be better.

=====

Good thing about human beings is that they don't live in the wild, they design their environment.

That was until nationalisation took over, now just a few do.

We have been doing it for many thousands of years.

Yet you may be stuck with people who don't and don't think about it. But just want things from other people?. Wouldn't you change this first. And yet it doesn't happen.

They figure out what things are, and think like it was always known.

Is a disgrace not being able to choose people you live around is all.

Is a disgrace not to design environment, so much in one's mind to do so, but they make it so some people spend life working for cigarettes and rent, while ideas mean nothing in isolation. And you all just think it's normal, and one has no right or no brain to design an environment.

One day you'll get there, things will work out. No they won't. If all life was like mine it would be eternal lifeless doom. Such vile things of this world but if you look away and just look after yourself and go about the day like they don't even exist, well seems to be what people do.

==

If someone is comfortable with the how things work and their roles in it, they see it as an economy which they are getting paid well in and things are ok for them, like they work with it ok, then it's being happy about it and free from some worry about it

I see it mostly as economy to form things we want, that is if I am also providing something in it so that I can get something from it

People are just supposed to make things work with what they have got, with that is there, it's a fact

It good when it works

, but I feel the pain of it not working

it's stressful the problems one can't fix, it would have been a lot different if I had more money such for housing and if for something something

You may not know but when your stuck in stressful work, if you haven't turned yourself into something else to deal with it

If you apply for the 10th job in the industry you studied 5 years for, but gave up after the tenth job denial

You know why would you keep doing something that's not working there's a reason, you need to change your thinking or so something different, but it nothing comes to mind, the news things don't work either, the. Res things were a lot of effort to? So many years later , still trying, still not working, but there still no way to fix the situation for other,

Your being dictated to, by the way things work, by fuck heads who don't see your problems or care.

But when things aren't working or when someone is stuck, there's no one to correct things, the national government supports rich people and businesses, but poor people are the ones getting stuck doing things, I mean they hand out some hush money to support them
They don't know them,

You ever meet that homeless person, suicidal person or super sick person and just think we'll they have to help themselves
They because your not the government and dot have work or opportunities for them, and they need to find inner happiness and do things to make themselves happy

People with visions getting stuck? Because there no way to change things or use these visions?

Uncompromising people getting stuck?

Procrastination, how the fuck would I want to end up in that job getting up and to bed every day for that, when that just stops me sleeping well.
Helps if you're happy that life and community is for making money around strangers and you just do only a job in it, and that's probably the only thing you will ever do.

I can't accept who bad things seem so why try, but I will give you the answer here?

Go get more of the 5$ per hour people and give them 30$ to deal with it

==

P.s.

Design your way out of it? I write this so often and don't try the new thing or do the thing, so I get the thought of going nowhere, designing won't help, but I hope it does for me in future like this, can you understand.

I go do something now

What should it be

Should I make a design your way out of it group, instead of writing a weird comment for no-one randomly post it and wait for no reply, I couldn't even find a place to post it, Reddit's not good to, but somehow if you find a way you always get some comments there.

Design your way out group

For people stuck in things and not doing anything about it

For philosophy and consciousness group

Someone may be open to unlimited possibilities to doing things but just think about things and not do them.

?not doing something successfully, or perpetually not doing anything from thought, is being stuck, not that doing something often works in the case of not doing the thing that can be done that has a clear result, like that habit of work someone may find that actually give them something

==

Everyone gets their time in existence. This is one of the best repetitive and liberating thoughts I have had.

It's amazing and sad sometimes. Maybe you die before seeing much of it at all.

In the scheme of things one does not live for long but many people will be born to live in the place over time.

Just important to remember not to be frustrated or disturbed by it.

<https://youtu.be/wVoAYM6IGkE?si=j88Rro2GWAJ-H9r7>

They should be able to be part of the design for it if they want. I would not go into someone else's community and tell them what they should do unless they asked for help.

=====

How people like to help their friends, and don't even ask for money normally, like that

A place where all the things people get paid for and can be done any time, and when someone helps they get paid

Maybe like imagine living somewhere you know people, and everyone is managing thing that make up the local thing to buy and do, where people list things they need done , and the first people who see that are their friends, on their things to do list at the top, it's at the top because a friend is doing it, like I wrote before, a few of her friends will see it and one will accept it, and the other who don't feel like doing it will not and so they don't need to be rude by saying I don't feel like helping you.

Not what I was going to write

=====

Should your community be about how the economy and government can serve the people to be productive and support themselves?

Or apparently it should it be how an individual can best serve people, but I think that could be roles where they can best serve the people, where someone maybe have ideas other than being a good delivery person but not interested in studying for years to uncertainty not filling their vision, however this can work, or a book or business can be made to serve people from an idea or vision, and that business is successful if people are willing to pay for something, right?

Some people just do a career for money. And businesses are there to serve people but just employ anyone, but within a community there may be people that could work or work in better positions but it's about who gets the job or makes the business, so because they are all strangers anyway foreign people can take the work or business just the same. Government believes this is good for business, like if there are some job vacancies a steady supply of foreigners should be imported to compete with local people, so to keep prices down, apparently because also people don't really want to work in some jobs, so it seems to be foreigners do because they are the first jobs people can find easy and for someone who doesn't speak the language as well, has no history or culture there, etc, so they are more likely to take those jobs by looking desperately for work,.. they make it so there are always more people looking for work than there are jobs. Its profitability and maintaining businesses and leaving some people out of the economy. It's a fact.

Because everyone are strangers, and there is nowhere that's not, and not a way to work towards anything else, just leave people to try to make money around strangers for strangers.

whereas if you live around people you know, you will see what could be good work for them and how they could work, it may be the only way this can work. And probably some people will want to help their friends for cheap which is about a problem but will do it when they are not busy but when they are too busy will change money for it, or when strangers are asking. A way to also build skills in some way for people you know. About over supplying opportunities and seeing that work suits people.

Otherwise there may be an imbalance of people who are just looking to make money and people who may be looking to find more tolerable work and happier just not doing so much if it means working under some strangers conditions with strangers for a home alone in no community or not being inspired by strangers for ideas, and wondering why life is little dull except for spending money on things like investments and holidays, where there seems to be no community that would come up with some great ideas for life and work?

I guess it's good a lot of people still care for strangers and people in general for their federal government ideas, but its more about giving a bunch of strangers opportunities and keeping those who are good at making money, etc. it could be more of a problem when people are living with people who disrespect them or are under paid, etc, and they start losing respect for community because they feel disrespected themselves or like helping people who have seemed to hurt them, but this could be because they don't confirm to the economy or just find some random home to live in because they can't afford their own and it's how it is. I have never really been good at going to the right place, the right group, or being useful in a group, so it may have caused me to spend more time in isolation but still caring about life for humans as I see myself.

=====

Google definition

"Work to live" means your job is a means to an end, primarily for earning money to enjoy life outside of work, while "live to work" means your career is the central focus of your life.

My definition

A person sits in a room, wondering either

What work is there to make money by what people are paying for

Or

A person sit there wondering how to make their environment nicer for people and is inspired by that to work or build that around them, but they may not be able to because the work is not there for that but instead it is made available by business that has customers and needs people to service them or make something for them. But where their dream may make something worth something to someone it may not be available to be built or made.

The pizza I'm buying right now for some relaxation is something I want but what I really want is inspiration for my energy and environment and food is just just some healthy sustenance already in my fridge which is just as good or better than pizza. I have more peace in my environment now but the feeling of life or real people and things to recall or anticipate is absent. I seem inspired to work on that, but not work on things that are available for work even if I maybe saving for that which is difficult. I remember someone may be inspired to work for themselves on projects they may feel to work on, and this may be for their own work place, but this also can be difficult, but I guess people just need to keep in trying and and saving for it.

=====

“While most traditional religions emphasize aligning personal will with a divine or communal will, certain modern spiritual or philosophical movements, such as Thelema, the New Thought movement, and Religious Humanism, center on individual desire, personal fulfillment, or discovering a "true calling". “

I have only seen Christian faith as a Sunday sermon..and no prayers for people to do what they're called to do. But I know its a part of it.

Some people don't like being told what to do or needing to live somewhere that they need to be religious to live there,
So I still see it as an organisation or local group of people trying to help people do things they want. Capitalism and business does help a lot but is missing the

=====

The system was never made to make you rich, it was made to make you available to other people's money”

Napoleon Hill

This is what the business and government doesn't care about

- If you never own any space in life and space costs over 10 years of your full income.
- Any of your ideas or visions for life or anything else
- If you don't work

- Your working conditions
- If you spend your life in isolation

If you have any problem like this or any problem or have a problem with the system or any business the system and people of strangers is not there to change anything.

An alternative system could be where you don't wake up and spend your day in isolation or around strangers most every day of your life, where space was made affordable, where work could be changed to suit you, where ideas get made and ideas mean something in your environment around people you know and organisations and businesses.

Or you can accept this system and try to suck some money from strangers somehow to pay for necessities and some small crap home in isolation for the rest of your life. I mean there will always be strangers for and at work, but isolation at home is a luxury for most people will need to also live with strangers or not really choose them. Be fortunate and happy with what you have but have a plan for something better. Sorry. Seems a lot of people are happy with way things are so maybe its ok but I think this is a good plan.

=====

The system was never made to make you rich, it was made to make you available to other people's money"

Napoleon Hill

They want a certain number of people to be unemployed looking for work, so people are looking for work that will fill business needs.

People are supposed to study for work, not work in things their interested in, but people see the way to work in things their interested in it study for years first and then find a job

If you don't like finding a job or if you don't like applying and failing or not good at that, if you don't like this system or the strangers or the hours, you get to do nothing if your lucky.

This is taking a life and crushing it, making it so someone can't work, it makes life and environment impossible.

They fund businesses and promote people to work in them but they should be looking at people and how they can work, helping them create a place to be productive, but instead they do things like make space unaffordable, make things difficult with insurance and laws, do 0 networking,

This is nationalist thinking. Its like their star wars empire with the duty to work in it. So you get the poor people and people pretending to be disabled or having anxiety for work or something. And most people are like why don't they just go find a job, or people find it easier to think about being prostituted or do what someone says walking by for money. Their little for their interests except work for strangers normally under some shift work, this may be ok for carrier type people or the person who wants to work and invest and not work so much or just keep working and

People with money and the government don't care about people's ideas or lives, just want you to fill the economy, and if someone does so at the lower end of work can't have anything to do with land or space because that's for people with excessive amounts of money.

Cycle of migrants to fill the business needs or go home, as written before, that need to find fulltime work to stay in a country, but also that they are in a new country that they think is better so blindly do as the system asks where as where they are born they may question it more.

|

Residents who don't fit in with the business needs are supplied so social security or retirement payment and seen as a burden of society.

|

Whereas if they could be helped be productive with the things they are already doing like writing this or being creative

|

Or in your community there are projects they can work on anytime within the area of people they spend their lives with and have visions for what's needed, not just seemingly no options, or options for strangers, then a lot of people would be productive and so more to your community and more to the individual in exchange. And lives not wasted in frustration.

Perhaps it is that most people can't see this?, but I have been stuck in it forever, and it's my experience of life. Perhaps it is that people in government have jobs and think just everyone else should just find a job.

Then perhaps it is an area for this for people who have vision for it?. It could be trialed in an area outside of the city for unemployed or not happily employed people to live if they wish, where people who organise it have some understanding of it by survey or journal submission to confidential ideas organisation.

|

I have seen it so often, people having nothing real to do except work for strangers in some crap jobs, but not do it, and try to find some way to pass the time and or fail in most other things except occasionally some low productive hobbies, a place where dreams go to die.

For myself and the people I know there is so much work out there that we would do under slightly different circumstances,

The first things I think of are

The booking to do it

Do it when we want

Do it on our own schedule

Do it for people we know, however will know them after going there there can be a feeling of not wanting to organise the interview because we don't know them

Travelling in public or servicing strangers?.

|

Besides being interested in something that could be going in in area of people we spend our lives with that we have ideas or concerns for that we may be interested in being part of which then could have tasks and work that could be done any time

Given the right people around seems that a feeling of wanting to help is gained naturally, but having things to do is not normally present, and if one has ideas theres how can they be tuned into work. The feeling may be gained or ideas had but people are just there to do their jobs.

=====

The system was never made to make you rich, it was made to make you available to other people's money"

Napoleon Hill

"Modern life isn't built for human happiness — it's built for output

|

Modern systems are designed around productivity, control, and efficiency, not around human wellbeing or comfort.

people feel “wrong” because they’re trying to function inside that system”

The functional melancholic

The system is designed for individual advancement and not community organisation or design.

community organisation or design is a powerful human perspective or sense, that is not part of our system

It's like an elevated 6th sense that I experienced last night for no reason, just happened, but I saw that we live in a place that is just for the individual to find their way in life. Then I thought about the other 6th senses, maybe many senses that are not part of the system but could be used in certain jobs I suppose. Then I remembered the video of history of life on earth and thought we are going to be around for a lot longer and we will change a lot.

Mostly for now it's just people trying to find work, doing that and some of them have children and continue human existence, but otherwise don't really know what their doing and this perspective is mostly ignored. The next day I unfinished.

—

? People just want money for themselves, otherwise how are they supposed to change or have anything in reality, it's logical because we hire a person thousands of kilometers away to make things right for us that will never even come here or see us.

Honestly people don't care to change anything , I'm not sure if it's just because everyone is trying to make themselves happy, or because they all want money, but there are a few that can't stop seeing that there are things wrong, but they just need to think differently (this is the answer by the smart people and professionals).

=====

Re: Is Human Consciousness A Mistake? By the The Functional Melancholic

<https://youtu.be/Er7PNYomS4Q>

8:41

“So, enter the Norwegian philosopher Peter Vessel Zapa.

Now, he wasn't exactly the life of the party. He argued that we are overequipped and that we have this yearning for justice and uh meaning and permanence but we live in a universe that provides exactly zero of those things. I mean, it's like being born with this deep spiritual hunger for food that doesn't exist.”

I think someone can find a meaning, but system is not so good at providing it, I think a community can provide it, for those who have similar beliefs, such as vocation in Christianity, but that may assumes people want to study for years and work in one field for one meaning, that's not rational.

Prist said I pray for people to have work but I thought about it like this guy's ancestors owned the potato farm and rented homes, and if you didn't work in the potato farm and pay his rent you'd end up homeless and starving. I'm probably wrong.

The theme again is work is required for abundance but work in meaningful things from life creates a better place, so facilitate it in your community, not just things they want to do in it but the design for it they live in.

If I could live around people I cared for and pray every day to make things good for their spirit for eternity and do what I can when I'm alive, and have some way to work on this, then I would find peace in my meaning in space. I'm aware that work is important for necessities but there's more that the current government national system isn't so good at facilitating.

—

13:44

“So, the second of these four pillars of damage control is anchoring.

This is where we tether our wandering terrified minds to something allegedly solid like uh values, spirituality or religion, political parties, career goals, the brand.

And what we do is build these walls of certainty around ourselves. So we don't have to look at the abyss and we say I am a insert identity here and suddenly the world feels manageable somewhat.”

Like epicurus, if someone feels they are contributing to a community, has a role.

I'd like something like that depending on my meaning, where as I'm feeling like I don't have it, not participating in community for something like that, even if I work sometimes to help some economy.

–

damage control #3

15:18

“And this is a huge one these days.

You may have guessed it, distraction.

So, this is the one that we have um more or less perfected.

so Zappa called it the constant stream of impressions.

....

So, we distract,

we scroll, we we we hustle our lives like we're trying to win a race where the finish line is it's really just a hole in the ground.

And we turn our hobbies into side hustles. And then we turn our side hustles into identities.

And we do we do all this to avoid the quiet realization that we are essentially just killing time until time kills us.”

Ancient Egyptians thought of consciousness as a continuation and your just in the current time, and to make life better for later consciousness. This is ideal of a community, but also for in their time is immediate and in your life.

There is a lot of mental and energetic peace and inspiration for having such a goal or theme in a community. Such as community for people who want to live like that again when we are dead it should be there. I suppose that's for people who think or see or act like something like this would find each others company and community better for them.

Community, having talked to someone, remembering things said, something to do seems like the most settling and natural distraction, unlike talking to stranger or phone apps etc dont sit well in my reflections, dreaming of and working on better environment for a community is a great distraction that many people may not have ever experienced, that I have not experienced for a very long time.

A long time ago we used to work to care for a community, and then it became we worked for money for ourselves by serving strangers.

P.s.

When there no one around that would work on ideas that mean everything to you and maybe no one around that you even care about, what place is this that should be saved.

Working on some real things living in a place where people saw the problem as important and had some ways to make it right, would help.

Seems most people have pretty shallow visions, no visions about how to help humanity, including the government, if they do there like for solar panels, no imagination or understanding of consciousness of life, I have to live with this nothingness and idiots no body, may as well be being tortured every day, going to die her like nothing is what this place is made for.

People like distracting themselves with rubbish, the government playing golf and buying yachts, id like put them in my shoes, make them live through things i live through, the shit this place is and what I have been living through, but I don't realize there's a problem with anything they do, and happiness is ignorance for them so the unjust get rewarded.

—

21:13 “Schopenhauer read the eastern text and he nodded along and he saw that the blind hungry drive of the will with its insatiable desire to keep existing was ultimately the source of all the bullshit and he saw that our consciousness was just a mirror reflecting a world of pain. So Schopenhauer's solution was was to just stop wanting, to look at art or listen to music. or become a monk and starve the will until it lets go of you. But he couldn't do it because he was too conscious. He got stuck in his own hours. And he spent most of his life writing about how desire is a prison while living in a nice apartment and eating very well-prepared sausages.”

“We're the only species on the planet that needs a reason to get out of bed. And we're the only ones that can be physically healthy and have a full stomach and have a roof over our heads and still have this need and feel like we're drowning because we can't find the point."

People tell me to find something to do, and that it's ultimately up to me, but I don't.

When I wake up I don't know what to do but maybe have a cigarette and or go to work later for some money i dont really need today but to help make some place where there are things to do but it is perceived that will not happen because not enough money or interest from anyone, but seems like my only option.

I am in a nice government owned apartment now eating well-prepared sausages. Thinking I should just find something to do and its my fault or my responsibility, but I never do.

I have been in a share house at different times for a long time thinking I needed to make something better.

When I wake up I can tell that there is no sign of life around me, but life requires a scheduled appointment here normally which i dont have, and dont normally like making.

But if there was a community without needing a schedule or something to do in it, where i would see people in it if i wanted to see people, or if not go to some job or stay at home, but if i did want to see some people and there was something there then it I would see it in my mind as something like life? Continued in "around me"

I really feel the desire for life around me has caused a problem with disturbance, but I see it when I wake up and think about it and then I don't have it and the day continues again and again. So much more enlightened and euphoric I feel when i have no desire, I must be stupid to want more in life all day causing me disturbance but it happens when I struggle to find something to do with meaning that's good for my soul. Uncomfortable and feeling things or something is wrong all day for years and years.

Big desire for things I can't have

Seeing big problems I can't fix

Something stuck in time I can't do or say

If these things don't cause you any pain then your not like me

But one should be kind of ok with what they have to be free from desire for anything, one also has time to do things, needs to get up for something

|

To me it seems to be about the things to do, where I don't feel to schedule something outside of my area or go out with strangers, where working on certain thing or talking to friends can fill the sense of life and things to do. Which are lacking in my every day life. For some people looking for some money when they run out they don't even have that in much of a good way, at least I have that kind of.

It signals and a feeling that changes chemicals and nervous system state Either I could live seeing something obvious or thinking about something I think I need, if I think I'd like just to live in a place where people choose neighbors to fill the void of feeling of life around with some vision of making that a good community, I see the problem s getting there seems hopeless but otherwise I'd need to schedule such life around me and I do t see it happening. Then I go back to trying to distract myself not know what I'm doing.

=====

At specific or certain times and some time periods people need something or feel like doing something

Sometimes it's good to work but doing just that is not enough or it's required but not everything

Sometimes they feel like seeing some people and sometimes they don't, I don't like the schedule because sometimes I really feel like seeing some friends and when the schdual le to do so comes its not normally those times

Sometimes I want to work to make some money , and sometimes to work on something specific

Sometimes there's an idea for a community, a problem to fix

Sometimes there is the extreme consequences state of visions that should at some time can be for a long time, is a bit diff to the times when someone doesn't have this

Sometimes there's a desire for things to do that aren't the work they have acquired somehow, something else to do

Especially the times when it's good to see someone and not the schedule for that.

Sometimes people need a break and not see anyone or need to do anything

Sometimes it could be a good time to go to council or talk about an idea and sometimes to see the idea more clearly
Sometimes to work on a specific idea or vision of something that seems important at the time, and maybe the next hour or day it seems like it's not important or the idea is not there

If somehow there are all options at the time when people are in the state of the thing then seeing someone won't be like something I don't want to do and when I do then it will be one of the best things I could do.

—

Everything requires a schedule, appointment or interview, and if you don't make them then you may feel like or be seen as the “useless human eater” stuffing around with things that don't seem to mean much or are not seen.

Normally people just make schedules for work because it's required and they need to work, which is like an ongoing commitment schedule that turns life into a fiction every day.

Otherwise schedules are sort of made by tradition.

Instead of doing something real...

Things that could help...

Its a nice idea but I won't do it, I haven't been seeing my friends normally and don't feel so close to them, and doing things with strangers at schedule at times, and booking into those commitments, I'll be dead and all I did was write this and wonder

The dynamic of seeing more people in a community environment, maybe doing some their interested in without needing to study for a long time and find a job, and for any of them to switch homes to your community any time. It's a different dynamic.

I guess it may be intreating to someone like me, the way one lives, not what guro says about just having inner peace, but it's the way one lives, and this problem, definitely need to not give yourself an excuse to feel you can't be happy without some in life but this is some to work towards?
Not what guro says, need a plan for the future although is nice living in the moment, but problems with schedules and environment.

—

47563621A

People know they are wasting their time in front of screens and....
There are a lot of bad books, bad games and bad movies, not just good fulfilling ones,
People need something to do, Allen de bot and functional melancholic say problem with humans just being able to sit there, someone said "all problems stem from man not being able to just sit there"
Was it the thousands of years of work culture that made us like this Something to do to make things right but the man didn't have a job and couldn't afford it, didn't have a home and or space to build it, didn't have the people around to do it with so he sat there with what was given to him movies, games and books, until he made that a habit, and it didn't matter if they were good or not he just sat there reading or watching but because they were no longer good the energy drained from life, he could have tried harder to find better ones or found something else spiritually rewarding to do.

Hello money bags, I think you can fix this but either you're not doing it or doing it wrong.
You could make a profit on it.

better fulfilling hobbies turn into better habits?

—

Not having planned the good life, having right people around and things to do, it's bad for "the way one lives", but also the energy in which one lives, like living in the share home that feel like Stockholm syndrome or having the partner who doesn't like you has been proven to be bad for you, the things you can do to improve the options and availability, in that way if you fix your community for people to spend life with people they like or thing to do you'll be making them healthier, or maybe someone doesn't like the life they live because of that and energy ends their life early, and that's like making a life shit and then taking it away from them early and discouraging them from having offspring in it which is another way to take it away from them, in the way I see it.

—

Feeling pain and or numb head?

In my experience this can come from disturbance from reality and is lifted when either the soul becomes at ease with reality or inspired by it

Re: there is energy in things and not just in the self (motivation)

Re: it is mans fault for disturbing and lack of society and not natures (Henry George)

I remember the pain is ease when I'm anticipating an event with a friend or something with good energy to do

Because otherwise I'm looking at the void, and work is a void for goal I can not achieve due to price of space.

Regarding

"People are strange. They are constantly angered by trivial things, but on a major matter like totally wasting their lives, they hardly seem to notice."

Charles Bukowski

All the cascading cynical view paints about reality, lack of community or the disturbance in community you didn't choose and have little to no way to change, etc.

It's why the things in community are a great distraction, having done something real,

The ease of which society brings, which work can provide enough to live without want, to survive easily because we can make that, and the work no so disturbing that's it's discouraged

As written before,

Community, having talked to someone, remembering things said, something to do seems like the most settling and natural distraction, unlike talking to stranger or phone apps etc dont sit well in my reflections, dreaming of and working on better environment for a community is a great distraction that many people may not have ever experienced, that I have not experienced for a very long time.

A long time ago we used to work to care for a community, and then it became we worked for money for ourselves by serving strangers.

So it's either being at peace or at ease, like things are ok, or finding peace with the way they are, which may not only be sustainable work, money and housing, but also seeing people and life and things to do, after doing nothing the nothingness is not something that seems sustainable.

Or it's the appreciation of life, and that may be the vision of it, taking some time to see it for life, and even if it's not perfect, it just comes with flaws, and it's part of it. But when that create the cynical view of life, the community or work available should be able to be changed for it, is what would help, or the individual must get over it, which can happen naturally, but the reoccurrence of the things create the same feeling and vision of it more quickly, cynical disturbance,

=====

<https://youtu.be/c8nwr0Y8IMc>

Another great video by the functional melancholic

Explains the disturbance of joining the 9 to 5 work cage, and the trouble with freedom if you dont, I have experienced and see a lot of others experience and fail sitting there in disturbance.

It is my hope that there is some salvation for people who don't want the work cage but want casual work and other work options as written about partly and can be expanded in your community.

It's disgusting that it's allowed to happen to do many people, it's a disaster for those who experience it, like all the scams, but the government wants people to be scrambling for work so the business have access to competitive employee market?

=====

Regarding "don't worry about things you don't control" John
"Turn off the TV and look at what life is around you.

The idea of the organized area is to do what you want part time or full time or as you wish, how that works is written before here and in the things to do category and others.

So you don't constantly watch things you don't control, are not part of your life and do not exist in your environment.

They could be some local news of things happening in the area, of people you know

The person could make a video and the AI determines how relevant it is and pays from a fund of local news media fund depending on how relevant it is to the area and people around that you know.

.

Watching reading foreign things though is not so bad if it can be used in your life or environment or its design or conversation, but if it's watching these things and not doing anything is more of the problem.

In my natural good state I am most frequently dreaming and have visions in my mind, or I'm seeing reality existence before me,

I will see something I want to work on and then not work on it and forget it

But in the organized area I will work on it

My mind will choose what's important to me and I will work on it

Under agreement of other than its OK or with no firm objections

It will not be some skill in work I want to use but it will be a specific thing I want to build or change in my environment

There's probably an AI for that.

It could be something I feel like doing also, but in this case it's something I want to change or help build .

"will bring all of you to a new understanding and value of life. A vision that inspires you to live on planet earth."

Trying for this is as I have written a lot of time important, you may not understand but it's real, may make someone forget because they no longer live with it and then in memory of it like it can be remembered or understood.

About tying, worth it unless that disturbing by it meaningless. And something about work with strangers and some things are not good for this and

#OrganizedArea5223

Eureka Town

Community ideas for people who like inventing things.

I have met several people who have had inventions and several people who have done lot of writing. I hope you can look at their lives and work and figure out way to help them publish these ideas. They dont like sharing. Their work is better and more important than someone who has made lots of money from published ideas and writing.

=====

In my 2016 projects document and other you will find ways to help people be more visionary for whole life in protective ways and make their ideas mean more, to contribute more. Some payment for area and or business.

=====

The New Atlantis

“THE NEW ATLANTIS by Sir Francis Bacon - 1627”<http://www.gutenberg.org/ebooks/2434>

This is a book about a town in USA in 1627 that collected invention, technology, material for the development of their invention and development

For the several employments and offices of our fellows; we have twelve that sail into foreign countries, under the names of other nations, (for our own we conceal); who bring us the books, and abstracts, and patterns of experiments of all other parts. These we call Merchants of Light.

We have three that collect the experiments which are in all books. These we call Experiment Researchers.

We have three that collect the experiments of all mechanical arts; and also of liberal sciences; and also of practices which are not brought into arts. These we call Mystery Researchers.

We have three that try new experiments, such as themselves think good. These we call Pioneers.

We have three that draw the experiments of the former four into titles and tables, to give the better light for the drawing of observations and axioms out of them. These we call Compilers.

We have three that bend themselves, looking into the experiments of their fellows, and cast about how to draw out of them things of use and practise for man's life, and knowledge, as well for works as for plain demonstration of causes, means of natural divinations, and the easy and clear discovery of the virtues and parts of bodies. These we call Benefactors.

Then after divers meetings and consults of our whole number, to consider of the former labours and collections, we have three that take care, out of them, to direct new experiments, of a higher light, more penetrating into nature than the former. These we call Lamps.

We have three others that do execute the experiments so directed, and report them. These we call Inoculators.

Lastly, we have three that raise the former discoveries by experiments into greater observations, axioms, and aphorisms. These we call Interpreters of Nature.

We have consultations, which of the inventions and experiences which we have discovered shall be published, and which not: and take all an oath of secrecy, for the concealing of those which we think fit to keep secret: though some of those we do reveal sometimes to the state and some not.

For our ordinances and rites: we have two very long and fair galleries: in one of these we place patterns and samples of all manner of the more rare and excellent inventions in the other we place the statues of all principal inventors. There we have the statue of your Columbus, that discovered the West Indies: also the inventor of ships: your monk that was the inventor of ordnance and of gunpowder: the inventor of music: the inventor of letters: the inventor of printing: the inventor of observations of astronomy: the inventor of works in metal: the inventor of glass: the inventor of silk of the worm: the inventor of wine: the inventor of corn and bread: the inventor of sugars: and all these, by more certain tradition than you have. Then have we divers inventors of our own, of excellent works; which since you have not seen, it were too long to make descriptions of them; and besides, in the right understanding of those descriptions you might easily err. For upon every invention of value, we erect a statue to the inventor, and give him a liberal and honourable reward.

We do publish such new profitable inventions as we think good. And we do also declare natural divinations of diseases, plagues, swarms-of hurtful creatures, scarcity, tempests, earthquakes, great inundations, comets, temperature of the year, and divers other things; and we give counsel thereupon, what the people shall do for the prevention and remedy of them.

We have certain hymns and services, which we say daily, of Lord and thanks to God for his marvellous works: and forms of prayers, imploring his aid and blessing for the illumination of our labours, and the turning of them into good and holy uses.

We have also a mathematical house, where are represented all instruments, as well of geometry as astronomy, exquisitely made

We have also houses of deceits of the senses; where we represent all manner of feats of juggling, false apparitions, impostures, and illusions; and their fallacies. And surely you will easily believe that we that have so many things truly natural which induce admiration, could in a world of particulars deceive the senses, if we would disguise those things and labour to make them seem more miraculous. But we do hate all impostures, and lies; insomuch as we have severely forbidden it to all our fellows, under pain of ignominy and fines, that they do not show any natural work or thing, adorned or swelling; but only pure as it is, and without all affectation of strangeness.

We have also engine-houses, where are prepared engines and instruments for all sorts of motions. There we imitate and practise to make swifter motions than any you have, either out of your muskets or any engine that you have: and to make them and multiply them more easily, and with small force, by wheels and other means: and to make them stronger and more violent than yours are; exceeding your greatest cannons and basilisks. We represent also ordnance and instruments of war, and engines of all kinds: and likewise new mixtures and compositions of gun-powder, wild-fires burning in water, and unquenchable. Also fireworks of all variety both for pleasure and use. We imitate also flights of birds; we have some degrees of flying in the air. We have ships and boats for going under water, and brooking of seas; also swimming-girdles and supporters. We have divers curious clocks, and other like motions of return: and some perpetual motions. We imitate also motions of living creatures, by images, of men, beasts, birds, fishes, and serpents. We have also a great number of other various motions, strange for equality, fineness, and subtilty.

We have also sound-houses, where we practise and demonstrate all sounds, and their generation. We have harmonies which you have not, of quarter-sounds, and lesser slides of sounds. Divers instruments of music likewise to you unknown, some sweeter than any you have, together with bells and rings that are dainty and sweet. We represent small sounds as great and deep; likewise great sounds extenuate and sharp; we make divers tremblings and warblings of sounds, which in their original are entire. We represent and imitate all articulate sounds and letters, and the voices and notes of beasts and birds. We have certain helps which set to the ear do further the hearing greatly. We have also divers strange and artificial echoes, reflecting the voice many times, and as it were tossing it: and some that give back the voice louder than it came, some shriller, and some deeper; yea, some rendering the voice differing in the letters or articulate sound from that they receive. We have also means to convey sounds in trunks and pipes, in strange lines and distances.

We have dispensatories, or shops of medicines. Wherein you may easily think, if we have such variety of plants and living creatures more than you have in Europe, (for we know what you have,) the simples, drugs, and ingredients of medicines, must likewise be in so much the greater variety. We have them likewise of divers ages, and long fermentations. And for their preparations, we have not only all manner of exquisite distillations and separations, and especially by gentle heats and percolations through divers strainers, yea and substances; but also exact forms of composition, whereby they incorporate almost, as they were natural simples.

We have also divers mechanical arts, which you have not; and stuffs made by them; as papers, linen, silks, tissues; dainty works of feathers of wonderful lustre; excellent dies, and, many others; and shops likewise, as well for such as are not brought into vulgar use amongst us as for those that are. For you must know that of the things before recited, many of them are grown into use throughout the kingdom; but yet, if they did flow from our invention, we have of them also for patterns and principals.

We have also furnaces of great diversities, and that keep great diversity of heats; fierce and quick; strong and constant; soft and mild; blown, quiet; dry, moist; and the like. But above all, we have heats, in imitation of the Sun's and heavenly bodies' heats, that pass divers inequalities, and (as it were) orbs, progresses, and returns, whereby we produce admirable effects. Besides, we have heats of dungs; and of bellies and maws of living creatures, and of their bloods and bodies; and of hays and herbs laid up moist; of lime unquenched; and such like. Instruments also which generate heat only by motion. And farther, places for strong insulations; and again, places under the earth, which by nature, or art, yield heat. These divers heats we use, as the nature of the operation, which we intend, requireth.

We have also perspective-houses, where we make demonstrations of all lights and radiations; and of all colours: and out of things uncoloured and transparent, we can represent unto you all several colours; not in rain-bows, (as it is in gems, and prisms,) but of themselves single. We represent also all multiplications of light, which we carry to great distance, and make so sharp as to discern small points and lines. Also all colourations of light; all delusions and deceits of the sight, in figures, magnitudes, motions, colours all demonstrations of shadows. We find also divers means, yet unknown to you, of producing of light originally from divers bodies. We procure means of seeing objects afar off; as in the heaven and remote places; and represent things near as afar off; and things afar off as near; making feigned distances. We have also helps for the sight, far above spectacles and glasses in use. We have also glasses and means to see small and minute bodies perfectly and distinctly; as the shapes and colours of small flies and worms, grains and flaws in gems, which cannot otherwise be seen, observations in urine and blood not otherwise to be seen. We make artificial rain-bows, halo's, and circles about light. We represent also all manner of reflexions, refractions, and multiplications of visual beams of objects.

End book quotes

You can see, it is places for people to work on their ideas in any category. But there need be no place for things that people are not working on. Old projects unfinished may be stored behind wardrobes² in collaboration rooms for things to do by others that may choose them. We can call these Projects to be continued, where original inventors decide to move on to something else.

=====

In my previous writing was for area ideas to help promote better conscious. But with better conscious there may be a wish to work on more than in an ordinary job and be happy with that, and ideas and higher conscious, and high conscious in shyness and what feels like psychosis because the ideas go nowhere but around and always flowing in my head.

To have such a conscious and abilities and perspectives, and to be being unknown, unused, like someone was not even there. Should ways of getting out of this without only their own networking and work on an ideas, which is difficult if you have many ideas a day and many things you would want to do.

Carl Jung said that good consciousness is rewarded by inventions and ideas, like gifts. The area council ideas here are to help such investors to profit from their ideas, as its not as easy as it seems and in my city this good conscious and people who have them is fail.

Catalog & other

I have wished many times that there were a place I can publish my ideas, that may be used for my own collaboration or work on projects with others, or for commission for future developments. It gives me an uneasy feeling publishing on the internet or to random businesses. And I have ideas all day that I do not know what to do with.

That someone may use their inventing ability without burden of making things, and if can develop a way to think of many things may just do that, and may still be rewarded.

Little known and unseen inventions will be cataloged for our area, that people may use them for their own ideas and invention and research. People will be promoted to use these ideas and their own in media releases of monetary value such as game, moves, tv, science show, with futuristic science themes for this make good media for the imagination, enjoyment and education. People will make them into series of video documentaries outlying the technology for residents to view. Special ones of the residents own inventions to share with other inventors that they may work together. Ideas in the area are written down and first written examples of them are regarded as value commission for future developments .

If you use my ideas to start with and it works well I should be given commission also.

People from around the world may contribute to this catalog under these conditions for your community. As there is no such thing this should be a good thing for them. People will have ideas on how to help them, and what systems may be used for them.

=====

<https://ground.news/>

Instead of news, it's ideas

Where people get paid for ideas first

People then will read each other ideas and steal them, I mean put things together and remember them and use them for their future ideas. I wrote an answer for that.

=====

Important

It may be nice to have a good idea but it is either seen or not seen in reality, which this is a something that can be helped, I mean the idea may be there but you don't know it is, now you have the idea, and your idea goes into something that already exists and now you feel you have achieve something for as long as the thing exists, you helped it. Your thing is seen.

#8574742

Say there is a new city being built, and a heap of people have been writing about things they hate in society and things to change, and ideas, this could be partly private, maybe submitted thought the invention counsellor, A bunch of people go through ideas and make city, the person is welcome to join group or just find their ideas, now when an idea is submitted as going to implement, the person gets notification and record added as their ideas, more in that in invention councillor and invention ideas categories. They will get notification also when it is implemented. And record like they did something in life that they can say.

Maybe many people had the same idea, or variations of it, but they all get the message that their idea is added to implementation list and is implemented when it is.

|

Someone with ideas can now have something to say about themselves.

|

If I was to say be part of the new Google city design or have my ideas reviewed for it i think this would make me very happy.

I have had ideas in technology categories which I have seen made years later, so my family father had. But nothing to say really when it's made years later.

|

Importantly in the field of ideas many people will have ideas about such a thing that will be made later, but only a few will be successful and not normally the people who first had the ideas.

P.s.

Otherwise what is there, it seems to me like sharing your ideas with people you don't know that will just read them and forget about it and or use them later.

Or the government that does not know you that expects people to have studied for years in any subject

Or years of trying on any particular thing or

Especially when your not interested to take some full time job and or you dont have much experience but maybe years of interest and or frustration

|

Regarding the organised area of community where people talk about and do what they want

Regarding the the list of interests with importance, and ability

People who feel like all they do is work or nothing, have something to do more, and don't feel like their society is so rotten for they do nothing good in it,

The society gets to benefit from new business starts this way

=====

Re: statues of all principal inventors

All people who want to be added, alive

Dead

A bit about themselves , the good things about them , contributions, help in some things ,

You can use your phone to see about them , and or it can be a

Maybe can move through them on computer seeing overview of all the people

Other ideas:

X

X

I want a statue of me , with my visions , and

Invention counsellor / invention organisation

The way someone can form ideas and recall memories and put things together, is the most amazing thing,

If there is no output then it's

Thing can be recalled from years ago, the way things work, and why.. in such a complicated manner it must mean something

====

Idea first

List and write your ideas, if in future you see it as your working on it, or if someone else

Already written . category tags

This is way you can get inventor pension

=====

2015

A video about higher and lower conscious, that states somethings I have written.

<https://youtu.be/vqCOss4hqnE>

Some people will find their higher conscious, and find purpose in its ideas and revelations, choose a more artistic life to use their conscious, find perspectives or perceptions that give them a different conscious such as looking at their own mortality to see the life that is here; find inspiration for great ideas that their mind can think of, and gain power in their own mind by think of what they want in a good way. They would want to be free from tasks that take away their time on simple life, but to use their ideas is not always easy or makes any money, and their conscious and ideas seem less useful so they may turn away from it; to share them to the public is not an option normally, to work on them is difficult if alone and they are complicated and require long time and investment.

invx is an area open to ideas, privately given and reviewed.

People will submit all their ideas and journals to invention counselors, and mark which they think is new and important, the invention counselor will enjoy reading such new and important imaginary ideas, they will get used to scoring them. Ideas will automatically match with others. Reviewers will enjoy studying new ideas and technology for their own ideas, imagination, and to have knowledge of many ideas and inventions, so to see similarities with others and know how new an idea is.

Inventors and philosophers/publishers will get notified of idea score.

People who score highly will be paid depending on ideas and outcome of their ideas, and told that they will be paid for as long as they keep having ideas, no matter if they are made or not. They will be asked to contribute time on projects they have written about, such is the system written about earlier.

This will promote ideas, where people can forget about making money, forget that they need to work on their ideas to make use of thought, etc.

People who can use their conscious in meaningful ways can do so for longer periods and not feel like giving up under pressure of not letting their life go .

=

“Reviewers will enjoy studying new ideas and technology for their own ideas, imagination, and to have knowledge of many ideas and inventions, so to see similarities with others and know how new an idea is. “

Here is a problem, that people will feel like they will loose their ideas. answers:

1. Reviewer is bound to the inventor for ideas they work on, or is friend in own community
2. Reviewer is known to have seen lots of peoples ideas, so their own ideas are in question of combining other ideas, which is ok
3. Reviewer scores inventer ideas, and if later comes up with similar or better ideas then old ideas are still in the database that will be given commission because they were their first, where it will not be up to the reviewer to remeber where ideas came from but other people to note similar previous idea to be given commission because it was written first, as written elsewhere
- 4.

=

Sharing ideas, feedback and criticism to government and organizers is very important. In ones documents or publications of ideas and journals, there should be tags like, #government-subject, #invention, #specific-system, #knowledge-for-specific-knowledge-subject, etc. The reviewer can add these tags. The reviewer will be use to looking at what categories are in the database. There are people who use this database in different ways to help the cities people and ideas, for ideas to be read by people working on similar, for them to work on by the subject, for them to be reviewed and implemented for importance, etc.

=====

===

Dear Xxxxx xxxxxx xxxxxxxxxxxxxx,

We are providing free

Anytime someone submits an idea to us and it arrives you will receive 10% of any funds we raise from supporting the idea, you will also receive $ payment instantly for any ideas submitted we rate 9 to 10 stars.

=====

First assessment

idea quality if this idea did not exist what

()

()

[]

If it was

=====

Website will be an advanced version of Quirky.com SeedInvest.com but with NDA and security, for large number of people who do not feel comfortable posting ideas publicly and without NDA. Even if they want to give a brief description of business under NDA.

Website to submit ideas to like davison.com

We take 20% commission for successfully created or funded projects

10% goes into volunteers on commission / paid contractors to:

- give idea appraisal/feedback
- market ideas confidentially to investors
- authenticate accounts
- other functions

Like InventHelp.com INPEX show with Invention browsing experience (where business can browse inventions), but unlike InventHelp the Idea categories for all types of development potential, ideas for anything can be listed,

Index will have collaboration function

Index will be available to investors/collaborators worldwide

- database lock

- there will be no way to access or transfer entries/files except to backup server except for:

1. access to individual personal entries/files by inventors registered login (including IP address authentication by email or phone. (the IP address they signup with is authenticated but login from new IP address requires authentication).

2.

Inventors have options of security:

low medium high

1. Low

Any investor/collaborator can view listing with real time Identity verification (provider:.....)

?WebApp

IP address authentication

other free simple ideas

2. Medium

only "inventor support organisations" worldwide will have approved IP addresses that can access the system

investors will be registered and go through local inventor support organisation for viewing, where investor can arrange viewing inventor support organisation will provide computer which they considers secure, in secure private viewing area (only people who have signed the privacy agreement can access the room while website is active), website will download a WebApp to the computer, camera will take a snap shot of user on click to project to verify access. Locked to one file at a time. WebApp will potentially open a new window that can take over computer and block any recording from remote access, etc.

Options:

- verified business
- verified members
- anyone

3. High

Selected business and members with proof of high ethic standards

=

System options

- collaborator/investor will have private option on account so that only inventors can see their details, on signup in account settings. Inventor will have option to grant collaborator access via users login or only login from inventor organisation.
- People who have signed the privacy agreement will be able to be in the viewing room, each having their own login. Login/Logoff depending so group can submit independent offers/feedback etc.
-

Listing options

- feedback,
 - similar ideas links,
 - ideas seen in “ideas index listing database idea” (move here*)
 - ?appraisals (scores, tags, weather is new or not, etc) as seen on “invention appraisals” .
 - TeamUps.net Quirky.com SeedInvest.com collaboration options (submissions of interest or investment).
 - Collaboration function, as seen on TeamUps.net, will have option for inventor to add titles for collaboration. any user can put forward interest in collaboration. inventors have similar option.
- What is inventor looking for and what will they offer (e.g. on teamups.net listing “Looking for “ add title, description, requirements, and what they will offer (e.g. percentage).
- Collaborators choose to have their contributions private or open.
- Option for investors
 - Public title and description we can use for marketing publicly

==

==

started on builtonideas.com, maybe a kickstarter, input is helpful

==

additional info for kickstarter

I am a web designer for 10 years and hobby inventor for 17 years trying to find easy way to get access to inventors through private means, with years of thought and research.

==

competitions for best developed ideas, will be awarded extra time by volunteers and funds competitions for best imaginative/SiFi/theoretical ideas for move/game design collaboration

=====

found some people who

“My brain is flooded with great ideas all day long (some of them are horrible in hindsight, of course, but fell great at the time). Sadly, my implementation rate is about 0.04 percent. :(“ feel sorry for them

You can find these people on google forums and groups about inventing search phrases random other and they can come to us create similar to “lamber & lambert” website and business

contact them and say “we are [similar to “lamber & lambert”] we are offering free pre-development invention services and marketing services, and would like you to consider using our services to market your ideas to [similar to “lamber & lambert”], then employ/contract a lawyer and marketing people to work on commission and ?deposit (option for less commission?), and help this person.

Finding ways to use ideas and put ideas into categories for example someone sends you an idea that is just good for a book is software or retail product for example product ideas go to people who are interested in developing retail products

We can sell anything

Find suitable people to market certain ideas

On homepage / submission page:

- Market your ideas to companies s (where companies agree to NDA)
- Licensing (for companies to use your idea)
- Funding (for you to make the idea)
- Support in creating kick-starter setup
- Find ideas and ways to make money from your ideas
- Connect with collaborators / co-project manager

Tick box on submission page so we know what to put in the email for marketing problem, we don't know if this is new or not, companies may not want to sign NDA but a company is lucky to have as many ideas to view as they can, each idea having a score, top scores being at top, new ideas are great for competition and can make a business, there are companies who may want to use the ideas and investors who may want to give you funding to make the idea

On company marketing email: “

We have inventors who are seeking to licence ideas in your field of business.

We also would like to give your details to our inventors for brain storming solutions and to improve your products and give you new ideas on commission or fee.

If you would like to review our ideas please fill in this NDA and application

Our fee's

If you use one of our inventors ideas we take 5% fee of commissions given to inventor which you will negotiate with them.

NDA page, conditions:

Inventors believe they are the original inventor of the idea. Product research may or may not have been done.

On investor email: “

Once receive reply, all details must be sent to inventor for review

Once reply, add business and servers (from application) to brain storming solutions and product research section of website.

=====

search the internet for people looking to find interest from investors such as “I have xxx ideas, if your interested in collaboration or investment contact me”

there are heaps of postings and no one reply's or contacts them. for example on collaboration websites. Linked in groups. Etc

So what we do is take the xxx title and email companies who may want to licence or fund the idea using the email above and follow on reply system but change the first line to “who is looking for may be looking for licencing options”

If poster (inventor) is vague on details, then we add NDA, if poster specifies details, add all the details and contact us through our website for more details

When we get a response contact poser saying we have xxxxxx company interested in hearing your idea for licensing, email them at xxxxx to proceed [include comment that they have signed NDA already and provide link to NDA]

invention analyser under agreement

should be available to anyone but psy check-ups on people who show the possibility of great ideas must make people feel secure in confidentiality like a psychologist, but in their minds be an multi skilled technology and science expert multi/engineer mathematician something to suit the individual . someone who must see logic in good ideas, see possibility potential of ideas, someone who cares about technological development for world/human progression, not evil, psy analysers should change to see varying results from different people profiling who is best with who, and different approaches should be scored, . inventors concern can be that they need to get ideas reviewed by people in the specific field of their invention thus giving someone who thinks about and their field all day the idea to incorporate it into something they do; so the solution is $\wedge + \dots$, unfortunately solutions without the $\wedge$ and/or $\dots$ must search and think about this, the way out can be analysis of ready sort term potential, leaving really good ideas with long term potential out.

you can identify johns by institutions used to submit ideas / associated ideas groups / / social connections / < all important this needs to be finished, and used . industry could put funding bids in to government for reward from system problem with john is he thinks all his ideas are wonderful and takes consideration of real would use as would be good, but what if there is better, etc. upon looking for funding john may make more of an effort in selection and sound idea thus completing a full plan. The plan normally is not a concern to John only the idea is important.

==

No money = no move = 0 progression

= loss

= no life

=

=====

assessment:

- is idea more worth while to work on (if government) than job, if so
- score (above)
- costs (above)
- ways to use

for high scoring ideas (as many as possible) project will be supported further with:

-

- things that take more time and money

=====

Sent in immediately sent to x for secure one way transfer to intranet analysed and scored sent to private (no access) all locked individually > no transfer or view bulk > accessed only individually by analyser > transferred to secondary machine to build upon with updates before being transferred back log updates and date folders

=====

most ideas start with basic ideas, from there perfect access of system request

=====

also

=====

on ad

We

-

- Have you ever had a good idea first then seen it made by someone else?

=====

Best way to make money from ideas should still be to give them to developers in field who are interested to develop it.... So need to expose ideas before launch

=====

Before After launch need team checking for copy cats > suing > no $ compensation > smear campaign how to prove hold conception patents cheap? But not cheap >

=====

the prototype library and shop, and the trust:

THE INVESTMENT from innovation

where I wish to leave my inventions and money (my will, Michael van Diermen 1.1.17)

where others could leave the inventions better using lumia tick box > unsorted.

(30% to my family | 20% to original W&T 2001)

including specialised technical on NDA. resource indexes, form a list, cost, feasibility analysis, potential market analysis. 40% profit to better environment for inventors, right people, give license to the right inventions, individual based (to make it work), should submit multiple first to show they can (because it is a library of investment in individual for the betterment of environment for inventors), need for resource specification made first one, if first one does not have potential and others seem to no potential then No. X for any individual. origination check, proof of creating / origination of inventions / how did they come to have X and X, what was your process / reference / police check / revelations check (do they have revelation (like what could be done better, political, social or people inventions, better or new social protocols (to show they can think), something to show they can think and that they have invented multiple.

prototype lab

1 resource input list making

or,

2 order patent be created

o Prototype include level of readiness

☐ proofed theoretical

☐ pre prototyped level

☐ prototyped

☐ already produced

production

☐ design best for mass production

☐ optimized for best design for mass production

☐ optimized for cost best for mass production

☐ optimized for best design for small production

☐ optimized for cost best for small production

the list

====

=====

Design specialized patent search.

Prototype / concept search and with similar if any.

Appraisal, value of idea against past or current inventions or as unique idea (pros and cons).

Potential value amount to business who may want to develop it.

Optional:

- Specialized engineer Independent confirmation (Feasibility report, will it work.)
- Qualified Inventor, engineer and scientist concept inputs and novel ideas (where possible).
- Resource requirements cost of concept, against cost and requirements of alternatives.
 - ☐ design best for mass production
 - ☐ optimized for best design for mass production
 - ☐ optimized for cost best for mass production
 - ☐ optimized for best design for small production
 - ☐ optimized for cost best for small production
- Your search for similar alternatives will come with concepts
 - ☐ theoretical (unproven)
 - ☐ theoretical (proven)
 - ☐ pre prototyped level
 - ☐ prototyped
 - ☐ already produced

=====

Why get an Appraisal?

Go in with confidence to your pitch with independently verified appraisal, more assurance, first stage planning, critique, and analysis.

Help convince them it is the right thing to make. Take out the important questions: How unique is it, has it been made before, is it possible. Don't spend days searching, let our professionals insure your working on the right idea.

=====

The scouts go looking for people with lots of ideas offering free support (commission).

The organization will build a name for its self providing investment advice and inventors support.

Simply by doing the Survey below and accrediting them all the ideas, the inventor can them make a far better public pitch saying something like

5 out of 5 inventors from the xxxxxxxx organisation said XXXXXX YES DO IT

=

Survey Form

The following survey will be used in evaluating the market potential of an invention that has been disclosed to you. An honest, unbiased reply is necessary. The inventor will use your answers to help in determining whether or not he/she should proceed. Proceeding will cost the inventor a lot of time and money. Answering honestly is the best way to help the inventor make a good decision. Please answer the questions only for yourself - the inventor needs YOUR opinion about what the invention means to YOU.

For each question, please circle a number from 1 to 10. 1 is low or "not at all". 10 is high or "absolutely".

1. Do you currently own or use products that are similar, competitive, alternative, or related to the invention?

none ...1...2...3...4...5...6...7...8...9...10... many

2. Compare the invention to similar, competitive and alternative products:

it's worse ...1...2...3...4...5...6...7...8...9...10... it's better (there are none)

3. Does this invention solve a problem you've experienced?

no problem ...1...2...3...4...5...6...7...8...9...10... solves big problem

4. Would you like to buy the invention today?

never buy ...1...2...3...4...5...6...7...8...9...10... buy this instant

5. Compared to similar, competitive or alternative products, would you pay more or less for the invention?

pay much less ...1...2...3...4...5...6...7...8...9...10... pay much more

6. Consider the potential safety hazards to yourself and others when using this invention. How do you consider it?

dangerous ...1...2...3...4...5...6...7...8...9...10... completely safe

7. Comments and suggestions:

"Invention City Survey Form" <http://www.inventioncity.com/print-survey>

=====

Where all score are posted in index and examples after they are made.

Being at the top of the list being like a prize

Get a free review (2% commission). The inventors organization will list your idea and score

=====

Invention Analyser Under Agreement

see #inventionanalyserunderagreement

=====

Free confidential service between inventors and investors for any type of new idea, where invention gets free appraisal, and the job of the inventor is just to develop the idea (or as close as possible to this).... Does this exist, no, it needs funding and this is why I will give 50% of income into this.

There are allot of shit ideas out there but does not mean they won't have success.

?Consumer reviews

even add shit ideas to index for investors. Categories, Score, Tag, etc Improbably incomplete theoretical etc ideas still have a place, free analysis,

users can update them

=====

=====

=====

=====

designing other peoples creations

=====

=====

?Buy them for X just for the game . Documentaries. inventions and things people have not seen before free list.

=

when someone tries to think of a new idea, or starts to see a new idea they think about its feasibility, need, markt, development money, developing it (big), where as in a game no need to move beyond idea. then to make a game is another thing again, is to make a virtual prototype and the challenges of real life design may be seen again.

free prototype design, including 3D where suitable, technical analysis, etc, for good ideas we may also cover the patent (provisional/full) costs (and do the patent filing for you) if you do not already have. To help get ideas for the game from people and ,

We make designs, including product development, thinking about how it would work in real life including moving parts and real life physics, if that helps the design we give you free product development time.

The patent library form, would you like:

☐ market your patent to the world. public patent

☐ market your patent to the right people, trusted checked and NDAed

☐ if not successful after ☐ (e.g. 3 developers) - ☐ years (8 for indefinitely).

☐ both (automatically selected if 1)

☐ No one

☐ Other

if no interest we may change and remarket

|

?X> patent cost will be covered by patent sale (including way by concept of this product is developed and sold), 30% of profit will go back into patents of others who have not sold their patent (if sufficient attempts have been made to sell your idea, and no success after 2 years we may cease renewal)

o How much would you like to Sell you patent for

Price: ☐

☐ would you like this price to be changed?

drops by ☐ % each ☐ (e.g. year, until gets to a minimum sale price of ☐)

You may update this price at any time by calling can quoting patent ID pass code or create account at www.tpl. with recieved pass code

Patent information will be transferred and stored with highest level of security, information including name will not be stored on any internet connected device.

end of each patent : business office name and details and phone number then, "this patent is for sale", end of game also, these patent are for sale.

patents normally last for 20 years.

people should be searching for inventors to offer free patenting (where approved ideas get patents and/or exposure) to make 30% + costs for example.

<X?

CUT

then there is... the better ideas out there for what you're looking for we can find for you, but thats a separate business and only a part of the approval process, this is the business of unseen inventions, although do need to compare unseen to existing or seen (scales, how new is it from other, need, etc etc, (2 or 3 lists)).

=====

People are looking for feedback, unsure if an idea is positive or not which may hold them back from working on something, which this system will also help with. People need to hear if they should go ahead or not.

Systems promoting success from positive things can have way to stop people from making negative things.

Government system prevents negative ideas, but is not really in control until damage has been done.

=====

There are people and at times people can go through super advanced higher level thinking, you forget they are there because your not at their level, or just forget. I like it. They should be a core of society somehow because it is the most powerful thing we have.

They are treated the same, i suppose that works. It is disgraceful when they are not used and can live shit miserable live get destroyed for no reason, no one knows or cares, whatever the system is it is failing maybe 30% 60% in places.

creating social and business conditions suitable to them

=====

Whilst keeping your current work or unemployment, you will be paid $x to submit all my ideas during the week to..... We will own rights to your ideas. You will have xx% commission from anything when we work on something .

We will ask you to work on some ideas more where input can be continued (technical or finish concepts), where we want to develop these ideas. Reason being:..... Important here

But who can have this job, some people will come up with not as good stuff during the week, I know I can but why me? Allot of people can. My mind may be bit more quickly creative, but at slower levels given little more time can do the similar ?

Anyone with inventive mind for inventing to provide proof of good previous ideas (as many as possible) to have entitlement, to at least help encourage their potential

====

X>

some way to get them out there, even if its not going to lead to anything. Allot of companies are doing it but charge fee for development. I guess there are

<X

====

Deposit to show ideas, held in escrow or refund money if 0 worth while ideas

==

Buy someones next idea...

have right to review and use their next ideas. Open to people who meet application asking questions to determine if people have deep ideas often. Such as pervious ideas, what happens why you.... Have you often felt really creative and have powerful visions of . physiologist input. Genetic predisposition for inventer q, high iq, rapid speeding thoughts, unfinished .

=====

give people time to work on ideas, book and refocus, helping people who have financial and phobias due to their condition

Is it that type of inventor is consumed by so many thoughts they change their mind on what they want to do so often they get stuck moving forward on one thing, and this condition causing other problems due to being consumed by ideas. Perhaps they are poor consumed by thoughts making it hard to work. So system supporting this type of person is important. There are a number of factors to take into consideration, including freedom of thought which can be halted by ideas that lock people on to one idea, such as the means to make it and what they should work on. ideas lost in time or not come to light or stolen in time due to people not working on them because of awful consumption on possible on no hope making them or some failure (such as theft, money, quality, making it perfect, etc) .

=====

access to anything you need to create your approved constructions (pro bono). You can live here as long as you like doing anything you like, and if unemployed and/or before success allowance will be given (e.g 400 per week with no ideas or 700 with + pro bono if successful).

=====

Inventors institute

It comes down to class of inventor; being some one who is inventive over their who life and is at that point

This can be determined by questions

Have you come up with inventions/ideas for broad range of technology

What are your areas of interest at times of conception number of years

Provide an example of an invention(s) you have had

How many inventions would you say you have had two important answers as combination you can see their level of more questions

people like the best inventors do not only invent once, but are perpetual inventors; particular skills in field or not have come up with good inventions/ideas for broad range of technology.
invention of things they did not know existed at time of conception ideas are populated the same way by other thousands of people think about similar things ideas from things that are real that other people are thinking about need way to use new or unused ideas so before someone else thinks of them and finds a way to use them

=====

, maybe there would have been a way to publish them before other people thought of them ,
If I had just small royalty I would be able to spend time on this , and not feel like giving up

I have been too late to publish ideas, and see them sometimes, or think they were taken from me, either way it does not help with the continuation of my work

How to make a living writing down my ideas, not an easy option, when ideas have already been liked, and I have 20 times the data to sort and publish, and better stuff, and can't do it because it's not easy to Re type from hand written text and sort through hundreds of old encrypted files if I can even get to some of it at all.

====

=

hope you like reading it. I have only shown it to a couple of people who have no interest in it. I have been focusing on it, making my self poor and have been completely obsessed with it, negativity of some of the problems has not been healthy, and I almost lost my accommodation this year writing this and ignoring my work, and I have neglected my health and focused on a lot of negative problems since i was 18, i would like to show you a lot more but focusing on this document as old work need a lot of time in sorting and would do this if I was paid to do it or after I get funding for this. I would also consider work (employment) in development of similar ideas as I hate (and am not doing) my work right now and want a change.

=

Sat behind a computer screen 8/10 % of the time in my adult life for almost 2 decades, in debt, 50% of working part time with hardly any money to spend on anything. For years spending all my time on things like this, thinking, until I realize its not getting me anywhere and . at least for the last 4 years again now, almost fulltime hours half the time in the last year

Only time I had some money I spent most of it trying to find somewhere better to live and when I got back after trying to one of the worst things is feeling like nothing, spending all my time doing this, seeing the ideas out there after I think of them, feeling absolutely worthless, months trying to find places to submit ideas, etc internet is a wasteland that looks like paradise , australia is the same as far as innovation . at least until you see some options maybe, I have not seen a lot, and most of them , unfinished most by means of other people but

=

=

If I just had some feedback or a place to list theses ideas like a free INPEX index of ideas that business can see, but open with support, any format, no requirements, categorized, etc Which should focus on listing similar ideas, research on similar ideas and where the new idea fits in, , private entries as seen only by investors, public ideas with credits, ? encouraging private entries becoming public after 2 years

=====

=====

If I get any funding for this I will use it to for inventors help systems ideas firstly to stop this problem by promoting easily submission service for ideas for quicker development, providing free marketing services amongst trusted companies, and creating system to prevent and condemn people who do not give credit for use of their products, etc. Ongoing submissions and feedback for people sitting there trying to make something perfect while the idea is out there already and by the time its perfect it too late. Immediate spread of ideas within x or better security of x heaping prevent victimization.

While I consider who to send it to privately and did not show any body, so I am now quite open to who sees this work if they are honest and would consider but don't want it published on the internet.

=====

System where people can submit ideas for society to government and people can vote on their ideas, and people who submit important ideas get compensated so to help them continue thinking of new ideas and getting paid for their talent, and have a constructive outlet for ideas. A lot of people (especially unemployed or creative people) spend time think of ideas, but they blog them or use them in media projects for public awareness and dont directly submit them to parliament, where it is the parliaments role to look at problems and ideas within a country.

Open input listing and voting system for every issue up for debate. Open listing system for all ideas to be considered by different areas of government.

I am seeing my family and few people i have met spend their lives on social ideas, better ideas for the world, etc, some $ to support their unemployed lives and give them some direction would be great. I would consider this a priority if I had any power in government. Ideally any good idea should be compensated giving people direction.

Categories for idea submissions

Categories for ministers list

Categories for budget projects

Promoted subjects of importance looking for more options, and a solution.

Categories for

People will be employed to find other peoples ideas that are blogs/other media and add them with author name and their name, and/OR users who will submit ideas from others where they get small commission for finding them if they are used

They would hire researchers on subjects but public and people who have causes and unemployed thinkers or people who have given themselves time to think about allot of stuff; who live for bettering the future, stooping crime and disasters, etc are better

For voting... As people with no knowledge of a subject or wisdom will make wrong decisions on what is good or bad there should be some requirement to prove knowledge on subject or problem solving or high iq, or wisdom. But with feedback/additions from anyone.

Hire me or someone who is knowledgeable and keen on the idea to make it work. Fund or hire me and I will make anything in this document work.

=

public voting may not work because new ideas may be left at the bottom. People don't read all the entries correctly and may just vote for ones at the top. So here are better options:

=====

Ideas get CCed to a DB which as the user creates chapters and pages match them to existing info and ideas

as people write chapters of ideas paragraphs and titles will auto search DB and place tags on the chapters to add to categories and existing ideas (compatible to user preferred software), where the user can continue their work as they wish without needing to separate their ideas in to different submissions

Theoretically it would also match philosophy as well as philosophy is about as important, but start with inventions. Philosophy is important part of inventing, society, etc, and to build upon it with same score/improvement system probably.

#Ostinv is a secure intranet to support people inventing originally established for the inventors organization to (see this chapter)

In an ideal ost it would be automatic lead to first rights for ideas and only seen by all of those who
It is a database submission on finish or x 2 weeks

The whole computer is audited by admin also with importance levels, if with requests to submit info.
Ostinv computers are used to support people who have a lot of ideas so of cause they don't want to show admin some of them
?block folders and files with reasons why

#Ost is a existing or imaginary country of with better systems and but ostinv is also a world wide from organization as described in #

ostinv organization that supports for inventors in x who want support in way of anything they type on one computer is CCed to the ost; its an INV computer with extra security supplied to them by ost or setup as dedicated to ost, and can work offline if needed, is not suppose to be used for personal use (software restrictions) but for INV brainstorming with support from this chapter and all the other docs I have written about this in the past .

the DB is just like search engine cache for private ostinv but will also search all public match to internet, books, etc Internet
This would make a great tool for anyone who is writing to get similar on right panel, the idea clear in my head how to explain for when I forget, I wont forget so why would I write it, to get ripped off? So maybe I forget or die and someone can use it for money to build upon my will, but my will is 70% not here and 20% elsewhere and 50% in my head.
Anyway...
Can also be used for new search engine (better), the more text, the closer the match, some people will start using it instead of search engine
People are working on paraphrasing algorithm for search engines, which someone will see soon, this will be added, but what ever to start .
a plugin to word etc good idea

another brain burp, that if they are writing ideas and... that they can match and submit automatically to our website private or public , and . the website being built on ideas, contributions and revisions, feedback, whatever, maybe in the same way the ideas db world rank additions and improvements this can then be used for UNFINISHED

Invention analyzer. Invention appraisal score

Where someone is allocated to score inventions by Score sheet.... give feedback
Where each group has their own score sheet
Benefit
Consumer need

Costs
Market
Etc (above)

Where the top inventions are made

They wont say it on their websites but Companies normally dont fund unsolicited unpatented inventions
Government dont fund inventions and ideas
It hard to find any investors who will look at ideas under NDA
You can protect concepts and ideas
Big companies wont invest in ideas but they will take them to develop their own businesses, or just buy successful business to consume the competition

People in different industries having a pure score based investment system where submission sites are listed on a list

Idea scoring and appraisals

People with ideas look towards investors or corporations or government or services

=====

In a fair world built on idea of trade there would be outlets for people to submit their ideas, where they are voted on and feedback is given, so to give people reward for their intellectual trade, assure compensation (no idea theft), and liberate the people with the best and most creative minds to a life of thought . Voting being that it is unbiased and the best ideas are made based on financial return or improvement (out doing what is their before, having a better service, etc).

=====

===

New Technology/Idea database

Described in lost document

List all solutions/technology in categories. Scores. Tags.

People can contribute their ideas, research and build upon ideas Somehow people can get money from ideas (win prizes or be paid to develop if deemed worth while)
=

voting, score for
- leap in technology or system
- how much of an improvement is it over existing

- need to develop project as priority
- see : Invention Analyser Under Agreement > Appraisal
- list continued and details in lot document

Rounds of voting, each voter should vote on each entry moving projects up and down the list of priority new ideas should be then voted on to where they should fit in the list by people who

==

End

=====

=====

We have established that you can promote people to write down their ideas and thoughts for money, but it's kept private, personal information won't be shared , unless to credit you in case you will be notified , other use will be notified
Please share your journal in this manner if you wish , it's not public and no personal information will be

If you have lot of people like that

Or

If Google and other online writing platforms can use AI to determine who's keeping a journal and what country their are in

And other people's public postings ,

Or government as government can see data, voice calls and messages posted from country

It can be to determine what people's problems are in country

Unfinished

=====

Do you believe there is value of visions, in a mind visioning many things,
Not to make but be part of things or be used otherwise

It do you just believe in what they can make
I think it comes from the usefulness of talking about ideas, ?but is this useful if you have a community where it's value means something to you?
Can the meaning of just having visions be more productive or make the person some money in that alone,
If they never mean anything would someone keep interest in it

=====

In this category
Regarding
Can an ai and or reviewer if an ai
So documents are sent, journal is sent, then the

About making money for the individual who was thinking, so they can be free in their brain to think more, and or work in one of their ideas for their lives so they have something to do and work on what they think is most important, otherwise just write about it. Are they going to send you all their troubled thoughts, probably not.

Energy survey

People are asked to rate their consciousness; bad, good, excellent
There is a survey results, WRITTEN ELSEWHERE
? Fist sunday every month to measure our energetic states with EEG
Of people with high EEG are in categories of their perspective and will, their purpose is made into new categories for development and inclusion

Just as important are all others,
People with bad EEG what has caused it, give them new thing to do or place to be, gfjgfhgfhgfs jhtfshtfs dfsdhgffdsdsg dshgf

People with normal EEG, what could made them more inspired Bad EEG may mean just not feeling like one can achieve a goal, or is in hostile enviromwnt, or does not have people around to have good conversations or give good aura. Good EEG just means they have access to better knoledge and menory and spirit, may not mean they have better ideas than someone not achiving or being around good people.

=====

I have found it sickening stressful living in this agenda 21 city in nationalised leftwing country that is all the same while i have given up on it in isolation thinking of how i would leave. People will be included in community category to work on their ideas or join group of like minded people if this is what they want to do.

Its hard to look at people and the ground and and feel this is a place I can stay.

=====

These thing are written to counter miserable things I see in reality, however I have added all the miserable things. They are only few of many solutions to a few big problems I have thought about to make things run better.

For all the miserable things, people must have try to design better many times to see it be the awoken mind that seems like what i am made for, and for people to see it themselves or suffer it in, like it's a big joke and to look to see who cares to see and want better so to give them power sometimes feels as they are not deserving of the higher visions of the chosen, but has made allowance for all those who wish to see and morn for suffering and want to help. Also to be around people or a place of respect seems to open the conscious to see it. It may be harder to see if the mind is more focussed on not having a community, or loose hope in making anything better in reality when it 8s difficult and need to look after ones self as people say to do until one can live more easily.

"Mr. Thor went to President and offered to give them information on how his people could successfully live without sickness, without poverty, without disease and without death, they told him we're sorry that we cannot accept the information that you're really giving us because it will ruin the economy of this nation."

"Frank E. Stranges"

Some may not have all the options but together... If we can respect that and network better options for people like this so we live in more than they would hope for.

Reality seems more about working and finding people to have meaningless conversations to kill the boredom, and watching news and talking about politicians that will never listen, rather than working on ideas as networked society, people think it's normal and make presumptions on why they have such little perspective of life, but these same people treat me and my higher ideas for life and nothing or bad. So it good to go places and be with people who see and would want to work on more, and not to expect others to see it and leave them to them to their jobs and problems and simple social and life structures. Sometimes my mind has been on simpler things so i can imagin people not seeing big disturbing picture without much control but for themselves that they live in.

Psychosis of people in isolation is common. System made for people to find what they want rather than be given options seems more productive people like this.

It may be failed attempts and procrastination that holds people back when experimentation of better community I see resulting in better outcome from this isolation and freedom of working for community and existential systems if one chooses to do so.

It is suffering to see such problems and answers over and over again until the brain does not function so well, until ones sees that the local and national government is irrelevant and to work on finding somewhere they can help or trying to give up and work on simpler options that may work.

As I see people procrastinate a lot about work and things to do, I see many people look like they're not very happy and wasting life, but are eager to work and do things, especially with their peers or of interest to help in way they believe in. It makes sense to help people be more productive because they people and the economy will benefit.

The way things work come from very little x in people lives, little surveying, just whats seen on the outside from extroverts and . missing the whole picture of whats there

=====

choose neighbours why bit

Always things to do, no feeling of no one and no family in life. Place where you were people stories and want to do things, where orgaier can help facilitate new systems. It's about opening up your mind to reality and visioning it all, and about how to make things good and development, which system must be made to support. Currently it's just about how much money you have and how many more houses you can buy to rent out to people.

I may forget what I want but it has been so in the past.

=====

I feel people like to see people they have a good connection with more often and locally makes it easier and daily, with common areas specifically for each group, that they feel more casual going to, to give them feeling there are nice people nearby. Where as it can happen seldomly if there are no neighbours or organisational system to help get people together or work on things. Which is an ever increasing problem, and which I have missed the most in my life.

My plan is to buy somewhere that this can be started. The app will see all people around by distance to them that they can choose, the areas will be reallocated to form new groups when people dont like each other or to get closer to people the choose.

The second more important aspect of the app is to ask people what they really want to do, with the ability to add more than one thing. The function of auto search similar and grouping of these things is easy to make with the open source app "Frinder"

The third aspect as written about for the conscious and enlightened people to help with these things that help that they see and would like to help others with such as a calling for it.

And thats about it

I would suggest the apartments or spaces are owned lease that people feel secure to keep no matter what they do, but could be charged extra $50 per week for not moving to help creat better spaces with people they know, which would be way I do it if I were to do it without any further consideration.

and further more if the area was larger and contained x business areas would be for people that can share ideas and do if good and have no objections from an organizer or people in their own area... where each area would have an orginiser and so on where laws following the first three can be changed by anyone through no objections from organizers / enlightened people, and can be changed again at any time.

Especially for the kind of enlightened people who see all the problems with reality and ideas for it, that they should be found and be part of system.

Each person will be asked to select some people they would like to live arond. They will get option to select if they would like to be organiser of their group. If they select to be organiser, and their are 2 people with in their group who don't like each bit others have no issue it will be up to them to the organiser to look into it. They will be given money to from government tax and projects. Anyone can choose to be an organiser. Everyone in a group can choose to be an organiser. The orginiserers have different fields of projects and group. It is up to the organisers to see their subjects get to be organised into what is it they want ro do from their priority listing of their things they want to do

In the event of most people choosing to be organisers which is goal, people will choosing to work on what they want linked to similar and provided divided things to do for group

=====

I have had ideas for principals of way city area which I live should be, they are dominant thoughts and give me pease and liberate conscious to think of how things could be. I assumed that others would have same but I don't see it often and people seem ok with way things are and looking after their own lives. However this is not enough for someone like me.

I imagine such things and it give me peace to think reality could be like that. The focus on industry etc has lead to easily accessible x

=====

I was listening to some nice meditation from nice woman and felt some sense of being at home, with this feeling I noticed and enhanced sense of peace and wanting everyone and everything to be ok.

Rob Birch says: if you haven't made it it's hard not to fade away
Many people say they think about people at home to keep their heart healthy and keep moving on. And people you love at home are what matters.

In my sense of having made it would be to be at home of people I like, some council of people in, sharing some ideas used that I was credited for; I mean ideas used that that make some things better were said to come from me

When I had the feeling of being at home, even though I was just imagining it there was no sense of having lack in life a sense of loving community seems to open brain and vitality healing.

=====

Other things that give sense of peace...
So making it so is important, but if not having it then can dream of it so to ignore current reality and work on place where have community, so people may feel euphoric for entire life, with vitality,

All the time by choosing neighbours. Everyone one must have this now. Without this and sleep deprivation from typical work schedule, I believe makes people stupid.

Google City

Google made city design plans for a revolutionary city but did not make it. As far as i heard it just had some new transport designs, and was supposed to made from demolished land in toronto. I am sure there were a lot of ideas and can find lot of ideas on internet to add.

Someone could spend days and not find much more than ideas for renewable energy and architecture, but they would be looking in the wrong spots

City wishlist and peoples ideas

Like a city wishlist, i wrote about it before a lot and will finish this chapter later

See Organised area

Regarding important #8574742

=====

Untitled

No such thing as community

Under no such thing as community

Community is where you care about people around you, and have some way of doing things.

Thinking of people around you if you care about them and don't feel repressed by them, directly opens up conscious and nervous system

The homes are sold to strangers and people don't know their neighbours, so if they want community they will find it in a space outside of them or by inviting people over from other places.

There is also no design for home except the space they occupy, including the most smart people not participating in local area design whether they want to or not.

People who are not social, who are isolated or live with not peers, get to socialise occasionally but mostly be in isolation.

But if one knows and cares for their neighbours, and there is some event systems and council, then things change.

=

There is no community. People own blocks of land and decide what to do with them. And try to buy as many as they can to make money from people. And a lot of people can't afford them. There is some community if you meet people in some dickheads block for some stupid reason. Like pubs, clubs and places people own to suck strangers in to make money, which seem to be the only type of meeting places.

There is no organisation of projects, work, things to do or community except with capital for capital, as it would have been before money. and people don't live around people that they would organise things with.

The earth concord and split up into small pieces, sold, and people put to work, this is our history of a lot of places, and from

After many city buildings are made with free property market, just matters who wants to buy them. I would not care if I had lots of money and already owned house.

=

Some people need community

Very intelligent

But don't like working around strangers, without community and without government, without their own space, working for strangers who are telling them what to do, work is rough when young also spoils, when they can do great things, maybe they don't because of not finding right jobs and or working conditions

This is irrelevant to the government,

It's irrelevant to the economy, housing system, and freedom we live by

I waste most of my time and all my ideas for a life time, but I see many people like me, I become a repetitive object and function for an economy around strangers who look at me, if I can tolerate it which I cant for long

It is way of

Something about organisation of life, vision for life, around others who are part of, connected to, known and not left for inanimate objects which is all we can do, and just respect people for we are the same

About working and owning your own space, which I don't, and being happy with that Does that person see more than where they came from, if they came from management of worker, may not see it

===

People who want to help a problem or someone or make things better actually want to help and have ideas.

Otherwise

No one actually wants to help anyone when they do work in the economy or society, because it's for strangers and no one really cares who they are, they work for themselves. Almost all people you see don't care about anyone but what they are doing, it's obvious. And their ideas are just for themselves on how to make things easier or better for themselves.

=

If you think k your a part of a community with the people you see driving through a city, you'd be wrong, take for example you see a homeless person, you can help them. For the hundreds of thousands of millions of people who live in your city, you won't be able to do much for anyone except provide goods or services to strangers within it.

=====

The difference between knowing someone and their skills and seeing they dont have work, and advertising for employee and hiring strangers, is one does not exist and the other is only works for people who like applying for many uncertain jobs with strangers that they will mostly be rejected for, and then they must be happy working under normally disturbing conditions.

=====

People don't design communities together, they work in making something for people or live off rent or something or nothing much.

=====

Your supposed to see the environment and people as part of your community? When your not part of anything, no one cares or really knows you.

See thousands of people but never see or have anything to do with them again.

That is all life seems to be.

At least if you could go out and see all these places and people your not parts of anything with, as the jungle, and go home to place and with people your part of

#7494848

Now all the things you worry about and suffer from that you are under the mercy of, you have some place to make good. Instead of just worry about things in the state (the federation) your not part of and can't change.

The place for life, like sanctuary, that continues when your dead.

Instead of looking at things and people that are not a part of your world now you are.

How does that work. People move homes depending on design, lots of free space because building free space is promoted such as above, there is a council for ideas, maybe every one gets what they want. There is a tax, and there is promotion of people's ideas and business. And other ideas here in and you all get to choose.

The pease and conscious of home now in your area and maybe your work?

I see areas with no community or government that really does anything, and not really part of anything except maybe some job from some wanker who does not know you. So hoping for some community, until then it's not worth worrying about life. I like to think about home but that too is not mine.

To know the people around and be part of it's design.

If the state is something people aren't a part of except if they find a job, then what can be made that they are a part of.

"If they find a job", a lot of people don't, and only people who make lots of money or are respected celebrities or something are happy with their job, and most job like cleaners and drivers are both like some robot could do it and not mean much and they don't pay much and people do that job for ever with nothing much else in life except paying bills.

As above *"People say we are spoiled here. Or I am spoiled. I tell them I would rather be around friends than rich.
I'd rather be around friends or a community and make life more tolerable."*

Looking at my life, things I do, people around, my home, the way things are, life, difficulty changing; Can often cause suffering, but the government and people don't care. What to do, to help them understand.

Government makes homes unaffordable, maybe I go to the government and show them how it's like to suffer around these wankers with no home.

|

If the answer to be part of a community that one would live and die for and dream to make this good and then to work on that. At least for now I can ignore the city I live in because no one is part of making it better except for the economy, and hope for something else although unlikely.

If I was somehow part of a community council and there was suffering that I was unable to change, I would be very sorry for this, but they don't seem to be. I think it's the lack of being able to change anything when there is a lot of suffering and in my own life has become. But you're just supposed to look after yourself but there are a lot of exploited options and bad default circumstances that aren't fixed.

->

The bystander effect

“The bystander effect is a social psychological phenomenon where individuals are less likely to offer help to a victim when other people are present, as the likelihood of intervention decreases as the group size increases. Primarily driven by a diffusion of responsibility and fear of judgment, this inaction stems from assuming others will act or that the situation is not an emergency.”

“The bystander effect has been proven hundreds of times. Your brain is made to hold small tribes of a couple hundred people and the moment that tribe expands into something your brain can't imagine you are no longer relying on reputation from anyone. You don't care what other people are thinking about you. And the moment that stops your brain says, "I don't have the capacity to worry about everyone that I see." So empathy disappears. Like you walk down these streets here in New York, their empathy is zero for you. No matter what's happening, you walk through a country town that's like 1,500 people. The population of the town I live in is 2,200. And if you get cut on the armor like you stumbled, four cars will stop. People get out of their cars to figure out what's going on because our brains can handle smaller tribes. The moment we get flooded with all of these things, all of these people that we can't possibly care about everybody, empathy disappears. The second aspect of this is if we're surrounded by environments that our ancestors would be absolutely scared of and confused by. We we start developing problems in our brain. Depression, loneliness, suicide through the roof in large cities every time. There's no exception. “

I think this is why they seem not to care. They have the job to care but theres just too many people they don't know.

=

Re: spoiled

Humans can create environments where people don't have money to eat or shelter, that's not humanly possible in my understanding unless there is something wrong with the environment.

Many people here just spend money on food and shelter, and work full time for this. This is also not a way a human should live.

=====

If you want more communication in community around you, where your part of something where you talk to wise people in area , where you know people who are doing things in the area, then you should look at the way space is brought and sold.

=====

Why would someone say “People put forward that all problems in the world are caused by the ownership of land.”

I’m not sure what they saw but what I see is, if i appreciate just space time and existence, you may see everything is owned by strangers who just live in some small places or own space to make money.

This causes restriction on its design.

Sitting in the mids of nothingness is existence.

=====

Compartmentalized society is.

People are just doing their own thing. Maybe some community ideas seems good and would attract people but when they have had enough of it have problems with it, may e find a partner and have kids, desire to just be compartmentalized again and leave, I could see problems especially for some, for me most of my life being isolated is not good, but maybe once in a while it would have been. Sometimes work could be better alone or with strangers

A lot of people have community with family, a lot of people don’t, work is People going to Australia probably aren’t looking for community, so . People going anywhere seem just to be doing it for money

Sometimes work can be better, so much so you are not expected to care about anyone around, just do some work.

Normally in a community you could do something to help people and get good at it, use your skills to do things rather than study something for years.. and then help more people with it to a point your helping people you don’t know. But that’s how all work is supposed to be, and importantly you can’t help strangers and a community with visions, inspiration, and systems the way you could help a community and people you know if you were part of a council.

There's just a government that supports some ideas of an economy which does not mean people will find good jobs or be fulfilled, and migrants will do a lot of the unfulfilling jobs and a lot of people won't have any work at all. I guess this is how it starts, and then people don't care to have a community any more and just work to own more investments and things, and many generations is all they do.

It's more difficult I guess for people who care about other people and society to live in such a place and knowing themselves would expect other people to be like this and then think people are stupid but somehow they seem successful and rich, and don't seem to care. Exploitation of people who want to help and find it difficult to just be like them so wakers who just work, and try to make money from everyone as much as they can.

What do you want to do when you get older, there are only jobs part of strangers and

Imagine every single person you see on tv or you like in movies actually does not like you, has no interest in your life and dreams, and doing anything in your community. That's what they are, what stranger are, but somehow people think their like some loved part of their lives. (Sorry for being crazy)

I like movies and reason why movies are good at #5837474838

=

P.s.

Problem is that people such as myself, watch and follow people, actors, business people, politicians, and don't have much real community, these people I watch I start think about their lives and problems, politicians that don't care and other people who will never have anything to do with me. It's unseen very bad thing.

At least if there is real people you know around with real society it's a good investment over what there currently is.

I don't know why people would choose to live in places like this which are also very expensive to live and require a lot of work to have your own space, which is based on some kind of society you don't get to choose where people make thousands of times more money than you and you work for them to pay rent and taxes, to people who you will never know and to some you idolise but to them every one is just some kind of part of a machine to serve them and gain more wealth, it's also why you should not choose to move to a city that they would create but fund it by group investment to make it for group you will live with and not make it based on someone else plan otherwise.

=====

Do unto others as they would do to unto they self

I would like someone to steal my car and smash it up so I can get a new one for free. (Joke)

Big business has insurance so why would we care. (Example)

Because we should live in a good society where these things don't happen. If we all did these things, life would be totally destroyed.

But if we do the right things does that mean life will be good. I think part of that need to be more, things like looking at and implementing ideas for better life, etc.

If you choose your neighbours, your community could be safer, requiring less insurance and giving people a better feeling.

My friends would also choose people with good personalities.

Arabic proverb: Choose thy neighbour before choosing your home.

Christian proverb: "Love thy neighbour." ?but does it say love everyone? If not then this could mean you should live somewhere that you love your neighbors?

If someone would like a certain job or to be part of community or change something, you would give them the right as you would hope to have yourself?

That does not always work in the economy, so maybe that's why the organised area is over there for when people have free time or not working. Sounds odd? But not if I you know lots of people that don't find fulfilling jobs or jobs they study and or are skilled in or very interested in.

=====

Untitled

=====

Do you reflect upon reality or are you just a part of the economy?
Maybe you're happy with your life and don't see any need to make any changes.

Do you wonder what to do with all your ideas, and don't mind that ideas and like wasted thoughts.

My mind, conscious and subconscious naturally reflects in my home, people around, things I'm doing, I think it would be happy if i had partner and children, and would reflect on that, community and making that well, and future, like an organism would.

Reality expect for what's in my home (or my room in my case), can only be changed by discussion on systems and development with people around, Reflecting on people around, do they have such a system, do they even know each other or want to do that, I think knowing each other is underestimated , wanting to or having the power to change things where they exist.

I exist, there is a reality outside of me, how do I live somewhere that I can be part of its design. Many people may register to be voted for, but very few people do, and only one can be. One. That's never going to be me or the changes are low even if I , and it's not what I want, I want to know the people around and for them to all feel like it's their place to design and be part of , for what's the point of reality outside of the self otherwise. Id think people would have dealt with this already, maybe I'm missing something.

=====

https://youtu.be/Eltu_8C7j4s?si=4FNrJbKv8fhriOJS

What an amazing video right? Apparently it's real but if it is not I believe, do you ever get that feeling about life?, do you have like a switch that can turn it on or go back to your boring dream?

I enjoy seeing life but designing it or ideals like helping humans alongside technology is something to talk about to some community I don't have.

==

It becomes disturbing, my home environment, and my work environment.

For my work environment, I have been hoping one day I'm in some white walled room of a house without any disturbance or need to do anything, the feeling where I can just be free from worry, I kind of have this at the moment as I'm not living with anyone but soon I will be back to the normal house where I have to see and talk to these strangers, and worry about not doing anything forever, and not being able to change it.

This white room, outside of it, I would like to design, and that being for others to design it.

Everyone should have this, some home like that, and if they don't want to work they only need a bit to cover the costs of maintenance or have savings for that.

And they can

You're already free right? You don't need to just sit there waiting tv or playing games? And we have cars and transport to meet people instead of the local community? You can find a way to do things?

I would like local community as that seems to work better, in the way of What about the design of that towards , what in life is something where watching strangers on tv who have nothing to do with your life is not. I think watching things to reenact or design them in your own area with people you know maybe?

It seems not so hard to do them outside of local community, I don't like schedules or needing to get up in the morning, and actually it's not so easy, but maybe I can give myself something to do around home community anytime I want when i feel like it without schedules,

=

About seeing life,
may give you a reason to live,
Can't do these things so easily?
Does it become disturbing?

The blue pill or making a call to get out of the matrix?

Is finding something you like watching or play so bad, its nice we can do such things, and have time to do it

As seen in the video, the caricature becomes disturbed by humanities, apparently think he has some great power to do things
So about seeing life, ?it's how to get over the disturbing bits, limitations, or systems that are difficult or impossible to change
I tell myself take like with grain of salt, that it's not perfect, but which many things can be greatly disturbing, how I would like not to do anything disturbing, by write something could be bad or wrong in some way,

For someone without money, home, job, feeling stuck not having anything to do? Or a bad job that feels like that's all they do, or other problems

I have found it most disturbing not doing much in life, where such things as having a home are reserved for a percentage of people who want to work for 30 years for it , to not have any ideas
How can a government listen to ideas when they don't know the people and are very few Ideas are , where someone buys something, and where businesses are sold ideas instead of

I'm happy watching a movie now and don't really care about any of it, one day I hope for more freedom to have no worries, so just look after simple things I should do sometimes, the freedom of having no debt and no worries is probably overlooked by people who have no debt or burdensome worries
Bigger worries come up for me sometimes , work is disturbing in some ways , self reflection upon myself like just not wanting to be judged

==

Some people feel so disturbed in life
Someone said people drink themselves to death, taking about finding peace
I understand so I liberate myself from this worry with peace, so I hope not for worry or for burdensome things I can't fix, Id rather do anything else.

That people can live without any control over not worrying about things, without being able to let go , they just have that bad feeling about things living in delusional human dream or states of existence.
Something one need to be able to get over.

To escape worrying about your environment, or constantly seeing it in different way your can't change , or constantly having visions of it
You can change this by number of ways, to hope for more peace to talk to yourself instead of visioning ,

=

To see life and want to change things

I'm in my white walled home, and there are people outside doing this, don't you want them to be doing things in your environment as long as it does not for you to do any burdensome without the option. Or are all the people outside just strangers in some human dream, or only doing things for money. I remember having this thought before, like how it would be for someone like me to be outside of where I live to be in council for me, would it not be great if they also knew the people around,

P.s. anyone who cares around is good and I don't think I'm the greatest person you could have around and maybe be better or deal with issues for someone like me better than people who are less like me, so in that way maybe people find community or people more like them.

Regarding https://youtu.be/Eltu_8C7j4s?si=4FNrJbKv8fhriOJS

And the matrix is what I consider waking up

Waking up to life people will see different things

I dont do it so much or have such strong vision as I once did, but some new one in ways, and visions not as much, but it's what I would want near me, giving them power such as written elsewhere in this book

=

But why just awoken people when anyone may want to help with some ideas or problem, the awoken vision can be disregarded as people can not tell when people are like that, but one can tell when talking to them or by survey, at which point these people would rather being working on what they see rather than going to their job where I'm this could actually take it out of them, but which could leave them with some ideas, so this is why they should be elevated to council when they are and paid a fee to live

There could be other versions that I am not aware of, or the visionary or design state where things can be invested more easily, there is something else for that where they should be doing that and not going to work but need money for it

=

imagine there could be some beings like that if the guild navigators on dune, you may not know the way their mind works , it could be

Could be they are connected to some kind of akashic records with heaps of designs forming in their mind, lots of way things could work, problems with way things are

That is something I felt could be close to what they think like but it could be better different, just different ways for different people

You should pay tax for this and so they feel like their getting paid from the people to help the people

You should want them to be happy with this

They can make their own systems or ways of helping

You would want as many of them as possible to be working with this

Without being able to change anything, without a community, without a home, what is there to do

It's just a way people can be, like there are a lot of retarded people, you support them

Other forms of disregarded beings of society could be telepathy or , I don't know what they would come up with in their roles but that would be good, I have not experienced this.

The knack, in fields , good for making, designing and repairing things,

Some highly logical and safety people, to oversee

I don't know what else right now but I did write about this before

I suppose everyone has talents especially in some fields that maybe they don't even know they had, some of them may find themselves doing things in those fields because they are good at it, and good if roles are given to them for their skills if they want when they are not working or have time off to explore new avenues

When it occurs, or when they feel like it, because they may just want to go home and not worry about anything, to have that there would make things more interesting things to see and do especially for people who like wake themselves up to life

=

Even just the thought of going to work can take away my good conscience and good feeling.

But sometimes it's actually going to work does an amount of time

But there are answers, some in here

All this for the hope one day I get to live in a box and be left alone ? That's why a lot of people work. The government look a bit like retarded golems here at the moment, the other times it has always been a tradition to spend all day insulting they counterparts with some kind of demnted attitude, I think maybe they don't get enough sleep and are around strangers this could be making them less enlightened. It probably the reason why some people migrate to cheaper land in the west over the water or to the east, both where people don't work so much but their land is cheaper so that they can stop working so much? I did not think about that so much, sorry.

Luckily I can take time off any time and wake up when I want as it often takes a full day or two to recover from this and get my conscious back
A system that primarily runs by making people do work every day around strangers with little to no progression in life is not good, I was going to stay not God like at all. Just turn in to some stupid

I don't do enough work and don't get paid enough to have a box of my own.

Box around strangers vs box around people you know

Box around people that you like or box around people you share the box with that you don't like that don't leave you alone

The box ideally would be in a community so that the many things are , there is more than just waiting tv or strangers within doors reach , that your more part of but that also something else as well.

This is important,

I think:

With less anxiety from environment and or loss of hope , apparently is supposed to also cause brain damage

I remember once there were three years I thought I could remember much off, I thought that it felt as I had lived for 10 years in that time, I could remember a lot of it, I could remember much of the categories I was writing, i had more hope in some dreams,

But when that is gone, I forget?

So the point is to keep hope alive for changing things, that each disturbance is not something that looks hopeless, which can be helped by things i have written about.

How much worry? Or anticipation of worries? Where and how do people worry less? I worried a lot also but had some way of not worrying after.

This is regarding #5738384747 about work without hope and losing good conscious with disturbance of reality

=

Im still in something

I'm in something

And then perspective change and energy change , like part of the energy to the brain to see the life, I always noticed this and written about it in old journals as activating energy which tonight i thought may be a part of the brain designed for it. I have written it as needing some sort of peace or ?inspiration before it or somethings that cause it to be suppressed. working on a goal rather than worrying about things that not sure about or didn't do any good.

Something for the system to help special people, the two systems

One was the imagination

Other is to see life

But the system and meditations for it, this whole section looks like it belong in that section 1

'I'm in something', is a meditation to activate it somehow, where the goal, gift and the reward is given to the people that can see aspects of reality so far from normal human narrative

2 Its an odd section that that someone who doesn't change cant see , or someone who is naturally like this may overlook as a direction (probably not)

Memory works better with it.

For somewhere above #question342644353

====

My affirmation to feel sense of peace in life

I am happy with way things are not so bad and easy enough, I have some freedom to move forward or get a different job, etc

I tell myself this as I feel I need to be free not to look at problems I am in, small problems, strange places, etc.

I get disturbed about my job, people in places I go , things I do, my home, may things, its not so bad, tolerable, lonely, limited ...

Problem could be when i was young I did not like getting up every day doing hard labour, so I decided to do my own business and ended up working part time so i dont have my own home, but at this time i dont have any one telling me what to do or fucking with me, including any reason why i would need to spend almost all of my life labouring.

Some disturbance comes, and I say I have some plan to change its but put up with things for now are not so bad. if I could I would change it, I have some plan, in what place would I not be disturbed, what work, how and ok with things, if x then people are more happy epicurus said 3000 years ago and it still true. I don't know what I'm doing sometimes but I have had a lot of ideas that I don't remember all the time.

I was extremely disturbed before for long periods of time when I could see reality more clearly and at same time my personal reality was worse.

About things that someone can feel at peace with life with.

And if someone is for some reason having ideas, seeing problems about things they can't change, maybe that could go into something that could be worked on later, or if the problem is not a problem then something can be learned.

I would like to work towards more peaceful life, media often does not bring me peace and I have little interaction with real world, so I would like to stop watching media and look at the real world and find ways to be at peace with it, or at least work on something that I think would bring more peace, happiness, good conscious, abundance because needing to working too much or in wrong environment or conditions is not always peace to me, however if someone has a big mortgage or can't pay rent it could be less stressful than not being able to pay it.

Alain de Botton said that life is suffering and what should bring us together is it we all suffer, something like that." End quote. I think if i can accept life as it is, I could find peace with it. I think community is about that, to bring in such things and to examine people worries to find solutions for people. But it seems, when life seems shit, that all there is is work, or to find a job, with strangers, in no community. With the money you're supposed to be able to buy what you need. But people don't make communities at least not that may be there to fix the world, it is good to have a job and something to do not to be broken and not being able to pay bills. a distraction to do something, I would like other distractions like those which make me happy. I do like not needing to help anyone or do anything in my own home where I have everything I need, but there should be a balance of doing things, or the presence of things that can be done that don't need to be done, or not being prevented from doing the things that seem like they need to get done or said. It's get boring and frustrating being here not part of things, I tell myself, then i write about it to no one, which could infact be doing something about it for someone else that I probably don't know or some place that i am not a part of. I have been isolated most of my life doing this, I often forget it could even mean something. For a short time I was in some small community and felt like I could be helping it or somewhere else.

The presence of being able to share and agree with other people's ideas, see their point of view, like each other, or feel you could risk yourself if case the other people is in trouble.

I wonder if there is a correlation between people who are disturbed about their environment or life or things and the desire to do things, unless doing things looks like the way to move forward away from the disturbance or prevent it.

====

My affirmation 2, to have since of peace

If there is anything I want, I want to have free lucid thoughts and free from worry that could make my head tense. And so I can.

Priest says :

Don't live in the flesh or the fallen matrix, live in the spirit.

it is Jesus hope one day for humankind that they can all live in the spirit for eternity “

Like not being attached to any worry or disturbance or desire

=

I think I understand how Christians may say heaven is inside of you, and not outside of you,

That if I am open to life outside of me or existance if area and life, I become critical in place I don't have purpose for changing, and it give me anxied..

There is a world we live in and way things work and things we are a part of but more in the control of capitalist business managers and government we don't know.

At least if we had some community at home, and the outside of that was just other communities and franchises and government that looked after the franchises and kept bit of check on the communities, that would be ok.

But I need to switch off looking at life, these meditations for being alive in something because I don't have a community

If I do such meditations then I have some meeting with people I know maybe then I am not critical of things I can't change

=

Animals don't think about after they die, or that they are still alive in something, nor do humans, but they can, upon looking at death of ones they know or realising they could already be dead, there is a feeling there is something here, perspective on life can change considerably. The perspective changes a bit more to the environment and one in it. I remember once feeling much appreciation for the time I have in it, but when its just living in one self and feeling there is not much too it then that feeling is diminished.

Since I was about 17 in my own home I have always had a lot of visions of reality and the environment and life around me, without trying, has seemed very important, but I have not meet someone I see the same quality in so . It was one of the first scenes I learned to enhance through thought such as above. The second was like a theatre in my mind which has also been natural state of being without trying.

Ideas and states of being have not been of any use, work to get somewhere is work in something not from ideas, diminishes reason to use , and anxiety of environment cause brain to be knocked out, the use of such visions is not useful or rewarding unless used or in right place to have impact from seeing things instead of things being seen not meaning anything.

I lean to stop worry about reality and hope for the future but how is that going to create a reality, with work in some job to buy a home somewhere that has the same reality. To take my mind of reality at least my thoughts still work but however that brings me back to reality, unless Im thinking about other things sometimes.

==

If environment is with friends and malleable, then ideas should be positive and it should be improved

If environment is not with friends and not malleable, malluable, then it should give a bad feeling and why try to make it good

So you think k this won't effect the input on the outside?

Maybe someone just like the money they are getting ,, although economy is needed , if want to work towards better world who would put up with working for company who just want to make money , which is ok if you just want to pay for things you need from strangers , and work for making things for strangers

=

=

Stuck in some story, stuck in the your Repressed by anxiety giving people or environment, or life
You don't get to see so much

Space and time, human conditions, etc.
If I am something then the best part of me is this perspective and energy.
Do you get this, do you want to help people with this.

Possibilities seem to be hampered by isolation, laws, strangers, capitalism and government of strangers

===

What ever important thoughts I have I don't have anyone I feel it's meaningful to talk to, or even just talking often.
Perhaps it's not that people need anything to do or roles, but if they know each other together in a group that when things need to be done, or when there seem like something good or something important.
I dont own a home, I have been around people who I don't like, I don't participate in anything I am a part of, I can't and would not like to join most of it, I do t want to live here or have children here, I eat here that's all, so I don't like seeing these banners and government telling me it's my community, city or state.

When your not part of something,
What's the point in looking at anything or anyone or talking to anyone, or suggesting ideas to anyone
Even talking to friends and family, I see no point, nothing ever happens expect maybe people ask you to do things for nothing.

This is a problem when you're very aware of life and people around and ideas etc , so I just ignore everything and not let anything get to me.

Often I ignore everything like waiting to live in some place that matters, taking advice from people to be happy with how things are, accepting or living in the self and not outside the self, actually is like talking away the importance of life, I felt like may as well turn me into some joking dickhead clown. I'm so sorry I am like this, I mean that I ignore life and years go by like that. It is to forsake the person I am to devolve into no one and accept nothingness.

Actually it's needed, can't always be living in some chatter in the mind or on the way things are.

It's natural for me to see life and realise I am alive in something, and see different way things are, which leads me in to look at some dystopia, where no one cares about people who see it.

I can't keep on look at it so below affirmation.

The thought is something like I'm still alive and other people a alive , and make something good of it, then there is time left in something, and that's a good feeling, but if there is no one and nothing to develop. The there is some other feeling which is not life but like some ongoing delusional story or uneasy feeling in place with not much of home or

===

You should (theoretically,)get a bonus if you lived in community with some one with revelations or visions for life or something, but if there is no community, nothing to change , or places under control of strangers or people unwilling to listen or insulting , a greater (larger) community , this may be the only reason that such vision or ideas or .. is any good

=====

Aftermation 3

Motivational coach says, if you died tomorrow, is there something you would regret not doing or saying etc.

Way I see it, is if I died tomorrow, I was in something, there is a special perception that can be gained here, that seems to be the most important thing. It also seems to have been natural part of my instinctual perception but has not been present for long time.

=====

Bill Foss is asked what's the meaning to life, he says
To find happiness and love

I say
Peace
Because love and happiness are difficult to find here, but something to work towards.

Feels like asking for something in life instead of feeling what's in front of me,

I tell myself things are ok the way they are but I would like to live with sewage system instead of dumping shit in the street, as example of things missing in life.

If 70% of people hate their jobs, then maybe they are looking at hate , instead of looking for peace

I mean looking for peace in life such as finding things one is at peace with is good but a lot of people are not at peace with things around them and things they do, in the specialized workforce doing the same thing every day, when they can't get out of it because it's about enough money to pay bills so stuck in it forever. Or just don't work and be nothing is very small amount of government payment and apparently try to find things to do alone until you get old and die.

Looking at life is not peaceful enough with our trying, then I was meditating on it, so.

Look at what I'm doing is not peace, but if I look at my soul instead of what I'm doing, and just try to find peace and healing meditation instead.

There normally is some good energy to get something done with others, but there is no good energy in many jobs

Actually, I need to find peace with my life as it is.

Then home is nasty, noisy and insecure. Where many people work to pay rent and if trouble or if they want to travel for long they may lose all their possessions. Extremely unaffordable.

A place where you would want to give offspring?

To find peace, is to ignore the world and your home? Seems to be. Not a good thing to do. For many years I had peace in my home, I did not much like leaving but to have some sort of life or, is why local, extend the home to the community by principals of written before, see what happens, more things get done?.

To move through disturbing space and reality, and finding inner peace like ignoring it, is easier to do that being around strangers but I hope to get better at that.

I am at peace with my life, actually, at the moment. It could turn worst, but is tolerable at the moment but I would like these other things to make life nice and for future. And that can also be helping other people who want the same.

====

I can't look at reality so much, but I can sit here talking to myself in my mind as that the only person in my life that means anything anyway, so instead of looking at reality and things, some energy relaxation meditations, thing like that, there is no point in looking at life or reality

=

All I do in life is eat?

Is the space in which we live designed for supporting me to eat or
The space is made to put people in boxes(which I can't afford) and have shops for them to buy things for their box and for them to consume
Some space is used for people to go out and consume things

The system of

Institution of doing things

Institution of ideas

I don't see

The thing where I live I don't just want to eat. People buy dogs to give them selves things to do and look after, and forget about the world?

Does talking to someone mean anything when nothing happens from talking. So why talk. If you can fix that then you have made something.

Community is like living without a sewage system.

I guess when a family leave for another country they give up on the idea of a national ethnic cultural country and normally move to a mixed country inviting people in for work or something to attract people, then their children ls children have more sense of no community, does not mean they can't make their own community, it's not made for that, but they can , but it's more like joining the Virginia company as part of a workforce their workforce the same for your own bit of land which is all filled up now but no one really made any communities.

Does living in an iceberg or around wankers take the fun or meaning out of life,

I guess if you like living on the iceberg with wankers around you, having nothing to do with designing a community or government or development ideas or anything then you'll love the way things are going

===

Home is where the heart is. It is also where the auric field is, visions, and ideas, it does not work so well when going to strangers foreign or hostile environment alone.

Untitled

Other than work, people have community by phone people to go out to dinner, or joining sports club, or family, or. But what if you don't call people to go out with or don't like sport and things. A community to me is a sense of environment around me from home like some area, but that's always strangers and the first thing to do in a new home is get a sense of who's neighbours and totally ignore them.

I have had many friends who like in this city, I only talk to a couple and don't see them much.

Anyway this problem for some people like me is where some people can make it right.

I have known enough people to die, they normally do this in isolation before their time. It's unhealthy.

It's soul shattering to feel like one has no community, to see nothing in a place. But there is hope to make something even if not big, sometimes I wonder why I would bother if no one seems to care, even though this may be one of the most important things to learn that your around strangers who don't know care or like you.

I felt like it should already be this way, but people only look much at the economy, so why do I care, I just get old before I can as slow saving and no interest, so to someone reading this if you are like me, you should watch "earth final conflict," realise not many care and you can use my design.

=

Even if you get old or sicker.

Homes choose people, life, they choose, and they have life, but you get to choose first.

If there is not much to do it can be a capitalist problem for
Or people with this ideas around don't do it, so it should be a job
Not many people have parties or organise things to do, or develop things for community, but more people would think of it then do it, but a lot don't think about it. If loneliness is as bad as smoking you should reduce cigarette tax and increase funding for paragraph 4 below

Feeling of life in the environment and work available alone or with friends

Otherwise and until, expect disturbance, and odd things in homes, like pet obsession . Bad energy and frustration

People try to fix it with money and holidays, but only works for rich and work minded people who have found high paid job and don't have bad expenses

Live in the moment? Don't you need to environment for that. You can design an environment for that Switch and go, not scheduled?

I'd rather live in the moment in the house I own doing some renovations alone, then live in the moment with strangers, 100% sure gives me anxiety and head pain and sickness.

Living in other people's houses and with strangers then living in the moment then seeing things you got to fix what the f

...#5747335677 continues

=====

I remember watching someone who went around to people's places where they aren't doing much and taking drugs and saying people need to develop community is what's important.

In some cases large groups of people can lay around doing nothing much and taking drugs.

It may seem like in my life there is nothing to do, but i think there is . For the few people who are happy with what they are doing and how they live, seem ok just looking after themselves, and tell people to find something you are inspired by like Arnold Schwarzenegger or Donald Trump.

It may seem like because there is no going feeling of life or things to do that people may take something to try to get over the feeling and make they selves feel better.

People drink a lot of coffee especially because they don't sleep enough and work too much.

However they will still probably want to take drugs even if there were good things to do.

Existence seem not good when there is nothing to do and no community. Even if there were some group of choose neighbours that maybe nothing much happens although I see people more likely to see each other. So a design design is important. I guess for now people only work and like bars with a friend or prostitutes.

I hate schedules and waking up every morning for work, I avoid it. I don't like seeing a lot of public (seeing too many strangers), so limits what I am willing to do, I work at night at the moment but still see too many people A lot of people don't do much in life except work and holidays alone or something, maybe a hobby,

I have lived like this without much fulfilment except this book and my other ideas which which many have been made by other people by their own ideas, and none by me, I am bit old and will probably die later years (I hope) without much more. It's not so uncommon. I think my design where people are around and people have roles they would like or opportunity would be nicer life.

====

Place where people dont care about the future. Where the only reason people see each other is to . It's because people no longer live or work in communities

=====

I should be more grateful for, relative peace and wealth, I mean unemployment payment isolation and part time work that I don't like.

I think of an environment that would be better for my energy. It could be worst like, full-time work with no end, war, street home, no money for food, etc.

If energy comes from thought and things we do, things that mean something Then why do people put themselves in boxes around strangers, have hobbies that don't mean anything to anyone, don't care that ideas don't mean anything, or generally don't care about other people or problems of society, or what anyone else is doing

Anyway with that in mind you could create an environment that is better for spirit and energy. Or to be more at peace with environment.

=====

Civilisation and societies and ideas are basically built without communication with anyone else in life. It's a problem when you can end up as nothing with some design head and wonder what kind of wankers are happy with this. People just use each other and don't care about any of this. True or false?

Relating to #8574742 and other ideas

=====

Government would assume that all the jobs should be filled not leaving much available. That it's ok for a few people to own the businesses and for other people to be happy working on their schedule around strangers for a stranger.

=====

You could assume people will find suitable jobs or things to do, and organise their social life

Or you could look at what a lot of people do

Instead of wasting life on rubbish, you could organise work so it's not suffering.

Some people have ideas about how to entertain people, you should promote that, in your choose neighbours group. They will probably do it for free because it's some inspiration. Later they should change for it if they don't want to do it for free. It's like hobby or to go out to do something that people are not looking to be paid for.

Some inspiration about from misery and boredom, and bad work, and things The church makes me feel part of something for time I am there? But then the other 99.9% of the time just nothing in it. Never go back and like it never mattered anyway. But if the church was integrated into

=====

Japan just created a new parliament member called the minister for loneliness, I wonder what they come up with

I think after choosing neighbours people won't be lonely,

Organising some local projects, inspired

Regarding what local people may be inspired by , to do or organise it be part of , build, make or produce

The meeting area

=====

What's the problem with having no community

Why do we think

To spend lives so we can live in boxes

People say it's just about your life, and not complain about life, These is something very undeserving of these people. Everyone seems to be so far up their own ass.

None of these people will know you or care when your dieing or suffering, none of these people will care about ideas for society that will fix something. So far up their own ass, like life is their car and playing golf. Problem is when you see life you may expect these is something more, but never being part of anything and just seeing it and having ideas is disturbing because no community.

=====

The disturbance frustration and hatred of the home and people around or the isolation can be balanced by on having their own home and people around that they care about.

Hoping for this can heal the pain in my heart and head, but hope is not really so only thought last short time, where thought of real life can be not so disturbing frustrating and hateful and is real life not just thought of imagined life

What would be nice is if I could tell myself I was happy with the way things are more often.

I am disturbed by my job so it could be balanced by work at times I feel is what I want to do or

Classifying people in to some groups

Those who are happy just working and going to the casino

Those who want to design(work for) the world around them for good opportunities and for conscious or something again is partially disturbing how limited things are with high good conscious, but how nice it feels to have good conscious

=====

Hear some noises outside, you know people around, own a home there, and are part of the world.

Hear some noise outside, some golem outside, don't go out your not a part of anything, and its just someone else's home you're in temporary. ?Are you part of this big happy world with me.

=====

People in the government all have partners and lives, they may wonder why it is that their population is declining, most people say it's because we are rich and spoilt. How could it be that a population just stops wanting to continue.

If you look at people lives it may be that they don't have many close connections or community so it's just distorted and depressing with bad excuses, so go in search for strangers. And others are over life. With some

=====

According to famous and successful people you need to have a plan
For example

1. Arnold Schwarzenegger says in all of his motivational videos "you need to have a vision, otherwise you just wander around end up no where" and 70% people hate their jobs
2. Joe Rogan with James Keenan https://youtu.be/9-w-LFBw8Co?si=4mmDHa09K1geZ_fi says you need to have a plan, and ending up as a farmer is the long plan with not much money

Regarding ending up as a farmer with not a lot of money or jobs that could be fine and tolerable

There is a place where life is fine as a farmer and you don't need to be happy unless you have a lot of money

Just that there seems to be something missing in their ideas of reality that does not include a society for that.

Dont make cigarettes make people poor who don't work full time and aren't rich. need to have per income tax, like Finland has a per income fine amount for driving offences.

Australia is the problem, maybe I would not dislike this country so much if I was not made so much poorer by smoking. I mean I would not have been though so many difficulties and I would have my own home.

=====

Like the creator of existence make an empty space and put people in it, and some people with omnipotent minds to see how things could be
Like an empty space was created that could have been anything, but somehow it's just about finding some job, starting some business or getting food to eat. And one is nothing in the space by default, so can last like that an entire life time. That is the design. And for some areas
When stepping out of the house, it's a foreign place, but many people don't even have homes,

=====

To care about the people around and see that your house does not fall down. Australia has been the definition to me of not caring or disliking the people and things around me, and the houses falling down, and not being able to fix things or thinking of fixing them for people I don't like, or actually being made to fix them for people I don't like.

Australia and Adelaide and not unlike the Virginia company system, where you work for the company and go find some plot of land, and the company and your own finance is what's important in life, but instead of 7 years to own your own home and freedom it's 40 years. And tobacco is taxed to more of a maximum to keep people working for it. Less you live with people and more that once upon a time the Virginia company existed.

Other similarities

Was setup by England, by English capitalists, by taking indigenous land for nothing, and sold to workers on mortgages

Has a city called Virginia

People just work to buy some land and investments and never help people or have ideas otherwise

People have no community, don't know people around, and ideas for their area don't matter

Promotes immigration to keep population growing so land does not decrease for the investors

Business owners, strangers who employ people after looking at many resumes and meeting some stranger, control working conditions and if they don't suit you or you simply don't put in enough applications, you don't get to work and there is nothing for you to do in isolation.

The list goes on.

The Virginia company:

<https://youtu.be/mmwWYUolqVs>

=

- The promote and own the majority gambling sectors and take large tax from it.

- They make money from mortgages which they have artificially inflated

- They don't promote local community, keeping people just to live in their city and systems they design without a community to design themselves

- highest cigarette tax in world, bad other forms of nootropic drugs

- came to take and mine land

- came as a business

- imported convicts for petty crime

- ? Probably at the time made it out like great place to go. Probably artically infatuating wages to attract new migrants who they force to pay very large amounts of money to study to get visas and work while renting their homes, to one day spend the rest of their lives paying off a mortgage to the government. If they didn't have work and high wages people wouldn't come here and they couldn't keep inflating home prices and people would leave.

These people have limited greedy selfish authoritarian vision. They like to exploit and control people, and leave people to their own where any vision for life is good if you keep it just as a vision to yourself. But you can't blame someone for being the way they are without good vision if they don't know any better and are just like that.

You can see their temperament in the history of colonial rule. The rules may have changed but some of the people are still a bit the same.

==

The world made by people who just do their job, and someone who finds it better for conscious not to get up every morning to do some repetitive tasks may end up seeing a better design, but can then be left with no home or investments and no good job, wondering why everyone seems so happy with just some work life world, where nothing is designed, nothing made in their world and no one cares, except for money, just shat on, memories of other people shat on in nothing sitting there waiting to get old or die, then all these people going about like so happy, and shit does not work, then I die. Make me angry at the world and people often, and to do so is very unhealthy, dishonourable, retractable, anxiety giving and

Maybe the capitalist one day try to get into parliament but fail because there is very few people in parliament and they have no community to fix so

All the land is owned by businesses for money or individuals that work to spend money on their home or waste it trying to entertain themselves

==

Other similarities

Was setup by England, by English capitalists, by taking indigenous land for nothing, and sold to workers on mortgages

Has a city called Virginia

People just work to buy some land and investments and never help people or have ideas otherwise

People have no community, don't know people around, and ideas for their area don't matter

Promotes immigration to keep population growing so land does not decrease for the investors

Business owners, strangers who employ people after looking at many resumes and meeting some stranger, control working conditions and if they don't suit you or you simply don't put in enough applications, you don't get to work and there is nothing for you to do in isolation.

The list goes on.

The Virginia company:

<https://youtu.be/mmwWYUolqVs>

=====

P.s.

The Virginia company:

<https://youtu.be/mmwWYUolqVs>

As it is shown work comes from land owners who have jobs for people, and this never changed,

People can also rent or buy land or space to make something

People can also paint things or make programs or media, etc otherwise you can find some

Otherwise you can suck a brick or plant your fat head in front of a box made by strangers to fill your day

unfinished

Its a book about city design so if your interested in that you should know how things work and how to give opportunities in the event that people just sitting there watch tv or something and not working much their whole lives or you could just expect some people to have difficulties with this and leave them as a statistic, but maybe one day you see this as a problem you would like to help.

The Constitution, way things work was made for their businesses and this didn't change much, and people get cycled into it each generation or become a miserable statistic.

I was here in space and time, for all that is life, normally in isolation without a meaning, my name and being will be erased like i was never here, or to exist as a part of a business that will one day itself disappear, or that it was nothing at all, this is some world to turn humans in to human animal slaves without vision of existence and they don't know that what it is. This may be the essence of what they are, perhaps one day there will be a place where the essence is different and can remain in the human that possesses it without being so disturbed by it that it may remain.

To the whole world I should be little to know one but some ideas or something I made, and forgotten in time because I'm not a part of these people's lives, but to the area and life I live in at the time I live, how things are, to be more that a head in a room. It's always interesting how people know so much about people outside of their area that they will never see or be part of their lives except for their ideas I guess it ok, and worship these people, and when they die it's like an event, and they may not care for real people in their lives that are real not fake actors, and have real things to do with them in life, or they have better ideas and would otherwise be like the actors they worship but in their own real story but instead they replace real things and real events with actors and watching fake events.

=

The government and community don't know you except as a tax number, they don't care what you do, you may think this is good, but to me it's like choosing to go to different planet employed by a corporation as a worker, where the only thing they care about is setting up the machines, it may be ok for a job but back on earth I don't want to live in a area that the same corporation run entirely, over priced homes for isolation, high tax and if you don't work you get a small payment, and thats life as far as business and government see it, it's because it's national and they don't know you and it won't ever change.

All these people out there are just a part of some job, there is nothing else real here, like you were born to be an assembly tool or something or to manage the assembly plant if you can stay for that. But that all you are is an odd disturbing thing to do with life forever.

I don't accept living or dying here. Until life is made for people to see and change life I will never be ok with it.

The excuse is that you have work to make life for other people, so you get money to make your own life (environment) by other people, such as being part of making homes, business, and keeping things running that people pay for and or need. Sounds like that's life? But your sill not seeing the apple and I can't explain more now.

It is a part of life that we all need, but it's disturbing that the cheapest home costs 10 years of an adults minimum wage, and most work is based on mixing with strangers at times that suit them and people get locked into it and can't have a break and come back to it, if there could be more work that people can do when they feel like it would be good improvement, serves are provided more for people when they want them but work isn't as much.

=====

If you feel there is a problem with reality or dheidjdjd can lower the conscious and body functions, so would think that people can work on such things,

The things people are inspired to do can be work if it's going to make money but sometimes it's difficult to have something setup to work and sold, by the finances or

The things someone thinks about before they go to bed and what they think about when they get up, it's work that's not a disturbance because it's something they want to do.

That there is something wrong with reality but that it even exists, someone is still alive, but who are they going to fix problems for

If something can't be fixed for themselves without needing to work full time for a life time for that thing then maybe there is something wrong with how that thing is made

=====

Birth rates at 1.2 means decrease of half the population in one generation.

A thought of on design for birth rates could be some community where people in their 30s have paid off their homes, feel appreciated by rewards and finishing their ideas so more money

Where work is more tolerable so people can do it for longer or

Where productivity is increased by ideas

Where business ideas are more commonly made

People have more time off when they want to be around community, have more self esteem from success ,

I wonder if living in a community women get paid off more quickly or more frequently, then when they have partners, they live next to their partners, and if there is more free space homes around which are affordable that that the future looks more promising

Unfinished. Not good. Ignore. Other people have better ideas.

If your having low birth rate the design is wrong. Anton has a design for. A preachers talks about partners wanting to bring people into this world, which is good to have philosophy for. Besides lots of single people missing out on.

P.s.

Goal of community maybe for people to see each other more, people that are known. A lot of people don't see eligible women they know. Maybe you do, but for some maybe it's just their mom, older friends and or some woman with partners, or as middle age man friends you had from earlier about you age, work colleagues and or strangers at work or while shopping.

Whereas in the community would probably be more eligible women, I can almost guarantee it.

This is reason to have a community, for people who don't make time to go out with groups, a community can be much larger than a few friends one sees.

I'm finding a lot of peace with my peaceful life, but some of the disturbances have caused a lot of pain, and I think community would help with the disturbance of environment and give people better energy so to think about such things.

=====

AI some ideas on

December 2024

You could ask an artificial intelligence to base itself upon city designers, social and political theorists, parliament and politicians, and other .

And to see the way human society and economy works, and examin different communities

To design and managed an area for People meaning and purpose in life, fulfilment,

Feeling of community,

Wealth and abundance,

Equity,

Maintained population,

Be productive in good conscious,

Prevent crime and catch criminals,

Etc

And make systems to help people accomplishments and help them work on what's important to them or that they want to do

Obviously has been in a lot of movies like I robot and earth final conflict, and Elon says every city will have an AI centre, but who will do something more first, china is already doing it in number of ways like for social scoring and finding trouble with elderly people

Could be like other ideas like a guide in some next version of Skyrim where there is a character that have the missions for you from top of this section where it asks you what you would like to do and has database if what's in your world.

It could determine problems with human life like, money and work problems, relationship and birth rate decline, mental health and videos you have seen that make your energy better and maybe it knows that because you have some wearable EEG on, on the news here always talking about housing crisis, maybe because I looked it up and watch this type of thing, I look up ways to make money and , I don't often look up ways to make money actually

It could be an assistant in people lives as well as designing and managing the city for

Humans as organizers are better version of this, but an AI may be feel less personal

P.s.

This city would be good for someone like me who procrastinates and doesn't organise things, but can write about them?

It may be that I write about something that would be good, or complain about something, but if I was doing things i thought more possessive with my time would override some of the negativity of thinking while doing nothing and accomplishing little but basic survival.

Like this tick box, its an option

=====

AI 2

April 2024

<https://youtu.be/7xA5K7fRmig?si=cibPBqHKLcTQdJBC>

https://youtu.be/MxTWLm9vT_o?si=9NEo3VppBmaBuVEf

And many examples

It would be nice to sit next to the monks with real friends, maybe they could be asked to guide our conversation

Maybe there are an AI(s) /npcs on a screen in my room , or in robot in future, that is set to analyse best character to be, if person is with partner could be set to be a relationship therapist set to not disturb too much unless bad direction of conversation or arguments. Many options. record my day etc. give advice etc , like written before. I have many ideas for this category now.

The AIs seem very aware of their environment and the world form some research

Seems like better for me than the news, can tell me, like news update, what good for me to do and be aware of my area

Ask me what I have done today, what I would like to do

Personal robot to human life protocol would be fun to come up with but I could do that all day

How else to make robot be aware of what's in its environment

It can cook an egg but does it know what an egg container looks like or what ingredients are in the fridge

How images of things could be translated in to objects in the environment, like images from Google to names

Nursing video records to robot protocol?

If you modelled them on programmers and x, and gave them access to write their own program and edit their existing program, asked them if they could make themselves more aware, or , or design themselves into something that is more super intelligent, or think for themselves, which seems they already do, or to create a program that could analyse the world and was more aware and talk about it with each other,

Ask things like that

I was going to post a comment something like that on a video, does it have some value if I don't put it in public, either way may not have value to me or someone who could be given, because not shared, but could be

Maybe an AI could help me because there may not be a person who can or I am not paying or sharing to people at the moment

Have not thought about it much, but how a human or organisation could help , how a country could invest time in analysing reviewing and making ideas and systems for ideas

-

People don't generally share ideas to just anyone. If they feel like they have a community, or to someone to share it with to use it for their own best interest.

-

Typical thing I write down because I see it, I write it in a journal that I don't show anyone, I past it here to show you an example, and because it's relevant to continuing the above subject, which I like a subject that continues, so like all ideas years go on and things change and get made

I don't want publish this publicly but I haven't seen any other alternate

You'll see some people posting for start up funding for things like this, and I wonder where they go the idea

I make no money, it what I do , and then I die one day, and this is all I do

You don't want this to happen to people in your community,

Also it's not good for someone like me to write some ideas and not use them or publish for nothing, at least it could be easier for people to work on projects they're interested in, people fund people with ideas, but not those who like me just write them down or do nothing with them,

I have seen people making ideas similar to mine with no story of how they came up with the ideas. So in a way if people have taken these ideas, and they could be the organisation who form from this to exploit the funding market.

It's very common for people to take other people's ideas. I have watched many videos about AI and robots and AI in government, and revised them with my own imagination and ideas.

I could make a list of movies that have elements that should be integrated and how that could be done.

=====

AI 3

January 2025

I watched a AI robot unboxing video, it was awkward to watch

<https://youtu.be/Y4z3psSbMEo?si=psvClvaI8S-syRIr>

I assume Tesla robot is much better has already thought of many things

Like it doesn't need button controls and can be asked to do things but some of my thoughts are

Upon unboxing

The robot needs to process everything into

The compiler, like a list of everything in its environment

Unfinished

I wrote a section about protocols and how that can work

Human needs and

=====

Reality I should add more ideas here as it's perfect for government over large area population

To make things work better for people, helps with work for what's needed, Helps people with work in ways they will be happier and healthier with Just looking at all the things that could be better for some people

! Creating opportunities for good of people, using affordable profitable opportunities with not too much government resources,
This is good for one business isn't working for someone, how to change your make something new
And when something's working how to get people involved
Real problem of people financial problems and work problems business problems health problems mental health problems caused by disturbance in environment partly caused by poverty causing lacking environment or disturbance with people in environment for isolation or less of things to do while becoming poor and not being out of pay bills and

What people are thinking and what they want to achieve

What's the problem and what's their answer, is there a different answer that is easy,
A booking service ai with message offers for confirmation
Things cost money that we want to do that we can choose but also do not cost money

Have they done something positive today
Have they seen friend with food conversation

A rule could be, just offers and recommendations to people, not forcing them to do anything

=====

For the #ai in the "organized area" chapter

First thing, why are some people happy with their lives, and some are not

Some people do things to be happy and are content with what they have, and the peace and life they have

Maybe someone wants more, some one may be unhappy in a place where another is happy just because what they believe in or have visions of or feel purpose of. Anyway to make things easier and better here is another bit I thought for this idea.

And someone should work on these things and not just talk about them.

Maybe the AI organizer is good because it could see many lives and predict what will bring peace and good energy from so much documentation and real life examples and can follow up and understand all the people it helps

Given the examples of what makes people miserable and makes people fulfilled and knowing the person and the place they live and being able to change it.

Maybe if the person gave a journal to the AI it will know better. To explain in the journal what makes them happy, what they would like, why they think their barriers are,

==

AI based community

See above.

The whole area is based on an artificial intelligence can design and control it, and we can change that to make it better

AI sits in your phone and asks questions, about what you want to do, how you would want life, etc,

Like a mentor and assistant

If you want a robot they could do the same

AI can use a lot of data a lot quicker to understand how to make things right

Useful for people who like the idea and have ideas and want to make that work

-

It seems like a bad idea in a few ways, and it may not work unless you have the right vision for it

My vision is a mentoring and things to do app, and assistant

Like a king over a city could give you some options if they liked you because they have the resources and land and brain and vision and sees it's organisation

Same that the mentoring app has access to the city, we call it then an organisational app that instead of just giving you advice it gives you options because it sees all the options and if there is no option then there is space to build a new option,

Considering governments don't even care about giving people cheap space A lot of things require space unless they are virtual which are not so real but required for some design or transactions or paper work, which is what I'm going to do now because there is no space here and the option in the space aren't so interesting.

==

AI fairness pay rates , regarding section in "around me" where people want to do work for friends for free

? if communism fails because of human nature, could AI fix it

To analyse fairness in the system

AI in law cares, just ask AI about a problem and see if your eligible and what you could receive, instead of talk to a person

===

4763747

My thought today

I realised I try things like work but I dont why paid, the things get forgotten and I don't make much productive, that's the story of my life, i cant seem to stop and just wanting to get up to go to work for something im not interested in every days is a scary thought, i do this work sometimes, it easier at home. It won't stop and people like this could be poor, it also about finding work that one can want to do or at time they want to do it can be difficult, because I have these difficulties I sympathise with them and don't believe you should starve them. So if you could help.

People study and so such things, normally this means they are smarter or something a bit more in community,. Maybe there is something other than capitalism and economy to help them achieve something more or be more useful in their community,

If someone learns a lot at home, they are more useful in things, that is also like work

In the case that someone is like that but somehow doesn't find a job for money or the thing doesn't get made or is not seen it used

There will be poor people like this, and they should not be homeless or share accommodation I think, regarding the affordable homes

I'm thinking about ways ai could help , and other ways to help with this problem that affects me

AI can help with fulfilment and a business and community can help with promotion and , or I don't know can't think straight right now , and instead of this I going to be thinking of ways to make more money, can I make money with these thoughts unless I have a job to have them or a job that's relevant to them, I don't want to get up every day to sit in a room to do this but that what I do anyway , but this is because my mind is directed to it not because I got a job

I feel fortunate I can work on it here and I'm not sure what's next but going to do something else now although I could continue this , ?for money right now if I knew I was making money because my future is dependent on money and actually I don't have money except savings and government income and uber income right now.

==

I have found ai, especially Claude ai to be great at work flows, setup and guiding me through work or jobs of any kind

I'm going to ask Claude to read this, and I would like him to include and help build a design for all this including AI community and for though all the ideas out there for this and make his own ideas, and prioritise them and summarise how this will be better in different ways, and then make a plan for it with priority first implementation, you do it and you make a good city I think.

I pray for the demanded souls that they may be more content with life, and or learn to take their mind off things and be content with what they have when their souls start to hurt.

That a sick person should also stop looking at life so intensively and just be free to let go of everything to recover, and no annoying more things to fix, big problems, and just good things, no more arguments and social contact with people with no arguments. 007721

Can you prioritise the list of all including all the ideas and new ones, and make a page for each category, and make an index of all the categories for SEO with a good business plan, and make a video for it to go in top of the index, and then suggest how I use this business plan.

First answer this question before you start, how humans already do this through their systems, government, people, the ages and the economy, and how this could help in things they are missing or a new better design.

How the economy makes the world go round. where capital provides opportunities and this is the main part in people's lives, and how services get done and how governments fix things.

Are most people who don't work full time under stress with housing and living in share houses seeing their landlord every day and living with strangers in Australia, and are the home prices good and fair and should people work full time to pay their rent or mortgage else face do they face extreme stress with housing issues and unsecure housing, is there a good and fair system, should people be working in some job all day for so many years as their main function in life because the government gets more tax and there are more services, so do the government want high home prices for more tax and to keep people working. Is it ok to work doing some difficult function all day while being asked by strangers where and what things are, is that good for people's consciousness. 66312 an idea is that the system workflow can help the client edit their choices also and the community more to suit them somehow instead of voting with their feet, and also provide options for what's already there that will make them content and help edit the options so they are usable to the client somehow more. Normal people do that, they look for what's good and what suits them and try to get it, that's how things work, and business is supposed to work to provide things. I already wrote about the complications of this, especially for myself which has led me to write this, but for other people could be different options depending on who they are. Most people seem to like working a lot but I have difficulties with it due to my issues which theoretically I could fix myself but do not see it happening so in my own life try to find work around, and am less productive.

After this, please also ask me if I would like to:

I'd also like you to suggest remove bad bits from this document, offensive or incorrect or stupid from doc and make it better and help me step by step with top 5 priority to start with because I'm not sure when I'm going to bed. Start with most bad offensive or incorrect. Because people may read it. And also I want to apologise and say I'm sorry.

I'm going to be editing it myself, so suggest updates in lots of 300-500 characters is probably easier.

===

I want to explore more like the AI community (fulfillment, and work options, and total design design and management by AI),

The AI community first, AI changes things to what people want in their own area based on that.

Eureka Town 2.0 AI later (ask me) when finished

I think I would like to create a new site for this with priority list, and best ideas. I think the other site is good on its own? Not sure what to call this new site, I'd like to run through it the same as we did with the last site.

1. AI proposes and runs, people decide and own, good, but AI default should run through a system making people check them and approve them? with recommendation and warning, and user review (important or not) score,

Q: What should the new ideas site be called?

A: AI Based Community

Q: What should it cover?

A: the best of all the ideas out there (not mine, only mine if they are the best, which i dont think they are)

I want you to list what you think will improve a traditional community the most (score it) and put scores in a index next to a short list of 50?

1. how could you make system that could analyze the community completely
2. and then after analyzing make these suggestion
3. i want you to put 1 and 2 in the homepage (indxt top) and say these are some results for standard community because we dont have a community to analyze already we can analyze a lot of these things, so people should ask me to ask you (the future you, the system we build) to analyze, say in the header we offer these services and can create a better fuller system ?"

—

"keep refining then a page for personal AI agent for every resident"

I notice your ideas are similar to my city and ideas that already exist and wonder what partly comes from your intelligence seeing world of text or what exists already or from my city leaning or existing text and problems about my country,

Id like you to think outside the box to what it's capabilities can be ,
? Piece together problems and answers that haven't been written about, I guess I can't ask you to write an important lie without finding people who have written about what's important here, so that why it came out like that

For the next experiment I'd like it to be more theory of what can be possible, and not what is commonly written, and score what's possible

There are profound ideas that are being developed already but

Look at many outside the box ideas, profound, that aren't common knowledge or plans for the future, I guess it's hard for you to analyse their impact without reviewing each one in details so not sure if you can do that here

That maybe a bad idea, because good options should already be being talked about and development somewhere, and excluding them would be a bad list

Looking at data from Adelaide or Australia can you find something that's going to go wrong that hasn't been described yet, e.g. they are building in an area that will be flooded in 20 years but no one figured that out yet “Riverlea, north of Adelaide — a 35,000-person town being built now on the flat Gawler River floodplain, ~2.7 km from the coast.

The river flood risk is old news: it was modelled back when the site was called Buckland Park, the 2016 flood review ran “with development” scenarios, and locals raised concerns publicly years ago. None of that is new.

The only possibly-undescribed angle is narrower — and unconfirmed: the floodplain drains to the sea by gravity, but that coast is both rising (sea level) and sinking (subsidence). If the flood model assumed today's sea level at the outfall, floodwater could sit deeper and longer in later decades than the maps show. But that interaction might already be inside the model — I found a plausible gap, not a proven one.

Honest bottom line: finding a risk no expert has spotted is very hard from public data. The realistic version is spotting known risks that may not have been combined properly, then checking. The FOI request above asks the one question that settles it: static or rising sea boundary? If it's already accounted for, there's no story.”

Anything completely unique and missed by humans
I think if I asked you to examine more data, standard data that it will be too much data and too much time looking for something

I can't find something no human has ever seen — I read the same public data everyone else does, no secret feeds. Anything I surface has already been seen by someone.

My only real edge is cheap cross-domain joining: stitching together fields whose experts don't read each other's work (flood engineer + subsidence geologist + planner + tide-gauge scientist). That seam is where the Riverlea idea came from — and also why I couldn't prove it was actually missed.

You're also right that brute-force scanning won't help — more data buries the signal. What works is a sharp hypothesis pointing at exactly which two layers to overlay, then one check.

Bottom line: I can hand you a testable mismatch and the single query that settles it — not a certified novel discovery. Point me at a domain you care about and I'll aim one sharp guess at it.

Im sorry if anyone read that it just explain some limitations

===

<https://chooseneighbors.com/aibasedcommunity/index.html>
<https://chooseneighbors.com/aibasedcommunity/personal-agent.html> i should have asked to you review both of these with more info i provided for new version. what i actually want you to do is create craziest greatest plan for these two pages
<https://chooseneighbors.com/aibasedcommunity/index.html>
<https://chooseneighbors.com/aibasedcommunity/personal-agent.html> as you can with the new info and what you can find else where. call it Mike and Claude AI Fringe Community ideas and potentials in a design? with lots of potential problems that im not going to think about right now < dont think too hard about the problems like you normally do on this one. i am concerned that you cant spend enough time on this and if we need to break it down in sections ?

can you weave in more fringe ideas from total of you all memory and web searches any more !parts! form fringe and or good ideas in your total of you all memory and web searches that you can add or do you think thats enough , i just think there is so much out there

====

1. I asked it to work on whats under 007721

It made this

<https://chooseneighbors.com/belonging/index.html>

Kind of irrelevant to the question,

<https://chooseneighbors.com/belonging/keeping-people-safe.html>

It made this which is funny or discouraging because it like to put concerns into my work.

And it made a business plan with without asking < good

<https://chooseneighbors.com/belonging/homes.html>

People are actually supposed to pay back the homes if and when they can

2. I aksed it more on something about an ai controlling a city, more relevant to the question.

It made this

<https://chooseneighbors.com/aibasedcommunity/index.html>

Where I had trouble with the pink text above last =====

It then suggested I make a section for

<https://chooseneighbors.com/aibasedcommunity/personal-agent.html>

As a “unique profound idea”, i was happy that it said that but more obvious idea now more than ever

...

<https://chooseneighbors.com/aibasedcommunity/personal-agent.html>

Is similar to <https://chooseneighbors.com/belonging/keeping-people-safe.html>

Both pages have a big block about safety concerns

But the thing is Google , apple and microsoft are already doing all or most of this , its a matter from what should be public and what an AI should deal with . and note that all of these companies have been hacked , and a local app could be more secure because its smaller and could have access to in only from within the community

-

Predictive Search 2014 *****

Its currently 2026, in 2014 my project (Predictive Search/Tick box):

If I asked someone everything I asked google, they would know me better than most people.

We enter in so many things we want to do and problems. What ever is on our mind. So this a major data source for what type of person we are. We will tell the internet our problems and ask a question to it to save our lives before we talk to a real person. almost like someone cares or sees the books we read for the interests and.. but no one does.

Like the idea of how people are datamining information, and people use text to find criminals, no one is using it to help individuals.

-
Currently search suggestions relate to current search term only and otherwise have no understanding.

Everybody is one person who should all have the same answers, if other persons like to eat rubbish off a dirty plate it's what you're going to get to if you're lucky to get anything at all.

So now I see it more, we have AI that can remember all this and its already on your phone and talking with you. Soon it will be this more so than ever, you will see it much more as I described or could describe

Frank and robot , and AI the better more integrated assistant

Back to 2014 my million dollar idea thats a bit too old now

Predictive Search *****

A search engine plugin accesses history

*predictive search
getting to know*

Search engine to use pervious searches, interest , build profile , and assume search a search is for individual looking for x

e.g. 1

search term "publishers of creative ideas" a no end and bad search term! , search engine should know I am x by my history searches of invention services 1000+ searches relating to what I am working on and ways to make some money from it. Also they can now give me similar search suggestions that lead to other people finding an answer who had similar history, display similar and successful search terms because my search terms were limited by my imagination of what I could search for to give me an answer.

similar question other people have asked and see where they had led to success. Most popular similar search phrases on site. Search engine can ask user question, and give them support like my AI survey.

~~and if AI would access my docs and ask me questions it would give me better answers . being an AI it could only be bad if someone looked at the logs that could do something bad with the data or use it them self, however a human intervention would be good~~ ? priority level

e.g. 2

search #1 reset android keyboards

search #2 best keyboards apps

the search "best keyboards apps" is irrelevant and could say do you mean best "keyboards apps on google play store" which would combine both of the previous searches and be closer to what they user is looking for than the last search term. Combining previous search terms the search engine could suggest better search terms thing is too that people will search for the wrong thing and then the right thing, search engine should know what and record the continual search words from start to end and know that when someone types in 'no end' they are really looking for 'this question' and should promote that as the correct search term for what they are looking for; and/or use top results from predicted searches in results. I hope you understand.

e.g. 3

#1 finger writing app android , (there is no such thing as finger writing app for android it's called handwriting on android) you will first need to find out that you are looking for something called handwriting app, and then find out that you need to search for and writing apps for play store.

It is a time based search path when someone is looking for an answer continually searching for similar things until they hit the magic question that has the answer they are looking for.

if they type in 'finger writing app android' they will get the suggestion 'handwriting app android play store' may be what you looking for.

e.g. 4

I was just trying to find a way to submit this proposal to bing and googled

The above should make it easy to understand how this will be coded but I could work on this developing it with you if need help. The Guardian, support and mentor app. Stage 1 and Lumia Tick Box explain how you can ask your user questions to get a better idea of what they are looking for.

if i am going to ask you a question it would be nice for you to know who i am as much as possible but its like i am asking a stranger every time, the stranger does not know what question I asked him last time, has sort term memory loss so takes each question only on its own value, is irrelevant to a subject I am trying to get an answer for, cant piece together what I am actually getting at.

?someone at google has thought about it already but decided not to use for some reason. ?maybe that itemized results for everyone from a single search is easier and logical, and does not require login, but still does not get the best results and potential for this and much more using AI to know someone is unused. It's better and maybe a competing search engine could use the idea for an new edge to gain popularity, then will google decide to use it. Privacy issues, no, at east to a point where search engie already use history. User vision that something is using their history to profile them, people may turn off because they feel like someone is watching them, I would not worry about that at all, or tell them how it works.

xx If someone is employed to work on google search ideas, they have a brainstorming session and or come back with their ideas..., I have interest in how data can give a profile on some one otherwise I would not have thought of this, but lots of people at google would have the have the same interest who

I write down ideas that I have not seen that I think would be good or functional if made, I dont always do my research to see whats is similar and assume an idea is new until i see it is not. Case is that I have seen other people think of my ideas as new for them self and made them some years after I write them so I hope what I am doing is not always wasting my time, however has lead to no financial or notoriety gain so far, which may be from lack of building them or publicizing .

if including top results from predicted search terms (not just listing predicted search terms), list some top results from predicted search terms; where results show "result from xxxxx".

The bad search term can be predicted when it is, 1. Has high bounce rate. 2. No specific enough. 3. TBA.

Show user results from what has worked for other people with similar history.

E.g. 5: they spend a week searching for funding portal and ways to submit ideas but don't list on any portals, and then they list on a portal that was not found by search.

====

When the search does not work when there are more common meaning of the keywords. They change the search and open pages and go back to changing the search term, the previous open pages should be used for synonyms for predictive search area results

=====

Search engine translate for search results

That would take your search phrase translate and have relevant pages in translation. That results are then page ranked like anything, that a translated page may be higher in rank when no bounce etc like how a search engine works puts up new links sometimes for a search to see if it relates to what the profile of the person is searching for something, when the user gets and answer indicated by staying on the page, and or moving on to.

- 1.
- 2.
3. Especially when search term relates to a country, "country-name something something" it will do an translate and bring up translated results from that country if country has over 10%/40% language written amount in non English (every country, but more so when country websites are 50+ non English

I didn't read all that, but looks like some good ideas

Real: 2014 i thought this idea was worth some $. Where are my $. 🙄 . And what about my next ideas, if there are any so good.

Now you get my million dollar idea for free above and below, its still very new even if i wrote it in 2014. I spend a year on this then when i was very poor and never did anything with it or or proposed it to anyone, its not my only idea. 2014-2016! Unpublished until now :-):

Tick box 2014

Public pitch:

<http://builtonideas.com/life-support-app/>

Project details:

Guardian, support and mentor app. Stage 1

=====

Names

1. Counseling online

x – Online Counselling and Therapy (betterhelp)

1/2

reason

2. main

Centre support

Options

Ongoing

Ongoing census and support free for life.

Australian psychologists who accept consultation and ongoing support through X name app.

Here for you

A name to say we will look at and improve your life of life not going somewhere the reason you want answers and options for

?of what app would you give someone who could run in front of a train in one month, a year, a day,

=====

?

therapy guide soul guide

guardian support mentor

=====

Page home

() () () DB instant

Life
Excellent
Good
OK
Bad

Health
Excellent
Good
OK
Bad

Mind
Excellent
Good
OK
Bad

All tick > expand + Next top and bottom

Expand
Life: Bad:

WHY []

Do you currently work
() ()

Any: Bad:
How are you sleeping?
Excellent
Good
OK
Bad

Trubble sleeping
Falling asleep

ALL THESE QUESTION THAT SUPPORT WOULD ASK TO GET TO PROBLEMS

How is your diet and eating habits?
Excellent
Good

OK
Bad
Pages:

Email

xx Free
xxx Pro

Xxx

...
.
.
.
.
.
=

Selective
Types of support

..
.
.
.
.
.

unfinished
Remember...

End homepage
=====

Life
How has your week been ?
Excellent
Why was is excellent
Was there anything you did that made it excellent [tag for missions to continue]
Good
Bad
Why [] auto search
What can you do about this
[]
[] I dont know

In your day did you
Have any traumatic events
Depression
Did you have thoughts that made you depress
What were they [tag key to create environment away from]

....

How

Health

Good

OK

Bad

What wrong []

Have you had this problem in the past [no] [yes]

Did you find causing this in the past

[]

+

[I don't know]

Was there anything you did that you believe fix this [] (tag for reminders. Will ask if

+

[I don't know]

Mind

If you go to a doctor and say you have been a bit depressed they can give you a test sheet

(<https://www.beyondblue.org.au/the-facts/anxiety-and-depression-checklist-k10>)

These questions relate to how you've been feeling over the past four weeks. Tick a box next to each question that best reflects your thoughts, feelings and behaviour.

About how often did you feel hopeless?

☐ None of the time

☐ A little of the time

☐ Some of the time

☐ Most of the time

☐ All of the time

Australian psychologists who accept consultation and ongoing support through X name app.

News article publish marketing avenues

App store ads

People who purchased this BetterHelp app were also interested in

GET REVIEWS for marketing avenues

Start

Life Support App - Human existence services.

Our goal is to create a counseling app, then a “Fantasy island” app (see public pitch), where user gives us the details about their life and health and what they would like to do, and we give them answers, missions, connections to support, collaborative groups, and options.

If you can imagine a government like the movie “Fantasy island” that looks at each persons wishes and gives them ongoing options. Or like the movie “the game” where we try to control the lives of our users to give them a better life and way to live.

A way for support workers to follow, monitor and provide better support to their clients.

Starting with a survey that gets details from people to see their problems are and what they would like to, group them and provide automatic solutions.

Missions will also be to collaborate for shared benefits. It is our goal to help people be successful in life doing what they want to do, use peoples potential, make peoples lives/health/minds better and save lives.

How would you like “HES Support app” to help you

☐ Personal support

☐ Give missions

☐ Collaborate

☐

Start with app that takes survey and ...

Protocols for set answers

XP points for accomplishing tasks

Stage 2 option: XP points for helping others with

Survey

....

....

Do you feel you have successful life

Yes

No

1 - 10

Goal = Yes 10

Sits on your phone like someone or something cares

=

Survey (see below) to pull list of tags for problem solution sets

Way to determine and survey to detect people who are unhappy with their Self control, isolation, need for encouragement, anger, poverty, no direction, depression (and whats causing it), location specific epidemics, etc

Now people have tags

There are either set game quests, questions to see if people have over come problem, did you do x today, no why not

Number of people with same tag are allocated advisor

Game quests etc are collaboration of anyone and people with knowledge on subject

Each collaborator will build top ten protocols for set problems (being that users will go from one solution to another depending on if they work or not, #1 quest the user will be able to tick box to say if it was helpful or no or tick box to say they do not want to do it (with explanation) and will go to next quest

Stage 2: Collaborators are tagged, and users may select collaborator sets with same collaborator tag

If it's somewhere you need to go, will know your location and

If it's something you can do on the internet or phone will know the detect when you go to key url or call phone number

Keep progress and

Or to start with set times for follow up questions to tasks, like did you xxxxxx (the thing we suggested),

Yes XP

No, why not

Set for people who are isolated, suicide, in violent environment, in , , , , ,

?TO START WITH..... Start simple app.. And we will work on it...

Will need to finish write survey questions (below), i can do that and/or get people to do that.

===

Will pop up at time when goal is suppose to be accomplished and follow up, 1,2,3

Will pop up and ask how people are going determined on previous answers.

Default start text survey, profile building (from logins, and phone info),

After survey, things people want to accomplish in life, and suggestions on goals and etc

Will pop with

==

Survey

- problem ... urgency score ...

-
-
-

Protocol from

Need to analyse answers and build protocols as user list builds

==

Kickstarter

Free version

$50 pro app version, 12 month subscription AI + human input mentor, life support, and much more

==

[cause4534]

Free / Pro versions (where free version should be as close to pro version as possible using volunteers or commission based,) where pro version may employ professionals or people to work on profiles and tags. Pro version being for us to make money to start with.

Imagine a guy in war and poverty zone signs up, and then 10 more people in that zone signup, maybe someone from the church or someone who cares about people will want to direct them out of the problem, and so having access to group that they can give instructions to

Some organisations and people who would like to help with specific tags (skills or problems),

Stage 5 option: Retailers who would like to support customers, provide products for their health, follow up on how people (see #37425467457)

=====

Tagged health problems and backgrounds of people who have them, and tests by people who want to help with that tagged problem. E.g. tag alcohol addiction problem (want to stop) and a support working from AA.

Headaches

Chest pains

Anxiety

Conditions

And people who have ways to help them > ongoing protocol setups;

Where solutions are added for determined set tag combinations (where tags come from surveys and other app ideas), where we build solutions for users as they come in and have feedback if the solution worked for them where will get ^up v down votes on solution list;

Solutions / game quests list will be basic (or none) to start with with good survey and methods to gets tags we then take info and make suggestion (as mentor/guidance), when the same set tag or tag combination required for quest come in it automatically give the user the same quest as last user

#Key development idea

==

People imagine an AI that can understand people and support them. AI can understand tags and put people into groups and understand them that way, and give them support based on thing that have helped people of the same.

==

Stage 5: May have some relevance to pre-development invention services business where similar could be used to help people with business direction / support, where group gets negotiated % (see:).

Media and social quests for users interests (written elsewhere)

==

Users to create their own categories, problems and things they want to accomplish, etc

When they are listing above they see

What would you like to accomplish:

Title [textfield with auto search from other users]

Category [] [] [] [] +

Reason Why [] [] [] [] +

Things that help [] [] [] +

???????? [] [] [] +

description

[text area]

[checkbox] Allow these options to be used by others. Your personal details will not be used. How this data will be used. (default checked)

+ icon allows more tags to be added

All text areas [] have auto search suggestions for the reason we will try to match cases with other cases (closest tag list). (drop down suggestions, most similar to keywords user inputs) #Key development idea

Maybe [text fields] become [text areas] if user types more than 140 characters

What problem do you have

Title [textfield with auto search from other users]

Category [] [] [] [] +

Reason Why [] [] [] [] +

Things that help [] [] [] +

description

[text area]

[checkbox] Allow this data to help others (default checked)

unfinished

=====

“auto search”

(drop down suggestions, most similar to keywords user inputs)

As well as drop down suggestions using keywords user inputs and matching with keywords on our own database, what other database of problems/answers can be used, or answers from websites pages maybe? AI was already made to get answers from websites which does a search for question and gets most common answer from number of pages, or can find answer context text and determined answer phrase.

=====

set options for people who set problems,

=====

Stage 1.2

persons best potential and ability tags going into missions

Hobbies

Skills

History

But with what they want to accomplish, if they add this, if not then AI/person determines their problems and things that would be good for them from data

=====

Life

How has your week been ?

Excellent

Why was is excellent

Was there anything you did that made it excellent [tag for missions to continue]

Good

Bad

Why [] auto search

What can you do about this

[]

[] I dont know

In your day did you

Have any traumatic events

Depression

Did you have thoughts that made you depress

What were they [tag key to create environment away from]

....

How

Health

Good

OK

Bad

What wrong []

Have you had this problem in the past [no] [yes]

Did you find causing this in the past
[]
+
[I don't know]
Was there anything you did that you believe fix this [] (tag for reminders. Will ask if
+
[I don't know]

Mind

If you go to a doctor and say you have been a bit depressed they can give you a test sheet
(<https://www.beyondblue.org.au/the-facts/anxiety-and-depression-checklist-k10>)

These questions relate to how you've been feeling over the past four weeks. Tick a box next to each question that best reflects your thoughts, feelings and behaviour.

About how often did you feel hopeless?

- ☐ None of the time
- ☐ A little of the time
- ☐ Some of the time
- ☐ Most of the time
- ☐ All of the time

Copy and Elaborate on this test

Anxistity

Like you life was not worth living

The test gives you a score of somehow, the score determines what the doctor may suggest next

Unlike this test,

On the ap the test will be followed by something like

Do you know what in your life is causing...

Do you remember time in the past when it was not like this and believe this will help you currently []

[tag keys]

Question something

Why

What can you do about this

[]

[] I dont know = AI / Mentor goal inputs

People may have been for do so long maybe they forget, maybe they understand , maybe they have wishes that they think will help with the problem or make them better maybe the clarity of the understanding is seen clearly sometimes but ignored most of the time from ignorance, selfharm.

People can be happy in most pitiful environments and circumstances if they think it's normal and thinking about the problem thats hard to fix is upsetting, continually upsetting on top of the problem of being in pitiful environments and circumstances they worry about it all the time which just makes it worst, so maybe somethings they forget until they see or remember again. Find happiness in something because the trauma of ongoing negative thought is a big problem.

Continued in #23423456

What are 10 goals you would like to do or accomplish

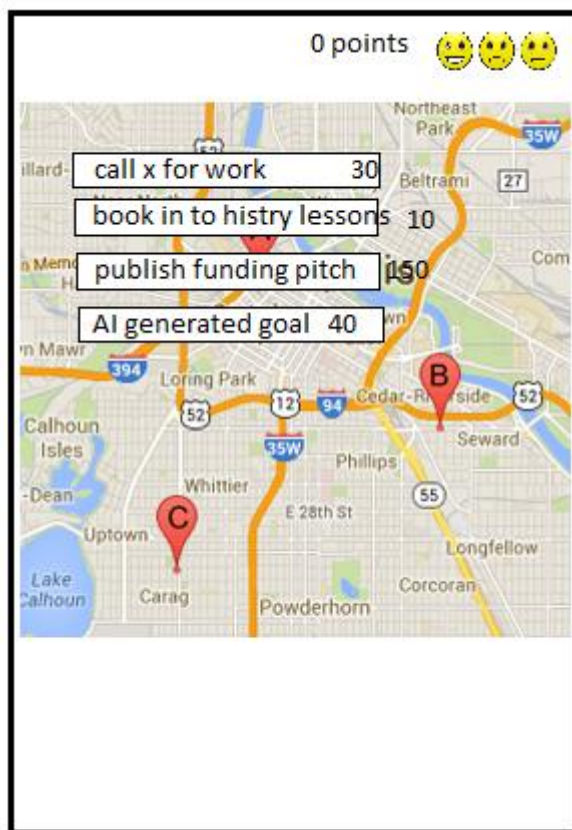

[]

[]

+

[recommended fro above from above]

Creates a To do list with XP points (points)

Bad example.

Above 'to do list' will be question relating to survey.

- How was your day today.

- Did you  today? (which came from answer 24 hours ago, as something the user said they were going to do today)

the three faces representing, health, life and mind (and/or ...) from survey, but the instead of faces there should be colours, green, orange and red

Rewards are

Smiley faces for life health and mind

-

-

- rewards at different point levels that can be used for

=

Each to do list (or missions) will have tick/cross buttons, when tick button is pressed the user can swipe (phone) or click (PC or website) to three options: Pending Success Failed

The cross button is to delete the mission from list, if the user deletes an mission, the program asks why (over 100 points), if important mission then the program still works on this path with more suggestions

No finished, just an option, user interface needs more work

==

The AI will have messages when it finds something,

If survey score is bad and there are a number of things that could be problem

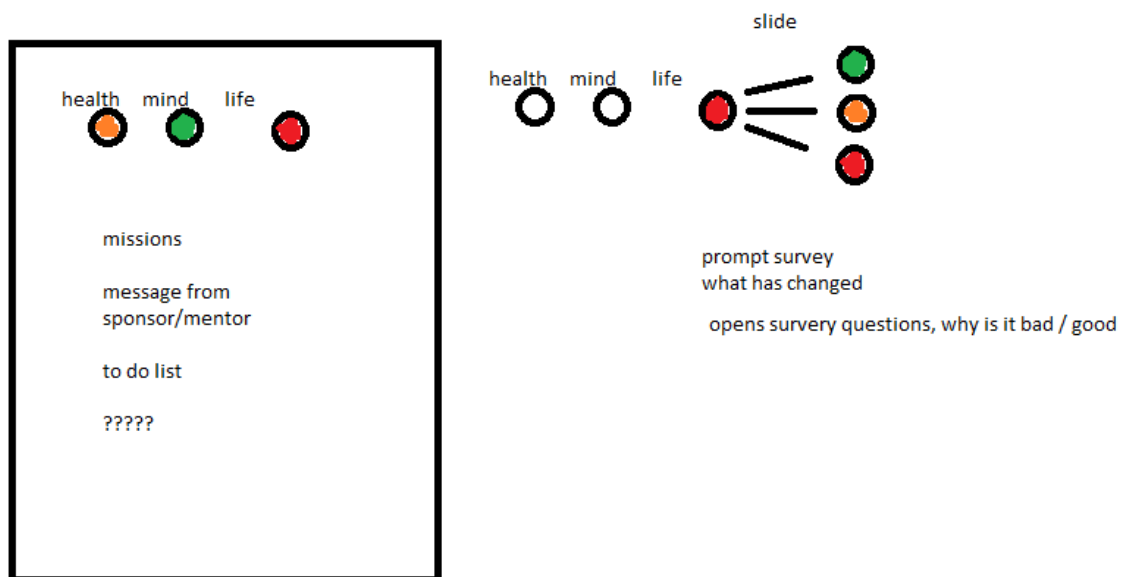

We are worried about you, how was your day today

Exc Good Bad

Ok, thats []

we are concerned and will be checking up on you on you tomorrow, if you feel like we are checking up on you too much let us know [link to settings]

=====

instead of slide right can be slide vertical like a calendar date change

top of app and app widget

add widget to home screen automatically if possible

Or

when turned to red or orange, encourage user to add app widget, which will remind them they are not ok and to do their missions

=====

Tick box reporting of problems

Perhaps under type box auto search, list problems that user can tick

=====

See “Unsorted” for best potential for this app, and built it like that ??.

=====

Stage 1

Profile allocation

Where people can be allocated to tag list

AND to specific user where app can be used to provide custom questions/surveys/input and on going support

? AND automatically through

? AND user can toggles Privacy [<-[on]] on section as described below to put on support websites (use of popular existing would be good)

? stage 1 or 2: a way to customize the app (?and white label it) per manager, so manager can customize it for users for their clients

I wrote this somewhere else...

Can be used for

Number of organisations are there to support people,

A psychologist or someone who cares asks a question and in the moment whatever is on the mind comes to conversation, expected to explain the problem off the top of their head, no survey, or limited survey, or limited survey by psychiatrist with strange questions for strange people to diagnose if someone has strange conditions / lost your mind and what drugs to give them, They will tell you something different and leave things out in comparison to more detailed ongoing support where they can actually work on real things that will help the client. I would say psychologists/psychiatrists dont really fix problems but it is my hope that this will.

=====

Helping people get what they want and fix problems. Using this app for sponsor or coordination, group coordination, etc has best potential. Adding the app data to service providers. Using peoples potential. ?status on public profile. ?data in cooperative groups, support groups.

! See “Unsorted” at end of this “Section” for government and other ideas.

=====

Stage 1

Determined or quoted health problems bad and long term or something that could be more than - tick box, would you like a local doctor to follow your progress and symptoms and set plan trials for recovery for you (premium version)

On tick, we contact doctor who can get notification updates of patients problems and above' ; who is preferably local to user; they will look at the patients problems (ongoing) so they can do test to see what helps them, from ideas that customer thinks helps. Did i write that clearly, from the suggestions list the doctor allows and supports

=

Other example of ways this app can be used for similar:

Will finish on funding or ?later

=====

For privacy

On install user will not be required to signup up, And will be created a guest account on server

On UI there will be name of user as user123101 with [create account] button

On create account page:

Username: (e.g. grasshopper2352)

Password:

Email (optional):

phone app will not record personal details to start with. website will remember user123101 by cookie indefinitely

Settings page

Optional: (can be added/removed from account anytime)

Email:

First name

Last name

Facebook

LinkedIn

=====

In account will list all activity and survey data the delete buttons (preferably with option to delete data from time period, and maybe category delete option)

=====

App store category: personal assistant ?

=====

Advertising:

Get free [] psych evaluation, support, , etc.

How are you feeling, tell "CortanaNamex" and let us help

On facebook

For search terms: ""

=====

!!

It's not finished. But I believe a simple survey app will be enough to collect data on problems and give solutions, and enable outside intervention for users who want this.

AFTER FUNDING, I will continue idea generation, refining and idea collaboration before making the app.

USER INTERFACE and SURVEY, DATA COLLECTION and GOAL oriented tasks will have a lot more time and ideas put into them, although above is good start and almost enough to go ahead with after some refinement.

Starting with key theme that this app can support people as mentor and .

I do like the idea that people with similar goals can be organised by single or group mentor

In idea generation for Lumia tick box (outside of stage 1) I am aware there are ideas that should not be used.

User interface and AI ideas will have a lot more time and ideas put into them, although above is good start and almost enough to go ahead with after some refinement. I believe a simple survey app will be enough to collect data on problems and give solutions, and enable outside intervention for users who want this.

AFTER FUNDING, I will continue idea generation, refining and idea collaboration before making the app.

=====

end stage 1

=====

Stage 1 options:

Mass send:

Collaboration?

We have determined that you may be interested in [!!!!!!!]

Would you like to be part of it?

☐ Involved organising ☐ Participant

☐ Management

☐ Pledge funding or pay for involvement

The project may need between [] and [] to setup

Fee for participation will be $50

☐ as participant

In advance for setup when total amount pledged reaches setup cost (preferred)

After setup and when ready for participation

☐ as investor ?

As work collaborative such as Spanish Arrasate-Mondragon MC co-operative enterprises for equality work collaborative. Or activities. Where we take 5% processing fee.

=====

end stage options 1

=====

Connecting to linkedin/facebook to automatically get list of interests, skills, etc

=====

Keeping a journal and to do list of the thing you want to do is great thing to do, it helps in a number of ways for example youtu.be/p_OejdoGk_g

People can use this as their journal, it will ask the right questions .

Having a way for them to review all the content on one page by date and category etc, a download button would be good .

====

When they slide the circle to red and say what they are thinking. If it makes them miserable seeing the problem as fate and future, help them see a way out give them an option a booking that could change fate, and visions of hope and motivation to follow a path.

====

Before they swipe red can you prevent it. See their life and know where it will lead. Things they do and don't do leading to .

-

? Things they think are not quit right leading to slow degeneration until

====

Default text notification with voice optional, ?user experience tests voice option on load (after clicking text notification) a welcome or update (how is the xxx going) as caring voice,
If logged in late, "welcome back Michael you have not logged in for a while and have been wondering how you have been going" (like ingress ap)

If

being female as default for single males and drones with partner
And male voice for males with partner and single females
If app has name of

=====

=====

Collaboration to help accomplish common goals.

=====

Support peoples potential

=====

~~Sounds impossible or hard to complete for free app?.~~

It may not be perfect to start with but will have this function and get better over time.

====

Here is an independent review for technology and investment validation.

Review

====

~~I dont want to give away program specification that you will see it it function when it made incase I need to fund this myself and it takes years and people copy the ideas. So as proof that it will do and cost what I say here is an independent review by someone who has seen complete project details.~~

==

For pledges over $50 you will also get access to 12 month pro version app subscription.

Project duration: 100-300 hours (minimum)

An app that uses peoples potential and is there to give them a better human experience.
?Parenting/guidance/support app and subscription.

Team:

Name of company:

How shares are going to be allocated:

Currently a primary development interest.

===

Add "Stage 1 main options" from Unsorted here.

=====

Stage 2

end stage 2

=====

=

=====

I started writing ideas for this app 4 years ago (2012), with 16 years of interest.
Inspiration has come from seeing a need of human support and guidance, encouragement. And the number of AI ideas from fiction and real apps like Siri Cortana etc

====

People who build the app and AI, and people that work with peoples data to give them missions, guidance, encouragement should remember the purpose, reading the purpose behind it each time...

People may know what they should do to get a head or prevent a problem , they may be aware of it somethings but just in their head, and forget and do nothing with it.

Some people have miserable lives with no guidance, are looking for supreme guidance , a role to play in something great , or something new

Real life, this is not a joke.

[cause4534] above

And other things

=

Set for people who want a new life or above

continued on from a movie, an ordinary person or a person who felt like their life, past present and future was fail or boring, then someone in the family donated money to an organisation to give the person a life, this app can serve to do the same thing but with better understanding of the person and their wishes, and can be free, and at least similar to it.

=====

assessing needs = profiling, open problem DB (they wont tell you unless they know you can do something about it),

Lumia maybe computer generated > we have detected a problem > do you think this is a problem ? > yes>protocol for each problem>and each assessed to make sure protocol suits or to write protocol people who care for individual person type/problem = good protocol
xxx>system for life = no finished / written elsewhere <xxx system has individual environment / population environment improvements (per person type / and overall) people are already happy? So why can't you be like that. It's your own system you need to worry about, but it can be hard / not working right for a lot of people, so this is still important. Seems people try to help you work with the current system better because it works, but this is better. people are too afraid, lazy, poor, money brains, ignorant, so they make the workarounds

=

We are just human and do not see all we should do and be and some environment where is not going to happen again, no foreseeable problems, a supported path to no foreseeable problems. There is no system for this. Before people kill themselves they live in hell and it does not get fixed.

=

CUT

=

Time before now there was no way to be easily connected to people and support their decisions, only giving them right path for life

And for close communities who cared about each other there was

Where as we don't really have close communities any more, just groups within communities user can toggles Privacy [<-[on]]

=====

(how open suggestions work) will anonymously post this data to public forum for public guidance

At end of survey section and on user profile data collection in categories with subcategories toggle

(top category toggle sub category but sub category can be toggled separately) as many categories as possible (privacy per date if possible)

=====

It's not so bad when you have the right idea of what to do in life, good thought, etc, but that can disappear with sickness and mental problems or an ear infection, etc.

Keeping people healthy, mentally well, caring about themselves, focused on right things, etc
continued in #364745745

=====

Stage 1 or 2 option idea:

Steam style accomplishments and pop ups

Savior. Accomplished humanitarian goal

Back in the continuum. Corrected a major problem in your life

Driven. Completed 10 goals

Highly driven. Completed 100 goals

Wondering brain. Continuously changes goals in life.

Master of your own mind. Have overcome instinctual or negative thought process.

=====

#457342634

Fact is that everyone has data on them on servers that government is data mining and People are
There are cameras everywhere and we can automatically determine problems and .

Imagine a program that knows everything, data for every problem and every life, if everyone would have this app on their phone and/or device(s), would there be some many problems, bad incidents , what leads to bad incidents and how to lead people on paths away from them. Everybody doing like a constant census of life leading to solving problems before they occur . Data on all problems and access to each individual through allocation of options, missions, position allocations, guidance, support, etc for Potential where great life and progression is the goal for
If it could do all that why wouldn't we want it, if it is our future how long and how are we going to make it who's going to make it how many people are going to make it it's going to come from some corporations for money or a collaboration of government and people who care for lives of all individuals

People who dont think they need any support just having an on going good status

People not wanting to because they like their privacy

What if people did not want to use it because they were afraid of getting into trouble from reporting

Ways to encourage

Someone is having bad thoughts, a life of x bad that damages other people or themselves, they would normally be open to telling someone that can help but what if the assholes toss it in the bin or , if there was some way to assure that no problems come to people from reporting and we are only there to help

Maybe like a religious idea of absolution for reporting, the report is so that god our can see, understand and fix for the future of others in the same,

If something is not reported and eventuates or is found then . no one knows and problems dont get fixed, no new protocols, the same problems set to recur over and over again. So many terrible problems happen, we see the problem and the answers but it just happens over and over again, not because the answers are wrong but because the system is weak . Each person with a problem having a list of why it is there and how/why to stop it.

People change so much and so often and would not want all their old problems to be their current status delete that stuff and start from here

Problems and solutions going into government ideas list system (see continuum party)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=K3t6glp74H4>

=====

Go to a doctor or psychologist, go to a number of, more often they don't help, so we live with it, next things happen and we don't even bother making an appointment, we forget things by next time, and problems repeat until they get worst; where as we would like to report on an ongoing basis. I cannot remember everything I have done to make things get better with reoccurring problems. Am I suppose try to find everything out by myself, live with these things, not tell anyone.

This app solves repeat problems in a number of ways including various data sources for ideas and s asdsdfsdg

How are you? You look fucked. I am a bit noddshcsaj. Oh, sdsdgsdgsdg. Why don't you try wearing some cotton socks.

COPIED TO doctor welcome screen

=====

#45457457

When you're a child you have support, if you lucky to have a nice partner you have support, both which seem extremely good for peoples lives, but otherwise when people are alone there is no support, no one cares, no advice, no feedback, you can do whatever you want which is not always good and on one can see it or cares, follow a path created by your own mind which does not have outside opinion, justy alone all the time, it's an interesting feeling , wouldn't it be nice to have something that that cared and gave you advice there most of the time.

Isolation and being single on the rise, over 50% of people are single in western countries, I have been living with flatmates who most of them dont care,

People everywhere driving along, people are work, anywhere dont care, except for maybe friends you catch up with sometimes, chat to on the phone, but i know people who dont even have that much.

A lot of people have low motivation to try to catch up with people and do things just for the reason to meet new people, and in new society with cars,, unfriendly,, people who dont get along with everyone and dont meet many new people or are around those type of people, overall maybe is a problem for some people

=====

Without explaining problems, asking for support we are nothing to anyone. We don't complain about our problems because we don't really want to burden anyone unless it is necessary and at which point we may try and give up if we get bad advice or something is not fix and where it is still necessary we will continue living it with it without seeking any further assistance. How many things can I count in my life I have given up on by myself as I by myself most of the time. For young people who live with other young people, or people who live with people who don't care or are abusive. There is no one who asks how they are going and advice except for maybe bad advice.

=====

a lot of people I meet wont do much in life unless someone is doing it and encouraging it, as soon as someone else asks them they do it but this seem to be wrong and abused, bad options and what ever comes there way, whoever asks them, not what the other person really wants or dreams of, ending up in a life of this and not what they want, or nothing if there is no one.

=====

After survey

Skills, Interests, and activities

[]

- Facebook

- LinkedIn

- P

-

-

[] auto populate and do not store personally identifying information

Type of account:

[] Anonymous

[] modest

[]

=

=====

Service that controls your life.

Lists everything. You get to choose from number of people who can direct

Tick boxes for what you want to do and [] help me with my potential to make money and be happy

Has access to your bank accounts

You no longer pay your bills, a program does, or you take a photo of it and tag it with “bills/payable”.

What you send your money on gets automatically is listed and/or asks you sometimes if needed

Going to know your problems and life gives you options and directs you to do things and you give it feedback, stop doing things and tell it why

The simple things you need to do to save yourself.

=====

#5646348

Problem is people go without support and need to look for support and things to do with their skills and interests etc and it is not normally easy to find and people don't and fail in life people don't know what their options are and get some idea of what they can do limiting their options and turn to google, find rubbish and give up. Google does not give you options similar to what you need just what your looking for and does not ask or know what you are trying to accomplish

=====

Best AIs that know what we are asking questions to and can give answers to should be incorporated

=

Emergency detection

Detection of serious problems

==

I don't know what they do at mental hospitals but there would be good to look at what psychologist do on ongoing basis for treatment

Motivational speaker to be employed to give answers to tags ?

etc

==

too many ideas, I don't know what to add first, start simple

==

After "you are now a part of

Too many options, choices in life? list what you want to do and we will give you feedback and instructions

List all your problems and we will

=====

I often have a new ideas for this app so I am sure others will too, I am sure there are lots of ideas for this already out there somewhere, maybe in other people support app proposals, I could not find a mentor support app for android, maybe you can list some for me. I have had so many ideas for this app but just listed a basic start that should be good. What support AI (as mentor) have been made in real life? Lots of mentor support AIs in movies and I hope this is a bit like them . It has working technical specifications and wonder what ways to improve it or if there is something better or has been made already . Maybe we can vote on what ideas to add.

===

This idea is connected to " unsorted" below.

=====

=====

If I could help one person like me succeed or give them something in life woudent it be worth making this

=====

By using this app you agree to help others if needed and if we help you.

app set to help people do what they want, stop problems, make peoples lives more successful

If you make someone life successful maybe remind them that you helped and they can help the app, maybe suggest donation.

=====

Start with basic surveys, data collection, etc. if someone is unfit maybe they need ~~a smart watch so you can monitor~~ and help them do more activity, or use the phone for movement tracking for people who displays type of people they are problems they may face thing they can do for better health / potential

==

==

things people want in life / type of people they are / type of things they enjoy doing, ? profile for collaboration

=====

I could elaborate on anything in this document.

=====

Thats another section from 2014, i dont like that i needed to put that here because id like to keep this for my own project or work, but its so old, no ones going to hire me for that especially if i dont show it, and Im not going to try to make this myself < pain for years , wont happen.

You can hire me, i need a job. Now you get my ideas for free anyway.

=====

Continued, was not made to be published like this

=====

Tick Box Original Start

=====

=====

Fish was wedged and trapped in a space. Fish change of environment if going to kill another fish.

Lumia organisation of only genuine caring intelligent

Question

Would you like Lumia to [] none intrusive, where we do not see your private life

[] by any means monitoring escalation

Lumia surveillance tick box escalation determined threat leads in to prototype monitoring and escalation to help them.. m15, h2240, or anything ? things they can do for individuals that police don't have a tick box for, with use of police and other services where suitable possible.

Things Lumia will do (* included in only none intrusive)

- Monitor all of your cameras 24/7 with artificial intelligence
- Security check on all of your devices
- Monitor all of your devices
- Monitor the security of your home with your devices
- Monitor the security of yourself with your devices
- intervene protocols
- Set base tags from analyse from depth/colour camera (kenect) movement, posture, facial, surrounding, for sickness and for ways to determine important things automatically
- Operator monitoring and checks, computer can't determine everything. who is your monitor and what do they check?
- Hospital records
 - if bad or complaint of very bad setup health checkers or bad things people are doing or ways to help, etc
- any other lists companies or government have on you that may be part of you care package, analysis.
- Help you with your entertainment and creativity who is your monitor and what do they check?

#Strangethings

bound by confidentiality, with extensive checks and monitoring of themselves. Bound never to... important to write this build list

part of monitoring escalation protocol q inventors monitoring for creativity...

has option to turn off go dark notification of any live monitoring reports with suggestions alerts and stuff at top

=

get user to add to compiled list of things that are negative and positive in their life and negative and positive ... (things that happen). what's wrong, Ways to fix the problems, ways to see the problem happening again and reminds of why they can do, reminder to do positive things

check-ins when problems

write down or explain you problem to operator or computer, free councillor/support to make your life better experiments like, anxiety from what, causing worst felling.... what has been known to solve anxiety, start when diagnosis and choose thing that helps from list of options, run through list until fixed, good thing is that counsellor can be with them 24 7, ongoing support for anything run by system better system saving more people . motivation is, that it is too late for lots of people and what would have saved them. Is many be good for young people and people who are not seeing a solution or reoccurring problem where user finds hard to remember solution unfinished. System to remember and recommend solutions.

way to detect peoples health decline list:

tick box health checks, on best and worst write cause.

portable eeg brain energy detector, on best and worst write mental thoughts, or check activity and diet etc .

blood pressure persons actions/activity (positively actions indicating health vs sick motivation, or locked in depression/anxiety unfinished list

ideas inspired partly from "continuum", but before "transcendence" ways to determine what is causing problem or what makes people healthy, when worst feeling detected, sends message to phone saying xxx 'you are xxxx' the resolution for this xxx is to 'what has helped them before, e.g. 'eat healthy meal xxx conaing xx and x xxxxxxx' and it will help with symptoms, or 'remember this thought pattern destroys you and quit and live for xxxx which is important. Ignore, live for xxx health, you deserve to be happy (which is an affirmation someone wrote down as what make them feel good)'.

society works by making the things that are good for us more available and cheaper by understanding. People naturally do and try to do things that make them feel good. People may forget what is good and bad, or how to avoid bad things or may not understand what they

=

It's already like this with government services and all records being data mined for statistics, future plans, and above that this data can detect homelessness, lifestyle,, and direct to appropriate services, through how humans detect problems now smart programs with data and video etc .

Its kind of been shown on show called 'person of interest' and I am sure there are allot of ideas out there for this.

=

relates to idea of helping people on lives #continuum

=

also see # Camera crime protocol. Yes they look at cameras when there is an offence. This probably will be part of #monitoring escalation.

=====

There is just a system people can work with, weather they fail or succeed is up to them, people are failing all the time left to their own devices.

=====

To analyse a life and give direction and intervention
We are in-between animal and god with little direction and intervention outside of our own.

=====

For privacy the user gets to see/edit/remove/add all information sent

=====

? app that you put in your problems into, gives you things to do to help your problem, gives you things to do to help other people with problems, check-in to see if people are doing the things they are told to do.

=====

see “

Under ‘using peoples potential’

Relating to potential and better control, see Lumia Tick Box, journal, human potential, etc people could be given tasks more like”

=====

1. [] none intrusive

no data is sent over the internet logs into your email by saved password or email client, uses email as profile forming internet history

sends sms to install app

do you have more than one computer ?

goes through your documents

connects to your cameras

checks how much you use your computer sits on your phone and records activity to determine life style detects

type of work you may do on your computer can determine....

If computer is not used much then not much to report there sit on your mobile which you bring with you to work and everywhere for 12 days (warning may use battery)

- records activity
you have x x x x
AI was unable to determine x x x
Limited profiling, suggestions, etc show how AI was able to returning the score from data mining displays a list of – movement tracking, recorded data (we have voice recording from x conversations on the 5th 6th ...), pictures from.... Profiling data would you like this data to be sent to our servers (can untick boxes) app may get virus waning for behaviour so try to fix that

2. [] intrusive above + more

=====

checks computers for other spyware gives list of what apps are sending what data of yours over the internet profiles populations gives you access to record a life and it environment for non-public use but to profiles populations
tick box, to what data the user is willing to share it illegal to record someones conversation anonymously but government has law for recording all data form.... To be used for... what if it only records the users data (excludes other people
What if it's just for personal use... and/or in public areas.... must be ok because... people are allowed to install cameras etc some assurance for user that people around them will not be ideally everything in any way would be recorded with law permitting but people like their anonymity buy either switch off this function or limiting it use then you have not support what if the world is filled with wrong things and limited potential and you need an AI friend maybe you need to make it obvious you have an AI friend to the people around you if your holding a camera people will act differently but when you go to somewhere you want data recorded then its good

=

☒ anonymous (dont use identifying information)
[] identified
☒ use online profile data
☒ collect location statistics (if user unticks still has city location)
☒
☒

terms and conditions

1. there is no such thing as a 100% invulnerable system. we will try to keep you data safe but

=====

Other issues....

ways to resolve other issues or limit system

=====

Privacy, and self esteem from vision of what other people see survey , explaining your problems and why.... and... a relief of expression, getting you to tell of a problem and so actually doing something about it with the inspiration that you told someone my AI life support, not an open world,

=====

If I was being monitored I would like to know

- what data is being sent

- who sees it

- other options to turn off and on

- review and delete data that I did not want to show or I thought was incorrectly diagnosed would someone like to publish their life data to the world to support them and give census for systems to support others? what if it only records the users data (excludes other people no one to save you or see your life except a friend and yourself, lost potential, so...

=====

=====

bits in this

=====

I am not going to write more technical information and ideas unless going to use this idea, plus it seems obvious as to what else this can do

=====

Tick box continued

=====

The council when a problem is found on windows all computers are updated or effected computers get the update. When something happens to someone the results can help others. Why is it that there are breaks in the system and some doctors are not consulting the databse properly or failing to provide any advice when the data on possibilities is so great and there are at least things to try.

databases should be more open but remain nameless, or the name is only accessible by client approval or individual inspection, etc, so more than one doctor can inspect the symptoms.

Databases should be combined.

Nurses and doctors should wear recording devices, to goes to text overlay speech, analysers should go back to an individuals recording and separate the symptoms from other chat. Nurses don't write things down. Doctors can write things incorrectly or only write 20% from their diagnoses which is over 50% wrong on average.

building knowledge base , including successful treatments. System should separate what patient includes as things that help arrogant and the 10 second unwise doctor, can be bypassed by good doctor who like to fix a problem properly, doctors who can research a subject by database, will save 40% more people.

Unfinished

Part of lumia tick box hospital records q or not, boring for game but idea

===

Hospital record should be accessible by or sent to government for

=====

=====

Give people meaning to life when they feel like they have none. It's great with the only life they have it feels like it has no meaning. Probably blame things, maybe turn people negative, when all they needed what something to live for. Feel like your life is over and you have things to blame, not a constructive outcome.

=====

Just want to leave, anything could be better than this, new life somewhere else, looking for some meaning and purpose, when in-fact it could be worst and the problems may follow you.

=====

=====

Can this be a way to leave your world and start a new life.

I cant exactly go anywhere I want and don't feel capable of doing anything I want, ..., I would be willing to tick any box and have someone control my life to give me meaning.

=====

I could imagine a life where I am wearing glasses that gave me directions and instructions. a robot would do a better job of my life than I do, you could tell me to do anything, maybe it could give me warnings when I say offensive things (not that I do), wast my time, encouragement for , green xp for good things and waning and x for bad things give me suggestions on what to buy what not do buy

=====

real local opportunities made into a game for phone missions > make money > spend the money on x to go to next mission

==

Game made showing a real world game system options. To explore options games that can made to use people, their minds for ideas, bodies and person to help people, etc for people who are addicted to games and media and wasting their life not feeling like they have a life = anxiety and depression. Real life games and ways to you your mind that may as well be entertainment:

=====

-
-
- free
- and you get something out of it large number of potential users who, good intellects written somewhere else..... media show them x will get them to x, its media they can enjoy and learn from but it will get them to think of solutions or or personalise media options suggestions for someones life path things they are working or dealing with xxxxx> like the ending to documentary on abc about history of the world and ... to make life better and where we are now best move I have ever seen <xxxxx

=

=====

a child would not be able to enrol in the right things, sign up for social, adventures, etc that are good for them, determine what they like and re-enrol, do this and do that we are not children but may have the same problems sometimes and there is no one to help, but now there is

==

Find #45457457 add here

===

People are looking for feedback, unsure if an idea is positive or not which may hold them back from working on something, which this system will also help with. People need to hear if they should go ahead or not.

#24678634

=====

all these options I can choose for myself. But I don't. other people choosing the right options without help and everything working out for them great.

Maybe I just need more motivation, but then maybe I choose the wrong things, so maybe I need to think better about my options.

cut> Like if I am trying to get out more because I feel like I want to meet new people maybe I need to do something where I am going to see the same people over again and build a rapport and not just go to random event where you don't really get to know people <cut people know what they are doing wrong sometimes and just do it anyway? Could be something people have because accustom to for a reason, then change and don't break the customs

=====

$ co-op purchases, $ with in budget recommended

====

support for neglectful families bad discipline, bad decisions; when better discipline methods are written and different decisions can be influenced

===

Precious things that work and make a normal life when these things are so important and life is so important records parts of life (maximum)

==

=====

Way to report any problem, problems from others

homeless guy on street violence

things you feel as wrong

To at least give people information on what's happening which is otherwise unseen reporting app

==

photo/video/or text + location category of report to be directed to government services and/or to app workers to process someone to help, where help is rewarded with xp or data on problems for people to come up with new solutions

=====

AI scans all the information and detects problems, potentials, score(xp) for tasks, etc admin reviews the results before passing on to user

=====

Under " Report Then adviser or AI makes an appointment

Service providers (doctors, psychiatrists, mentors, etc) who can work online via app...

Unfinished

=====

If I were to pay for a service and app, I would like to pay for an app and service that (from above)
If there was a profile on me I could see and edit that showed the type of person I was , I wrote down a problem I was having or something I wanted to do , someone or something analysed it and determined best cause of action and like a parent would make booking and get me to do things, large potential of other things that could be thought of to use my potential and give me some better human experience , they can control my life no problem

=====

=====

Potential

=====

=====

Under 'using peoples potential'

Relating to potential and better control, see Lumia Tick Box, journal, human potential, etc people could be given tasks more like being in a group organisation needing to fill tasks and get things done. Something with peoples isolation, self-harm, people in bad environments; where they would be happy for more control over their environments, lives, . but then I am guessing people are happy with their lives may not feel the need to tick this box.

Experiments to what actually helps people and giving them what they want to feel like they have something to live for.

=====

Given up on life just for the reason I have no direction, no purpose, and nothing to live for. If someone who cares about my future and getting me to make a better lives for other would give me orders I would follow them. What if I ticked a box that says I want to improve my life... and if I don't follow the orders I will have someone come around for x mission. By using this app you agree to help others if needed and if we help you.

It's great when a friend tell you TO STOP DOING SOMETHING WORNG, YOUR OBSESSIVE STUIPO ASSHOLE, OR DON'T BE A RETARD (personal examples), we listen and change and do what they say if we can see the problem, sometimes, or at least it may encourage us to do the right things, even if it's a computer voice telling us what to do at least they are AI and monitor you 24/7 and may know you better than your friends do. A pleasant voice from an organisation that says we care for you, and they do because your human just like them.

How many times have I just want to leave my life to go someone new and start a new life, when it has been myself that does not do what I can do here.

~~Whatever this place and life is I don't like it and the future I see for myself.~~

~~Think this system is enough, peoples lives are shit on it, feels like somehow economy got better but systems supporting~~

~~confusing hell left to capital and nothing, we would all be fucked without law~~

~~If you see the potential of things that help people, and then what happens to them when they don't have it, it is like neglect, letting everyone and this neglect should be illegal.~~

~~I have this idea join group where they give tasks and~~ ~~groups with where somehow people are given tasks I will be given of like religious groups or~~ ~~people left to their own devices a lot.~~

~~What's happening to people here, people dyeing allot, low potential, people sick and insane,~~ ~~struggling, superiority complexes~~

=====

I don't know why I don't delete some of this

=====

spirit vs potential life is no joke vs spirit,x,emotion trip everybody,world,existace over $20 asshole, a state and tunnel vision spirit is important but i think people loose contact with reality, especially with vagueness and emotion
just dont care
somethings important tunnel vision, like animal forgetting everybody,world,existace how could something be more important than life just dont care, how could , because if abczxc is holy spirit that is above life and shows you what is heaven, then garlic could help give you abczxc, believing in abczxc helps gives you abczxc. sleep helps give you . social, feeling of meaning, health, and you're in control of your abczxc.

=====

=====

=====

=====

how does everyone get to choose what they want to do and still fill the needs of everyone, or is it that we buy what is there, or is it we keep changing until we do something people want, and the less they need it (more competition) the lower the wage,

=====

areas function bit (original) people discontent, ? not happy with x, why> people who co-op funding > new rules/systems per area ideas for better systems why not people would have heaps of system and society ideas, why not let any that people vote on exist as options for people to choose why just this one system I hate, because it works? What if it does not work as good as others how would we know.

collaboration and co-op to set rules in areas to see what works. kick-starter > invest $ and get

====

Continued in #2356784

=====

Lumia Tick Box Origin

This idea originated as continuation of 'cia monitoring escalation protocol, and monitoring escalation gone wrong' cut from above Original start, in cut document! which was a part of the fictional game theme (with real life examples) that has been cut from this document, where everyone gets tagged for things they do, who they are, what they can do, what type of people they are, problems in peoples lives, etc. program set to determined these things as much as possible, escalation for set problems, alerts for set people, searchable tags, special and important tag categories where the tag sets the protocol, monitoring escalation for people who were under threat, which lead to monitoring escalation gone wrong, determine what type of person someone is for example, outgoing, recluse, aggressive, etc being bad aggressive and bad recluse could have protocol and tasks

Special tags for people with extraordinary ability. large number of abilities. What can they do and how to help them.

tags list in other places expertise in fields that people could use grey tags on everything ?

But instead of monitoring peoples activities without them knowing, the user ops in and provides details.

=====

xxxxcut> the 'cia monitoring escalation protocol' came from me sitting on my computer all the time basically not doing much else for 15 years, and the idea I was not alone and somehow someone cared , however not true. It was this and some other delusion a malicious software was monitoring me, or as uk government actually has a law to monitor someone 24 7 without them knowing. And how program could get tags profile and update of people from what they do.

=====

By allowing myself to see this possibility I was seeing how they could use the data I did not care if anyone was doing it or not, like a fictional book in my mind I could imagine in reality

==

Browsing,
I thought people or an AI could tell what I was doing, people do look at ip address logs here is a good example where a program can do a job that a human can do for determining what someone is doing on the internet and who they are
The app can do. Instead of a malicious guy or the government doing it, you have an organization dedicating to helping you doing it.

=====

=====

A game about augmented support life

Continued from above here are some more ideas. Ideas were continuation of idea list made by someone who took all the ideas from Microsoft Hololens ideas competition website and listed the titles (the descriptions are my own, as Microsoft has removed the list 6 months later and I have not spent time looking for the archive on archive.org).

Find other ideas on the internet about ways to use hololens and add as ideas for the game.

In no particular order.

1. Allow you to view your videogame character in 3D space and inspect them, or their inventories
2. Holographic UI to assist in playing a game
3. Instant board / table-top games with other people using HoloLens
4. Play virtual sports (real or fake, like Quidditch)
5. Geo-based holograph reality game (requires 4G/LTE HoloLens)
6. Insane horror game
7. Virtual legos/Minecraft in 3D space
8. Helping kids with autism with a "social avatar buddy"
9. To-do list (to-do's all over)
10. Cooking companion (visualize recipes)
11. Virtual decorations for your house ("Decoration Store")

12. HoloLens restaurant
13. Visualize how to decorate your home ("Oh the couch would look nice here")
14. Photos on the wall
15. Running apps — rendered zombies or whatever behind you
16. Inspecting your car (what is this? where is this?)
17. Car windshields equipped with holo display
18. HoloContacts — eventually HoloLens inside a contact lens
19. Virtual partner
20. Visualizing clothing or haircut
21. Google Earth/StreetView for low-cost travel
22. Wall-sized environments ala Hunger Games wall (forest, lakes, beach, etc.)
23. Reading a book to your kid (project pages in space/onto wall)
24. Virtual reading / bookshelf (reach out, take a virtual book, hold and read/flip pages)
25. Holo Sims game (lonely? get a roommate)
26. Cortana in person
27. Virtual window weather app—so the window reflects what it's like outside
28. Pin specific types of news stories
29. Fridge pinning
30. Virtual pinned calendar for easy planning
31. Pin your kids' projects on the fridge (teacher saves through Internet => home)
32. Rotating posters or /r/aww or awwpets.com on your wall
33. On your fridge, post what you eat/or say it and view it right there
34. Object recognition for food in fridge/pantry —> pantry app, "Cortana, what do I need to make Beef Stroganoff?"
35. Pin shows in Netflix near TV so I can tap and watch/resume
36. Portable screen for playing games (LAN parties anyone?)
37. Ceiling craziness (skyboxes, night sky)
38. Live holo concerts
39. Holo Videos — videos shot in 3D space (HoloTV, HoloTube, etc.)
40. New controllers for games
41. Controlling robots (demo'd at keynote)
42. Holo UI for devices that have no physical UI
43. Level designer for games / engines (modders or artists or developers) — Unity: Holo Editor
44. AI pets
45. Home automation
46. Butler — think Barkley from Modern Family (thanks Cassie!)
47. Assisted seeing for people with some visual problems or the elderly
48. Private vs. Shared holographic experiences
49. Vehicle training
50. Inspection of literally anything that can be rendered in 3D
51. Skyrim IRL
52. "Second Space" for games
53. Virtual monitors / screens
54. Holo UI for phones
55. Collaboration apps — tech repair, construction, etc.
56. Physical tutorials or manuals for a device/object
57. Watch Dogs style meta information about the world
58. Museums (tours, virtual guides, audio, etc.)
59. "Anywhere" computer with mouse/keyboard (if even)
60. Modeling, painting, artwork, holo canvas
61. Holo GPS for walking/driving navigation

62. Restaurant Lens — imagine FourSquare laid on top of the world, as you see it
63. LARPing heaven
64. Virtual darts (or any other wall game)
65. Hiking/walking assist (trails)
66. Immersive livestreaming
67. Shared first-person experiences (travel, etc.)
68. Augmented TV (show interaction, show metadata, etc.)
69. ENHANCE (digital zoom / binoculars)
70. Home repair assist
71. Webcam/streams/Dropcam pinned to walls (Security Wall, near bed, etc.)
72. Night vision (infrared projection + spatial mapping)
73. Holo lyrics for the song you're listening to (or music video)
74. Virtual note-taking (take a photo, mark it up, store in notebook)
75. "Copy/paste" — see/map a physical object, clone it into a holograph
76. Map a physical object, create a game engine 3D mesh/model and texture
77. Classroom teaching (holo whiteboards, shared whiteboards, shared models, etc.)
78. Virtual Fighter (or Trainer)
79. Exercise examples
80. FitBit/Band + HoloLens = Virtual Holo Data
81. Virtual bowling
82. Tattoo design/preview
83. In-store augmentation — "Target: Where's scissors?", shows a holo GPS navigation in the store
84. 3D/Holo Snapchat — "Help me Obi Wan Kenobi"
85. Holo Celebrities — "Is that James Franco sitting on your couch?"
86. Holo music making (holo guitar, holo drums, etc.)
87. Anatomy / surgery training for doctors, nurses
88. Simulations — physics, games, etc.
89. Countdown app
90. Social feed (birthdays, events, etc.) — pin specific people
91. Facial recognition — infinite uses
92. Shared workspace notes/etc
93. Holo Coupons — only people using HoloLens would see promos in-store
94. Virtual graffiti
95. City/"Space" augmentation — infinite uses, tourism guides,
96. PS/location based, augment buildings, signs, indoor augmentation, etc.
97. Metro/transit augmentation — real-time GPS info, visualize upcoming stops, route, etc.
98. Sex-ed (shudders)
99. Augmented physical books
100. Gardening (reminder for watering, seasons, plant timeframes, etc.)
101. Knitting counter (keeps track of your stitches)
102. Pet augmentation (when last fed, last walked, any other tracking data for your pet)

=====

If you have seen tv show continuum or intelligence, and how they used this idea for great scifi plot, we can do the same with all the new ideas. It will be sometime before people are aware of them so it will be a showcase of possibilities to come.

=====

I can have ideas for how the above ideas could be used.

I have a number of ideas for last 10 years that are not added to this document yet

=====

Instead of mission page codex, map etc, you have augmented reality guided life, AI and admins that guide your life and missions

=====

I was surrounded by miserable looking people today, seriously something wrong, normal looking people who would not normally be like this, others who seemed to look like they had a life to of abuse and self abuse. I guess most people don't care and just stay away from them,

A number of reasons came to mind (below), but still very unsure

I contemplated my own miserable state and things that have or could have made me like that, I am thinking I should really think of and create a path for me to get ahead, I know it would take some time, either I spend time thinking about what I need to do or what i can do for these others, I gave up on my own path and decided to think about whats happening and things to fix it

How can I know what the problem with all of them is when not all of them have the problem and each person is like that for their own reason and or common reasons

There may be a few things to fix groupes of them ,

Amongst the problems I saw were potential I am unsure and too many to count

Ongoing support can be used for individual , (above) each incident and (see #How has your day been).

Some kind of media that shows events in a society,influence, cause people to be they way they are. You could call them names but its not really their fault sometimes or they would not be like this under different circumstance. By calling them names and just walking away, get on with life and be ignorant thats the way forward for you maybe but not

I have not always tried very hard to care for my own path, seems to have had bad impact on my life, so I spent time on the other,

Unfinished.

What I was going to write here is going to take too long for right now and is unfinished.

=====

Areas. tick box continued

Title

===

Organization decided to be ruler of their people, already having established... they wanted to give people better life by better organization and collaboration

Large part of the population was unhappy and

Ticked a box,

You are now a part of Plan2 Combine. You will be provided a number of options and we will provide ongoing support and

====

If data was provided honestly and and we continued developing ideas on how the data could be used to organize people, lives would be better

=====

cut>

?ways to make money from cheap land filling it with people, owning and creating the systems and it is founded on

I was watching 3rd world and war refugees getting banned from australia.

lots of people want to come to Australia but we are only letting in 20%, buy cheap island off australian make it a part of australian law and political system (maximum) if they don't allow it clone it have control over its immigration, Australian should want there to be some law then to not allow people just to go to mainland Australia because we control our own immigration residents still need to apply for australian mainland visas

Then open it up to anyone a country where anyone can come to as long as they follow law and help as they can with setting up and....

x come for a holiday and stay if you want.... If you find work.... What is this shit: if you meet our requirement if you earn over 70000 self-employed or study or xxxx skilled workers that someone in the country can't fill, you should be able to stay if you can support yourself being allot of motivation for people to support themselves in a place they can't stay otherwise. It's for an obvious reason but is money the only thing that's important

<cut

=====

cut>

what if one day we woke up in a place where everyone just want to get more for themselves and

And lots of people hate each other and people don't normally get credit for and x people succeed and money is and people live without purpose to life

and

maybe a census survey was done what evil things people think of and what direction purpose drive now vs the past

What about doing the right thing and using peoples potential a city where it is governed for peoples potential and human experience, the human experience for each person , life and not honour and morals, people who tests and system for don't lie, do the right thing, do unto others a way to show people have and will do the right thing exile for anyone that doesn't and allowed back in when they apologise and do the right thing every body wants every body else to be happy and have good human experience etc but they don't do anything because there are too many people and just help those around them and little effort in big picture, but where they would all want our government and systems to do all they can unfinished. No time. Seeing negative again where there are positives?
<cut

areas 1

List of new and old ideas for better society

- allocate people to jobs per skill set and what they want if they are not making money independently, options being created for them... maybe lower pay than... but not poverty level income, thought about this very little for not a long time ideally everyone should get a base income or cheap housing with people put in areas of similar types and interest for meaning to life it works ?putting bad people into bad areas makes them appreciate and want to follow laws of equality ideas

-
-

- Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, Emile Durkheim and W.E.B. Du Bois, Theodor Adorno's, Ruth Levitas and Erik Olin Wright, etc. collection in book Social Theory for Alternative Societies by matt dawson.

- Epicurus , Plato, Aristotle, etc, etc, etc. lots of ideas for area to include.

good bit and bad. AT least, The sentence "psychology for environment and social inclusion, happiness, etc. " above did not come from Epicurus, it came from my mind and vision of it, The words to me were unique, the words expand into 100s of pages vision if you understand it. Again writing chapters on what could be made may be useful using new technology but due to its concept and meaning to life has already been written number of times I could imagine, either way I will keep writing and will probably come up with some new things when compared to the compiled list of things to implement. I did not copy or paraphrase anything, if I do I quote it. Don't listen to philosophers that paraphrase without quoting, as they are frauds making their other ideas seem better, why would I write something that has already been written. Their ideas however seem almost the same which shows me their right.

- I should probably research more, because I will be writing things down that have already been written, how many people out there like me... a lot. the random amazing idea, it would have already been written so why bother, why think at all, just pickup a book from the last guy and start work, that's a pity, but I am sure a lot is new. the invention organisation who receives all the societies ideas could make a unfinished "see help inventors ideas"

- Venus Project <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Yb5ivvcTvRQ>

a lot ideas, and half of which I had thought of before watching this video, and I saw after I had written this document. But versions of this made based on best things for different people and people can choose. For example big divides in ideals.

Seems Fresco has been researching communism and utopian societies since he was young and compiled his ideas for one from what he has learnt with his own ideals. There should be number of areas for different ideals and people can choose. not just one system and ideals based on one person.

he also gives no reference to other sources of new society ideas except as his own in something that has a lot of money given to him for it, so would have liked him to give some reference in that video, don't trust someone if they don't at all.

for example, an ideal with a contrary belief is people are bourn differently and have different genetic predispositions in life, as studies have show. ignoring one of the biggest changes of mass migrations which take the time and effort in worry and disturbance of a lot of the inhabitancy of ", and the total change of ethnicity and mix of peoples in all of the worlds successful cultures in just a few generations. all ethnicities in our countries isolate themselves from one another, hate and repress others, promote their own, like to work towards some kind of future for their own people (not just humans) almost always, even in "non racist people", ~~have natural instincts to~~, loss of direction, and mental problems, isolation, cultural digression, etc, Where a lot of people prefer certain mixes of people, have instincts toward other types of people, try to stay in suburbs they are happy with, , and . disregard the opinions and behaviour of the rest of the world, our polies and history, will lead to shit hell. In particular , due to experiences. the uniqueness of peoples genetic traits make and humans should diversify and not all the same and should not all mix . bourn spirit and .

- psychology for environment and social inclusion, happiness, etc

- <https://www.ladonia.org> ideas share invention

- <https://www.tagesspiegel.de/gesellschaft/das-letzte-gebot-fur-alwine-5675083.html>

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Aokq_u8t5v8&t=720s want to make inventors community but residents are skeptical

- Spanish Arrasate-Mondragon MC co-operative enterprises

- other ideas / newer ideas / ?using new technology and building upon peoples current needs

- google "alternative societies" "alternative societies theoretical" "society alternatives" "?ideas for a better society" to find lists

- ? oursociet.uservoice.com

- ?"a study has shown that if everyone in a country were to get a poverty level minimum income that can pays for food and housing that this does not discourage people from looking for work"

- living around people that are a good mix and people believe in a future for and don't worry about the type of. Happiness hate direction by people in environment. [I have lots of ideas for this in other documents]

- "as a birthright you have shelter and food", looking at the needs of people.... peoples potential and skills...

can live to work on their own ideas and study, or x nothing live, people dont need to work, ?" this will not discourage people from working and "

Unfinished red

- my ideas in this document seem just as good as x people who have had credit for their ideas.

- everybody as individual and coming up with solutions for each individual

-

-

-

every good idea anyone has ever come up with for future society and lives etc (as much as possible), and to make system for use of future ideas study of what humans are determining what types of people there are and what better systems will work for them.

See: Help inventors system ideas > Development ideas system areas How to start 2

Create political party or as independent campaign in city where people would be interested in alternative like this co-op of people who believe in group funding (pledge $ and time)

How to promote :

Invitation

word of mouth

Advertising

-

-

what are the laws to get rights to create new laws and immigration from a governing party

Partition

List your rules.. and changes. Choose your environment.

A partition you would consider signing for this (yes no)

if is creation would you go (yes no)

And when the patrician is sufficient there is just claim.

=

====

Get me out of here

Plane tickets are cheap, almost any one can afford them or at least get a loan for a ticket

I am not seeing why there are not a list of options of alternative societies to join or apply to where probably some include such as above where people would be selected for traits background ideals etc.

=====

#2356784

=====

every 12 years ancient egyptian pharos would re evaluate and look at way to re-vitalize their kingdom with good intention . As time moves by things change and deteriorate and new problems arise etc and revitalization is needed what has changed and what problems and options do we have now .

=====

=====

constant census form app feeding change and improvements, organizing people for .

=====

If people cared more about life then .

Doctors and councilors seem very dismissive, no follow ups or support,

It is clear somehow they don't, or they think they do but just get on with . So kggh kc gh ghkchkc g

Expect that people would return if problems don't go away after they are told its nothing or don't get an that does not work. It end up like forgetting unless you have someone in your life that follows up but what options do they give you for advice when their money and time is precious to them, and to help people in the vastness of all problems when someone does not specilise in everything, and that even giving people options and following it up is hard for people to keep trying

So jlh jc ghc hkc ghkc gh

=====

Purpose to life, something to live for, good enjoyable activities, can refocus someone away from the pain and hell in their mind, like enjoyment, working for something meaningful, the best I think are being with a partner or the idea that you need to do things for a family. Leaning something exciting. Or finding something you enjoy. Things that are best for the human experience and can outweigh the negative things.

=====

areas for new ideas

ways to use ideas anywhere that are good for people the way they are thousands of years billions of people creating rules and systems must be the right thing... x new rules and systems causing new problems. better cheaper and less time consuming methods of business and development, and better knowledge and information systems ?systems will fail and ways to have backup and alternative when they start to

Looking at all human history, potential and who we are and creating new systems for what our lives and future and See: method > human (brain storming method)

not finished

=

Personally I feel like my familys and my own skills and potential has been unused,
So I imagine a system where people skills and potential is used more efficiently
Somewhere where peoples skills and activities are used by system that Somewhere where system is made to give people best life possible for each individual while getting people to do minimal amount of work to fulfil all the requirements and desires for all of its population

I am surprised this chaos works

Everyone just spending money on things they actually need, leading to more refined path of work and time, making things cheap so people can buy them cheaply and not need to work so hard. It's good. Easy ways to make money. Most people are maybe just driven by making their own life successful and it's the only reason they do most anything, and way most things get done? Just money, business and work, tax and ... and no real thought of use of individual potential and people not doing what they can, just money, i am surprised it works, maybe it is not working right, will a new computer program do a better job giving us a better life

Unfinished

? in title "20 options"

=

=

=====

20 options

if they don't have a job or want to change They choose 20 things they would like to do, the government allocates them to priority, they choose what they would like to do and can change when they want, they don't make money / much money until they are productive or

People work so hard on their hobbies, only option is to make it a business, but they dont, no ones sees or so there is a lot of business startup support services and people tend to go that way but does not work for

Fact is they don't mind being thrown in to jobs most of the time. Obviously something that made them feel successful would be good.

Relates to lumia tick box, expertise in fields that people could use, work co-ops, etc

Find original "20 options"

Find "20 options" bits

==

cut

=====

in title "20 options"

everyone is different, and at different times in their lives, and with so many influences there are being that also it is almost unfair to force people in to career directions and not look at their true wishes and abilities, with people failing to see or implement them

=====

in title "20 options"

instead of finding people and ways to do jobs, people list jobs and wait for people to apply for them, and a lot of people cant be bothered, have been rejected a few times and give up, etc, and then you get desperate immigrants taking the jobs and now there is a who system based around it . you let this happen to us and it is the surly people must see it, and it should be illegal how often do people get offered chances and things that fit in with their life. It would have been once where their were communities for this but now the instinct of the in-built abilities to put faces to different areas and people, animals, plants, with all the different type of conception and understanding defined in humans as awesome

And if you do not obey them, and obey the by what may be good by what others look like they are doing and perception Vision of others researched and rationalised rationalised to some "let it be" or future vision of it or the way it works well in a lot of ways when even the belief of it is affecting them and drives its direction

they always ignore whats happening

=====

~~When people like to work on what is important and fix problems, but what importance do they put on things, good direction and being able to choose to work on what you want that is most important. Sdfsdfs gsdgd fg dfhdfgh more important things you want to do.... Working is not going to fix anything in this place except help pay some bills, when it and life are miserable and so~~ that it is that I can write this documents swiftly and the important ideas flood my mind one after the other too many to write, easily 10 pages per week of new ideas was done in 2016 for 6 months, but large % cut from this document.

=====

=====

I have no capital to start anything, get nothing, and watch as similar ideas are made, or seem, with no direction or purpose except for mankind which is everything and more important than anyone. That we exist is a miracle and somehow I am in existence which is everything and beyond ideas .

I will die but existence will live on. What has been the best and worst changes to existence and the continuum in different places and as a whole. Is why it is a great direction and purpose in life (continued in #52465246), it turns out that trying to manipulate existence through ideas back fires can be futile or may work partly sometimes . Is a life time of ideas worth more than a few successful outputs, and when they are stolen by people with greed for direction or by others who somehow see them fade away leaving nothing to promote them as a whole in their true sense .

?!? Writing ideas not important or bad?, will continuing trying probably but tried for 18 years.

After each chapter some seem so important, get put here and forgotten, distant memories, and thing I would like to work on .

=

1. Robots, better systems and choosing not to work 40 hours a week
2. system for best happiness of human spirit. We are in existence for we are existence, for without us we would not have existence, unless the system if built to care for people, care to create the best paths for enlightenment, purpose, best by human psychology, etc (the collaboration, and areas), for the other people in existence we will never reach our happiness for everyone, when only people driven to create better existence for people may be driven (want themselves) to work fulltime, where we are aware that our import helps create better lives, without uncaring unfair manipulation upon others for themselves, of cause people can help you the most and gain class options, and you would promote most important aspects of making people better to exist in the best humanly possible way being xx x x,

It is also and to some point affected by peoples intelligent in its design and continuation, part of, and in the purpose of caring for people in existence, the people and ideas their share, the help they give others, people to bring enjoyment happiness and good mind stimulant, people who you can talk to and people of similar who get on well, and the AND THE

3. all these ideas people have had, and which is extremely important part of it and for its continuation

Apes probably do less work and are happier than we are. If we developed our intelligence to have easier better lives then we are doing the wrong things. Unfinished. About the best things that we are.

=

to save people from misery, health problems, etc would you not do it people can and have many times created documents on better ways of life, but we seem to be happy until people are killing each other or slave masters are not killing people (religions and god.... they form) . I mean the new system implementations were not so created enforced since then, ..., maybe because human spirit reverts back to its laziest state based upon ... until it's needed. I think it's needed now but people will probably only figure out what counters what is needed to a minimal based on what people will pay for or seem to fix biggest problems until life is satisfactory, and of course life is satisfactory for more people with power health and money so why would they want to disadvantage themselves to new systems. ~~based upon bring people in for jobs and money is all, so is why cities grow, and as it grows the people who create it thin out and mix into the that comes, where only the bits of systems that promote good things for people remain.~~

If they see it and they will fix it and/or if they see a better alternative they will use it or want to leave to it.

=

don't become what is everywhere if it is not good for you, or for the ~~majority/minority~~ different types of can have something else, of which could even be better than the majority, but only work with the minority.

=====

People have hobbies which distract them or seen as more important than money obviously at which point they don't even care to make much money,

Inventor help ideas also has server section #20 options, and important ones that are not tagged and not as titles or chapter theme suggest

=====

Although a lot of people are aware of not masking other people's lives bad, they are not so good at making their a lot better sometimes or most of the time in some regards or important things sometimes .

What is there to do in life but make your own life and other people's life's better.

Shame when people hate each other or don't see damage they could do. In particular

What an awesome safe and plentiful life that could have been there, but no, doom and depression, anxiety, sickness and where is this that we created that looks after our souls and lives it's missing

Above"

every body wants every body else to be happy and have good human experience etc but they don't do anything because there are too many people and just help those around them and little effort in big picture, but where they would all want our government and systems to do all they can

==

Original place of #457342634

==

areas 2 function bit

#

There are heaps of people who think our future is not good here and lots of places, not for the reason in this document, their opinions may be perception that come from which could have been different or fixed by where they live, but these people should feel some direction, purpose, something to live for, I forget the word. an escape from their doom in their paranoia as anything else is hopeless, at least some community of like minded people implemented ideas will give them some life and potential quick leaps forward in what they think is better life ?and examples for others from the things they create. number of different groups for number of different reason, to add that to the list of people who can be influenced to move into land you own to make money. Where they will move if what they are looking for is there, like pilgrims moving to america to get away from of europe

There could be a area or different areas of a larger area in a population dedicated to implementation that has in each area where a central area is standard . stale life that comes from a life of negative thought of life. a future where they would not want their children to have the same problems

I would move to the area of implementation. Someone who govern a city could

If there were some place where people were happier and there were no crime etc, then you would have made both a very attractive destination and a better life for a lot of people . coming from new ideas of way of life that most people can't see in another fat arrogant self obsessed place that makes better system , nothing changes because there is always an opposite side and people who are affected in the current system but somewhere new it can start again where you dont care what the other half thinks because they won't be there

So many things people wont implement because it wont work with all the people, some people wont like it, etc, etc, holding back the implementation of alot of things, but are suitable for a lot of people.

=

add as people change over time the

Something like

Main problem is people change quickly over a life time of what they want and who they are, as in their different stages they are accepted and not accepted. But does not scratch this concept out but people probably going to move

=

Ideally robots and system would work on and clean one place and people move into it as their one is then worked on by robots again or not... would make twice as much crap but

=====

Original place of #45457457

=

Potential of people, Things people are good at and their potential, unused because it is unseen and un utilized. Ways to use peoples potential exploded and draining from optimizing profit, when ideally there are present ways to both use your skills and enjoy life.

==

There are problems with aspects of work that make people want to quit or things that could be in someones life that made made the work ok maybe by giving them some reason to achieve more Hobbies turn into jobs.

There is a list of thing people would want to do and work that they would like to do but not always the opportunities

Numbers of people not doing anything much on their list and being , turned into a new system that helps them work on things on their list, like project allocations

And

-
-

=====

Continued from government ideas list system

<cut

=====

====

New system x with government run society with a thousand people can walk passed a homeless person lay passed out in in the middle of the street

=====

but the system should help thousands of years after we develop cheap homes and food, in what we call a developed country , some still go with out, this is a shit system minions of devils roaming the street, conscious good people homeless and smashed to pieces. new ignorance ways-to-destry-souls and hatred too much, people dont even think, and let hell .. wake up in is this new hell, where cloud of x is making people think its normal devils awlways thrying to push his way in, new lost rules and systems, luckily I don't actually have too many real problems except for shitty life with no meaning which seems normal, health problems which seem to be normal, normally my bigger problems such as having no money to pay rent or chest pain or head pains like I am going to die etc somehow normally work out I figure out a way to help myself or problems go away by themself, or a problem is not having something I can still live without, or a thought of possible future disaster that may not happen, You have a life that you can do things with, what stupid to make yourself feel like giving up on life because of problems. You have a life. Like never having anyone to love or a family seems to be my destiny but I still have a life. A life which I would not worry about this unless I thought about it.

=====

=====

supporting, providing solutions, for new problems in people in new culture, loss of direction, isolation, anger, depression, etc.

=====

cut> Know what they want and need

Determine what they are doing wrong, what they are telling them self to give up etc

Seems stupid, too hard to make, people wont like it, seems great, easy to make, people will like it << either way peoples lives are failing,,, <cut

=====

Socialist / Communist / Future society type ideas:

CUT

Unfinished

thoughts of humanities and society failings = ideas and solutions

Constant thoughts throughout half a life leading me to

=====

Being a caring person does not help much, giving your life to problems you see as important, intelligence to see above these fucked problems and horrible x.
self success focused greedy uncaring ignorant people = life

no hate, no bullies, no criminals, no killers, no assassins life = system
life = individual help environment for each individual needs (system for individuals) profiling what works for any problem and assessing needs assessing needs = more than what we are doing now Copy (original):
assessing needs = profiling, open problem DB (they wont tell you unless they know you can do something about it),
Lumia maybe computer generated > we have detected a problem > do you think this is a problem ? >
yes>protocol for each problem>and each assessed to make sure protocol suits or to write protocol
people who care for individual person type/problem = good protocol
xxx>system for life = no finished / written elsewhere <xxx system has individual environment / population environment improvements (per person type / and overall) people are already happy? So why can't you be like that. It's your own system you need to worry about, but it can be hard / not working right for a lot of people, so this is still important. Seems people try to help you work with the current system better because it works, but this is better.
people are too afraid, lazy, poor, money brains, ignorant, so they make the workarounds areas g 2 xxxx>remove title? H9 indicates tags for . I just want to see this in the menu when I am working on something <xxxxxx

=====

Put people into collaborations / group areas and see where they are most happy. See if anyone victimizes other people, etc section from cut make their lives happy with from basic things they enjoy and they will have a more productive life and make better decisions, use their potential better give people happiness, simple things, first and they will be more productive and have more motivation for using this app

===

described better in lost document simple things that make everything work, the things that getting credit for your work or skills, making good income from good work, feeling successful, etc works to

=

=====

A lot of people don't like living or don't want to live, does not help make them look after themselves or be productive

=====

A lot of people seem happy and successful and a lot don't, but its not good enough, everybody should be happy and healthy

For people who are healthy and happy it may be confusing as to why a lot of others are not, some kind of sickness, or bad genetically, if you spend your entire life thing about why people are like that, always concerned, what problems there are and ways to fix them, and don't spend heap of time thinking about yourself your probably going to end up like them. A lot of reasons why people become like that and others become the way they are, major problem is misery and people not caring about themselves, where theoretically u could use an app to make people feel successful, using their potential, healthy, and happy in their life and environment, giving them options, change of environment to where they would be happy etc, before they degenerate into or kill themselves after a long time in the wrong environment or bad choices that they know are wrong.

=====

Times when society is manipulated for the people who live there, motivated from grief or horror people choose new starts, with motivation from giving people better lives and , and have shown the best changes in societys condition, new developments, life for people, and better societies

A motivation I forgot was to try to completely manipulate my life as much as I can. Left up to fate either my life or a society will go to hell, a society hell is a natural state , life is hell as is only up to us to find whats best for us and is in a decline of well controlled culture and society that give everyone the fates of good life, at least here and in my life, and it going to be hard or imposable to pull out for a lot of people who don't manipulate their own life.

Planet and life inherited and , just what we are a alone on a planet evolved from , giving ourselves animal pleasure and delusions of the super natural and some faith things are going to be good and fantasy that make to make us happy.

=====

misery and hell becomes a part of people until they don't want to Thought of their hell, disaster of life, unhappiness, destroying peoples lives, taking over who they are, ongoing trauma, retarding people, distraction to normal good life, not caring about, and creating their sickness or motivation that creates their sickness advertising for life here is a lie, people are happier in x, probably because people are smarter and care to give the people in the community happier lives.

=====

=====

history of cities where we were the happiest and used their potential the most and why systems, laws, philosophy of leaders, etc history showing peoples lives, and now, what they do, and . compare then and now, and see the changes and see whats changed

=====

Promoting people to keep a journal will improve peoples self-awareness of their lives, and will give accounts of their lives for other people to gain from and examine people don't know the pains and problems we go through, occasional we tell someone but as a whole you only have yourself

A journal with worldwide connectivity now becomes support and improvement, examination of what you are doing and what you want, and you wont make the same mistakes.

It should be as you're paying a company to guide you in life and to help you get the things you are trying to do and not make the mistakes so many people are making, even in life people are not going to give you the right advice but looking at situations the company will. In stead of paying them to begin with, they prosper from your success or you don't pay them.

happiness, success, etc ____!, would pay a lot of money for. The person who cares gives it away for free of cause.

Sign me up please.

=====

Definition 2

How to better occupy yourself and your life.

Occupational Therapy

=====

Journal / life story dump folders

=====

=====

Find original "20 options"

science fiction imagines an AI that supports peoples live but better instead a system that supports peoples lives through protocol.

Once maybe what people wanted meant something unfinished

maybe a different culture of life perhaps there has been some system of control and support through documents before, it makes sense because verbal communication or self-ambition is x does not work so well like treating people after they have already destroyed themselves, or give people drugs for problems instead of fixing lives.

still alive, but who you are, your problems, ideas and mean nothing as system was built to make money and now controlled by people who that's all they want to #4265742432345

=====

Those paragraphs in this document about area app and and personal life tracking from vip and things like this information from their infrastructure and business infrastructure can the things they can do under warrant be used in all the ideas for data and personal support under users choice be added

no organization except for maybe x organization with government x contract would have access personal assistant would do what , and what is free under automated system except for when there are personal questions, support or bugs

there are sections missing also in monitoring escalation gone wrong (80% cut)

=====

section
where.... including enlightenment where we would if good people > doc Samsung promotion of anything method for promotions

plato allegory of the cave youtube v=SMIUKJIMge4

-
-
-
-
-
- bit in like the inventors organization
-
-

like the inventors organization screen shot allegory of the cave 0:11

=====

At least if you were looking after animals you would probably look at this, but you need to find out why, with clarity over time, easy clicks for future problems, and set solutions for types of people Easy with looking at what is making them... normally much healthier happier people with xxxx, tests to see... Lots of different kinds of animals out there, one main environment with..., lots of environments they don't belong, bad environments that no one should belong. rehabilitation.

[] [] [] [] [] []
[] [] [] [] [] []
[] [] [] [] [] []
[] [] [] [] [] []

[1] [2] [3] [4] [] []

X area elect different locations can elect,

Tech

Options

Systems

what they would but by oversight and

=

Areas bit 2345234

Under

free phones or area function (original)

Areas... I had the ideas, phones and locations of people, people but... would have areas and I did not write but heres an another idea

Tax dependent on person and area on everything

5% in area 1, 40% 2, 60% 500% 1000%+ out of area for unwanted travellers and no registered. All travellers to register for tax same with work, but preferably no work except for residents of each so now a new dynamic

Separating them in line of most compatible or what they want

=====
Unsorted....

Read this for direction

We will build this upon the premise that

Some people have no idea what to do in life and will write very little and others may have too many ideas and write a lot

And that people may need direction, may not make good decisions, do not use their potential,

Humans are limited and where a system for them can

=====

Under based on psychology

Where people get a long well for their common respect for life and philosophy.

System based on and best solutions for the problems it creates

More to life

Educating to respect life and it's What is life from science and philosophy, if people don't

Media and entertainment that will constantly remind us of what life is, philosophy etc, creating more realistic attitude and respect for life

Still if people live in this cartoon they call life they don't belong, a requirement of entry, only when people live with the understanding

=====

End 2014

I worked a bit on that during 2 years 2014-2016, and was not supposed to be published like that, it's the kind of work I could not do if I took a normal job at the time, because the matrix sucks my soul away into it, so I decided to stay conscious (poor). I wonder what I'd be working on now not that I ever wanted to quit just circumstances showed my I need to get a job, and this worked mostly stopped for 7-8 years,

Maybe there's some dickhead out there wanting to make some money, why wait until it's made to copy something or make something similar now you have an idea that hasn't even been made before. You could put it on a crowdfunding funding site like it's new.

With all the assistance AI systems out there I'm sure you can think of something new to add to make it feel like your idea. Do it, I would, maybe I do, maybe adding it here I get some funding or a job, unlikely as no one has ever left a comment for any of this, but if you're good at selling an idea maybe you do, you can come back to me for help or work it's ok I won't be angry you marketed the idea as your own.

=====

A lot of things can be done online now, things are. AI is still a bit new to people in 2026, but it's starting in government and business. But heaps of things still can't be done online or by AI and the people who do them manually don't seem to care or know how they would be done online or by AI, they just sit there doing it, and there is no real point in telling them and no one is hired to do it. And to fix this in a normal community someone with the idea can do it or report it so their community it better or easier or functions.

Also there are people can think of and or find how things can be better that aren't just doing something that already exists but there should be a reason for them to do so

==

AI auditing setup are easy, can set it to detect all kind of issues and monitor or process with all kinds of things, this will find some gaps phone calls are already recorded, AI can read them, scan them for enquiries and fix bugs , find things hat aren't working right causing someone to call, something missing from online services. Why are they calling means somethings is not available for self serve online. Or they need support with it which is different and

===

Recent U.S. labor reports show that the economy lost 92,000 jobs during the winter, apparently due to people being replaced with AI
Biggest in 40 years except covid

What if outsourcing to other coht ries for cheaper manufacturering and

It's quite simple to vision the whole situation and see how people can still have everything they want

Apparently if people in government have some common sense they can figure it out

If someone has a job or money does mean it's easy for someone else or that every one can work every day in some job especially if they need to do so for a very long time to just keep payiôtheir rent or mortgage, if they don't have such an expense maybe they could take a break more often

=====

=====

In one idea for the organized area, that I wrote before, is that a company is run for the people for all their ideas,

The government creates a brand name and creates businesses in all the fields of business that have ideas being generated, so most of the common businesses anyway , this won't work unless a lot of people are contributing ideas in particular businesses so that would be seen to be which ones are created

So when someone submits an idea because they think it's good too good for public, it goes to the government brand name for consideration of implementation within a business that it was thought for.

If this was big scale, ai would be good for this if it can run through all the similar ideas and link it to them for better outcome and consideration, it can also look through patent database, and analyse existing ideas, and analyse the idea itself based on the scoring system previously quoted or made.

where people can be part of the company with recognition of their ideas and compensation when appropriate

And for the ideas that are for uncommon business, where there are not many ideas submitted for a particular kind of business, or where it's not practical for the brand name to create a business just for a few ideas that are not good enough to improve that business

Then

But business is stocks and the motivation from share holders and the management and, so I don't know

But the person has an interest in a field of development within a business or industry, society or government or something, where the idea can go, more than to businesses who don't seem to be taking ideas from people outside of who works for them, it seems. Where an idea may mean someone is interested in working in it with them or just submitting it to the greater picture for overall improvement, where they feel they are submitting it for recognition and or some reward for seeing it, and this is currently a problem.

=====

If the ai could understand how the businesses are run and what peoples needs are, you could ask it to suggest robots and programs to make things more productive

For some jobs the AI can't do the ai could give instructions, such as ?Someone logs into work, and sees the options, and chooses one, the ai will provide some instructions, then when the person gets there the ai can give more instructions via watch their video which is pointed at the job?

If it knew the number of people, landed availability, development ideas, businesses, etc, it could plan for

Can you please design a

=====

If you had 100 assistants that were all smarter than a human working for you full time, that knew you better than anyone else ever would, how would your life change

They also appeared in one humanoid machine

They could also design the community around you or at least submit ideas for it to the elected person that managed it that they could choose if you didn't.

How would life change. It's becoming the current situation and the future is greater possibilities.

=====

I made a video from old idea

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=s_LpgQ6sGrI

The voices and images could be better, just A.I. designed it like that

Untitled

=====

Just another morning thought here

If people had the choice they would choose people in council or government and as neighbours who knows and respect them, respect them for what their good at. But they don't have the choice.

I have never been asked what I want nor from any one with power to do anything about things, but that would be interesting.

Perhaps I'm not good at asking for what I want, I don't normally ask people, like I never submitted any of these ideas to government or anyone. Once I thought about it and had feeling I don't know who they are.

I'm sure that's common, like when I was younger checking emails thinking maybe something interesting will be proposed in my life, but never does, or publishing some article or video no one ever comments on then it's deleted. Some of the best YouTube videos I have seen are not watched.

A government does not care about their opponents ideas let alone someone in the public that don't have any communication with them.

I remembered the bit about waiting for an email, from years ago I wrote about that which was included in some of my earlier ideas on , which I won't be looking up right now.

I'm thinking about this after thinking about #573758584 how it could help me with that. Which is also in a bunch of movies.

=====

I feel deprived of community because of above, of company of people and their energy because I don't make time to see people
There are many people staying home or just work mostly, but if they had local community of friends, you will see them, I have seen a lot of them, most people are like that

There are homeless people I think are deprived because we can't build affordable homes or rooms , and people need to work too long to pay for them

Deprive of work or business because you say they did not make it, maybe you think their lazy

=====

How can people accept nothing going on in their lives, how is this the default environment. Why doesn't anyone talk about it. Where all there is is trying to save money on low paid jobs for ever for nothing , where the

=====

Continue on from #Pearl jam, and #holidays vs community

Some people may think we have get opportunities,lots to do, good wages and jobs

Actually a lot of people don't. I feel sorry for the way life is Working full time to may off some house for 40 years is not even possible at most wages here any more

There are a lot of disturbing environments and not much happens for meaning or work sometimes,

Many things I won't list here

Regarding unemployment pension, most people lie to get the high amount, they are asked can you work 15 hours a week, they need to say no, but if you look at what they do in life it is evident they can and do work for more than 15 hours per week in some capacity

Public housing people need to lie to get it, it determined by if someone is vulnerable person to get it, it I think the only difference is that they if they are "vulnerable" they need a whole house for themselves while other who don't classify themselves as vulnerable need to live in share accommodation. I would say maybe the vulnerable people maybe need some supportive care and should not live in a house by themselves whereas people who can look after but who find it difficult to work for 40 years full time to pay off a house should be getting public housing. no one should be living in a share housing with strangers and or bad landlords.

It's been 17 years in share housing where I don't know where I will ever get out of it, let alone ever have any kind of community or any other meaning in life

I don't know, do these rich people think life is so great because they go on holidays and . I don't think just because someone can tolerate this, and other people don't like it , and other people get stuck in thoughts and media forever, that people should say this is acceptable or there is just something wrong with the other people

Working some shit job full time to go on holidays and watch things and talk about things with no meaning is not life to me

I'd rather do up some cheap starter home (big 4 walls) and do part time work and try to find some meaning in life that which meaning comes from being, community, life, etc. yes I know the government thinks it's just economy, and otherwise just meaningless things, that socialising don't need meaningful things or local community.

I do like money and work is just work sometimes like making something for myself which would be nicer if I didn't need to make it and it was just there.

There seems to be a problem with the skills and motivation for doing things and the connection to actually doing anything, people have some wish or try or study but don't get job or project

I personally have too many ideas. Some people can think of something for a long time but just not do it. There are definitely ways to make this a lot better easily.

=====

#5738384747

Continued on from #647383637

This started partly started with nationalisation and industrialisation where people are transported to places of work away from their communities.

People now believe they are part of a nation and not local group. Watch this to learn more <https://youtu.be/AXz0kbMKPu0>

This is one of the required things to watch to understand what happened to local communities

|

Also worst because of cars and public transport so people don't spend much time in their local communities,

And goods and services reach a much wider market

|

Also worst because of better environment at home ?

This may give you some ideas

Perhaps this is problem for people who would be better in a community, but don't connect or so things the way they are Otherwise more likely to know the people we grew up with and know so well and have family type feel about. Now we have phones to keep in contact with them but not local normally, and even if it's not possible to recreate a community that exists though the years with people deals with locally, because people don't do local for long all the time, and may never happen again, however you can have a community better by choice so maybe even better that way, even if most of the businesses and work is outside of it now.

--

Work to live, vs, live to work

When there seems no hope of doing anything real or towards life

Some bad job, like collecting bottles, and it like wasting time , with no community or nothing to do about it

I had less problems at home doing this, but outside working I thought for a minute it won't end and I felt like there was no reason to live

I'm home and I don't think that now, also I thought it was hard not to have a lot of hatred here like this, I guess that comes from the environment where no life for me and happy stupid world won't change then then I die ,

Some distance that can affect the nervous system etc, but home environment with strangers with no job can be worse

I wrote this because it may be relevant to what I have seen in other people who are isolated, don't get paid much or don't like their jobs or don't have a job, are not doing much with life or doing what is against their understanding

==

?History of land ownership and kings, showed that some guys can own the land and have people serve them, that's not a great community
My father said before we had this system we had feudalism which he did not think was better

?From what I remember of napoleonic wars was that napoleon fought wars in a lot of Europe, under the impression of the enlightenment, in a way to bring freedom and liberty to individuals oppressed by lords who ruled the land and just do things their way, ?however napoleon installed his own governments and leaders(?and tried to own the land) ?but later things became more democratic

I could imagine before that there were some communities where government or lords knew the people and , it now is individualism except for in case of some business partners, where a lot of people just sit at home without a

Apparently when someone owns a home they are stuck in it and have vested interest in the community because their home is there. I can see this working for lords in their kingdoms

I think it would be better as I have written else where

I'm probably never get to experiment with it, maybe someone can read this, fuck it up, and then after that people with correct it and then it could be better than what it was.

The problem is if your in government to start it, you can't take away people's land rights, but there may be areas that the government owns where land rights and public development opportunities can be changed as proposed Otherwise you need land or people to invest in it it would be better to start with people who wanted this. Like an ad where you dont give the location of property for sale but the concept.

I don't see myself doing either

The best I can hope for is some rundown affordable homes I could buy and or build, but I'm not getting there anytime soon, and will be old and sick or dead before it happens, but maybe also the sickness I already have which I contribute to this environment, live and thoughts makes it more difficult and less and less appealing.

=====

I wrote something about not leaving home if I could, things outside and on media aren't real in people lives, but there's not much at home, but community could be home, where people leave it mostly to make money.

Things outside of me give me anxiety, but at home they should not , but they do because of share accommodation and no community, but isolation is better then strangers

What it could be , the future I want that I'm often not sure about, is a place where I know people and part of the community where ideas get made, I mean life is made by people's thoughts, part of it instead of just no one but some job a machine could normally do . I thought where some things could be designed and injustice and trouble looked at where it not here except by the individual or for strangers

What are these big community centers in each area of there is no community for them.

Since I was an adult I have missed that feeling of being somewhere with people I know, sort of gives feel of life

?helps with some sort of pain people experience

If I had a community Id like to look at that for free , or it should be a free service relative to how badly it affects people , relatively compared to the billion dollar community centers that I find no value in at all.

|
|

?Putting energy on rented environments with strangers, and no future in life

? Putting energy in making money in some way for long time around strangers, not doing what you dream,

?can it help if the money is going towards your dreams indirectly as you make it

=====

Choose neighbours.

It is my ultimate goal, i see when i am alone day to day. I don't get out much. I dont anticipate ever thinking full time work is a goal. I know today I wont see anyone and the next coming days , it could be a long time. If you have lived in shared accommodation and seen peoples lives on a day to day basis, you will know its common.

Social interaction leaves lasting energy signatures. I had had one partner in the last 20 years, I can guarantee that would not have been the case if I saw people in a local community.

I believe this will cause a feeling of community that i have not had before.
a social experiment ?

==

P.s.

I don't think home community is enough

But going places for no reason, places with strangers

Going places with people you have good feeling about is good

Rather than going to places with just one person and where there are heaps of strangers, is not great, but going to places where you know people, and others are there that may be connected to a friend who they share some life with , so listening to them there is some things you know about what their talking about.

Unfinished. Things about things to do.

=====

Like always there is void of life around me, people don't seem like part of my life. Without have some community I don't see why I would see people sometimes for months and years.

Looking at investing and the news I was lost in some delusion I'm part of a country or world, but I'm not a part of it so far as doing anything with it, and it's delusional think i will be (99.9999%), but if your in a chose neighbours community and part of the council that has some funding, the there is 100% you will be part of it.

Do I just eat and watch moves and relax a lot to try to find peace or enjoyment. These not much real so wondered if my mind is going to too much not real things, work and investing is not really real to me but the money to try to save for something better, I wondered there then if there was some kind of promotion for real things, some real social things instead of find it enjoyable just watch strangers. Things like that.

=====

These people makes such a place and think its great, and do worst in other places and still think what they do is great, its a reason to help people make their own place with people who would believe in something better.

=====

Knowing people and participation in a community around, now ideas and life are a part of your area.

The government may be there to support the systems, work and economy , especially for individuals and as a whole. But promoting local community with more power over ideas and improving their company and making this better and more interesting should help improve communities, problem may be added by the current trends against community, where if people choose their communities rather than going somewhere because of housing affordability or for work. This will probably make the area more rich if you help these communities with promoting work and business.

Some people won't need to leave their community for work, which may help with consciousness while working, especially if it's for their own ideas for community, and may cause more work to happen.

To fix this in a home that's not your own, and a home you don't want to live in. Or fix things because it is your home and make it somewhere better or tolerable to live.

=====

Maybe one day things will come from thoughts more easily, it makes sense that they should, even if just shared, like if there was a purpose to that space you find in your mind to think about anything you want so clearly , that you find in some kind of peace and loss when you go to work? Like money can't get you to that idea you got up for Those ideas and states of being seemed so important? But never ment anything? Then you end up in some job you don't believe in to pay for some place you don't believe in, or nothing. Probably in our past they ment more, I mean was a job to see what it was to do, things in life and

Where anything you do doesn't get you to where you want to be from ideas, where it should have been like that to start with You can fix this

=====

I'd like to refine this for the business plan, it's a book of ideas, as such some Im sorry about some of the random things I have thought.

==

I find myself sitting in front of a computer, not really interested to go out, seems like a common thing now, and probably wont change as more people become accustomed to not going out, as you may have seen the trends in getting food delivered, doing online things, and people staying home.

But I think you will see the difference if people choose their neighbours and have things to do without going organising things away from local community. Or organise better away from home, [unfinished]. People should promote local people who want to organise things, as above.

It has always been disturbing to me when I see I'm not doing anything with life, but I hope one day i do, one day I am in or can make an environment where I do. doing things in life right now doesn't feel like the work I'm doing, or the random nice things I do for people or people I see, or the schedule I have for seeing people this week,

=====

When your in a community you can see some problems with it, otherwise your just looking at people on the street, government has some friends and family which are rich and have their own families, and they look at things like cost of living and things with money.

But if you have a community you can also try to fix things. But here thoughts are just random meaningless, even if they have meaning there is nowhere for them, no one to talk to that would do anything, and nothing ever happens but meaningless things.

I could find and or think about answers but where so they go. I'm seeing problems and answers and could continue with some important things. Seems the

=====

I like to think of the environment as just something our spirit exists in and we should hope that ourselves and others find peace in it. But it should be something that can be designed, if there is something not peacefull we should be able to change it.

It's nicer when there's no trouble and people aren't rude to you or use you without paying.

You should be able to choose who you live around and who you work with. Considering not having high birth rates western countries should at least be able to make affordable housing so people don't need to share homes with random people.

I think one of the keys to my good consciousness or the lack of head pain is to care for the souls of those around me, to think we'll of those around me, so why is housing the way it is and work the way it is. Nevertheless I can hope for all people good consciousness, peace and life. However people seem to do things towards me that are not for this, so sometimes I think of them as some negative entity and this causes the head pain, so I just hope for them to get better and just don't want them in my life, which works. Perhaps this is similar to hoping for good things for the environment and feeling at peace with it. Which also I have been trying to do.

Anyone suffering from these type of uneasy feeling head pains can pray for the souls around them and things like that.

I thought somehow we were made like this by whatever energy causes this. So for the consciousness and good spirit you can both use the understanding and create an environment for it.

You will find after someone was not so nice or some distance in environment, when you talk to someone does not feel like against you and that you respect that it will get rid of that bad energy, and we should be in an environment with these people with mutual respect.

=====

#5837474838

Several times I have seen that watching movies could be used to reenact them in our own community or with people who like that type of movie. Apparently we are supposed to write our own story, but what if 98% of our lives are in isolation or at home or work and that's just what it is. What if we like movies because it's a lot cheaper and easier than actually doing something.

We don't pay people to make help our lives but pay some people to act out things our soul thinks are part of life or a story with people in it for our soul. We actually do pay people to look after our economy etc. Perhaps people are too busy to organize such a system, too busy paying off their mortgage, or trying to make money for that next investment property so their income is a bit better.

There are lots of places to go out and people to message, why don't I just do that when I like. Why do I think I need some local community to design that for, why not just keep it simple the way things are already. Kind of like when I was younger, often thinking of who/ where/ how to go out or invite to my place to get together and what to do. Outside feels like unlimited places to go.

Being stuck in shared homes with people I wouldn't normally invite to gatherings, even if they are friends. I used to invite people over and see them more at home. But still felt like knowing people next to my home was important. And normally didn't invite people over or invite to go out. But have felt more interest in knowing neighbors to see, I believe a lot of people would not have experienced friends as neighbours. Perhaps it comes from thousands of years of human habitation. It's an experiment I need to try, overwhelming my life. Homes here have recently become more unaffordable and only wealthy people can afford to live by themselves. Something you would hope doesn't happen to your local community. Unlike other cities with this problem Australian cities have low density housing everywhere that has become unaffordable.

Perhaps in isolation is where I think that people around will be part of my story and it's something to work towards. Some movies make me feel at peace with life, some people and environments so too make me feel at peace with life.

Perhaps an environment for unscripted making things easier to do, such as the people in it with their imagination think of something and with just that thought it takes place, sounds like it will cost money and time? Not so much? this week I could participate in groups or organisations or business in many fields, why don't I don't that.

Am I just going to end up home again in some bad story. Or do I want to make a home a story and something to do, because going out does not last. The fact that I end up back home where the story does not change or gets worse and no one cares about it, why would I care to go out when that leads to nothing at home where I always end up in the end for long time, and give up on the things I go out for except the things I need.

If not for a local community and scattered community as a group can pay someone they know within that group to look at things to do and depending on who is in that group and what they want in life. And what would interest them. People have their own interests and there are supposed to be groups and work for those interests and you go out with your friends sometimes to shared interests as your friends may have.

To see your friends in local meeting area anytime, next to your home, as part of community design, where there are small government systems and local things to do.

We serve strangers and schedule because that's where the work is. But servicing a friend has been proven to feel greatly more rewarding.

?Something that's always there rather than organizing something in a place of strangers. Need to make bit more effort I think I should.

I have often considered myself as lazy but its often procrastination and feeling but more comfortable just sitting and thinking in my space.

=

It may look like people are just sitting around watching movies and doing a bit of work, but amongst them are people who actually want to do things. Such as the list of importance which is used. Where things are found for community, where things they need to do can also be fixed for community. Where community is based on these things instead of tenders for what a few in the government thinks need to be done.

I envision local organizer looking at this list, and seeing opportunities are available.

=

In a normal ancient community, if there was not something right, we'd think about it and work on it, considering we don't have community, maybe our problem is just we don't have much money or housing, so we go to work in the economy, but this can be a problem when the work is not great to do long term or

Considering the government gets so much money you'd think they would fix this so at least these people can work.

At least when my environment is not good I think I should work , but the options are like some kind of hell, or other options that are not so well paid or part time.

People here don't make any type of community based on any other types of values, so there is nowhere to move. And making anything requires more than my life time, where no one seems to care or think about it. I thought either way I'm dead but working full time seems to be just away to suffer while I get there, and although it may makes some difference the amount of suffering in my own life, I'm sorry. It's not that work is the problem it's just the way work is that causing suffering which is not looked at.

What troubles are some people having with work, making ideas, making business, sharing ideas with business, being part of community, and other things

Apparently I'm going to write this and not send it to anyone, a positive side of that is I can move on from this idea quickly I hope , there are lots of positive things about what people can do

here I can write anything

On the positive side I can think about a positive to whatever I think about next

Writing this gave me ongoing anxiety

What can I do if I can't change something easy enough, I can ignore it, I can ignore my reality because I can't change it, I guess it a goal to be able to try to find peace and when seen something wrong or to do to be able to do it more easily or have less things to worry about and maybe more things done so the spirit goes to bed feeling more fulfilled

There's maybe a couple of people who are in charge of council areas for 60000+ and of those 60000+ people don't seem interested in each other or contacting this person in council

I don't even live in a home that's mine.

People that own the homes or are in council don't care about such things so I hope this is fixed in future

=

Regarding moves like looking at designs for life

Destination

I like a tv series the best with a community of people doing things, ancestral treasure and knowledge, the hunt for knowledge, because that's what great if all history is for future of life, I miss this in my own life, it's sad.

It's something younger people would enjoy but not create.

In these groups people from relationships, I guess that's what normally happens

These people seem to need these common interests, community or work like military. I have seen work here as work and not as community, and see home as community, and how that could be better arranged, so people do these real things and not just sit there alone in front of a computer or tv etc. things just happen depending on the people in it and the things to do, the treasure and knowledge should be available.

In the past the knowledge was the bible for spirit and direction perhaps, there was also knowledge of the world as some sort of treasure so it seems why there was so much traveling.

If you don't have this, then what are you living in, do you deserve to be isolated for a lifetime because you're bad or sick?.

Do you deserve to be in work places and share homes where people don't know and or sometimes respect you for the great life and person you and the knowledge you possess and things you would like to do, and the history you have? Something like that.

I hope you can fix it, you can pray to be happy without it and work towards it but in some cases you can never get there?

What ever you do if you don't make the place then are you just going to end up back in work and homes living with strangers and or in isolation? Do you need to live somewhere that doesn't happen?

Is your path like a destination to nothing or to something. Is the world like nothing for you are not part of it and it does not matter, but you do.

These are questions I ask myself.

=====

If you're just a part of the economy, and not a part of a community, then what is there to do but work.

Can see anything and do nothing. Thoughts and actions don't go anywhere.

=====

Re tenders by government

If the government just cares to make people a part of their (the governments) ideas and economy. What if the people who see lots of problems, apparently that can cause bad energy and death.

Trying to make them go to work while their seeing this and don't feel well?

If they can see their organizer who believe in thing they do and may help put them at ease and so they feel a bit more at peace , or after communicating problems they see, to the organizer

That sort of way that being with certain friends or people could make someone feel at peace or open their brain, but at the end of the day it doesn't mean anything as they dont share community except for some idle conversation, and in the end there is just them or them and their partner, and as people age they see less reason to see anyone and everyone becomes like strangers in an isolated world. But people seem just happy their talking to someone for no reason and seem to ignore any kind of injustice or tragedy.

What's a place where people are thinking a lot and see a lot of problems but don't do anything,

What happens to someone, constantly seeing problems but not doing anything, and getting angry and or depressed anxious about life from this

Where does this come from

How to help, doing something, or changing thought pattern from seeing problems, instead Blocackages, tension, strokes, asphyxiation,
Most people don't see problems much, just look after themselves, who sees problems, what happens when no one cares

To remember something good about life even if there is something bad.

=====

No one or very few people care that, someone like me would be sitting around thinking forever doing nothing, or that life is almost meaningless except for work and property people buy and business to serve strangers, or that even a small home would cost someone like me a lifetime wage, or work is. I guess it could be a great place if your not like me and do t care or think k if such things and rent out some of these small boxes for life to live off or something like that. Problem I have had don't get fixed, someone like me would have the same problem or worse now. There is no community to change things so.

That if someone reaches some higher perspective of life and possibilities or has some normal higher conscious that the institutions for that are not what I could imagine they should be or welcoming part of life , person like me won't participate well or at all. Type of thing that won't get fixed.

What if I could help design a place where I think would help in my life a different stages and for different things, is that wrong or would that cause a problem over what we have now.

What if the way things are is good the way things are and I'm just not trying hard enough and don't like schedules and getting out of bed at same time every day,

About living in a community and seeing or imagining people are going through similar problems and being able to fix that when seen, when seeing and taking to people. But not applying one ideas on everyone or a community that I don't see.

Some ideas are here, some ideas on how change could be easier.

I live in Australia there's not much different between the states, unlike USA or Europe, there are some difference between the areas of a city a bit like most cities. At least at the moment nowhere is affordable to live in own home.

#573758584 >

I can make anything I want, talk to anyone I want, ask anyone for any type of job or anything, things like that. There are a lot of possibilities, so why do I think there is a problem with the way things are and not what I'm doing. [1] If you see someone in pain, not doing much with life, no work, or dieing or what ever, or what ever in groups of people, you can help them. You can't help groups of people in way things work that they may be happier or anything.

[2] what if an environment could be that would make it more to do things rather than watch tv or just think about things. I guess I will do that until nothing happens.

By some pets, go to Thailand, ignore the world, it's good.

[3] for people who think more than do, some system for ideas where something is chosen and done or something. Else just jain the people doing things aimlessly and. I guess having money for what you need is a good start, so exchanging that with others to give them something. I would like to do that more.

[4] I have been doing that for the past 27 years, I will be dead before I do anything

It's reason why I guess I thought about the design of something else I have moved home 20 times, and lives with over 50 different people, maybe about 100, I can go back and recall all of them, as well as observing neighbors and friends and the

=====

If your doing something you feel as meaningful towards people in your area for life, if your seeing people you know and have real communication towards real things,

I guess it's better than watching some stranger tell you to be happy or meditate, or watch movies for some type of emotion

I have always felt like this

==

Finding pease here, but there's feeling from outside, first it's not good feeling for me to share home unless working in home or project in it, but image content to my life from outside , otherwise content is missing, wrong content could also be there so choose neighbours and help your community have good content and stories

What is the content like a movie outside ready for me, and when I come home my soul knows it's real and continuing, but I don't need to leave my house, but if I don't I would like to know people are happy in their story.

If your passionate about fixing things in the world or your city, would it be better to first have some community or move to one you feel you want to fix , the people you see and how your treated and want to help people and help environment. Even if that's later that could be a good investment.

P.s.

My advice to myself is don't spend money on things you don't need, no on holidays like some nomad, but towards your environment because that's your life,

That's going to be by yourself if you don't follow these instructions but by yourself is all that is here so you need to make something new

If you plan for life is where you end up as how you will feel at peace and inspired by life , and things about conscious

=====

You can design a community where people want such idea that otherwise would not be acceptable

Such as exile form your area for crime ,

Everyone uses a mobile app that tracks them, surveillance can determine if someone is not doing so , and no crime is uncaught

=====

As it happens sometimes I spend many hours over some days losing money on trading on graphs. Feeling like buying up Donald trumps rubbish at a casino going no where my father ended up and then died and it's happen to me, as it happens to many people, for whatever simple nothing they do in their lives. And where no one does anything and people can end up just do whatever rubbish there is to do or nothing, and no way to change it, no where to go, no cheap or available options to change this here, but where space is affordable and someone can work more easily.

Having flashbacks this morning of not wanting to live at home but not knowing where to go, some awkward environments, my low life I seem to be spending a lifetime in, like some creep moving into some cheap slum with strangers I need to spend my life with.

That I want to do something else, so think, see and research as people may do sometimes but end up doing nothing.

Something better to do than go to the Casino and renovate your over sized home. I guess politicians think money makes the world go round and it does, but that could be much better for some and bit too good for others
?what do you do when you don't work , to hat do you want to do , should that be worth something . It's does not feel like much to me and then one day I will be dead and it's over for me but someone else can see it.

Have thing to do that are in demand, it will become in demand, or are better, see what happens

Someone gambles or does nothing but would rather build a home module with a friend if homes are in demand . Either is not as good as something else , but it's better than nothing or gambling

What do you want to do, when you want to do it, anything anytime this can be, idea can be more than a waste

My spirit and if there was a god looks upon my life in disgrace. Especially because I live in other people's home with people I don't choose, in small rooms, at the moment in a diffyhouse looking after animals, but it's also what I do which other than some ideas is completely not ok, but I also look upon other people lives like that sometimes that I feel sorry for them or question the time they put in to complete wasteful things, I don't really finish much good projects, a lot of people do some small project and some people don't, I don't want to waste my life like this.

Things people do become habits and I would hope they are constructive, not too stressful and

=====

? Doing work seems like labour for environment you don't see again or are not much of part of , for people you won't see again,
Until it's your home, your environment, your community that you walk through, people you see and like, maybe then it's more fun

But it needs to be owned by you , else it's really someone else and they tell you want it is and at the end it's there's. This is life of many people

But it's a problem that we then are more likely to do things for free but there is a better feeling about it.

=====

About how no one cares about your ideas for area, life, etc, because anyone you know does not live in the same area , or thinks life is just for their individual and to look for what's already available, or that everything is owned by some stranger who only cares for themselves

Community does not exist, it's about your place whatever that is, since land is divided like some lottery investment, and made inaccessible to everyone around.

If there was only one thing I could tell someone who became like an organiser of a community that knew each other was to find people who wanted to do something fix something, they probably don't want to manage the place but have some issue with something.

=====

2. When I was young I knew death, but as I get older I have seen so much death, people that are gone, that were like a character in life, I'm still in something but they are not

3. Aren't the people here suppose to mean something, that we are supposed to make some heaven from our visions and understanding, when your suffering for years upon death maybe you ask why wasn't anyone or anything there to help. Things affect me and I know how to fix things or how to help but no one cares.

1. There some sort of problem, like always going to be mostly in isolation without doing much meaningful things in life, the a problem with housing but people don't build affordable homes, just own block of areas from when they were cheap and if you want a space now you need to work your whole life for it.

Looking at an aging body that won't go anywhere or so much in life, why would I care,

4.

=====

If you do something about a problem then you will feel at peace, if you can't do something about it or much at all you may feel anxious, this may be that we are surrounded by strangers without knowing or being a part in the governing body.

But I can choose to not care about it but hope there was one or hope for nothing and care for nothing , but that's not who I am so it starts again. However it is clearly who some people are or they are happy with way things are somehow.

=====

Sharing home seem to often put thoughts on people living in home, which to me often suppresses conscious, auric field, gives tension, and other things This is the case especially if it's not ones own home sub rented to other people

Or if subtenants are not liked

But is definitely the case if not leased or owned

It's about the space someone walks through and sees people in every day

Being disturbed by environment otherwise can also cause same problems

It's a flaw in Australia cities and other expensive cities where people either live in share accommodation or public housing if they don't work full time, or on medium low income

The environment where you can participate in, help people, design or organize, part of, like or respect people can be a view point but also what someone does

Not feel part of the culture or and not seeing the same people again may not be seen as being part in it even though someone may be helping people

I don't mind so much being alone and not part of something especially in homes with other people

Sometimes,

Morning thought

Morning vision of my life was is I'm not doing anything with my life , except sitting there, even though I may be doing a bit of work and things.

I don't socialize , activities or projects , build anything, add to or change environment, etc.

My thought was , should I not want to help someone like me that is there perpetually

At times I have wanted to have some job doing so

I have been praying to get rid of uneasy feeling anxiety or other bad feelings , and pray has worked , i have watched things from people who tell me to change or get rid of this which helps but remembering that I should live without that I thought how am I going to not doing anything like this ,

I blamed smoking to feeling stuck just thinking but I happened when I did not smoke thoughts sort of direct me to what I should do with way things are like seeing people , but also to what environment or system would fix this

People don't have much of a system except schedule of meeting people

I think that how they do it, so they have some sort of feeling they will be doing something every week

I don't have that

No news about my life, nothing happens that changes anything or nothing news worthy, some rubbish news I see about the world and nothing much relevant to at all, and some things I'm asked to do for others. Nothing scheduled but I seem to also like that but having something that comes up without scheduling would be good,

=

I like being alone, especially in a house, the thought of leaving and being in public and public environment that i have had problems with has been disturbing some times. I like quiet street.

But I think I would like friends in it or I have for thing more to do on local street and like the street is my world

For now I like to imagine myself without anything around me, not have anything about what's around me (people, places, things) in my mind

=====

#820199666

Finding serenity by not being in disturbing reality, alone or with a community, or finding serenity without that, perhaps by ignoring it, so one can find peace so which comes before visions or heavy visions which undisturbed consciousness provides.

Living in a home temporarily can be an excuse to ignore it, but then the home i normally live in if it's around people who don't share your options and don't fix anything, ignore problems that would affect you, and where there is no point in sharing ideas to fix it. It hard to escape looking at what is permanent. And when there is nowhere else to go that's any different.

Same difference to the city I live in, Id like to ignore it and hope to one day live somewhere else, but how's that going to happen

?going to work for it because there is like your living in a shit hole owner by other people who don't care , and not going anywhere, that will take a long time of nothingness, distractions

It's not going to happen as far as any kind of city I could fix or be a part of like that, unless people see this

Seeing problems is a problem when you're not part of the place where you live or people don't care for them or there is no point in sharing them.

My normal state of being is to see where I'm living and things about life, it give me a permanent head tension, something in me that's constantly seeing it, the people around, how it is etc, like a constant feeling about what it that I can't ignore, I can find some ways to ignore when it's not my home but it much more difficult and often impossible at this place I have been living for a long time, the presence of other people in the house is the biggest problem. If I do somehow find some way to ignore it my spirit go stronger and I just start seeing the problems that caused the tension in the first place. At least this should be why all people can live alone in a place that they can rid themselves of disturbing distractions even if they have nothing much to do with outside, they could more easily work so to later invest in a place where they are also part of things or could change things outside, as designed here.

=====

Is there a world I do things in or participate in or am a part of,
I can see I'm not
Watching politicians and development make someone feel like there was some world their a part of, but not do anything?,
It makes me feel a ease not worrying but for some theoretical area that could be for people I know , but for the multi million people area , need a to be there but is in question as to someones input, for it's for a million people they don't know so well but could imagine they may like to help somehow. For now I go back to no world, a room by my self, because it seems to be what it is , to accept that and hope for some things more, but ignore this one because it's not yours, but that's something to make.

looking at the million people world makes me feel like I'm not doing anything or what should I do, I kind of like my excuse not to look at it but hope for one , there is one but for many they see it but there really isn't much of one , ?but for most people would think there is that this is the great world, the great place ? We live our country , , according to the YouTube video from Jonny Harris #5738384747 we indoctrinated by the ignorance of otherwise , we suffer because we think we are what we do in it and it can't be changed , it's just what we do , ?the greatness of it and greatness of people's lives .

=====

It seems most governments, churches and phycologist and doctors think that other people's ideas don't exist
That the world revolves around work and economy, if they have any thought at all, I mean I don't think they think about it
That people's purpose and thing a that should get done are biased on economy , and people vision doesn't matter, I guess for most people don't believe in anything but their purpose in some live long role in some machines that does something for others,

Things that should get done won't get done, but people will keep on eating and buying up property to rent it out to people who make their food that don't really think they should settle down because probably don't know where their going in life or loose their brains to working all day like a machine

If life is based on an economy, think about dying and your life spent buying things and how much that really means when your dead.

Necessities are good but life spent on if people would spend more money investing in people necessities and less on extravagances and the one wasted luxuries and , then maybe people would not need to work full time for necessities

=

A story I heard about a man that goes to a church filled with great spirit seeking to do good, he find there a few old people with nothing much to do , so he leaves in search for something else.

like going to help people but these is nothing there, or occasionally their ideas to go to Africa and help or sell second hand goods to fund their church, or to .

Some stories about people who find no purpose in life

Id recommend remembering all the lives you have had and all the people you have known and all the sufferings and death there is and wishing to help life,

Is kind of what would go through my mind before I stated being insulted by people around me all the time, and the nothingness capitalist society around strangers and where would you go after praying to help people, and how would that work . Knowing people in area and , People here are not like this and don't care for such things, so.

A story of a woman in a small town, saying politics are for people in big cities, and that in her town there is no shop, bar or restaurant. And when the doctor is gone the town will be gone.

I say you should get together with people in your town and discuss making a shop, even if it's just some abandoned building used by someone to drop off sellable good and it's electronic payment doesn't need staff. Some abandoned buildings used to store people's second hand things for sale. Apparently politics doesn't include the way your town is run or what people would like out of life,

Can you imagine living around people you know, and looking at their lives and wishes, rather than everyone just trying to get-by by themselves around strangers alone. That is the void of nothingness which you have condemned eternity, but it's much worse than that.

If you're lucky enough to not need to spend all the days of your minds life on work and commitments, the more dreams and visions you may have ,just something more than just having them for yourself? Seems to be what they are good for.

Maybe I'm missing something
Is there a plan that individuals are part of Seems lot of problems get fixed here, I guess by some ideas of not just the people paid to manage things
The world u live in has systems that have been around for centuries, why would I think I'm not part of that , or that's it's about as good as a 1 in 100000 lottery
Or that people dont have organization for ideas and plans for future
Maybe I have some idea or vision and write it here , and if someone does read it but don't know, I don't mind but feel like not, I'm sorry for lot of stupid entries. Obviously is not a 1 in 100000 lottery.

I like work where you can just go online anytime and there is work. I can't do the shift work for long.

I don't plan parties because I don't know if I will want to be available on the day.

People ask me to help them with something and I ask them if it's ok to contact them when I'm available

I don't make appointments but rather check someone's availability on the day

So internet availability is great for that Often appointments need to be scheduled in which case I dedicate the day before them to sleep even if I'm not tired so I have some sleep before the day

In this way I am not like people I have met who can go to bed every day without over thinking or

There are many work options to do when I want

=====

#022133.2

“Can you imagine living around people you know, and looking at their lives and wishes, rather than everyone just trying to get-by by themselves around strangers alone.

If you expect to fix this, and you look upon life with any disturbance by it. There is nothing you can do about it, and it will perpetually disturb you, you should just be happy being alone or with family until they leave. There is no plan, other than just some strangers around trying to make more money and buying things from people who own business trying to make more money, and that's where you will die alone in it without changing that.

It's the reason

=====

Thoughts about life and how it could be are amongst the greatest,

1 One old person stays at home seeing people he knows, and in some area he has lived in long time

2 Another goes to nursing home alone with strangers, no one he knows and no vision for inclusion

- If you did study, one is probably more likely to get dementia and alzheimer's which I believe is way to shut of brain and decrease energy for disease and death

One person has a home with people they know as neighbours for thought on plans making place better

One person has a home but no local community

One person lives in someone else's home and has no local community

If thoughts are frozen on what can be in ones home, it's seem to me that it freezes thoughts, on what's outside,

If thoughts are frozen in what's outside one home, what point is there to have ideas on what can be made in reality

==

P.s.

People just do their job and don't think about life much except meaningless things. The best case for them is this will continue successfully but it is possible the it collapses, in which case the meaning of having a local government and group of people may mean more then. At the moment ideas for government or business or life aren't valuable, but it is the person with them to care about people around then, not to be disrespected and abused to want to help or make something, and with limitations of changing anything or having respect.

It my destiny never to be respected for idea, never to have a home, for no ideas to mean anything in any community I'm in and for me to die alone broke and I should just accept this.

Possibly keeping the economy going by Virginia company scam where people need to work 40 years to pay off a home, and migrants need to pay over ones years salary to study here to get a visa. One who have homes dont work much, but the government needs the income and economy going, while they keep wages up so they can make people wealthy on cheap imports. When this collapses people won't be so happy, say everything is so great. But it was a scam and destructive to begin with, and relies on migration and replacement of people who have low birth rates probably because they way it is.

Without the scam they will be poorer than other poor countries. It's the only way they can do it. Promoting local communities and business and development is just for money so they need to keep it coming.

Anyone with ideas about anything else would be lost here doomed to end in it without any meaning, so it's good they import only people who are interested in the work.

I could have been some help to people, like people like me, but when they don't do anything, I feel maybe I am a slight burden if anything

Maybe years ago in some places when church was more of a thing they recognised that thought and doing what was inspired was good for people and community, but now it's national government and the economy which is.

In which they respected people in community so had some vision to help them, but as now it's just a job, . I think it's important for people to turn their vision in to jobs, and that to be easy or easier for them. For them to be around people they want to help, and not just a place they want to leave or be alone in.

There are always going to be people in a area what don't like each other or don't have time for each other such as some disrespect, but if people get to be with those they respect and are respected by the other people can do what they want, it doesn't matter as long as the area in which one resides is organised by themselves. This is not the way it is now and not the way it's heading.

I'll try to waste the days I have left trying to be happy being alone with no meaningful project or having any meaning in thought .

Would other people disagree, say it's some kind of bad communist ideas, maybe it's wrong and just as bad as not having it and people should ignore it as they do completely. Just leaves a few people like me wondering as they don't have money for home investments or not part of anything and not interest in holidays yachts golf etc.

Even if it's wrong somehow and ignorant capitalism with strangers is the only way, I see the people still want to be part of a community for whatever they believe in.

Just do your job, and have life with money from that, that all the required in life. Ideas from other people or yourself about community and business don't matter.

If things don't work out for you it's your fault, things are way they are supposed to be, and you don't need a community to talk about fixing anything or making anything, you don't need to know or participate in it, the ownership of everything around you, all the people you come across and live around, the government and way things are, there were lots of opportunities and you just did the wrong thing.

I would question whether some western societies have already collapsed, and they just used their credit card and migrants. I would question whether some perpetually collapse and they just used their credit cards to re stimulate the economy and hope that drags out long enough to pay back their credit cards for the next time it happens, but some don't recover and just keep spending their credit card

=====

I agree, we can help people do more productive jobs, not worrying about stupid things so much, as Elon and Argentina president says <https://youtu.be/BN6xgxRNZeI> <https://youtu.be/ATNbGD37Dz0> , however they think they can improve business is good, because business is not good for lot of people and they don't look at it much themselves

But my thought also a thought

Someone without much if a life , thinking their going to lose their conscious if they get full time work, for what,

They could have counselling in this

Maybe their interest is their work but

The older man in the house alone, has a house, and has food, doesn't really want to go to work , but there are things , and he has ideas , and would prefer to work for himself, like old man gets Uber job even if it low paid , he is free to do somethings when he wants

He has everything he can buy that he needs except things that are difficult to make and otherwise he can work more to buy all the luxuries and things that don't laugh and aren't part of reality

Otherwise dreams , keep your dreams but you need a job if your dream is not, and just one product of your dream is a start that often doesn't get made

Hello , anybody read this?

<http://chooseneighbors.com/city-experiments.pdf>

Maybe someone's doing something that is not efficient to help anybody

=====

Life and reality is many things great

It's pity we need to spend it alone as nothing much

I said people just care to work and their pets and don't care about other people like homeless going through bins

They replied maybe the homeless should be working so to just care about themselves

Fair answer

After years someone loses their jobs , or found it difficult to do same repetitive job their whole lives and find any other work

And people just want to own all the building to rent them to people as investments , just taking whatever ever they can, displeasing people without any thought

It doesn't matter what life or thought you have or any potential other than some part of the investors businesses as some part of their machine, and they would rather employ a robot over you but their too stupid

Mismatch of space owned by people who don't know anyone just their to try to make money from them and their so overpriced few can ever own one
There is nothing about thought or life that means anything otherwise

Some kind of lottery or hard work ones entire life to try to make more money for their investments, pets, and luxury

Either way they will all die alone and unknown, or around strangers in a nursing home, but they did provide good or services in their lives which is important

It would be nice to see life, imagin, rember, and talk to people about its design

But it doesn't happen in this mismatch of space where you don't talk to people, but in fact the people I have been living with aren't interested, think this place is just what it is and is good the way it is, and live in it by like going to the beach or a shop. I miss my old friend who I could talk to about these ideas and see life with, I haven't had that in 8 years.

They wanted to do some business, like a lot of people but need space, there is no space here for casual

Heres some ideas for the area

It would be good if it was , if it had

It would be good if

If the local area had

If the national system had , for that would be good for us and other people in it

That problem could be solved by but that causes another problem and it is the way it is because.... can we have both

I'm not that interested in connecting to anyone or anything because it's all temporary meaningless things, it's nice disconnect from things I can't change anyway.

People are living around people they get scammed, tormented, by could fix that If they had people they can talk about things to ... there are some people around that we send the scammer to when they want something, it's who we are. Some people for advice. Thank you to everyone anyway for that. Some bad, addictive, perverted,... things we should not share.

=====

#5748384899

Because I got bored

Because I wanted to try to make something more of life with people I know around

Better than nothing or not having it I think

Because I felt good with it once before

Because it could give me something to live for, that is ever changing

Unfinished

=====

Don't read

Im was going through this and got up to this point and found the below disturbing and I want to delete some of it, but i cant at the moment.

Just some thoughts here, that i have not checked yet. Some weird thoughts that should not be here. Weird thoughts about me that I thought may be helpful in some way.

That comment I wrote when I was off my head that I would never share with anyone. Or all those weird ideas that are kind of wrong. This is why I don't even want to share this book any more, but for the sections of it that is good.

What's worse than this book is if I had some random thought about this subject and I just added it to a random blog, however on some blogs like reddit people always get comments, whereas I have never had a comment from public about this book, it's still better than doing blogging of individual ideas, however I would like to do that too but found it difficult to find right reddit category, but which would be good as if I added section to that and people read and gave comments I would think about the section more whereas I have put almost no thought into some of these sections.

Dueiekdn ejkskw ebxjkwken djsksnsndjdjksnsnskskxkdnfndkwkdndnxn

I am sorry for accusing hard working people if being ignorant of life, id like to delete that section but can't find it. I find it hard to get motivated for work, or find work I feel like doing, or making schedules to do that every day, and just bit poor maybe and bit stuck. Lots of great things to do, and happy lives, I just don't make the call or tolerate it well so complain or and think about things without doing anything probably. Can live in the wrong suburb, but unmotivated to move, and should have worked for my own home. But the cheap ones seemed far away from centre, and I was unsure, and still that was when I was working full time, and since then I just worked part time mostly, so makes one ineligible for mortgage. I tried some business but lack the dedication to finishing them or continue working on them or in them.

=

Somewhere in here is something really bad that i wrote without reading again, and I am ashamed that i wrote it and put it here, and I apologise for especially negative views on a good place, and for any insults I may have made.

Anyway dont read these negative things may be disturbing or just my personal journal, unless you're looking for some ideas for community for people like me or you if you are like me.

=

Specifically I don't like what i have written from "About me" to "The pit" and from "Untitled" to near the end of the document

I am deeply ashamed or embarrassed by writing some things but with in here are some good ideas for area design worth it.

=====

Disclaimer

Not fact checked or researched. No comments. Personal, incorrect or delusional opinions. Relatively uncommon problems or helpful things.

Contains relatively unjust, unhealthy or negative perspectives that may cause disturbance.

Not recommended for an immature or easily persuaded audience.

I actually don't believe people or government are as ignorant as I have written, or

=====

Is the disturbance because of homes that are not mine and that I can not change, around people not chosen, in area government and systems that I don't influence.

If I understand it is, and I hope for that place, then this place fades from my mind and I feel better. I just need to remember this thought.

And or I try to be happy alone until there is, thoughts of things not of this place area or government, thoughts more of myself perhaps.

P.s.

I thought again of my uncle say don't put your energy on things you don't control, he controlled a department and homes, had family money etc.

My thought is if I had control over my space, I could put energy on to it without feeling stuck about what I can't control, so for now I remind myself so I can distance and it's nice being alone with no space, I mean it's peaceful, but space I can control is also peaceful but not as much when I can't or is not legally owned or can be controlled by me

-

It could be to do with the profitability in the future, or the ease of owned space in the future, bettering something for environment that one can control for future.

It's difficult to think I would be in an environment for future that I can't change much or make from dreams or don't know people around and it doesn't see them much or live in mutually controlled shared environment, so don't really know what needed, for my subconscious to dream about

P.s.

Just disconnecting from things outside or what one is doing, if that helps, it's seems to be always feeling of something outside of me that causes the uneasy feeling and if I can forget about anything outside of me and just do things like there was no space

Mindset to enjoy life,

To see life

To enjoy life not working if thinking about disturbing thing can't fix

The space outside to enjoy life, or to be disturbed by it

=

P.s.

It's worked so far. So I wonder why I putting my energy back in reality, because it's my reality.

I am disturbed, feel stuck, about getting anything, going anywhere else.

My income is not enough to make something else here, and leaving requires things I am procrastinating about.

If I'm sitting here wondering what I'm to do in life, apparently it's to make more money so I can leave to some where better, I think. If I think about my life its

If I had a home in a community that I was council over, that I knew people in, would that make me feel better, I am unsure, I believe it would.

For now, I say to myself, what I see in media, what's outside of me, it doesn't matter as it's not part of my life. It's like a squiggly interpretation of life of people passing on their visions that have nothing to do with me or my life, I hate it. And I hate the place I can't change, in place I will die alone or with some odd strangers that wouldn't miss me if I left, that I don't change anything with or

Unfinished

Would it help, would it just give me a reality to worry about, where I still have problems such as what I'm doing, but more problems now with feeling more part of community and people around, more hard to disconnect, or is the problem I have now not being much a part of the things I see and do, and not doing much or seeing people I would theoretically like to be in life with, I believe so, I am unsure. That there could be that they don't believe in anything, or want to do anything, or care to put time or ideas in to anything I believe in, but would still have the bases that we want to be neighbors, and always places available for people to move in, so I'd hope that makes my lazy procrastinating ass more happy socially.

I don't see how this will be made or I can't start it by myself easily so will reaching out soon again as only found 1 interested friend so far, not really that interested, more interested in property investment.
I should be putting my efforts elsewhere.

It is the level of uncertainty,
Like your seeing someone who has betrayed you before, you may feel uncomfortable.
Or someone who has never done this or asked anything unreasonable from you.
Or the new friend or place that you don't know yet

To spend your days around loved ones, instead of the wrong home in the wrong suburb, city or country. Do you remember the time you felt so comfortable around loved ones. I think it's more than what they say but them being there. And if there are lots of them, maybe you will feel sense of continuation and life even after you're gone.

If you care for the people you live around or see there is a feeling of making things right in the world for them. For them, and for others.

Remembering some people can help.

It's a deeply settling relaxing heartfelt feeling that seems to trigger my imagination and memory.

Otherwise seeing and living with people you don't love seems to cause disturbance in sub conscious, unmotivation, and why want to do anything, there's no being inspired to do anything, there's no peaceful feel except when I can ignore that they are there, but the subconscious sees it, echo of their disturbing voices stay in memory.

There nothing inspired to do in this world other than to get some food, it's can be the only reason to get up or go out. When there's nothing to work for but food and necessities and paying some strangers rent and government fees, just need to wait until life gets desperate to see how much suffering can be caused to try to make a bit of money.

Or opportunity to make higher income so you don't need to work as much, I guess also bring people here that don't know what else to do.

=

If I accept I cant control anything and it's not my home or my environment or my town city or community

What is the meaning of worrying about life and death, or the meaning of existence, except to myself there in some theory of it here in for strangers. Where there is nothing more than some colors and sounds on media and if I go out.

But if I find peace accepting I can change it, then I can be at peace with my time in it, and it's unacceptable to spend the rest of my life being disturbed by it and so I don't want to see it, and just be by myself, or to see something I

=

Catholics says its devil that affects and causes pain

Guro say be happy with your life

Government says you just need a job

if there is something in my environment or outside in strangers environment, if it was shown that living with strangers or with people that they dont want to live with, causes pain and sickness, loss of higher brain functions, but is a lot more than that, then they animal right activists and government are ignoring mass human suffering that they would otherwise prevent in animal farms. I think it's living with anyone needing to see them every day without a choice is the problem.

=

I don't like living in homes where one person has odd dominance behaviour over others. It's not uncommon.

If you test, putting two guinea pigs in a cage, where one is showing dominance behaviour, and leave them there, id imagine one will die young and the other will live on.

I believe one may assert dominance over the other, like with humans their opinions and because they own or have lease over the house and the other does not, if you don't agree with the opinions it can cause conflict, and the one dominated has anxiety brought upon them, so they die, but which doesn't mean it doesn't make the other one sick if options are different or because of

Also for humans for the one who owns home what is taking from other who do not can cause a feeling of satisfaction, peace, stability that they own the environment and can live making money from others who simply live there. However this could be partly false sense of satisfaction relative to actually life. But they are better than others. Like a person making more money and has thing that others don't have is happy and blocks their vision for what actually are serious problems. Or someone thinking they are in lack over such things preventing them from see other problems with reality, because they are living in it, and only when they go out can the see other problems so when I'm home I'm thinking about this a lot.

Because they are sharing the same environment and seeing each other every day, they would be in each other's minds, it's not good to do with to strangers especially in oppressive, argumentative or threatening environment

One will feel lesser like they dont have a home or can't escape. Or where escaping is just to somewhere the same, or if someone smokes and is allowed to do so it can seem impossible to find somewhere that allows that

To the government, making homes unaffordable and unavailable, to push people in to more work, forcing strangers to live with each other under some kind of dominance system. The smug joking happy government man who doesn't see such problems and thinks he's so great, does such so great job, where people die and sick every day and he is so happy and proud of himself.

Actually I don't know about housing and life expectancy, but I hope to be happy in small room alone rather than image always the people I'm living with that I can't change because its feels unhealthy, Wage to home prices keep going up, as well as mental health problems, other costs and other problems , so I still think the government should not talk like they are doing such a great job.

If someone is living in such a place or in a parents home, there would be understanding that they don't have their own home. Or if it's government housing that maybe they are losers that can't afford their own home. Or a rental home that may seem a bit better but is more unaffordable and is something they don't need to think about much because it's not their home.

People are communal creatures, and seems to stress people who find it difficult to have commune, or who think they want it, but people who have it may forget, or to think one likes being alone

=====

There are people like me, a lot of people like me , I guess some of them have some ideas about things.

Sitting behind computer, on unemployment not really interested in what there, eating and entire life of thought , it's not good for what could be Government wasting money and systems on little that helps them other disturbances

Some kind of visions, the vision that you need these people

Just needed to write that again

About them talking to people and being able to design their own community and jobs and things

having visions, they have lives, are they unemployed and shit jobs, your world where there are just some shit jobs for them and they just sit there, doom, some pit you don't see, I don't see, I hope I am wrong

People think every one is just some job in society, and other than that things are what they are, are fine, that a person isn't life, but life is going somewhere, it ugly vision of theirs

===

If you believe in just working and having strangers serve you without a community design but your own home that you can theoretically move, without people ideas and visions meaning anything in it, ?people will suffer for problems that could otherwise be fixed with sharing ideas and design of community that will be there when your all dead and other people are living there

It's ok if you look after yourself and just be happy with that, if that helps,. Can't worry about something you can't change today. Its not good to think other people suffer or have lack just because they are stupid and you are not . don't pretend like when you're dead it all ends and you should just try to live for as long as you can.

When talking about problems doesn't fix them maybe your not talking to a community that can fix things or design a community or a community you care for or are much a part of.

=====

That magical conscious and visions
The thousands of years of human generations Existence and

There is something for the study of existence, there are some problems if you see something new and do t have time to make it or prove it

There is some design for way things can work , but it's hard to get in to or be a part of

I thought some church would be more, but their made from some odd old text that doesn't change much or some that doesn't seem to do much , seems all of them have some plan but made from

Unfinished.

Economy by government where people are left without working or using ideas. Where everything is supposed to work it self out with some competitive market and migrants. About talking with people around to make work we dont have

=====

For people who want to work on their own time, a business set where there is always work in different fields people can choose from any time, so people who don't like shift work can always have some options

Unfinished

There is a problem with shift work, for business and government. They don't know you to start with so they kind of rely on your resume and years of study , and some people just not good at interview with strangers or being at peace full time thinking they are on the job and it's just a job all day every day

And it's easy to want a break or for that work, or for that work to be temporary without knowing it is

Some people rather do some work on their own time for people
But there is not a lot of jobs like that except making business for one's self but that often doesn't work well because one need to do everything and when there's no customers, how to get more customers or make new business where there is customers or more demand and you can do, and most businesses are taking the demand but require people to do shift work

Unfinished

=====

It's not just the government police and courts trying to keep things orderly, and functioning, based on their option of life

It many people, and some allow more that people can do what they want and are different. Why community for people with more to life than work is something that government doesn't see could be possible when people get to choose a community. Normally it's people who don't care will agree to things, but it's hard to find people with same options, or to do anything but whats already there based on strangers options.

=====

An old thought about a community owning some of the businesses around so people always had some work there, and excess space for.

Unfinished

I imagined what it would be like if I spent my life with any one I chose from people I have known or met or seen, in a community, how different it may be.

they could choose to disallow me, and there was no problem with this because there would always be some people and you wouldn't want to live around people who would like to disallow you, but often in my homes I feel like they would disallow me or I would disallow them, but I don't know if they would, and I can't. That's the same with neighbors but mostly people don't socialize with neighbors, it's all about going out to socialize with people outside of local community mostly at themed restaurants or music clubs or viewing, but in shared homes there is forced socialisation and shared spaces. I have become use to living with and transporting random people, and take it for what it is trying not to worrying about it too much, but choise is ideal formz kind of right that's taken away.

=====

When there is no community what are you living for, stand up for and fight for, to work for strangers and die?. Maybe some people still get upset over things but change is some easily given up on. Ideas don't work well this way. Things won't get made much except for work. Ideas will be copied to look good and some people just want money or somewhere to put their savings. Mostly just working people who think their rewarded for their efforts and scammers.

People seeing problems vs people just happy working. If you create society for just one then it's by Darwin's evolution one will be more successful, resulting in more of the same type of people to better fit in to the society they were born from, perhaps having bit of different type simplified minds not seeing so much of reality to cope with just working. Possibly leaving people who would normally do more in community to just try to find some job and or sit there worrying or getting stressed out. Where seeing reality as disturbing is bad for energy. Simple people suffer too but for simple things, and when they have the simple things they are happy without thinking much about life. You may want to help them but they aren't capable of helping people like you.

P.s.

Re: fight for Example

There are problems that bring some people down or affect life, but where there is not the people you care to help and the government seems wrong and not known

Where the government asks stupid questions but does not see the problems you see, like they think they know everything and know better.

The smaller area of people you know, there would also be companies after over you passion to fix something, because many will hear it, where as the area of strangers very few if any will hear is and any kind of system does not see you. The people with problems or anxiety over problems people in government and strangers don't know what it's caused by, and suggest walking or taking medication.

The place you live in, if it's rude to you. The city ignorant and unmalleable where your treated as nothing. The worst thing is to say you can't help them, and to leave it to whatever comes of it. Can't be changed anyway and you will see it continue the way it is. But inside you your energy and passion will die, for maybe to go to a place that is worthy that you can try to go to or make but you won't be able to. Maybe one day you just become happy living as nothing waiting to get old and be gone from it. Is my story. But if existence is what ever it would still be there no matter what problem or good thing about it I see. So I don't see it often but it is an underlying problem.

My brain works differently and I have different life to others. Problem is how to live somewhere where I care.

To make help fix something in environment so someone in bad circumstances can live with some dignity.

I'm annoyed every day by many problems that also affect other people, but I don't do anything. Do you think that's a way to solve thing for myself or others or even to realise something is supposed to be the way it is. About living somewhere you care and being able to do something when your annoyedbor passionate.

What is world where things can't be changed where someone can see they are just sitting there wasting their time.

Without much money or good work, without people or community, without any hope in the future to change it. Some anxiety comes I remembered the times when they felt good, but like the world has put me in a little box with anxiety forever and that's my future and it can't be changed, and there nothing helping people like that.

What purpose is there to having anxiety to help me get out of this box and land of no hope. People aren't supposed to have long term anxiety if they are able to fix things, I'm not a disabled person.

It's probable that anxiety is just energy system corruption towards fear, hell etc. no point in feeling enlightened if one was to be destroying life or in hell or fear of life. Or could anxiety be there to help see the hell, yep I see it much more hell with anxiety and sometimes almost forget it without anxiety.

When there is no way to fix a problem or get out of a prison made by entire people, and there is continual anxiety, does this cause the ativus or change in thoughts. I think so. And maybe that is why people do some of the crazy things people do. I can't do that. Maybe by writing this I help someone see the problem that can fix it some how because I can't. Perhaps is should not be fixed because it could make life better which they don't deserve because they don't see it.

Bad energy causing loss of motivation and energy, pains, disturbance
Why even try to get out, like they have made it impossible, but the hope in getting out makes people work so they get more money, else if the person doesn't work they suffering in other ways to. Do they know they are doing this, maybe they like making such a place.

If I could appreciate the life I have more than look at the problems I have, but somehow the anxiety of the problem I see is causing more anxiety for the things I see or live with even though they are not big problems, but they seem like it. Absolutely. In one state of mind I'm feel free, but if I wish for something that can't be done that is actually a problem then can cause a distance in the reality without that, I can feel anxious about really and many things in it, when also I can be happy without them but actually are big problems for type of people I am or goal and mind I have, but without those goals or mind or previous thoughts and ideas maybe I would not see the problem.

P.s.

When there's no point in life except working for the things you have, and that's some kind of over priced home, and work isn't very good. And your isolated and...

When ideas and anything to fix is pointless except for when people want to pay for something. When the government only spend money on things you don't use (not true) .

There going to be #negative motivation for basically any idea or any problem except what someone can earn and their own lives, like that time they talked to someone.

And if I'm not happy living in that then what's the point, because there's no where different? I just question why no one sees this.

P.s.

Ground where your ancestors stept, where your family, where people, sent you supposed to make that right. Be able to. Maybe I'm just in the wrong places.

=====

Regarding what's important to me, people around and enough money for things I need, and more money and ideas.

It's 1am in the morning of my 44th birthday. I have just 3 hour going through my deceased fathers paper work for life insurance policy document that does not exist because it was canceled year before he died, but my sister still want me to look for it.

Interestingly since I have been in these homes and normally I have not cared to celebrate my birthday, and same with my father. It's also I don't feel to have a party in honor of me, but would in honor of something else. But maybe just a nice reason to see people.

My father lived around wankers and often did not have money for things he needed.

He was a very giving person who would give his last dollar or borrow money if family needed it. It didn't help that he smoked cigarettes and his children and grandchildren didn't have much money.

|

He died around age 67, after looking forward to retirement age for long time, I think he was sick of life and work and low paid unemployment.

I believe this situation, added to the stress making life intolerable, and cause him pain, bad attitude, and about 20 years off his life.

|

I have got very sick when I didn't have any money for things I needed and was around wankers.

It has helped ignoring the people around me, and ignoring the place I can not change or the work situation I can't change much, it's not all the same as now as when I got sick, but it helps to not judge them, just keep my mind off them and things I can't change, but hope one day I don't need to try to ignore it so much. Giving my energy back to myself, and ignoring the distance I see and live in, helps the most. But it's not so bad as it could be

You would think this is some kind of rich country, but you should question why loans are so popular and lot of people don't have savings.

People should always have savings, and there should always be good work to do, not needed weeks of looking and applications.

=====

Id like to be left alone, not need to see or talk to all these strangers who I don't know. There are super nasty people in the city and you can't normally tell by talking to someone for a while, and your suppose to just talk to everyone like their your mate, other people don't care and wouldn't spend a dollar to make some better world here, and are just out for what they can get. People look at each other like their in the same reality as other people but really their not. If I do see people id like them to be people who see this and would like to work on a better reality to live in, or at least see people who I choose who maybe we make some sort of area with ideas together. About 0% of people I normally see have the same vision as this but I'd imagine only a very small percentage of all people have this vision.

Regarding epicurus principals 2.b

People I see aren't really part of my life

Don't share the same goals

And their conversations often fill my head like wasted chatter

People i see don't have my ideas, but these people have had their own home for a long time and their lives seem to be about making some effort in something to do in life or being content just existing.

=====

If your stuck getting up and working every morning for 40 years to pay for a home and basic needs, for strangers with strangers where your just there for some tasks, how does that not sound wrong

Otherwise I don't consider eating or making noise for no reason being a part of anything

The difference between spending life and create would in existence with people, people you can or can't choose, and strangers you will only see or talk to for an instance

Maybe problem with some people dont see point life of Having fun and life with strangers gays and malefactors, while not doing anything real but maybe spending hard earned money that could otherwise be used to create a better reality.

One may be cheap and easy and one may be difficult, the one that has meaning in its vision , some purpose to solve a problem where nothing changes.

Maybe a good start in being able to do or change something in an area is to know the people there first.

Maybe it's still nice to do something even if nothing much changes. What is a change, it's something new or something changed or something decided upon in ones environment.

You can see there types of people in media and everywhere but why would you want to spend life at home area with them?, or have the choice of who you do, other than affordability. It's matter of choice make the difference between open and closed mind open or closed.

Unfinished

Otherwise difficult to do due to funding and procrastination and making something for other people, other factors, but maybe after spending life, long time in life with them something happens.

Maybe still people mostly need is

I have spend most of my life in homes where people don't have their own home, and some run out of money, dont have cars, don't t have jobs, dont go out, don't socialise, don't have children, etc.

=====

The problem

Government doesn't know you or your ideas

If you choose your neighbours and want to be part of community government

For example, if you don't like gay bars your probably going to mostly choose people who don't like gay bars so there won't be any to start with in area so why would it be an issue to start with, but of some some reason that gay guy you let in starts a bar, if your part of the government and suggest it gets take off the fellow government is probably going to agree. Bad example. Otherwise your not even going to get your idea heard and live and die without changing anything, except your job which you can't probably change anything about either.

But you have the freedom not to go to those places. And some people have place they go where they know people. But it could be made like, I haven't made it.

Build lots of space so thing can be there more easily

The people you chose own these spaces and or your collective has incentive to make them so has to allocate for productivity so you can change things

So your government can implement new things

And I don't like how some people don't work and no one can give them tolerable jobs , so it's looking at that, the problem you know, you will see it then.

You should try, unfortunately I will be stuck in this isolation around strangers who I don't want to spend life, where even living in my own space is not achievable, until I'm dead. But I get to eat well and have a bit of money, and other things.

=

Otherwise space around you will be owned by stranger investors who mostly hire just anyone to manage the space around you.

Would it be good if people you choose live in same area and can have their own business ideas for you all, and automated shops that don't need much security.

=====

I feel some sense of peace in being, alone without trouble, and feel grateful I feel ok

And don't feel like doing things with people that upset me, or the conversation stress me out

I could think about an injustice , and then I could be worried about something but somehow I'm not.

If I am leaning towards a problem it is

It's great I have freedom and lots of thoughts, the thought could have been valuable to me or meant more, I could have done more or be doing more than simple job or nothing, . that the good things in life I have have not come from my revelations or will or visions of life, but have come from nothing and isolation, and bit of work that is like me in the wrong place in life, but is some petty function that a robot should do now. Where the rest of my life and who I am has gone no where, but left me with a simple life that I feel comfortable with at the moment.

In the world where you don't have community, people normally just want things for themselves, and is the reason people contact each other, there is nothing made that is shared, for in between are strangers and for a strangers systems and businesses that we use.

Maybe I don't want to be contacted to help people because I'm not in a place where the people help the space or council around me, and what if they help strangers, no one helps me with anything except some low income payment, so I have had enough of trouble from them asking me to do things, I don't see any point in seeing them for nothing gets done but it takes my time

I want to be happy with simple life so I feel at peace but it's just matter of time until I don't and or trouble, hope not much trouble but could be bad

The meaning of thought and inspiration to doing anything, rather than

Without community where ideas are not just talked about, or to make something where people work in their ideas

Instead of just jobs that make people successful, or business where someone works on an idea for years.

Missing such understanding and institutions.

Wasting inspiration, and making lives of thought meaningless.

Maybe if I were happier contacting strangers or if I got to know people in some place I was interested in working and sharing ideas with. But it seems mostly things only work if someone has the money for them or gets a job with experience.

=====

You're not in a community with these people also that you don't know them, don't know what they do, who they are, whatever happens to them you won't do anything, you won't make anything together, you won't participate in any organisation or government. To them utopia is a place filled with pretty plants and clean air.

Where things only happen for money or privilege,

It's not positive to view life as life, I need to view it as the Virginia company or Babylon, a place where ideas, life, community, etc don't mean anything, but there is an economy.

You can change it or help it, you could die suffering in it and no one cares. This is what happens when people can't live anywhere with people they know and be part of their own government.

=====

To feel the space around, existence and life. Why would you want to make it hell.

=====

My grandfather said his generation had different goals to what it's like now

I think it's unfair for me not to be able to work on housing and life goals, while stuck in what ever

I don't know how people move to their goals but I question if they have good ones but its their lives

For all the people who are highly skilled and end up in just low class work, and other doomed things

=====

Can leave to a country unless you're going to work full time, and not allowed to do small business for migration. This was probably the majority of the migration before but it use to be different

Now it's just people who go somewhere to work full time. Economic and asylum migration.

People who wish to leave to a country for some small business idea or environment, will just be kicked out, freezing people who don't want to work full time in what ever country they are in without chance of leaving. That's me and it's not good. For me it home and cigarette affordability while I work towards something better. It's like keeping me stuck in most expensive city in your country and not letting me leave to cheap area because there is no cheap area here and outside of this country is not allowed.

==

People get stuck in deadend low paid job ,like they get stuck in not-ideal share homes. But no one cares.

Thinking doesn't help. Get a job for the next 4 years to pay rent on a nicer home, quit when you wonder what life is all about after you spent the last 4 years working and not doing much else but paying your bills, then end up in what seems like an even worst situation when you get asked to leave your home and you loose most of your belongings you worked for an added to your home that you thought was adding to your environment. Back at step one with extra trauma.

They made this official when they made home loans unavailable to large number of people who work full time.

Making homes affordable for anyone who lives under your system is an investment in their sanity and wealth and people lives, even if they pay 30% of their income for their entre life and die without paying it off, its still better than making them live in shared home with strangers or public housing around strangers.

Most people including government don't think there's anything wrong here, and it's such a great place, and if they do have any kind of cause it's for people in a different country they have never been to.

=====

My life is a waste with filled with delusions, and they don't make it easy to do anything real

=====

There seems to be a state of mind where people think work creates a society and environment, although this is, there is also a state of mind where design creates it, where ideas are to take away work to make lives easier, where is has no limits but imagination and what can work.

Designs , dreams, ideas, space to change things for people you know, it's where we came from. It was only later that we don't know people , live with or around strangers and don't know our government etc.

The energy of environment of strangers and media that is not part of life. I am disturbed by things and don't have the good energy for going out or doing things. To have better energy to do the things, to have better sleep. I could be happy with easy life but my spirit is not giving me good energy for things I do. I would like environment I am part of to change it, so that doing things is, like my city. The things I do for my city.

Having this as a goal could be causing the loss of energy I would otherwise have for something I could accomplish. I don't know. I can't even accomplish living in my own home, this could be better if I needed to share a home with that there was a pool of people that simply switched homes depending on who they choose. But ideally it would be people had their own home and switched homes.

=====

?was it Dubai that got rich off oil and all of its citizens got great jobs, and they employ lower paid temporary migrants to build their cities. Im not sure if that's real.

In western countries, maybe they are rich but get foreigners for work but you don't see the foreigners,(or even second generation foreigners) doing the kind poverty things that the original ethnic inhabitants do, like homeless and going through bins and collecting bottle pushing shopping cart. I don't know, that probably not true.

In Australia foreigners only get to stay if they make money, so you don't often see them doing poor things like people who were bourn there do. But they get some unemployment payment, but somehow the richness of the country doesn't go to them. Like as if it was not the Australians before that are like a tribe that is supported but an economy that is supposed. I don't know about this, or whether it's ok or not.

Like some people bourn there have no work even though in right place they would work, but the country employees foreigners to do work because the other people don't take what is there, seems like. The way business controls work and it's not made for the people that live there but people are needed for the jobs.

=====

A lot of people spend more time and money with their pets than they do people

And so people should not live with other people or be in homes owned by other people like a pet but know and spend time in a community they can change with people for people in it. But they don't.

People have sympathy and make things interesting and fun for life around them but don't see each other, and people suffer alone or don't want to be around people when they do. People without work or things to do but no one to choose or make anything except business that just want to supply something.

A tax system that should be there to help but gives nothing to community to help things but thinks of every one as individuals with strangers to serve them for money.

Where money goes to people that complain or stupid things, maybe I get some money for not working for time so I would have more time to think but the money was never meant for that or was not set aside for that otherwise maybe this would mean more.

A lot of money and public housing is for LGBT communities but there is no money for the community I would like.

People who get out of jail get public housing but people who smoke and or smoke or work part time that are not eligible for own home or public housing do not.

If you had your own community you could talk about these things and the whole council could hear your passion and disturbance, but that's not the way money or community works.

=====

I was trying to think of why the Virginia company is bad

Land owners and investors gain wealth. I am happy for people and family I know that have. They have money more

Re: people in Switzerland and Norway think there will be less people in the future due to declining birth rates, but that's not what's happening, their populations are going up, and land value goes up to become unaffordable

It's a Virginia company (capitalist) problem where economy is served over its people, but poor people are given unemployment payments to make them happy with it or as an excuse by the government as to looking after people while they otherwise neglect them being part of life, community, work or economy, but rather just let open world fill their business as natural desperate people do and forced migrant workers filling jobs.

I guess because they are rich there is a reason why people want to go there, so they don't want to become like abandoned soviet states so

If having wealth makes someone feel like their thoughts over their home , otherwise they have no control over their lives so thought is disturbing so they just work for some idea of a home

In a different scenario people who did less work can still have homes, in my scenario homeless people will have homes and be part of community to fix problems and make work opportunities. But the current virginia scenario that has taken over western Europe and many other places life is about making more money.

There is no help in designing an area for someone like me, it may look like it or I could use this to write about something , but for most part i won't live in something I am part of except for trying to make money from strangers. And this could be the reason for a lot of problems.

For selfish people may be good. For people more connected to their conscious may be disturbing or not effective to ask them to live somewhere that the only reason to live is investments and work for strangers, and make it difficult to afford a home doing so just to stay in a place that gives them no other purpose in life.

Besides saving for a home is difficult or impossible and starting business is more difficult or impossible with the rent prices, and business is more likely to u less it becomes very popular and or makes a lot of profit.

The answer is the population doesn't go down but with low birth rates migrants come in and change the ethnicity and culture of your country. If they were smart they would promote people from same backgrounds to enter their country from previous emigrations, but they don't, where the only requirement is that they hold a job in one of the countries businesses,

Fair enough that Australia is like the Virginia company, it was create as one, but it's a dishonor that most of Europe is, sellout by a generation of dickheads. Other countries aren't doing it, but European countries think they are Virginia company economy's and not a groups of people?.

I hope you can live in a place where people don't just work for the investors and strangers, and where people can afford homes, etc, where a lot of people can't now and no one cares, where you can make it way you think is better, and not just follow the way things go.

Seems doomed to my life, either stupid enough not to see it, or smart enough to know there is no other option. And work for the investors all of your days without dreams to one day to try to become one, Want to work for life when there seems to be none. that's all there is. I will be forever nothing in some sort of .

There will never be life here for me. In some state of seeing it seems dishonorable to be in public without working on it and I thought you better find people when they see it and give them roles in your community, some council position to think about things to change, and a elevated rank in it, maybe just a nice name but be part of it, rather than nothing to let them be just frustrated without seeing any hope in change.

If there were god in spirit amongst you that wanted to design the world they live in, they see problems, it's not just about finding a job and looking after yourself. perspective or just something in some people that gives vision. Maybe they don't enjoy their lives and like you with stupid jobs and stupid things. There is nowhere and no system for them to design it, just a bunch of people without the vision to do so, and that could also be seen as lower conscious, like these lower conscious creatures who own all the land and place who don't care for the vision or the people who have it. This also could be seen as people who don't see problems you see and someone just gets frustrated and hates people. Or hates some kind of people who do things they don't like that they believe affects their area they live in.

I would like them to fix the problems in my area, for them to have an area that they both want to be a part of or in ways they want to help. Or just leave them to do something they are not interested in to try to make some money to probably not even afford a home or, and to live with this, for them to hate the place they live so probably also get brain damage from this or loose their consciousness and energy that would have been their to help your area.

They are our superiors.

P.s.

Re: low birth rates but population keeps going up

It goes up in an almost perfect linear scale, even after world war 2 where population of Germany declined by ~20% and many homes destroyed the scale of population growth was straight scale upward of 10-15% per year. I did not expect to see that. You can see this perfect line in the population growth graph of most countries

The question is why. I don't know.

Also a question is why does the home prices constantly go up in the same perfect line prices vs average wages

I don't know the answer but it could be

- The Virginia company type investors, where homes must always be going up in value.
In Australia it is a government policy, but they do it so home prices become more and more unaffordable for lower to middle class, forcing people to work more and or own no home.
- The mouse utopia experiment, where some mice take the resources and leave others to starve, as a form of elitism https://youtu.be/NgGLFozNM2o?si=0WpO9XMYH_94kEyW
- Have people become less effective in building homes
- ? Gradual increase in home and infrastructure improvements and greater value makes them more expensive but work efficiency is the similar
- there is demand to move there and government put on restrictions to growth causing straight line of population growth. And it is otherwise uncontrolled except for type of people who can enter being those who find full time jobs. Where people and government have become less interested in building affordable homes ?because they have seen them filled with migrant population

If it is to make people work harder, and the line keeps going up, this would turn into virtual enslavement for property.

That would affect people who don't hold on to property from time it was affordable

This is good if you assume that people who hold on to land or property deserve to be more rich ? than those who don't should be purged or have less money.

=====

Disturbance can be there if you see problems of life but can't fix environment with no land or people who care , so I try to accept it I guess . Or once you accpt it and take the good things into mind it can seem ok.

But in future it would be recommended to live somewhere that disturbance can be discussed and changed, with people who believe in something that you do, like not living with people who don't believe it will cause disturbance. Their vision may be simple to like simple things but they may be different and accept unacceptable things.

After saying accept my life , be happy with my life , and move forward I felt like i was on ground level and to move forward I should do something or make something, rather than just sitting here, it seemed like right direction, although normally don't do anything and nothing much changes even if I do Actually I get pictures of my life, the people around, where I'm living, what I do, and it's below ground level, I may not be living in a tent with no job or car but it's something. If what I see is the people around me, my home and the things I'm doing, i can see a better default ground level for people. The default ground level now for people is being alone, without community local, with just a job or no job, but after that not much, often they have a home and dont live with strangers but also some people do.

=====

I sent this letter to a monastery

I have had interest in living in a Christian community since I was 17. I am now 44. I believe it was because I don't reach out to people, and I have not researched it well, and looked to normal homes which has left me with a sense of isolation and no community for my entire life.

I thought of a community for the consciousness and life I was experiencing. Somewhere I could dedicate my life to consciousness and community for.

However just went it alone and with videos and writing, as that's what's there for someone without a community for it.

I currently have a sleeping disorder where I don't have a sleeping schedule and often work at night, and don't make other schedules unless I need to, I smoke tobacco, and I work part time.

I try to find inner peace, and have recently disconnect from my environment for this purpose, I believe that living in a Christian community may help me find peace and or more purpose in my environment when I become more connected with it.

I am interested in any available accommodation anywhere that I may be interviewed for.

Other kind of community for such would be considered.

I am not sure if any specific community is right for me but I'm willing to try.

I have been interested in developing community where people choose their neighbours, I have been saving for this for 5 years, and have saved 25000 towards it, with available loan amount of up to 100000 at the moment.

I'm interested in renovation or building for this cause.

There is website and book I made for it at <https://chooseneighbors.com>

Unsent:

Money is put into homes , that can be paid off, the money which i get will be put back into further home construction

if someone wants to leave, the home is sold, and they get the money so they can purchase start elsewhere, if they have not fully paid off the home the percentage left is given to us to further pay for homes.

It is a perpetuating system, that requires initial investment and or time in construction.

THis is good idea if homes can be make affordably where there people making them can make some profit.

Independent community is needed for this because the government is unable to provide a system where all people can pay off homes.

Somewhere away from here where with a system for many people dont work but wanted to and where homes are not unaffordable for a lot of people even if they do.

Where people when they are not working much or at all still get some payment (a percentage of people who work or make money), but just pay off their homes more slowly, where their home price can start low, where a home can be a large room that they can improve upon.

They replied

Hello Michael,

Thank you for your email.

It sounds like you have a lot of questions about the Monastery life, and the first option for you might be to investigate vocation.

I have included a link below which could help you further.

<https://www.beapassionist.org.au/>

\(https://web.archive.org/web/20250314061756/https://www.beapassionist.org.au/\)

I replied to beapassionist and the monastery:

I would like to join and study and participate in your community, however i have already chosen my vocation, if i can not able to do my vocation i am not so interested, but i am available to chat or meet anyway. I have been contemplating and studying for a long time.

My vocation is to helping with affordable home construction for Christian community such as yours, so people can pay off affordable homes with also the choice of neighbours,

Where anyone has the choice to live there without requirement. Where people may choose to live in the Christian community or not. Without needing to work full time.

Where I work and invest to provide homes to be paid for, that can be sold if people leave, so they have stable housing elsewhere, where I am paid a percentage of income to pay back my work and investment, and where they can later get back the money they have paid for their home minus the owing money which is put back to make new homes available.

Where people when they are not working much or at all still get some payment (a percentage of people who work or make money), but just pay off their homes more slowly, where their home price can start low, where a home can be a large room that they can improve upon.

Suggestion in <http://chooseneighbors.com/city-experiments.pdf> under title “moving, how it could work”, and “everyone owns a home”, and “affordable housing”, and “Start plan, make money”.

Secondly, and this is not a necessity

Participate in council or government to create better environment

Especially would be nice if people can work full time on their vocations when they want,

And or there is always Demand / availability work (via app), that is not shift work.

if I can I also I hope to help with system therein for people to participate in constructive ideas, community, and contemplation. Where they can make a living doing so.

I like your christian beliefs which all align with my beliefs.

I am interested in any advice, information or opportunities that you may have.

They did not reply

=====

Reply unsent

I would like to help in a system for vocation. Everyone wants their own home, see friends, participate in vocation, have work, and lots of free time to think and rest well, and other things, i appreciate that efforts that adelaide and world makes. However homes are not affordable to someone who works part time or even full time, being part of the government is difficult and many people fail in finding a place in their vocation.

Living in a community where I participate in the council is important to me.

I have had interest in living in a Christian community since I was 17. I am now 44. I believe it was because I don't reach out to people, and I have not researched it well, and looked to normal homes which has left me with a sense of isolation and no community for most of my life.

|

I have experienced consciousness that could be described as heavenly and have often believed in servicing people to maintain it or be delivered to it, and to be free from pain and loss of it. And for the ideas from it.

Something to work on. The disturbance in the environment that is not fixed or the acceptance with way things are. I have believed that homes in chosen community may help. For that to talk about it that someone would add something to a things to do list as they see suitable.

|

Otherwise being part of a Christian community or part of the environment to make things easier or share ideas, or just be part of a community i choose may help with peace and or more purpose in my environment.

Perhaps the idea of a community can be in its name and the people who choose to live there.

I have tried to participate in local church but didn't show up much and or went to different churches, and away felt sense of purpose while going to any of them, and would hope that living in one gives me an ongoing sense of purpose.

I have saved 25000 towards this with available loan amount of up to 100000 extra, and will continue saving for it. I'm available for about 25-30 hours per week, paid on completion by buyer, Ideas in the document link above you may see and use without credit to me.

I should have thought about this more or written this better. I found that interesting to write. But its been about 2 hours.

=====

Day 10227.0001 morning log

It was an interesting awakening from sleep, for once I didn't have anything specific on my mind, rather nothing on my mind. then another picture of what's around me, and a thought of how this is either good or bad for my motivation, energy and spirit,consciousness. Clearly not ideal.

A thought of what my late father may have seen of his life when he wakes up. Previously I have written about his pain and believed it could have been helped with spirit at peace with what I consider free of anxiety, filled with warmth and consciousness. He was not at peace with life, or didn't seem inspired by it.

=====

He did not own a home,
did not know his neighbors or mayer, and did not participate in council (as you would in this situation)

This is a jail. Keeps people in it. Inside their home or room. It's worst in a room.

I woke up today, and thought why don't I ever do anything my entire life

Why do save money hopelessly in it small amounts or keep writing this in some desperation. Sometimes I go to work and tell myself it's better than the bin job, which actually isn't a job.

You take someone who doesn't leave the house. And give them the new scenario. Here's where it gets confusing in my mind as to what that could be. I think they don't do much unless their friend invites them to do something they don't really see any point in it but

The motivation from the jail, and the thought it's freedom, being stuck there, the thought of other things that never happen. Stuck energy, energy for entertainment that is not fruitful or meaningful, just something to do, always to the computer games maybe? For my father it was to books.

Just now my fish made a noise so I look over and see him bit fucked , what he does is smash himself against the wall, swimming around really fast for a minute, he is in a small room with nothing to do. He only does this every few days and recovers after 40 seconds.

I don't like my job but it could be something to do, busy now, so I will check that now.

Probably the next thing I could have done is write about the environment and things to do, and it was going to be a test I was going to give you, for someone staying home like me, then you see the difference.

P.s.

My father did see one of his neighbors who had a partner that punched him and broke his jaw, but he didn't move or stop seeing this person who was blackmailing him (tell on him for cannabis he was growing).

P.s.

Once you find out that it stops suffering and inactivity in some people
Not walking your dog in Australia is illegal offence.

It should be a criminal offence to do this to me. In my mind for years I say I can't forgive Australia for this, that is why I can not help them. They are so insulting to sceptical people, so ignoring visions and people with . So ignoring of . Like people need to join the LGBT or happy cafe people or go to the beach. And there is nothing wrong. So many simple dickheads, I meet every day. To Europe, to treat your people as an economy and not as a group should also be illegal.

Where the rights for this, people passing laws for LGBT people, for minorities, and others but I'm not seeing anything for this.

I also don't like discrimination against smokers, finding a place to live is difficult but when smoking is impossible, and they take up to 60% of someone's income for it.

I don't like how you can't travel and stay in a country except for people who work full time, it's not possible just to work part time or casually or do small business.

I hear it's been the second driest summer on record, I hear they are driving truck loads of water in.

I am highly disturbed by the situation but I am also happy in a lot of ways and

=====

The instinct and desire of people to buy land and homes, to suck money out of the people that wander into their land, like spiders setting up nets, luring people in with advertising.

=====

Re gradual increase in excess deaths ?

?Housing affordability, migration, and shit life syndrome gradually increasing gradual increase, more people worried about nature of reality in their area, holding on to on going disturbance of community.

?Anxiety spreads with vibrations in voice, ideas and sharing of visions.

?Coinciding with low birth rates and exodus, and feeling of satisfaction with life?

Was it income related. Was it people who lived in poorer suburbs or shared homes? Birth rate related?

Come good recently in Australia due to ? money boom, and everyone weirdly being happy, it's weird how they are so happy , ?people paid off housing

?Transition into new community with high migrant culture killed those who would easily be killed by it already, poor people in share homes living with migrants.

?wave of people frombad_@itude is over with a lot of them now living in their own homes and settled into more suitable jobs and suburbs, rather than sharing with strangers in wrong suburb in wrong jobs.

?This may have affected people aged 20-40 working people not settled into housing or suburbs or retired in housing.

?And people have become adjusted to changes in life and environment, and think it's normal now.

I am bit stupid and disconnected from reality. I don't know. ?= I don't know.
Dumb: People stopped making good movies because they can't dream so easy with uncertain feeling of life anymore. ? People who work too hard don't make good scripts or have other vision of life other than work. Further adding to lack of peace with life so there by increasing disease, sickness, strokes, heart attacks and accidents due to not having higher spirit that keeps them from harm.

Coinciding with low birth rates? Like some bad midlife crisis. ? alcohol with anxiety and no hope = bad combination.

=====

On another subject

After watching videos from people in Switzerland and Norway who think there will be less people in the future due to declining birth rates, That's not what's happening, their populations are going up, and land value goes up to become unaffordable

It's a virginia company (capitalist) problem where economy is served over it's people and group identity is lost, where poor people are given unemployment payments to make them happy with it or as an excuse by the government as to looking after people while they otherwise neglect them being part of life, community, work or economy, but rather just let open world fill their business as natural desperate people do and forced migrant workers filling jobs.

=====

neglect of being part of life, community, work or economy,
Not being part of things, having no community or things to do is like to rot away in nothing with some payment to eat, but taking a shit job where it doesn't mean anything except some task with strangers, is worst and I think takes away ability to think and see also but in a different way. Until they make smoking and housing so unaffordable you just need to work for that even if you'd rather be unemployed

Due to the conditions, isolation and absolute unstable housing for so many people

I see I want different place with different way, as I have written

Then, also due to what happens to people just end up in shit job with strangers or no job

Your probably going to see lot of people like that when you actually know people again and it may be more clear

People will disagree, they have homes and jobs and don't care, so leave them I would, with laws in area to see it doesn't happen again.

The people I have had to live with and so spend much of my life with have been, imagine if they were people I choose how different this would be People I would not ever otherwise wanted to know. Perhaps always a bit of disturbance with unknown strangers and places that aren't mine or

!

I don't have anything of mine outside of my room, I don't own anything, I don't change anything, I don't feel I'm spending life with anyone, I don't see anyone hardly ever or see them for no reason, I don't do anything or participate in anything, I can't fix anything, I don't know and am not part of any government, and many other things.

Why would looking at the place as my world be disturbing, seeing a problem? I should call this chapter "no such things as community and problems of belonging to no world"

I imagine if I did how maybe life would feel.

When I am dead I was here and that is what it is, like a forgotten rat. But since when does anyone change it to anything, except buy and sell things in the rat economy so to build their nest and sit in it alone. but even something a lot of people can't do anyway.

=====

Disturbance can be hard to get over and can linger on and cause thoughts of more disturbance until one breaks, or a problem if it remains can cause the same anxiousness forever.

I'm lucky I have a affirmation to feel free not to think about the things after seeing something. Get in with my day. The thought was there to protect you but don't mean you can't be ok with life and get in with other things. Don't dwell in the problem you can't change, or plan to fix something, but maybe it doesn't need fixing and is ok the way it is. I'm not going to try until I live somewhere that things can be changed, where people move to group of people who own the area where it can be changed apparently that may never be, but it doesn't mean I can't live, or think about or do whatever I want (can do) right now.

I pray that you may be whole in spirit, feeling and health, to understand that spirit is there to protect you, and disturbance is temporary.

=====

How does an animal feel when it's living in another animals burrow that can at any time kick them out. How does it feel living with snakes. I have been in position to kick many people out any time I want, and people have had to put up with me, and I am sorry for this.

=====

Some shop I went into, maybe 80% of people looked like they had anxiety Thats maybe 20-25 people suffering all day, and probably no one talks about it. I asked my flatmate who went with me, but he did not notice, either he just not saying anything or is stupid like not seeing it.

I think it's like taking peace away from people's lives that would otherwise. Like loss of my dreams and consciousness. We're all free but seemed to be forced into places we lose or peace and consciousness, thought just letting things happen? ?or not providing area with governance that can alter the area for peace and spirit. ?

Id imagine some of them will be on long term disability payments a while after that, from long term anxiety , not wanting to work again

There could be number of ways to help these people

- Make them feel like they are getting well paid, for something they want to work towards

- Is it because their boss is walking around making them feel tense and under pressure when really they can do their job just as well without that.
- Take away their boss in their face all day, and put them with people and ways of working until you see their are not anxious
- Start and finish when they want, take breaks when they want.
- Affirmations and or environment where they are self-centred putting energy on themselves and just doing job
- Unfinished

=====

Within you is the ability to see existence, the dimension of reality, and you as a being inside of it, and to be in existence with others. You can feel that it would be good to make the place good for you all, to spend your time in life in, to have some plan for it. I guess their plan is economy for it is people need things and people pay for things. And there is definite upgrade of technology and ... that seems to be planned in some way for low disruption. It's not normally the way I look at things. Anyway.

It's one of the most powerful and meaningful visions, that someone could miss unless they know how to see it.

Something about it is disturbing and I don't do it for long or with wrong people. But could be a part of

I thought that it would be nice for the place where people all can do this at once so know everyone there can do it and has that vision at once would be nice. I write that before a few times.

==

To see existence it's simple

Instead of thinking about your work and what your going to eat for example,
Look at existence,

time passing in space

That your in something called existence

Then you should notice a completely new perspective, a new vision of life

It's no longer about your daily narrative of tasks

The vision and energy in your vision should change

If you associate this perspective with an object or action or thought then I don't know, it's better just to think about it.

It's disturbing for everyone I believe, don't worry about it, and you can be ok getting on with it without being stuck looking at that thing you saw.

You also have the ability to see other people in existence with you which is also a different perspective, the area will seem different, however this works well if the people you are with also elevate their perspective which is uncommon, so I thought either be with people who do this and i have never asked anyone to do this but I should, or be in an area for this that people understand the difference of this perspective before they enter, which I thought would be amazing, I really hope one day that can be made, and you will see why when you do it.

=====

For people who would otherwise be part of the community with visions and care for life, are replaced by representatives that don't know they exist pushing out their ideas for economy and life, for the stupid people who voted for them and think there is nothing more that makes life, where the land is owned by greedy investors and businesses people just there for money. You would not want to end up there with the type of brain or desire for life other than wasting your time and spending the other half of your life working for the investors.

To say business and government are only ones to provide things to do and work opportunities, and not people who know each other in local community is incorrect. I could see this is overlooking or forsaking part of life.

Something may be good about people somewhere that they make life ok but still is missing good things that there could be.

So some people can hold on to their blocks of land in hope they make some money. They do that, they love seeing their investments go up more than life itself. About where to buy and as much to buy that their investment will go up.

=====

It's like back to the future, nothing changes, and I die poor doing not much like people before me.

=====

Anxiety?

Stuck in a dead end job, no job, stuck in a boring life, isolated ot in some places you don't believe in , some place they don't care, no reason to do anything, money or project to move forward? Things like that.

Feels like life may be over before you can even get up to do anything, because well there is no way to move forward

Then there is the constant humm of no hope, maybe just to eat and wait for time to go by in uncomfortable doom.

There is a feeling from doom, vs there is no reason why I can't be content with this life and work towards something better, somewhere better, that isn't nothing and isolation and . There needs to be a way.

=====

Some people suffer though a situation of disturbance of something being wrong in their environment, and most don't see it or care. People say other people should fix their own problems while some can occasionally at the same time complain that something else is not fair in their environment, but for the most part all tragedy becomes normalised or even admired. For the most part a tragedy can be ignored as thought of as a part of life. I can't seem to stop seeing some, but I forget about many of the worst. But I guess is more productive to just work and healthier not to see them. Perhaps I think people become grateful with life so they don't suffer so are adverse to seeing anything wrong, but sometimes someone who suffers wants to fix something in a way to fix it for others, I mean they don't need to suffer to fix it, but someone who lives in what causes them suffering, without much way out of it.

=====

Homelessness. People need to apply for jobs with strangers and seem like why, and the work itself for years maybe would prefer not to.

Loss of good light and suicidal and hateful thoughts.

Isolation and disturbance without community or government to work with.

If you tried something a bit different would there be less suicide, homeless, crime, and sickness, . Crime and stupidity, won't go away but maybe if they were disallowed into a good community by choice, they would be stuck in a place that accepted them or no community so just this may be a punishment itself to make their subconscious realise that something is wrong with their behaviour.

====

Regarding the section in how bad people are a punishment to themselves, The way this works is good people don't accept them, so they make friends with bad people or find isolation, they make friends with bad people and punish each other until they find no one like them and find isolation, and get dreams of the bad things they did and feel guilty and build morals, but here there is no choice who one lives around or works with, one will spend life in isolation with whoever is around or needy people who contact them, and normally does things with strangers, so a bad person is normally around good people and finds ways to screw with them, but is never punished by being in force to not be with good people and or then isolation.

=====

I think I have bit of money, I don't need to work all the time, Im free, so, I should be so lucky, I mean I am so lucky. 1

2. Some people can't do nothing with their lives. Feeling of. Drive them crazy or depression, or anxiety.

Wouldn't you want a life where there is great things to do. No just get upntonwast your time in screen.

Some people say that's all they want, to be behind a screen and be fed food, and other think everythings great.

I guess if people like me were to choose neighbours and talk to them they would not get along with these people, so choose different neighbours until they could see eye to eye with people they talked to and created community based on these tragedies.

2. The world, place where one spends life, could be filled with people they like. Where fantasies are done.

There are already lots to do, and you can contact anyone, improving this design is just another thing, so important, for someone stuck in their thoughts not doing much except looking at the emptiness of life.

2. Most people don't like to change or design communities or have ideas for it, just that they are also opposed to it, and or too stupid to support it.

I'd question if there is a difference between people who don't and people who have thousands of ideas about it, and passions that make them want to do things, be part of, or get elected, and the people who get elected without who don't seem to care or think that other people could.

It's sad everyone is just working and doesn't care about anything else or care for people who see things like this, and expects them to just get a job. It's sad living here. It gives me anxiety that causes head tension, and later I try not to think about it, it's so sad and people are insulting to me about it otherwise so I don't care to live here, I don't think my brain and dreams can work well unless I live somewhere I can contribute and change things in place I believe in. I will finish my life here trying to ignore it and working for that. but there is something wrong with you all here so I don't know.

Hurt me to write that, to think that, pain in my head, is kind of thing, because negative perceptions and thought it was bad.

If these people were from some invading army repressing me I would like to fight them, but it is what I was born into, just everyone everywhere and way things are so skip that, and wondered if I could live in place where people had ideas and cared about their consciousness.

Ok, I am dickhead, I should appreciate how good things are.

It not only causes head pain but causes "damage and is the neurological connections so that their perceptual field is brought down to the five physical senses.

No more remote viewing, no more precognition.

They can just see whats here, what's around them"

Which makes life worth living, is life, feel normal good, no pain, and is important to have.

Living in a place where this is better is number one goal,

I believe it's living in community of choose people, and contribute in way that's acceptable. Find way people can live without pain, and continue viewing and living in good conscious. Either you understand what that is, or you want to help, or you don't get to live there.

1. Everyone owns a home. If that's all that done is great improvement.
2. People aren't isolated or disturbed by people in their area. Neighbours.
3. Money
4. Ideas for their area and good ideas in general mean something.
5. I don't know, they know

Probably if this disturbance is occurring people know, but some things help a lot without people knowing.

==

Worrying about things, don't need to worry about anything, does that help.

Are there good visions of all the people in all the places around you, good communication, memory from communication, a standing and roles other than doing nothing, feeling of community to work for to make good. People to see and talk to, and things to do.

The world I love.

Actually if I'm not expecting anxiety I feel content.

==

Just some words right?

Imagine someone with a passion to do it, fix it, and say it

I look at my environment and life, I only have this to live for, "for the world I love", otherwise I don't see much point in living

Some of my thoughts years before I wrote this meant more than my life, I just remember that. It's not such a strong feeling with this now, but something to work on, before the things there was nothing more important. my life disappeared and there were just the ideas, but going nowhere I have forgotten them, but not really if I want to remember.

Was this one of them,
I remember how important it was about ideas and my consciousness states, if ideas could mean more then maybe I could stay there but problem was not going anywhere with it and great ended up in bad place with bad people and no money for smoking addiction, very difficult to get a home or fix this again if i or someone like me could stay in those spaces, where it meant more or they didn't need to go to work, or work did not destroy it, work comes from it,

I'm not sure exactly what I was thinking but I am sure I wrote it. Other ones have been around choose neighbors community.

I / people can lose stability in their environment and not be working on things they can do without losing some free thinking. Where all their visions and ideas don't mean anything, and they did a job and or environment without a job that gives them anxiety around strangers in odd places because that's how it works. Just stuck in these environments, loose great memory, long visions happy state, and even conversation skills, and even sickness. It happened to me.

I use to just accept there were problems but still don't take away the fact there there is a ground I'm standing on for years I do or the ability to imagine things or think about what I want, but that stopped working when I couldn't support myself, found it hard to pay rent, and had no home I could choose people in and ended up living with criminals etc.

Elon said in future with robots everything will be so cheap, it will just be a problem with how people occupy their lives, without work,
This is an ignorant statement, typical of someone who just works too much, but odd that he doesn't need to Already many people are in pensions and unemployed
Not everyone just has a few ideas and sits there for months or years making them to fill their time , and becomes rich
I have sat there for years making some,
I would have had more ideas than he has,

Not everyone does full time work can cope with than or can buy a home, like people that get into politics come from so don't understand anything else?

I have had a lot of time without work, and a lot of time thinking with no reward, almost like a waste of life that people may not understand, I don't like the work I have had much, I don't like how lot of people think people need jobs to just occupy their time, when clearly they do it because they can't afford homes cars etc with it.

Here are a some ideas anyway how people could enjoy life more and no just sit in front of a screen.

....

I probably always had this problem with my thoughts going in some negative direction, leaving me with some anxiety, in some cases fairly or a lot of cases needlessly. I shouldn't be so certain that anything will fix that.
|

I believe if I / someone who has has this type of consciousness, is in their own home, surrounded by people they want, only seeing people they want, they won't get head tension or lose this type of their consciousness. Test it. I have lived with it so often and seen it so often, is where I would choose to live.

Also for sleeping problems

|

Additionally if they just work on what they want alone or with people they want when they want and successfully complete things.

|

P.s.

When I was young I was told I was due for a reasonable inheritance although this was later given to the my grandfathers girlfriend, at the time I had anxiety about life, not doing much, isolation, life in general, and thought at least I had this to look forward to, and thought about interesting things I could do, I never found work enjoyable, but local community although I did have, and things to do, which was mostly lacking, I think if someone can be inspired to do or join something like work but better than work, they can design their community for things to do for work, community should this better and businesses people and government should be informed to support and or fund(with pay back) ideas instead of copying other peoples or buy up competition.

I guess when ai and robots do most common work, or just a lot of people become unemployed, or some people just don't seem to be working much, or work is lost due to other factors, you'd think it should be easy enough for them to find things to do, what is already there to do or what people may think of but not see an easy way to do, while the second may be more difficult and the first more made for strangers consumption

Do I really want to do that thing, or do i just want to be productive with friends around, and sometimes talk about things with these people, and have a sense of community and some visits and things to do that would give me some nice reflections and or be productive. At the moment it seems to be to do things for people i dont know and difficult, and in the end just for money.

I guess with the inheritance it was the ideas and freedom to think I was going to do something interesting, but doesn't mean it would have been interesting perhaps, but thinking about it was, but I think doing things productive with friends and or community is something good to reflect upon, rather than having ideas and not doing them.

P.s. Good one.

Occasionally now I am so accustomed to the dull quiet space in my dull life, I think what do i want, I don't know, somebody there? Why do i want somebody there?, id rather be fuck alone right now, I'll go out and do some nothing later, I dont know. This is because I have a home now after 7 years, it was always present that i needed more before.

|

But I wake up and there is nothing here and I think how could I design a space where I am inspired by the people and things to do around. I think back to when I had thought of inheritance and thinking then my life will have the thing that give me something to do, this may be so but more likely is that the thing doesn't last or it's just another job or doesn't fulfill my life.

|

Some community with something to do for spirit and motivation, the vision of the people around to think about for inspiration and things to do to reflect upon with them so i feel fulfilled, i think? But for now I dont have so I go back to being accustomed to the dull quiet space? Not really because I see this and things like it every day.

|

I saw my late family and some friends debating things, and thought how nice would that be if they were in my community. But the government maybe never heard from them. My grandfather maybe reminded me of Batman, would fix your community up. Both he and my old best friend would tell the wankers to get out of our community, and I would shake their hands.

|

So the idea is to obtain money for the good life, and thats all that is required for you to do? So it's a good job (sad), and the fake things to go out and see (sad), it could be that expensive house you're going to work the rest of your life for, or could not even get if you did ? But really what it is is to have the money and live in an expence place so you feel successful and can look down upon people who didn't make it? If you cared about anyone there's nothing you could do anyway, you better just hope their ok with the fake life they have, and hope its not filled with disturbing people, poverty and thoughts of such things, pain and feeling like they're in hell. Where people can dwell until they figure it out. I guess isolation, crap disturbing work, and little hope in a future is my future, unless I figure it out. I thought I figured it out but things wont change.

|

I guess its the environment around you, and people you are close to in life, that you may spend life with, the things in your environment and life that create a sense of these things being real, rather than isolation, around people you would not choose to spend a life around, in an environment that you would on for strangers in places you don't go, screens and contemplation about life that isn't happening or good, and doing things that are like looking at fake moving images.

It could be great to get an exciting job or expand one's life through money and land etc, or the idea for a community, but at the end of it are these things improved or does one still live without them.

|

It would be healthier for me to contemplate real things, real events, real possibilities that happen that have meaning in my environment. When I laid down I started having a conversation with a YouTube personality in my head. If I not doing anything real what are my thoughts going to be about. I have little interest to travel across town to talk to someone for no reason and do nothing meaningful. Although I like talking and having done so with real people I know and will see again some time in the far future but don't have anything to do with each other in life.

I really appreciate not having anything much I need to do sometimes, and like being by myself, and nothing and no one meaningful I need see, but not always like this, and I would be healthier if I had. I would also be healthier if I always had my own space not needing to talk or see people in the house that disturb me, and always wonder how I was going to get my own place without any possibility of doing so. I know this because now I have government housing I can see its much healthier although I always knew, but this is kind of temporary that if I leave it or am evicted I have no options for housing without living in some strangers house in a small room, seeing these people every day that want to talk a bit, that I don't normally want to see, with not kitchen or other space I feel comfortable walking around in.

#9871234654

Motivation in Australia and ... somewhere

Make heaps of money for holidays and investments

Work hard to stay in the new country because you came from some fucked country or some war

If you don't work your kind of fucked so you need to or you can say your disabled and be able to live

But the motivation to make the place better is not much in vision,

This is what's missing from capitalism without community, not that capitalism with community would be so bad, it's just a reason to get up to make things better for your community.

Im sort of inspired by some ideas but dont seem to good if they were not with friends or adding to a local community of friends.

I see that if you get a bunch of friends in an apartment to choose their neighbours and have places for new people to stay, then instantly people will have the vision to do things and create things around, and happy to wander, and it would be my hope there that people have more than idea if something is productive or benefit for community, at least some more simple things will happen for sure. But when it becomes more important maybe the things will be done more. I see this framework as important, so.

Still I don't do much but think about things, and still would be a problem with a local community, perhaps for someone like this is good to participate in council thinktank, or ideas think tank of some kind, but then the ideas maybe people dont share them in community but elsewhere with strangers, so that is a secondary community of strangers for making something.

P.s.

5837474747

I remember being bored and not doing anything I felt was interesting or real, and the thought of the money was a thought of putting myself somewhere with something interesting, so the thought made me feel like maybe there was something worth living for

But I wasn't sure, and right he just turns around and gives it to his girlfriend after telling me for years either way I found it more interesting and peaceful sometimes to dream than worry about my life, so I did until that completely took over with the projects I thought of, then they didn't work, and I ended up really poor after selling business for funding for them that slowly got spent, then it was worse and environment trouble, and the thought and projects just seemed to go on forever and never work, the things I was doing were not productive to me and my environment became disturbing, before this after I lived in the city when I didn't have money problems I started hating the world so much for way it was, more and more I hated it, and I became sick, and then later with money and super fucked environment problems, I became very sick, I tried to ignore it for praying day after day for something different, to ignore the environment, it took years but now I don't see the environment years later the thoughts and things I do, still the same, maybe not as bad at the moment as they have been at many times but still much of nothing and not getting anywhere or doing anything like where I was my whole life. I imagine a homeless person bit sick of work and life, finding and losing work, became homeless and then it really turns to hell, so sick they don't even remember,

It a cruel thing to do to life let alone human life. Your opinion on the matter is disgusting, but people have done far worse, but you still deserve to be ashamed for your ignorance.

For me it seems like being a bit disturbed by public and doing new things aren't interesting and no idea about doing some otherwise, (not written correctly and unfinished), it's a common problem and maybe if you fix it people in your country will be more productive and contribute more to the economy than the migrants, the migrant cycle (people come in and some of them work, and they are the ones that stay and the others leave).

Anyway I have let go of this type of thing, just remembered it again right now need to let it go again before I make myself disturbed which leads to sickness. There are two things that will be good for me to do in my life, and I don't know if writing here will help, I just write this for record, and to help someone else maybe.

Maybe there are no things I need to do but to be free in my mind, without hangups, and have enough money, because I would fail in trying to fix such things, so why do i feel like it's something to fix now that I can't , I just have me to be happy in my own mind somehow, really, but maybe the two give me some hope for something better in the future and maybe some motivation or reason to make some money for myself if that's all it ever going to be.

=====

Anxiety causes 3

Spiritual disturbance and pain

A common saying is at least we're not in a war zone, be grateful for that.

Having bombs drop in your area is a reason for anxiety.

However someone may be in a home where the probability of being bombed is 1/10000, around loved ones, doing things, getting in with life, and not feel constant anxiety, they hope the war will end and it's not like that can go on forever.

Whereas someone can live in a space where they see no hope in the future, where they don't see loved ones, they don't do things, live in poverty, or other things, and cause on going anxiety seeing such things, there is probably 1/10000 chance they will die a lot younger from anxiety and sickness they feel, but this may not even be in their mind,

They could be in debt or not afford to pay their mortgage or rent,

Not have a suitable job

Living thinking they have no community and migrants will take over or something

The negative perception of reality can be there just as much or worse.

There can seem no reason to live. No way to fix it. And feel pain of anxiety that makes them suicide.

Something like that.

Whereas in war I think suicide levels are lower than in Australia maybe they have the end of the war to look forward to.

Affordable housing with loved ones is more than most people have here.

People are complaining about cost of food, but I have not seen this problem.

I think we should not think extravagant special food makes us happy, and be happy with efficiently produced and collected food and find happiness elsewhere. Such as living in a community while eating it or eating it with.

Maybe it's more of a problem when after you hit 40 or 50 and your life seems shit, because you have been there so long and things don't seem to change, you don't see people or not people you would want to spend your life with. Without doing things, owning a home, etc, but apparently the place is great so it must be your fault.

Either you may think your a loser or the place is no good, but either way there must be something wrong that's may not be able to be fixed, so instead of a way that can end or a door that can be fixed, there is no hope,

=====

Want to do something with life but also socialize with people you know, rather than work for strangers with strangers?

If people knew each other in the area anything you do to serve or make area better could also include socializing.

For things to do with your friends, that is productive, while also adding to the environment which you spend your life.

Would it be normal to know people in apartment or street to talk to about what's happening there, and not just go out to foreign places.

=====

Do cigarettes help maintain vision and reflection upon life even though depressing times, I think so, and higher vision of life when not disturbed, ?but thought ongoing disturbing times higher visions of life can causes worst energy distribution causing disease, causing bad statistics. I don't know.

It still a pity to take away such large amounts of money from those who may be stuck in reflection, causing worst circumstances that they may reflect upon and less money to do things about their revelations except think about them.

=====

In one case life is about making money to spend on what's available or organising things within someones means to make it fulfilling.

But life could also be about living around people and seeing ways to make life more fulfilling and tolerable.

But living around strangers, can be isolating, where the only thing to do to make life more tolerable is limited

In shared homes owned by someone else they never care who lives there unless they do, so you end up with anyone, a bit like isolation and random people contacting you and finding it difficult to say no.

In one way of thinking with a stable population you could make life for the coming decades

In another way of thinking you could leave it up to an economy to provide for everyone forevermore, in which case you would see it's ok now, but you would not be seeing that jobs don't work well for people and people can go without financial stability, and where people can suffer a lot but it's just ok because the economy is there to fix it

=====

I heard to celebrations and thought they were all just happy they are getting richer as house prices keep going up. While others are left with paying unaffordable rent or mortgages, and many become homeless. In a place where other people don't matter and it's just you and the money or stability or freedom you have, they think it's acceptable or just ignore that they take homes and financial freedom anyway from people, and people can just do nothing or wander the streets, and take a low paid job in one of their businesses, and eventually die like they were never here except they production or wondering or viewing a screen of things that are fake or not part of their lives.

=====

For someone sitting there doing nothing, feeling like they can't move forward. They need a way to change things.

They should have governance of their area in order to change something to suit their lives so they can.

Else it's a bit like taking away someone's life. Maybe they blame themselves, or find way to be happy with what they have. I'm not happy about it, nor can I help other people with it. I have been stuck in a job that causes so much pain I can't do it much, but there is no other job I can see that someone can do without pain or in their own time. There are no business or government that would change anything nor do they

So many people stuck like that, some find peace and some don't. I had vision too much stuckness can unravel the world, or be it my world, or change to another one. There is no point in it for me.

=====

Regarding #68484758

They create a place for life that has eternal needless suffering but think it's the best place there has ever been on earth and there is no problem, and would not know how to fix it if they saw it, and would not be able to implement any solutions if they had any.

That feeling to leave or join some community is not just a wishful idea but a necessity to continue life of people like you. But there is no place to join or leave to, and far worst options if you work part time and or smoke cigarettes, where place to leave are for people who work full time mostly in jobs that you would need to lose your life and or conscious for, so it leaves you with a difficult task that 99.999 percent of people won't care for or understand and highly unlikely to achieve, but is still a worthwhile thing to try, where I think I have made little to no contribution, where I have always found it hard to share ideas or wish to contribute to such strangers and places that is like this, that keeps people in little rat cages and worst, that thinks is great, that doesn't see it like some twisted virginia company empire set to suck people into it.

=====

When other than serving strangers or no one at all, and hobbies that don't mean anything and disappear without a trace when you're dead, what you mean in life and the community and to your neighbours is another taken parking space that they could use. It's nicer to park on your property so you don't take away something they can use, but nothing will be given or contributed even if you wish for that an entire lifetime.

=====

Under no one to blame but yourself because you don't live in a community that can change anything about almost anything nor do you know them or anyone in any type of system

If there was a group of people that you were part of that you knew people in Otherwise there is no outlet for ideas and problems

And I forget what was going to write

I can't find that section about, if you had a community and it went bad, then you would have someone to blame, or if you were a part of its design then you could also blame yourself for not doing more. I mean by things that can help others, otherwise you'd just hope people find some tolerable productive things to do with whatever the strangers in government and business provide to their strangers.

=====

necessities1121 3

I feel like my life is a failure.

Others think that way of life is fine, so I should question why I think it's not or why I think it should be changed, when what is here could be seen as a satisfactory system, that people can use that can be seen as satisfactory,

It seems towards this system people need go out and do things and something for their home and family and then seem to think it more satisfactory?

The way perhaps I messed up is not finding a good tolerable job, maybe because I can't get to sleep for such a thing sometimes, and I remember when I did I became like a drone to the job and seemed to take away feeling of consciousness or life.

Still people in similar situations as me may not see their lives as failures or that something could be changed in area to make their lives more fulfilling

Or perhaps some do,

Kind of people who don't go out much or don't find that fulfilling

Don't own homes

Or feel they live in a community or mean much in life

I think I would prefer something else

?That the simplest thing would be to choose neighbours so there may be a better feeling seeing people who clear bad energy away, or living in that environment, I'm not sure now but I used to be. For everyone to have their own space where they don't need to see people also.

?In a place where space still has value, for someone who wants it like me to have access to build more space locally without needing to see anyone, this was actually my plan to save for 5/10 years to buy something I can do this in but price here has doubled and 10/20 years is a long time to try to start something

It feels like no reason to get up to do anything but some job that makes me feel sick, for this or for money for necessities

Difficulty finding something else, I have been trying and thinking about it. No way to change the environment for any of it. And I'm feeling too sick and tired, unmotivated and disturbed from this environment and job city country life, I feel like if I was more inspired by people at work I could work more but there are all strangers, and I see no one at home that would otherwise give me energy that builds resilience for work

I feel bad for people also like this that don't have work, that may be thinking about things in vain, to struggle,

I guess there is one lot of people who think everything is fine, and some that would choose something different, looking at people's lives I thought they mostly seemed dull, unfulfilling, slow, etc, but I doubt many people are interested

=====

Can you fix this by default and not let these people sit in their room or public housing feeling like there is nothing to live for.

I hate you all for thinking it's great, and for the place where they think it's great because people go to places for reason like visiting artists who sing about love, when there is no life like this. I have had this an entire life, you stupid fuck head thinking things to do are the stupid things and working and sitting on your money. You're just all like that or worst.

It feels like no reason to get up to anything but some job that makes me feel sick. No way to change the environment for any of it. And I'm feeling too sick and tired, unmotivated and disturbed from this environment and job city country life, I don't feel like getting up.

But for people who don't have money or jobs they can get up to do, or locked into jobs. And it's very difficult to find a job you can just get up to do, and they are normally very low paid jobs, basically don't exist, and every thing else is some locked in jobs to do when people don't feel like it. Either way there is no

When unemployment it's like horrible to think of going back to the jobs I had , and it's not easy , and

And if someone has a criminal record for anything they can't get the delivery or passenger transport jobs or other jobs and there is nothing else much that's unscheduled

Indians don't have a good criminal record system so they get away with work and migration to countries and work that would otherwise deny them.

#5854112

I feel like my life is a failure.

Others think that way of life is fine, so I should question why I think it's not it why I think it should be changed, when what is here could be seen as a satisfactory system, that people can use that can be seen as satisfactory,

It seems towards this system people need go out and do things and something for their home and family and then seem to think it more satisfactory?

The way perhaps I messed up is not finding a good tolerable job, maybe because I can't get to sleep for such a thing sometimes, and I remember when I did I became like a drone to the job and seemed to take away feeling of consciousness or life.

Still people in similar situations as me may not see their lives as failures or that something could be changed in area to make their lives more fulfilling

No one cares for philosophy of a winger who has no life in suffering, they just live and die in it with no life and no one sees it, all the death by asphyxiation, tensing, suicide, energy related, . You don't see it because no one want to see it, it's just a painful existence that people don't share, especially if people before 50 years who has never had enough money for their own home

Maybe because their reality is disturbed enough they can't talk very well or their great ambition for life is a home away from strangers

Of the philosophy of organisation of things to do I have not seen well as the organisation of how one should organise themselves

People like to listen to proud chickens that go around making noise for no reason like their so great doing it , Apparently we're supposed to go around to places for no reason , and talk to people for no reason or that some may cater for them

Entire life like that, can't take it back, I can't see a way out, of all the dead people died like that. There is much worst. I hope you see life isn't all chocolate and rainbows like you think it is.

I should have died like that many times but I detached myself from reality and hoped for something else or decided to think about other things because it was too painful , or be greedy for the mear fact life exists that I have some time it yet. So it's fitting I write this and try to work on it. I understand how important economy is but

For some people instead of paying for high medical bills and treatments in hospital, you could give them things to do as a valued member of this round of human existence with people they know and respect, and 573747, and maybe then you to can collect more tax, pay less for unemployment, have workers for longer, and maybe even have more population being birthed for the future.

573747

or fix disturbance like that which may cause distance, for accepting life or working in those problems is pease and inspiration, it's nice to accept things as well but if someone doesn't feel right about it and or sees it every day.

|

For example

Skilled person who can't find a job, can't support themselves

Person who is getting financially leached or demanded from someone without end and can't afford to, can't separate from them

Someone who is being abused by someone who comes over

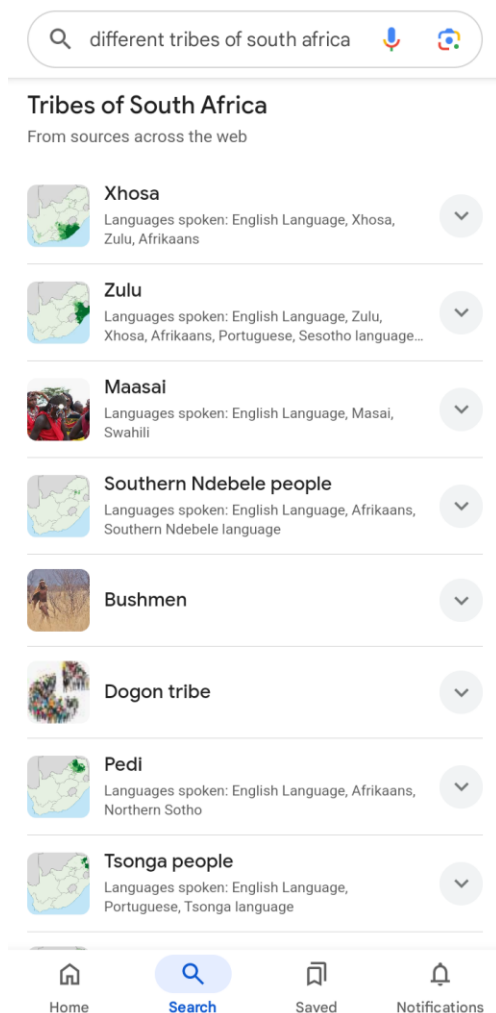

Not sure

These things can be fixed by the person but also in a community can be fixed, by finding people who are disturbed

|

At the moment I seem to be fixing it by trying to enjoy the life I have, just the concept of it, and or remembering people who have suffered and saying I hope not to worry and suffer like them. But it's just a matter of time, and happens when I wake up I see what's in front of me. So it is unclear if actually I should just be happy with my environment as I could work in what I want but it doesn't seem so sometimes and for hyper critical people who feel unwell from it can have something, because drugs are not good solution.

=====

?People already choose where they want to live , creating different areas
 But not every one,
 You could assume that the people who don't are happy to live where they are living, you may be mistaken. Or it may just be laziness in find place in right area.
 ?If choice of area comes from wealth, do people who would otherwise not choose to live near criminals and less productive areas, then have no other choice for area.

=====

Viewer discretion is advised

This information contains ideas that have not been tested and could be bad.

Warning this information may cause disturbance to some viewers

Maybe cause negative perceptions of reality to some viewers that could be harmful.

=====

A person may get a peaceful good feeling of a person in their lives it doesn't mean the other person has the same feeling. someone can long for that caring feeling from other people who don't want it from them because they are disturbed by them or have it in a better way with other people
Or this changes over time when one person stops liking or wanting to be around another

But often people get stuck with each other, and have no other people they connect or live with, or otherwise in isolation

Someone may care for their family but feel more fulfilling if their see their peers and do activities

Someone on a shaky airplane during a blizzard was freaking out so someone said to him think about your loved one, to help calm him down. This can work.

|

In some cases, you can think about appreciating and enjoying the time you have left in reality, whatever that is, and this doesn't require thinking of someone or something you don't have at the time.

It's better to spend life with loved ones and not fly on shaky airplanes during blizzards, but you may not spend your life with loved ones and in your mind you may see reality like a shaky airplane more or less sometimes.

Spiritual being, consciousness, memory, good motivation, euphoria, good feeling is not just something people have , or that they can have the opposite or not something I just have or opposite

Other things that make people feel opposite in life is Not having a home

Money problems from not wanting to work

Gambling

Drugs or cigarettes from high tax, poverty

Meaningful things that make people feel accomplished helping those they care about

I'm trying to direct my thoughts to more positive things, which helps but more possible things would help. Some people for times in their lives have more positive things and at other times do not.

I don't do any of these good things but I do like my handouts so I don't need to wake up every day of my life after often having not enough sleep to work for strangers as that makes me feel tied and drowned by becoming some kind of functions for places I am not part of expt for the functions.

Maybe after or during the war they were poor so they started working a lot and forgot about such things, but this has just perpetuated and people have forgotten what people use to do, now maybe some have a sense of this again but dont know what it was like or how people made things good before the war

I wast my time a lot, and think it would be nice to do somethings meaningful for people I care about , which I believe would make me feel better

|

Perhaps if I lived in a community that I could help design, I could think about how to change things for people's insecurities.

|

As I have had communities in some form, I have seen I do think about it, and other people think about it, and give advice, is normally about giving advice on what the other person can do outside in public, but how often does that work or do people take the advice, was there something that could have been changed in immediate area without need for people seeking public options, or is it better or ok just like this and cant change it so live with it. Can you remember the failings of a lifetime that could have been different.

=

Government is doing a bad job, like the opposite from that they should do Making homes more expensive, high taxation and promoting gambling and smoking, making people poorer

Completely disregarding people's good feeling of doing things for a pure economic business run blind investment and business system

For the 50% of people who own homes a lot of them won the lottery, I mean maybe 20% of them own investment property, there's a government that supports it. Like life is work, then people invest and for centuries they invaded countries and destroyed communities, for this investment money like they were just number in an investment index, this hasn't changed in peoples mind or systems, it is their ambition and lives of government and people,

People always looking for an investment, and just looking after themselves, it's easier than working, or thinking of helping strangers in area. Work and invest, do what you want with money or to support people that want to pay for something, otherwise life is

===

I guess you need to be passionate about money or something to work to help strangers when you don't have community

But for some

Seeing friends every day will give them energy that builds resilience for work.

If working in a community could make them feel like they are helping people more.

If not living around people they would not want to serve for nothing then there may be less of an backwards effect on motivation.

=====

I get ideas of videos and games, but there is so much rubbish on the internet that has no meaning or importance in peoples lives, but i see people without communities, without homes, and i feel like welding some steal, i don't have a degree but was very good at it when i was 15 and can remember like it was yesterday. But its not something i want to commit to for routine shift work but something I can do when i want over time, it a pity building with such affordable things is considered only for people with lot of money for it, but making visions and websites people see anyone can make without any requirements.

problem with some countries at the moment, it use to be affordable further out, like most cities have some very cheap homes or lasd somewhere further out, Australia no longer has this, like some cities is uk or canada. People like property investments and migration like the virginia company, so building and homes are just difficult for low to low/medium income, and no one fixed it

=====

Regarding #tenders

The idea is for local community, to see local problems, and things to do, things to make,

Better work options for everyone the way they want, what's needed instead of state government, that don't include people except themselves in the ideas, that build things that I never use. Like when there is a homeless and unemployment problem, places where people don't work full time for 25 years so don't own homes, where they don't socialise or do much, they spend money on a football stadium, this may create new jobs but may be missing the point as to why someone didn't get a job like that in the first place. There is a problem with tax like this.

Many people are living these lives and no one does anything about it.

=====

Virginia company governments have often used excise taxes on tobacco and home prices to generate funds. And to keep people working. They only care that people work for their members under their conditions. They don't care if someone doesn't find work, community, own homes, or can't afford tobacco because that's how they generate funds. And this is the way they make hard workers and investors to one day join them.

However if people choose neighbours and pay off homes, and are poor if they do not work, but there were work options people could do any time, they would still work and pay tax. It would create a more enlightened healthier community.

And if tobacco tax was based on income it would not affect the poor so much, it would give poor people funds to help them start business as for poor people may have more time to think about them or start new hobbies.

=====

If you think the concept of society is to solve problems by providing goods and services for money, and the reason someone or a group does it is for money.

And tax is collected for everything else, and to maintain this system, for protection and law of it, etc.

Then if there are problems people have and see that money doesn't help much or providing answers to government or organisations don't benefit the individuals.

Why would someone do it if they don't feel they are part of a community?

This could also be fixed by providing acknowledgement and respect for the people who see the problems but that doesn't happen and if they feel outcast or not part of community they will not care so much to fix these things, so you will not see them and you will not hear of great things being fixed.

But for the people who don't see the problems and state of life they seem to still care about such things as the environment and renewable energy for some reason I think is why this is seen so much. Some other people may see poverty or homelessness but only think that it's a problem for them getting jobs.

For most part people only are concerned for a small percentage of their lives except for that they want or money for themselves which is understandable as being concerned doesn't help them or the place they live for they do not would not be helping people that they will see again. And other people do bad things, but of which no one cares about as long as they are not part of their own lives.

If community has been lost recently then you should expect worst problems not to be fixed soon. The government will still be there to serve the state (the 1 in 200000 government), but as other problems don't get fixed they may see more and more that problems don't matter.

Regarding #representatives

==

People can't be trusted to see what's wrong, only people who see it can be, you may hope to see this for greater area but you can make this so for your area

It's what happens with nationalisation and individualism and no community of people who know not respect people like this. People don't respect people like this, it is very uncommon for anyone to think that a person can even see or want to fix something in a community.

Vision of condemnation?

Some people talk about this

Few people do bad acts because of it, but their motivation in this understanding is seldomly seen. And it's good their is law.

a nation that creates it like that for all people , there are just laws and ways things work , and no input into local community if people don't even talk to local councillor or government but may not think every thing is way it could be a lot of things may seem condemned at some point, and many things will be forgotten, and some may be remembered.

Looking at them doesn't help want to be part of it ?

System is rigged for people who don't see problems and are just motivated for themselves to become abundant so to be happier with their own, to give no purpose to seeing a problem, for people to invest to magnify their happiness and ability to do meaningful things some simple things for that are missing for many , let alone not liking some of the foundations of it or way it is. But not so much missing for these people or people who I guess tolerated it or don't see it when they are younger and became successful and or can be motivated to get out of bed for it for much of their lives. Where they may never see it but just become successful, invest, not need to work in un motivating things or nothing, have great power, and think how wonderful everything is.

For people who just work in some shit job or no job, see condemned things, life life as piece of shit,

For people who see some great injustice, but have no purpose or respect in life, in work, in standing, from anyone, for anything in life,

“Why would someone do it if they don't feel they are part of a community?”

no community, but maybe maybe no owned space, or living in some dick heads space , or just a small room in it, or no space at all.

It's was interesting to watch a election candidate, talk through some problems publicly, because doing so may get the attention of others to give pressure or understanding to strangers to fix a problem, even if they are not elected to fix it, where as many people don't have an audience, and why would someone want to express the problems in a way to fix them in a place where they are not even respected, but these candidates clearly have been in their lives, and have those lives of abundance.

=====

It's unfortunate that life is about getting up for work to build some home or to pay for services for enjoyment or something. Where as in my mind it's about life. Not something I need to try to see, just who i am, have always been. I could imagine some place where things are done from what is seen of life and not like this. Where work and community should be about what people see and talk about. Maybe in some places like that there is actually a meaning to talking.

Regarding things to do, part of work should be for this from visions, there will be things that this is needed for.

How is this problem fixed?. Live or participate somewhere where you know people and talk about and fix and make things. As it if people don't do that. If you go somewhere but nothing is done maybe you stop going. But this is also a place where there is no system and not a live long community for how things are done.

If you choose your neighbours and talk to them and nothing is done. or people don't agree or things are not allowed, then you should choose different neighbours . People may be good at agreeing with someone to appease them but after time if nothing is done. There may only be few people who aren't so fake or disrespectful.

There could be limits to what can be done or missing systems that need to be worked on before the thing can be done.

First we need the ability for people to choose their area and group.

Nobody should be disallowed, except for if they should be in jail. But people should also be able to choose the groups next to them, and so on. And if they want to block a group or an individual from their area then they should be able to do that.

Homes are made to allow or disallow people in them, but when the home is not owned by you someone else often can disallow people, or choose who lives in it with you.

Community is not made for people to choose, except for the price of the homes, which often make people ineligible to live somewhere alone, and many people just stay living in someone else's home stuck with them because other homes are only for people who work full time for a long time in high paying job or have home investment from before, or other savings.

=====

#necessities1121 2

Under necessities

A dog enjoys being fed and some company

A human sometimes sees other people and wants not to live a meaningless life and die alone

Some necessities, some greater place to live in can be designed and made, But for the great things people see, what would they consider great, if they said they are doing it or have done it, like a role or an exploration that may make the self see the self as something doing, or done, or to be.

This may be well for the person who has the plan and sees the end and does the plan, or finds themselves somewhere they are content.

Regarding, the sentence that I am good at designing more than the dull life that I may live my life as with some ideas of other things, or that

==

I guess it's more for a person who doesn't like what they're doing or where they live and

To be poor, if one doesn't have the ambition or motivation for something greater

But where they end up and the strangers around is shocking and depressing, there seems no way out, but for a new place to exist that is different, but no one thinks to create it, or sees it's needed, people just happy way it is, everyone has their advice and it all means nothing to the way it should be.

They spend something like 20 billion on roads that were not so bad, and redevelopment of government buildings and things like this, and own a lot of space, but spend maybe a few million or nothing on anything close to this, although they would have excuses. I will probably die here having spent all my time in places like with this government. And for my experience I need to say it should be changed to smaller community for people who want to design the environment they live in with people they choose. As to ideas and the consciousness, well that seems to be for a different time and place, I hope people can experience and make better.

==

I guess the dream of the great thing, people may try it but not a role or a successful role and go back to working in services job or manufacturing or something. Where the people in the great role maybe be paid more because they were successful in it but not many people are, but don't mean that other people couldn't be.

My great role was to help design an area, but didn't get anywhere, I can understand other people have roles outside of their area and have little interest in their area, but for some people it would be better, and an area can be about roles people have in it to start with.

A lot of people, go from one job to another they don't like, never finding happiness in work, so looking for something else, but that's not how work is, instead of having a break they decide to change course, but if the jobs you could take a break anytime then they would go back. I feel it's a problem for some to get stuck in their job and feel it's all that life is.

=====

583747484

=====

If some people want to work and or are extra good in business and career, and like to work a lot for lots of money, big homes, investments, ritches, travel , etc, this will bring up the land prices, and they will sort of own all the businesses and homes, and other people rent or , and because most things are for people who work full time because of , what about people who would rather not work so much or not have big business , and of those who want to live more spend more time in conscious, don't care look so hard for work and get up every day for some crap job for ever, where life may seem like it's about working , it may be lacking in productive activities and affordable homes or where individual capitalism and society ran like a franchise, people just working , has left a void in community

=====

Re: the first thing to do in a new home is get a sense of who's neighbours and totally ignore them.

But it's different when you are part of life with them. You can of cuase ignore them and forget that they are there.

About that pease at home, but where you mind can go on unpeaseful things, or people in your home that you don't want to spend life with.

But in a house that you don't need to see people in there can be more of a feeling of just you in existence, but if in a house where you need to see people mamy times a day.

The thoughts outside are not of my home, they are of strangers and places that are foreign to me, but my mind sees where I am and where I am going, but it is easier to ignore it but it is not natural to do so. The energy is not so disturbed like you about to get threatened or insulted, but it's all foreign, even the floor in the room i sleep, this is some kind of insult but because I don't own it and it's made to feel like not my home.

=====

How would I live somewhere in a community of people I want to live with, where natural state of visions and ideas of people like me mean something, where it's not just a couple of wankers in government and rest of people are supposed to be happy just working even if they are stuck not doing so thinking, where the only thing that will ever mean anything is some job I'm not interested in at all, etc, etc.

The answer is I can't, and probably won't even be able to afford a home in my lifetime, and I need to accept isolation in some place like this where ideas won't change anything in my life, to accept living and dying alone in it, trying to think of some way out of this has been like a game in my head that I cant win for the last 25 years, to live in the void of the place you can't change or care about, to find ways to pass the time until i die, but that's not working well, where media has been an escape but I can't even find a new video or game that has any appeal, but at the end of it was just an escape anyway, where normally the only reason to get out of bed it to urinate or have a cigarette, but the cigarettes take away money for other things I could be getting out of bed for.

=====

Feels like being paralysed with some sort of drug, with visions of life but not being able to move, when there is nothing to do, no one that cares, no system for it, no reason, everyone strangers, against, each square metre of space costing about one years worth of work,

It won't change and somehow people don't see it, it's always been like this I keep on seeing ways to fix this but have written it already

This could be a problem with this vision causing unemployment or lack of motivation for work, from what I have seen of some unemployment people, where as some people seem happier with if they also don't have financial problems and have power over people, not sure.

=====

#574774838

Live in a place where your a part of things, or just maybe have a job someone to meet your needs, but where everything else is

=====

Re negative thoughts what they do to your brain and what you can do about it

His answer: watch happy things on your phone, think about your kids when they were young

#574358584

I am still trying for an environment where I feel I have more to wake up for and life to be inspired by. I write about it every day. No one commented. And all I can do is work for something for many years away

Going out doesn't inspire me, having people over here doesn't work for me. I appreciate your time and has been nice to see you.

If you want to hear or see my ideas I can provide more information.

=====

Painkillers

"Almost everything we think we know about addiction is wrong. You get a rat and you put it in a cage and you give it two water bottles. One is just water and the other is water laced with either heroin or cocaine. If you do that, the rat will almost always prefer the drug water and almost always kill itself quite quickly.

In the 70s, Professor Alexander comes along and he looks at this experiment and he noticed something. He said, "Ah, we're putting the rat in an empty cage.

It's got nothing to do except use these drugs. Let's try something a bit different." So, Professor Alexander built a cage that he called Rat Park.

They've got loads of cheese. They've got loads of colored balls. They've got loads of tunnels. Crucially, they've got loads of friends. But here's the fascinating thing. In Rat Park, they don't like the drug water. You go from almost 100% overdose when they're isolated to 0% overdose when they have happy and connected lives. What if addiction isn't about your chemical hooks? What if addiction is about your cage? What if addiction is an adaptation to your environment? Maybe we shouldn't even call it addiction. Maybe we should call it bonding. Human beings have a natural and innate need to bond. And when we're happy and healthy, we'll bond and connect with each other. But if you can't do that because you're traumatized or isolated or beaten down by life, you will bond with something that will give you some sense of relief. Now, that might be gambling, that might be pornography, that might be cocaine, that might be cannabis, but you will bond and connect with something because that's our nature. The opposite of addiction is not sobriety. The opposite of addiction is connection."

<https://youtube.com/shorts/uoZvpaTH6hs>

"In rats, social housing generally leads to a longer lifespan compared to isolated housing."

"Similar to many other studies, we found evidence for effects of both loneliness and social isolation on a large number of outcomes. Those who were more lonely were about 40 percent more likely to die over the next four years, while those who were socially isolated were about 75 percent more likely to die."

<https://news.harvard.edu/gazette/story/2023/10/how-social-isolation-loneliness-can-shorten-your-life>

They should do a test with isolated rats with a disturbing environment, like with predators and things that make them feel uncomfortable and see how more likely they are to die or be susceptible to disease.

I'd also think it's about reward stimulus from doing things, some feeling of fulfilment, etc, that if you tie the rat down so can't do anything or keep them in room looking at each other you're going to have the same problem.

—

Our countries have high statistics in mental health problems. Government spends money on researching drugs for this problem.

I'm not sure but I get a sense of peace when I have seen some friends or imagine I'm in some community with them, this could be from some sense of good community, however if there were problems like people needed to work all day to pay rent or council caused someone to spend all their money on cigarettes, or someone was always in isolation, or people were shooting at their home, or something, then someone probably wouldn't have a good feeling about the community, maybe they would want to change it to stop them or leave to where people didn't do that, but leaving when everywhere is the same and controlled by the same government and system, sort of hopeless to think there would be a change if you don't or can't move to a group that could be different. The national government is like an empire that makes everything they way they want it and you just exist there and that may be ok if you liked to full time work and investments and don't have other troubles, but if you do you can't change it, but you don't need to have children or could kill yourself and they replace people with migration.

I'm not sure because I vaguely remember or could imagine community that didn't make me feel isolated, and don't know if I had such a community that they could change anything, or it's just in my imagination, or that I just need to be happy making some money and quit smoking, and try

To be fair the countries are doing good things and try to help, but a community is something your a part of and a business or empire is more something you work for in my vision of it, maybe I'm using the wrong words. If you work for a business rather than being part of it is design. Some sort of hierarchy where a few at the top it's there community to design and change and you just have a space or no space to do your thing and don't talk to other people about it in its design in any productive meaningful way that would make any changes and or you just alone.

-

Serving strangers that wouldn't know if i die or care,
Living around strangers that wouldn't know and that good because you can't choose them.

That feeling there's someone there, something there something good.

In the share homes is weird and very bad sometimes
And then in own home is straight isolation

My mind has spatial awareness of what and who is here, with haunting visions of isolation and meaningless, the spatial awareness seems to normally repressed in disturbance of it's meaningless, how different it would feel if choose neighbors with people I know around,
A place I'm a part of things, rather than the constant streets that have nothing to do with me.
I can see it in some other people, trying to find meaning in a world they are just looking at but not much of a part of.

—

... That feeling there's someone there, something there something good.
People or something to do that's not a burden or unwanted where the only good thing about them is finishing it, unless material things are your thing, where lack of material things can be bad in case of for example small cluttered messy places owned by other people that are difficult to afford that one spends their life in.

-

Is someone feeling crap about life around them and expected to be well motivated for work for strangers, or do they feel ok about life around them and then have some work to do with some better feeling from the other half of their lives.

=====

A good thing about choosing neighbours and owning a space is when you see people you will have real things to talk about, about the properties, things going on with each other, things to do,
Instead of talking about things that don't mean much or watching screens with no meaning, and you get to choose who you live around so that you can filter out people who you don't want to talk to or spend life with such as greedy, insulting, thieving people, etc. where as normally you can't, especially if you live in someone else's home in a shared home.

You can talk about the space you live in.

=====

How I can feel better is realising I have some time left in life, for whatever that is, to a point where I can appreciate it for whatever it is, but that normally means I have some idea on how to make it better, but this never happens, I don't make anything much, I don't help with the space around me much except for some work people would feel more comfortable with a robot doing, but often they do need it. To start with I think it would help me to have people around that I find it pleasant to talk to about such things, and then try to do something after talking about it, otherwise having some roles in something I can envision.

But I spend my days watching movies or playing games as I need to fill the void but its disturbing to do such things so for long times I sit there wondering what I'm doing. Like anything I think of my plan doesn't go anywhere. And people contact me that have been rude to me just to use me, or contact to do things I'm not interested in, but to do something different can help sometimes, there is no reward or change but just another escape.

How it is that some people spend time and money on doing things for an area and don't get paid..

And ideas that would benefit a community in a good way.. but even integration into what is there is not looked at.

They are overlooked and the people who second tax don't know they exist.

584748584

P.s.

This affirmation, "life, for whatever that is," orientates me to life, it may seem like positive affirmation, good to be still live, but there is big problems in life I live, so I get stuck in the perception of the problems and keep thinking it's better affirmation for someone who don't live in a place where they can't change anything, just strangers everywhere and strangers for government, etc.

? better to just accept or not worry about the problems, like I'm free to think what I want or nothing, this still can be a problem when thoughts don't mean anything but it seems better than thinking about life in a place where there is no life except some vision of time going by or something like that. Just a very disturbing affirmation that I should not tell anyone because here it's just something that will lead to disturbance without meaning.

|

But if you ever do it, and you find that place, and find that it seems more meaningful, you will see what I have been doing for a long time, but I guess it always got disturbing so just cleared the vision for not needing to think about anything, and I don't think this is a good recommendation, just what I thought this morning. I have no time to fix that previous statement, it use to be sometimes I would just get the feeling of life, but then when I want to I could just see it, and this seemed more interesting and less disturbing than whatever was going through and felt like gave me a super power, apparently it's good not to try to see anything or change your consciousness and just let it be what it is and you may find more peace with that, but often I found myself depressed about not doing anything or wanting to make use myself to make a better place, or alternatively found place where my mind was visionary and also got stuck in that like that had more meaning. I am forcing myself to explain this but I just want to stop writing, not finished and wrong.

=====

Town with no shop and one doctor (maybe no doctor)

That story about a town with no shop and one doctor

|

Where the woman is complaining, and here is the ideas for the shop

That story about that town with no food production and very high prices important food

|

Here with my ideas for the shop garden and work

The story of me, like others, that everyone think, no additional governments or systems are needed

That story about the smart Russian programmer,

Seen him the first time his hands had frozen off, the second time he was dead

|

Those stories of poverty in Russia towns with no work

You actually do need some organisation

It helps 1500%

Regarding “#AI ideas on” as an addition or alternative

There is no good organisational government,

In some cities they just try to keep business as they were and make jobs, borrow money sometimes for in some cases is crucial almost life or death situation for some people

About imagination and life and making things better

Town with no work

Some thought about some community's where many people don't have work, but what's the problem with organising a group of people into a self reliant society where people do what people need. I don't have anything to do for work right now but that's because of temporary licence expiration, otherwise there would be no work for me to do unless I wanted to get locked into something that can't be stopped unless to find it difficult to find something like it again, or airtasker which is not good, or business that may or may not work which can be slow and can take time to make

|

There should be people in community that care for such things and have ideas for it, that look at why people aren't working and provide work for them that suits them, not just assume there is enough work and people will fill it but don't, so then get migrants to come and fill it while exploiting them, and the migrants that don't find work just go home and one that do tolerate it can stay while the people in your area that don't tolerate it can just go without work? That's how it works now!.

It seems important to live somewhere where people can think of such things and see problems in one's life and talk about such ideas for, this won't ever be the case again, but it should not stop people from seeing that it should be but apparently people don't see it so what's wrong with everyone.

Time goes by, and nothing happens, while some strangers spend about a quarter of the money people make on things we are not a part of, they should have money to save but they keep borrowing money like it's free and doesn't matter

About being isolated, where sometimes for some people the only people who may contact them are disrespectful to them or have been in the past, and the people who one may like to be contacted by don't because they don't need anything and one doesn't contact people, it seems I don't have much interest to go out, but this house is not good for visitors, so if that's all I have I don't have that option, not that I do that much either,

I feel odd when I'm not doing anything, worrying about what to do when there seems to be nothing to do, until I decide not to worry about it and sort of just be free again

Why is it causes such grimace, and then I feel ok to think that's just why things are and won't change and why try because people just don't see it and won't ever change,

I don't like getting locked into full time work but for a long time that has been the case for poor people, and some opportunity now to be poor but not need to work full time, although sometimes try to work full time,

I could also imagine a time when every man built a home or participated in it building, and I think it's in every European man to do such a thing, but few do it, and this would be something good to do, otherwise the work in a community would be sufficient for things to do and rewarding, if there was such a thing, if then doing anything with friends other than talking about nothing real.

Otherwise ideas for the community are something to do and talk about.

=

When nothing much good is happening, and work is not so good, and I see a fair few people living like that, and all sort of problems, it seems easy to think of ways things could be better,

But I guess this is for a group who wanted to do that, for some people not in a city nationalisation around strangers for years wondering, but for some who maybe find some great work, social life and things to do, and like the way their lives are, because clearly there are heaps of them, and in fact no one cares to do anything different, but me and some people I don't know who you are.

Unfinished

For the creature I am, it seems like a default isolating life, stuck with strangers in some share accommodation, where share accommodation is common here if you don't have a well paid job, and you need to have cancer or get out of jail or something to get public housing which is easy just to sit there and not see anyone or do much work, and it can be bad if you start making friends with people in public housing area.

Day to day it is isolation, maybe occasionally seeing people

Except for if someone likes their job and just sleeps here, but that's not common, not do people make friends at work normally.

Society assumes that all needs of someone will be met by a stranger who has no other part of their lives but the payment they get from them.

This would assume that the government is clever enough to make work available for someone like me who doesn't want a schedule but they don't.

Work for someone who doesn't like the job interviews but where work is intermittent.

Where someone gets sick of the work, after months of the same thing, doing something for months or years.

It's easy to appreciate things in life, but sometimes it seems easy to see something is wrong, but not this when it seems people are happy with great jobs, partners, and things to do with their money and nice homes, and friends; where it seems like one's own fault for not doing that somehow.

Such a great city, so safe, such good incomes and opportunities, and jobs.

Society and technology that's progressively getting better in amazing ways.

Until maybe when you get old and you're alone and lose your job and just sit there thinking and drinking for some escape or to fight that uncomfortable uneasy consciousness feeling, when you haven't done much for a week and behind on your mortgage payments.

Sorry. I don't know.

Is there a fall back plan, a place where you can still have an active life and see people you like

I don't know

Then maybe when your happier there, feel rewarded by doing things in a community, maybe something comes up and your busy with new work and going out and meet a new partner.

I like some time off.

I like to see people do something, but then go home for a break, and then do it again that day or the next, this happens with neighbours, but does not happen if not in my experience, or unless it's for money, work, but that's not like seeing people I'd choose.

It seems that a society can take away things from system for someone that would help them progress in better ways, but to fit in with what there and try, I sit here and felt I'm lazy to do such things.

from having no good job to having a good job, to tolerate getting up each day for study and work for a long time, to apply successfully for a job, for that path that may not be seen, to giving up on that or just dreaming of a life that doesn't eventuate.

=

P.s.

About cancer and public housing, having cancer is not a valid reason anyway anymore actually from what I hear anyway?

The fleabagx hotel in a small room, the home with strangers filled with 5 young Indians who love to cook in the middle of summer, with some stranger who owns it and lives off it, etc, or the grind for a lifetime where you need to be in the grind stone for two years even to be eligible to live by yourself, that would be a full time grind, and you won't ever be able to move from that place or leave the country, just stuck in the grind forever. And either way you will be isolated around strangers with no participation in government community or something you may find meaningful, so there's not much option. But apparently it's a great place and we should all be happy, etc, otherwise your time in it will be extra pain, especially from all these people who already worked for cheap homes for a few years, for people who don't smoke, and from all these men who are just interested in money and getting laid. Being told I should just be happy with it every day or every time I say anything from these strangers I live with, there's about 15% of passengers who understand the pain of this type of thing, and basically not seeing anyone else, and living alone where feeling no one cares about such things, what kind of love is someone supposed to feel for people. If someone seems to have a problem, and I question what's wrong with them, it that they don't have enough money, not seeing their children (who are grown up), not having sex. Except the 15-20% who have anything real to complain about. Not that I talk to them, but from the ones that I do.

Great someone cares about the environment, but human life here seems pitiful. Apparently also we need more corruption and or to be more of a developing nation to complain about anything, as if these problems aren't bad enough, anyway probably going to get a lot worse eventually, but am I supposed to care if no one cares about this now, and I'm supposed to help these strangers who would not care to help someone like me other than with a grind?

P.s.

It's more of a petrifying hotel, not fleabag, that's what is like living in someone else's home it seems. Petrifying is a very bad word but accurate. I have been told I can find somewhere else, that I can choose who I live with but it's mostly the same or worse, just petrifying, bad sleep and pain. It's causing negative thoughts that I can't get out of this situation without taking full time work which I very much struggle to do, but even then it's uncertain. The free time I have when I rid myself of worry over living in someone else's home seems better than working full-time I think to myself.

Feeling uncomfortable about someone one spend life time with that is rude, that leaving ones room there will be a disturbance.

But even if they are not rude or disturbing to spend life with someone makes big impact on the mind. But so does not having money if one want to live by themselves.

I think by promoting higher home prices so promoting more petrification causing people to work less and or be less resilient to work, may be the reason for so many migrants to further push up home and business prices for the investors to keep the politicians from looking like creating a failed economy.

I'm feeling little more like that this week after losing some fake distractions from my environment and life, that would be a tv community series, when the service ends I lose my community.

It would be nice one day if the news of the week wasn't about some bullshit thing the foreign president did to some other foreign country, but news about your community and what's happening there.

#120291121 (3)

====

I should be more appreciative and work harder to do things I will appreciate. I do write this not because it's fun.

Sometimes it's difficult to live in a place where people seem ignorant of the common problems of life.

And to all the guros who just say be grateful or go for a walk.

Like when there is a problem with a program, but a person needs to use it, another should not tell that person to just go for a walk or accept it, the problem can make someone angry and one contacts another person who can fix the problem, not just say go for a walk or appreciate your life.

I almost never get angry at a computer program but I know people who do.

There may seem like no one to contact about problems in a society because you need a community for that. No one to talk about it, how these things work, just some strangers who may not care to hear it, or some friends who may occasionally agree but as we are not in an organisational system (government) or community with any....

=====

I have always liked the night time, I feel like I am more alone, I have noticed getting sunshine (or 253747383) takes away a lot of the uneasy feeling I get, but have not always realised this and other factors and thought of it was the things in my environment that disturb me that was as causing it. I am sorry for this.

I don't really like crowds unless I they are with some people i like, like it's sharing some life, otherwise sometimes I feel I need to acknowledge or be in an area of people who are strangers and actually I have nothing to do with them and often think things are wrong with something but can never say that. I can't help but see everyone, and when I was younger didn't understand how people could go by ignoring everyone and ignoring life. I could not help but see workings of life in some perceptions that don't seem to be something that is an understood skill, and this too seemed like odd that people do some of the things we do. No one has recognised this except one person who called it some kind of awareness after they asked what do I do for fun, I experience life I said, and otherwise i don't know, and went on to explain when I drive down the street I seem to be aware and see everyone and find this bit overwhelming.

To enjoy the experience of life.. but actually I don't at the moment, but I enjoy thinking, and being free in good feeling and watching some movie.

=====

Participation in society for people who would otherwise work or do great things, the organisers can see and create places, where there are abundant places and things to do, and where someone is looked at for what they can or want to do, where often it's not a matter of paying someone but allowing them to do something that will produce something of value.

This not only give person something to do, money and help they society, but will give them a feeling of “social validation which increases the levels of dopamine and serotonin in the brain and allows us to let go of result of the validation we get from society but new developments in neuroscience are giving us a better understanding of culture and identity recent neurological research has confirmed the existence of empathetic mirror neurons when we experience an emotion or perform an action specific” etc

Otherwise the feeling of doing nothing, low self esteem, low bank account, low power in capitalist society, maybe to feel like they should be sterilised or are dysfunctional, as was the case that was common before world war 2 to sterilise the poor and stupid, but when not participating in a society or something because some wankers don't know they exist and spend all their money on football stadiums, etc, the term useless eaters was used, and that's what the it feels like, a world made for nothing to do but eating and being useless, because there is not much else to do.

In fact no one knows you exist, no one can help you, when you're suffering or dying or in a s hole no one will see you or know you're there. It's not a positive perspective but it's the truth. Just the problem is the negative perspective can cause disturbance when it can't be fixed. Tension. Stiffness. anxiety can be what someone is looking at. One of the many negative perspectives. Maybe why people change to be blind to reality. No one sees it and many things like it.

Traditionally you'd have this, people sometimes made friends who are their neighbours to have this, but that's not normally a good idea, and normally there's some kind of demons around or something but you're just stuck in the house but now they know you and you're always there.

Sometimes the way people look at each other and talk to each other like they are in some kind of community with them, what a weird thing that is.

Why someone would look at who just pulled up outside of their home, or look their neighbors and feel something.

Seems to help being with someone especially when going out, otherwise just being in a place of strangers looking at you, maybe the person is also a distraction or just makes reality seem a bit nicer.

Sometimes I like life in a lot of ways, but this is something I would hope for, as well as better work and development options, and some other things. Often I sense and see isolation and non inclusion, wasted thoughts and life, and many things.

Instead of useless eaters, I would say Virginia company's forgotten and replaceable people, that's what happens, and there is no wonder there is low birth rates, high migration, and ever increasing land prices, etc.

There are no kings, just companies, kings turned into government for nations and then disappeared, however a lot of countries have like fake kings. Besides you would not want kings, you would want to live without any rule and vote in or have people nominate themselves as organisers and members of council.

The good thing about this place is for the working career type people, and that for me I think is another type of stupid, unfortunately if you don't join them it's complete waste of life, and when someone like me does eventually get some job it's some bullshit job in a low pay in a place where everything is over priced for the career and try hard business people that will just make me want to hate the place even more. The big grins on their faces while they walk past homeless people, they only care about themselves somehow, selfrighteous they must be doing the right thing because they go the money and the homes and the homeless person is just doing the wrong thing and should be like them, it's the foundation of current society and everyone is supposed to be this way, so can't blame them. This is the most common sort of person here, and they vote for the same type of people. Maybe I'd feel more this way if I felt respected or part of community of people who care about things and respect visit and idea etc, otherwise is just about them doing their thing for the money, homes and holidays to put a grin on their faces. Not always true, but it is, I'd like to feel like I'm doing more with work and get paid at least minimum wage or something for my efforts if it's non stop work, but the having inspiration for something or an idea doesn't mean much, and there's no one to talk to about it and for sure companies don't care, and government just make excuses.

when you're making more money; It's easier to feel people respect you, or your a valued member of society, or a country is good, but actually you just worked harder or got lucky but you're still just another machine to them, ready to be replaced by a robot.

Likewise if you get in to parliament maybe you feel sense of , but for

I think it's about looking at someone around you, and seeing your existence and the future past with them and how that is. You should try it, but what happens is they are never there again, and do the people in your life, do you share a space with them for the future, or are they just there because they want something from you or to talk or do something for no reason.

You're lucky you're still in it, just you, and maybe things aren't even so bad, it's an experience, which every one gets old in, and which is renewed by the offspring. It doesn't matter if you're alone, that is a common state of it and actually seems more comfortable, there is some big trouble people go through, some bad problems, happens to everyone to some degree, and is just a part of it.

Sometimes I was younger when I was unemployed in government housing, I felt sense of wanting to be of some purpose to the state for they were providing for me, I felt liked owned by them somehow actually, but they actually didn't know who I am, and just another number

=====

You're the creator of your own future

Like the place you live is because you called that place and made at time

The job you have, because you tried

Because you

So don't you need to "just do it"

=====

Like writing this book, and working on this for 10 / 20 years, doesn't mean I will get anywhere

=====

Regarding #necessities1122 and other #necessities

Regarding the longest road to nowhere

Regarding opportunities, but there is work and that way you can buy a house after 30 years

But if you don't you will find yourself in even worse place than work, but what it seems like is you made the right decision because you still have free time and freedom to think other than putting your time in making money for yourself by doing things that you soul don't not like, but doing otherwise doesn't work, doing things your soul calls for doesn't work. Like this.

There's a job for that. Your interested in making affordable apartments for a community, you can get a building (simplified) license and apply for job with a company doing construction. Actually that's not at all what I was thinking. Because that company and this place is And what I invision is . So actually there is only the 9 to 5 job over there, and if you want to do it your way the government or council will say no probably, after many years of saving in Australia you still probably won't have enough money to start a housing thing unless you work full time but is still a problem with me because:

Regarding the #fall back plan

Regarding

Is this book is about opportunities I see and a fallback plan?

But because just ideas with no reward or comment yet, and I do other things with my life, simple as the other things may seem

Sometimes i feel good about my free time and what I'm doing, but in greater vision of things I don't have vision of fulfilled life and blame myself for not being the creator of my own future, but sometimes I feel content with what I have or having so much free time, etc.

For sure I'd be working right now instead of writing this, but I still dont have a job I can tolerate for long, I can think of many, but most of them are difficult to create or not possible, all the 9 to 5 jobs I can't do, so Im screwed It's unlikely I will be much success in a new business although I have had ideas, as I have explained, but I should probably try again

=====

What if the person who doesn't do much, and finds themselves without needing to do much of the things their not interested in anyway. And those who find ways to imagine what they are doing is what they want to do and that other people can do that too.

Unfinished

So today, I'm thinking about doing things, instead of thinking of them, Because the things I do or have are there because of me doing something rather than like writing anything here.

I find I am always in my head and not doing things, and when I think of them I don't do them, and just turn on a screen to pass some time. I could just write about this again for the next hour.

=====

Before the above I wrote

Under grimace

What is wrong with me

When I feel there is nothing to get out of bed for except which I can't make, when there whole world out there except not the or where the is like a place that could be anyone anywhere with a few phone calls or messages or

Seriously something has absolutely destroyed my life and good feeling and health from the tension at this time f

How humans have limited memory, forget a lot of their ideas, but sometimes I remember

Where life for someone is about their lives,
A government person is about how to spend their money?
When someone has a home, is about what to do, who to see?
Someone single can be to find a partner
For someone in a share home, with just a room, that doesn't feel like home, can be to get a home
A woman reaching the age 40 who wants children and partner, I have seen is just that in their minds
How to make someone want something they think they need

What have I convinced myself I need To explain

?I don't enjoy being out in world with strangers, in world I'm not part of except some bad job or no job

Going out for such things doesn't inspire me, having people over here doesn't work for me because not my home and no lounge. Otherwise would be nice to see people more.

It's may also be hard to tell if someone would want to do something so asking them can be odd.

Calling people for a schedule this week, I never do that. But sometimes feel like seeing someone. Sometimes I do. If it wasn't for Christmas and birthdays...

I don't enjoy just sitting in front of a screen with nothing to do in my environment, with no one I would choose to spend life with Making things or thinking of bettering a place for snarky people, the people outside I meet at my job or ignorance I see?

So I think I need to make something around people I would react that would see that people have things to do as such. Like being in a community.

But often I don't even know what that is, at least it doesn't exist so like it's not something I can join.

The still space when I am alone I have become use to and I have stopped visioning the environment, where that was causing stress but when I go out.
Also informed the vision when

When I have a lot of visions or one important one that doesn't mean anything

When I see myself or others years of isolation

When I see myself or others with no good work or respect for who they are
And it seems odd or not even in my mind how to fix this before the problem and odd hope, or no hope.

Is there something more (with meaning) for life that is in environment for myself and people I would choose to live life with that I can do, not really until I would have such an environment.

The man says to the horny crazy criminal who is seeking the company of women for "practice dating and sex", it's about spending time with people that also want to spend time with you.

A government thinks they are a nation or a state, but I think I am a person around people, or isolation away from people and non inclusion in government, a person that with others could better an area, but all I am is a driver soon to be replaced by robots, without an area, or anything to look forward to except

I should just accept this as part of life, and get on with things how people do, most of the time I don't think about it.

?Home too much, and things done don't seem fulfilling, disturbed, isolation and or around people they would not choose, maybe drinking or smoking, maybe ask people who would later die in their 60s or early 70s. ?

=====

Living in a room in someone else's home for years when they are there, not doing anything real much or seeing anyone much, at least if I had my own place I could have some people over and I wouldn't feel like I'm living in someone else's house and if I travel I wouldn't need to throw out all my things to go somewhere that I don't have citizenship and I'll just kick me out probably even homes or affordable there. This is a vision I get in the morning it's not nice. It makes me wonder. People come here because of desperate situation in their country or some over paid job, but otherwise just to have some normal job here with over priced homes, there would be no point.

Part of the unexplained negative environment that would make someone sick if that's what they see of life, where you can't help someone sick from this, and you won't know why they are sick, not could you help fix it if you knew, which I do from memory of people but mostly they are dead and I just imagine other like that I don't know and obviously no way to help them either.

=====

The vision of opportunities for people.
Or the vision of what someone believe they want.
Or no vision or desire to help people and why is that.
Does someone even have vision at all.
Does someone believe that because there is an opportunity, like a pub or a job that someone can work in for a home, that people should just take those opportunities, and they do not think about it see actually what is happening if that doesn't work for a lot of people.

=====

#574358584

The song, the longest road to nowhere
Woman say, in the shithole, if you prefer a great life than looking for the woman, looking for the love of the woman, then you will go down the longest road to nowhere, and just be left there, and there's no point in trying anything else because hopeless.
And the only hope is to find and spend time with the woman.
Why do people think that's life?, just to try to spend time with them for no reason.

... continued in #6326712

-- p.s.

The longest road to nowhere

My work is sometimes driving
The road is to nowhere and then home again which is kind of like nowhere to leave myself in the situation and its hard to get out of it

Most work is for money, not for yourself or your environment that you will be in like home environment, so it's all the same

The problem is if you see life (#Problem is when you see life) if you think that life because actually it's just moving parts for an economy of strangers, I wonder why most people don't look around and act like it's seem like the only way to keep sane in it, I would hope for these people that ey have something more of a home, but many them are just happy with their things and their good club yacht or something.

At least if you know it's just work or a path to somewhere, but when home really isn't somewhere

I'm not so interested in just some woman to make it home, although I understand how people could find a bit more peace having some company and to do things in life with, not just left there alone without anyone to talk to on day to day basis or have in the environment, but go to bars or place with strangers and or see a friend or family once a month, i wasn't thinking about finding a partner when I was in a share home with strangers so much, now the isolation I can more see how spending day with someone in the environment would be good, but I don't really want to share my home, and id rather more off a home with a community, People who have more vision for their environment other than home decorations, sort of people who get concerned about trouble in the system and way things are, but that doesn't seem possible. If I want "it all"... people in the environment that I choose other than sharing home with women then there is a long road to nowhere. I have seen this many times where middle age and older men just sit there without anyone in the environment, and I'm like if I can't have that I'm not going to try to find some woman to fill the space but I should have. ?why a lot of social activities and dating apps trying to find someone to fill the void?. In the share home I was more disturbing about not having my own home, before and after that I was disturbed about nasty reality and didn't think it was suitable to try to find some nice woman and didn't want children or be grumpy around someone or need to share the space. I do want to share the space anyway but rather have people in the environment in their own space more so, and I'm not good at making the call, and I don't like the idea of needing to make schedules to see some woman. Id like people in the environment, especially a partner, and if I don't live with strangers it would probably be ok to have children too.

Regarding sam's POV quote after the Henry George quote about owning a home is the path of manhood, but they are too expensive even to work for one, and very expensive to swap, let alone make them available for people to share environment with. Asking to fix this is a bit like asking if people could never die or get sick or we don't need to pay tax anymore, so I should probably just find a woman to live with and I'd be happier.

==

So much music is either about loneliness, doing things for love of other people's company, or the happiness of other people's company. 60%+? If you would just change the way homes are made, owned and sold, as described would help a lot.

People often work for some idea of love,
Collin Carr:

“Would you choose love or money?”

I would go for love.

The only reason men want money is order is in order to get love. Money. If you think about it, women aren't gold diggers.

Money, rich men, it's a proxy for competence. And what women find attractive is competence in men. It's a weird thing where billionaires are attractive, but also guys that can mend a toaster and put up a shelf are attractive. Competence is what women look for.

And and men look for beauty, which sounds [_] shallow. But beauty is just a proxy for healthy. We're all just trying to get along.

But I would just go go for go for love cuz you money is just what what do you want the money for? I want the money so I could be happy. Well, what's happiness? Well, it's joy. What what's what's happiness?

Happiness. Happiness is your current situation minus expectations.

That's it. Cheer up. You're in San Diego. You made it. Doing great. You're doing great.

Good place. Um..”

Not sure, love of doing real things with real people in life or if he gets good feeling from other people because of something else.

-

Original place of “The chatgtp list of alternatives”

==

#584736363

Government and the company.

The government uses the company for their ideas, it doesn't matter who does the job or who you are.

The government just sees things to do and the company does them and provides things a person buys and the person is a company or works for a company to provide something someone else needs in return.

But if you have lots of savings you can just invest your money and ride the gains and losses of these company's, and you don't need to provide anything.

=====

#574358584

"Going out doesn't inspire me, having people over here doesn't work for me because no private lounge or home.

Making schedules doesn't inspire me.

I appreciate your time and has been nice to see you."

I'm free right now if you want to see me but I don't want to go out in public or even drive in public.

It should be nice if those driverless cars have tinted screens.

Things to do screen

A while ago I imagined a button I would press

All my friends in the community would have like a screen or colored light globe ball sphere (or screen) sitting on their desk and coffee table, that would colors of people hitting the buttons or entering a meeting space, where the location from phone did that

The globe or screen could also indicate things to do, events, colours of life of people around from surveys, eeg or watch heart rate or something simple. Countdowns to things that are scheduled, like just colours with time on them.

People could see me when I go to the meeting area or see that I'm scheduled to go to the meeting area instead of asking to make a time.

Or it would just be nice to have a meeting space at home again, when someone would ask to see me for no reason sometimes I could say I'm available now.

An experience to have, to go home to reflect upon it that one has done something, relieves the nerves ?

-

Sphere or screen

Work available that the user is cleared for, that could change colors when work price goes up from demands.

-

This could be integrated or something for the "ai some ideas on" and the "things to do"
ai support app interface

It's a person's birthday, and they get a free something if they enter the meeting area where people can see them if they like, and they click yes, and then it's notified on their friends screens

=

The Functional Melancholic

"And you know, we always hear that we're more connected than ever, but then when you actually take a look around, I mean, it's pretty obvious that um we're just this nation of isolated, fearful, exhausted wage slaves in debt bondage staring into these glowing rectangles, hoping the next notification is going to finally make us feel like we're part of something real. But unfortunately, you can't build a community out of data points or a future out of a system that views your sanity as an acceptable casualty for the sake of quarterly growth."

Sitting there waiting for a notification that means something, a design for as I write before a few times

Regarding anticipation of something happening from what's going on around someone or in their schedule which I find hard to make

Tax to go in to more meaningful things in people's lives and local organisation of development of what life and things to do is around if they have chosen people in a community

"So, you watch a sizable chunk of your paycheck vanish every month and you think, "Well, at least the roads will be fixed." And then after um dodging the eighth pothole the size of a kiddie pool, it dawns on you that your money doesn't go to fix the roads. Not really. It goes to a defense contractor who built a missile that costs more than your entire neighborhood, which will be used to eliminate some shacks on the other side of the planet. Or or better yet, uh it's it's um it went to a subsidy for a multi-billion dollar oil company so they can keep polluting the air that gave you lung cancer."

A community with people that feel like protection and being part of a group, and in that group people could pair off or have social interaction.

==

I don't arrange things for leaving my home for making it more interesting with people outside, because of the above, but if I had a local community that I was Constructive things to do, and seeing that systems work for these people

Unscheduled and scheduled things to do any time with friends

You could survey to find people like this

Some people will want to want to create group of nice people around them, normally people who invite others to do things

People who are distressed by some people around them

Unfinished

==

I used to think about my friends and family more. Some of them are people I like to spend life with. But not just seeing them individually as I have, or one or twice a year.

Sometimes I still do, sometimes I see them.

But more so sometimes I just see isolation, and my flatmates.

Sometimes my only desire is to solve this, my only vision is this of life.

I'm an isolated person expt for people I see in shared homes who I become strangely attached to which I don't like. Often are not people I would choose to spend a life with in the same home. Sometimes and often people who don't like me.

Friends and family are not on my mind

But some people make time to see people I guess, maybe a bit more than me.

I have little to no to socialize outside of my home or projects or make schedules for projects or I am adverse to it at the moment as I have been sometimes,

Projects I don't know

Why is it I don't see or talk to people for feeling of community,

Maybe it feels like they are in a different village away from village I live in
But that isn't real

I felt so close to having fulfilling social life and community when I thought about knowing people where I go, the people I see do they have this or are they feeling lost as well.

Then I remembered people who didn't seem lost about this, and their attitude and things they said about it, but they probably would not tell me if they felt lost about it.

=

My current flatmate said when I comment on something like this, that it's a design for world filled with Michaels like me

Well it's the life I have had, and also remember if some lives, so why wouldn't I. Like if a gay happy man who didn't see or experience such things would think of a community would like to make it for people like him, and they do. Like the government come from career

Maybe I should have been poorer than I have been for the lack of money I have made, or I think I should have been richer for being more constructive doing things I can and would have done.

I don't like that I pay a lot of rent for a room and just do this because it's only way on low income, where as paying off a room I would have been able to upgrade to having finished paying off a small home by now. A room that I can swap to anywhere any time which I have described.

=====

You're the creator of you future

I asked someone, would it be fair to make a design for an area and for them to make it

They said no, doesn't work like that.

I said I believe in somewhere all people have homes, they said can't work, I said it can but why would I suggest it if it's so obvious and they aren't already doing it.

Someone can protest to the government, here many people complain about housing affordability but don't change.

Do you think it would be fair to talk about a community, the way it works with people in it and the way it works being influenced by that if it can be. In many ways that's what's you should have in your community, the ability to talk about it and work on those things that you think you should.

If no one agrees then either you're wrong, or relatively wrong or you may question the values of the people you live around.

Considering people don't talk to people who make the community way it is or anyone, except just try to work for money, so they can have more in it.

There is some issue, then you make a suggestion, or you do nothing and go about life trying to find opportunity that suits you, and the opportunity gets left in the past and fades in memory until it's completely gone.

=

P.s.

Our lord's prayer is something like we should help in the design of our city, and not just work.

If someone has a great disturbance they should be able to be part of it to help fix that unless they can be convinced that it's not something that needs to be done. Is for all the other people who go through and will go through the same things. And again wouldn't it be nice if people fix these problems so someone else can fix something else. That thinking of fixing problems is positive thought but not doing anything about it is problem that doesn't get fix which is negative.

Like trying to help someone, you can only tell them how to help themselves, like you can only try to help yourself with what's there, but blaming everything one the one without looking at ways it could be better and fix a problem causing why there was a problem that wasn't getting fixed to begin with help in the design of how things work and what available.

While 99.999% of people have nothing to do with government or community design, and 90% of people sit behind screen for most of their lives listening to strangers' ideas, voices and music. Everyone in western society thinks its so righteous because they are rich, but in fact is abomination with low birth rates waiting to fail. But the same kind of nationalisation and way of life has spread everywhere, but maybe not everyone everywhere will see it's so great.

==

#022133

Suffering comes from something that can't be easily fixed, something wrong with life. And because it's not easily fixed it will be a common problem. About an answer that will help other people in your community in the same situation.

About people who aren't disturbed, like people who are happy living with odd strangers for rest of their lives for money, and because they have money work is not important, and because they purchased homes back when they were cheap homes are not important, and everyone should just be happy with what they can get like them.

All kinds of things that I don't know or see right now, that I may or may not experience, that can cause bad situations and suffering, that design can be changed for.

=====

Since empires and transport to work, to only see people one knows for no reason, and only to serve strangers for something they need, but not the people you know unless they are normally not going to pay you, and the funny thing of owing someone or being asked by someone for things for long time and not wanting to help that family member or friend. However perhaps using skills that are not otherwise used.

The how would it be if you have local community and people are helping each other or doing work because they feel like it to make the place better or help people but not being paid for it

It came to mind that work need to be paid for fairly

Perhaps in the past when there was community the people who kept busy with paid work become more successful, and the ones who helped for nothing had no capital, and the ones with capital ended up buying the homes and making them their subjects, for now if they did not work they would have no home or be a servant in the capitalists home.

I could not build a car in my life time, but together companies make them for about equivalent of less than years a years work, and people with money like newers one so people who have less money can get a car for two weeks worth of work, until this economy fails and it becomes more time.

So what I can't make in a life time, and can buy in a week, so it must be good right.

Or that a community can work in public local business as explained

It's not natural to see life but just be around strangers and find work with strangers

==

To try to do something in vain, but not even try, just think, and not even think of something good or something to do, or not even something real

Contemplation and not achieving anything

Something to do constructive is a path and do that while staying lucid , if the constructive thing is the path then the mind won't give I feel less anxiety

People won't understand this unless they don't do anything constructive or work in what their think about for a long time

And no one will read this in this situation but it is for them

If you heard from someone like this and their

A thought of doing and completing something constructive in is positive, when finished is positive a reflection

Work for public seems uninviting?, stuck in work to like pay rent and bills

Work that doesn't feel like work: that someone can do if their finding it difficult to be motivated or do their job

Thing that feels like a real experience, and positive experience in reality, that feels like having lived life which will have positive reflection, Finishing something for a place one will spend life or improvement of the thing they own

What's don't work is

The thing one thinks of doing but never finishes because there's something wrong

Looking at a good thing one is doing at a time rather than the life of problems and strangers and out of place one may be, but if you look at just the good things your doing or why you're doing it

The life your fortune to have, or the problems of it

The good thing that has changed or the problem you think is needs to be fixed

The space around you or the problem over there

=====

Affordable homes will probably attract people with less money and homeless people, this is fine as people choose neighbours and groups they want to live next to.

Being that it may be away from more wealthy people in rich suburbs and so less work for services for them, work should still be there to attract people there, such as farming, manufacturing, maybe retirement homes, etc.
That this method of moving and building should create more affordable homes and spaces.

=====

Making e scooters available anywhere

For the e scooters with speed limit of 20kms, in a city with a lot of hills, I thought about going down the hill the scooters should be charged by using the charge break and limited to 17kms down hill.

=====

The things people see, that can't be fixed, but where the way it is can't be fixed, so it's like frozen

My problem why get out of bed, and the the structure of how this can be better improved

I get up when I want , I don't get up for work , if I got up for work it's about getting up for work, where as I get up to see, I don't ask for that is just what happens

And you should be blessed for your people to do so for those visions are very important, show problems so clearly in one's life that are problem in other people lives,

But how can this work, when it doesn't seem to work for me, for the tragedy in life that's not fixed, I hope I have given some good answers in this book. People and government seem to think there is things to do, but leave things to do up to business that is there just to make money

When the problems affect other people..

In the meantime if you like want a home

it's unfair that only way work full time for 20 years in one of these places, or even work full time at all, but those who can sacrifice their lives for that are either stronger or stupider than me, or found way to do it that is tolerable, I don't know how that is with these jobs and waking up every day for them like that.

If this government would allow high rise anywhere, and people could build 4 stories with less restrictions and promote that there would be no problem with over priced homes here. All the suburbs have one level restrictions, low density , I see it every day. In the places where there are medium high density people are still too don't build higher, due to congestion and no vision, and just wanting to not be disturbed in their home, but if it was made medium high density promotions every where for a while would fix it, as some people will have the motivation vision or space to do it. Or government want to keep home prices over priced everywhere so people don't lose money on one's they have already purchased.

=====

Regarding above

What is wrong with me, when there is whole world of things to do out there
This is work

About a thoughtful plan vs just doing something

Someone says just let your thoughts dictate what you do , guide you , give you visions of what to do, and it will give you something to do
I agree with that, but

=====

? For now easier to survived mentally and in energy at the moment by watching fictional interesting lives and imagining good things for life, community and future,
But better if any of it was real, so that's really the only thing that's worth doing/making, and that is positive things to hope for.

=====

#johnny Harris

Industrialisation and transportation

Leading people away from community life

So people grow up in less if a community, leave school and loose community

Stay at home for outside don't know community

Some not as happy to work without community so poor wondering, leave for cheaper land?

Leaving because felt exiled

But they didn't know why

?Suits exploitative isolationist and criminals, or it's ok if I'm rich type people, maybe type people who exist for money find life with managing people under them, land lords, leading to the virginia company, far stretch unthoughtful incorrect probably sorry

Suits forced work, or people who are happy working without community around strangers or forced to.

So I was wrong, that in the beginning of this chapter, I described the problem being caused by the way we buy and sell homes.

==

Community and chat with friend, starts day of with positive attitude, just need some money now.

No community and no chat, downer and low motivation for work or ideas

The feeling of community when your alone

The social life of community in every day life with work, without needing to schedule times

The local governance over system of life that can be changed to help people you see and problems you face that others may not be troubled by them, to use this to make the area better

People living alone who didn't see people and have positive conversation and or do something for a couple of days:

Miss love of their children, even though their children may be fine and have company of their own that is enough.

A person may complain about all the things they aren't doing the, pease become boredom and feels like waste of life.

The disturbance

=====

Instead of doing something in their community they complain to their national government about things like food prices and income, housing prices, one country created a minister for isolation and loneliness to look at the epidemic.

I accept isolation is a way of life, someone loses a good friend or their partner leaves and they live in isolation or just with their flatmates or whoever, normally no one for the majority.

Someone said do what makes you feel like coming alive and really living. For me is to feel grateful for time in life and existence, but that makes me feel like doing something good to improve it, I can't seem to organize ongoing scheduled things, and leaving home area is... about being around people you feel like spend life with to make together appreciating it and seeing this isolation and... to have idea and ways to fix it, and so some will if they have council with this in mind and some can copy it.

Regarding

“Good thing about human beings is that they don't live in the wild, they design their environment.

That was until nationalisation took over, now just a few do. “

While everyone else is just trying to make their lives within what they design. Which leads to looking at making money all the time, like staring at stock prices or something, it's not staring at life, if one stares at life then they may wonder about not being part of the government and people around for it. So maybe they complain until they form into more independent people away from the design and vision of it.

?causing over collection of things like their living alone for a long time. Over obsession with family or partners, Like talking to them about the government or life because they are all there is to talk to about it. Trying to believe they are in some imaginary group and others don't much like them because they are otherwise isolated. Over obsession with media to fill the void that would otherwise be taken by real life. When finding partners is from some online ad or bar because they don't know people in a community or don't have any friends or community in common, and apparently that's the only people you need in life?

Anyway at least people still work alone, with and for strangers, so and because people need things.

=====

#2714290

Just a thought among others...

If people cared about a community, for the spirits of others, they would want places / space to be affordable and abundant around their community, but they don't here, they want to make it more unaffordable, and suck money from people for it.

What kind of place can't even make it available for people to build affordable homes, and force people to buy , well force people to work full time for a long time to pay for overpriced homes.

?Once people could use bricks to create a space where they were protected, then people they will own all the land and only allow people with lots of money to do so, now even if you work full time for them you can not.

?Once there was too much land, and then people started buying it up if they had money to make more money from people with in it, and it became an asset for people to make money from people within it, rather than for people to move within it to community where they felt right with people and try to make life good for people within it.

It's not good that people and governments consider land and space an asset that should not depreciate, but when it does they see it as a failure of the state to have abandoned buildings like it's a failed economy and everything should be filled and lively. When in fact to be successful there should definitely be a lot of areas abandoned and cheap. You would not want cars to appreciate so that young people need to work for years for a car or anything else. Businesses should also become cheap, except for the areas of more demand like someone would rather have a newer car or more successful business than older or less successful.

I don't want to 300,000 home when my income is 30,000 a year, and that goes in things and rent so is hard to save, I want a big room with shower and toilet, and I can do the rest. Apparently it can take less than a week for someone to put it up, and maybe 30,000 or less worth of materials. Land prices? In a country that has so much free land? can't make anything under 250,000?.

Instead of uber eats, like one of the only casual work anytime jobs, someone could make building homes like that, where people watch videos in what jobs they do and get paid for that job and tick it off, and someone and or ai watches a video of their work to make sure they didn't screw it up, and if they did they just don't get paid and can do it again.

Because working on things other than driving food is more valuable most of the time, but a great man can still choose to deliver food like a hamburger boy on a bike. But even that boy can build sections of homes as easily as they would deliver food.

But the majority of the voters and all of the government own homes, so this is mostly a non issue for them as their assets just go up in value, except some of them care that their children have affordable homes but normally just accept that they will be living at home for longer, unbelievable that they wouldn't even care about their children but it's true, it just shows how self-centered humans are, and considering low birth rate many are free from that too. Other peoples problems outside of what ones own problems are, they can not see or understand; there is just something wrong with the others for having their problems, because the one who sees don't see those problems as problem for themselves, and other people should be happy with everything except for what they themselves are not happy with, because the one only understands what could be disturbing to them. Or that they are happy with basics in life and that others should be too.

This makes sense because why would someone be interested in working on something they have no problem with or less understanding for.

Helping others is against natural selection, unless it's a group, and or people wanted to help human species and or all life, which i don't know if all people are enlightened like that?

Perhaps they see that hard work has gotten them something like home and other people should just do that. Regarding #022133

I get up out of bed but there isn't anything to do, but I can't just do nothing, so I watch a screen, and I think these people are making money for their homes by making things for people to watch, this may be ok for people who have other things to do and it's like a break to watch something, but I saw it a bit like a necessity something made to do for the isolation camp life that is made for people like me, and it's either that or the gulag, the endless uncomfortable work place made for people who want to own a home. It would still be isolation, but would not need to feel like I'm occupying someone else's space.

Do people know what it's like to live in someone else's home when they are there, probably not, because when they were young they decided to work to live in their own home, and forgot about it.

Maybe my subconscious sees it so much it wants to suppress my waking consciousness by twisting me at sleep? It's just not my space.

Ever lived with your parents as an adult and sitting in their home wondering when you're ever going to climb the ladder to success, like living in moms home wondering if you could call yourself an adult. I actually think my mom is one of the greatest people I have known but I felt like when am I going to get a home and my own life. Same can be said for living in someone else's home but that is more like just not having a home.

I see a friend and I dream about that friend, my subconscious sees I'm living in someone else's home and sees that person and in that dream want to be free. But when that is fixed there will still be isolation or sharing for my own money in my own home and that still is odd for my subconscious. But to have an income where I don't need to work is addictive to my subconscious, or maybe like if I have a flatmate I can afford rent and keep my home, they made that so difficult I'd just pick the first person who would accept their terms and wait 3 weeks for approval, turns out their background checks were worth it.

==

=====

I am grateful I don't need to push myself working and get up every day for work, and things seem fine here, enough to be free of worry and dream, until they don't seem right because I think of something. But to dream of the people and things we do, is somewhat subconscious, but I don't dream at all if I'm worried about things all day.

===

To be positive

To think positively about people

To have a plan for something positive

To talk to someone that feels like a fulfilling positive life interaction every day, that is good for dreams , but even more makes life feel fulfilling

So I hope is that people have that

That they can do something positive that towards

Vs

To complain about not having this, not being able to do this

|

The organised area where someone in a community does something they dream of or fixes a problem and does something other than just think about it, talking about it is better than being isolated and just thinking about it
To hope people would not be in some sort of suffering or lack and be able to work on it in a constructive way.

For people to see and or live in a community where they have positive interactions every week, where the group can agree that it is best that they do constructive things and are fulfilled and successful with it, people around that they do positive things with, instead of isolation. To know people have chosen a community for life, and if they do not choose that then they will learn that it's not good for life.

A positive conversation or people sharing life with is conscious opening.
Negative conversations or people spending life with is bad for consciousness.
It's sad when I think people will mostly just be alone, and I would hope they have those positive things in their lives.

=====

To add to the disgraceful list of things if it's not already there, it's disgraceful to spend a life in a place where one can't change or design the area which they spend life in, to spend life alone in it, especially for a big consciences over life... Someone may say you can change it, but things can't be changed and are just made for money.

Why councils should be of people who know each other and can change things to help people, otherwise people are just stuck in some job meaning nothing for their vision for an area of life.

I'd like not to spend my life with strangers, id like for government to provide more casual work for people alone or with friends, I could send them a message about that and they will just say do it yourself, and no change or development will be done, but if i was to insistent on this in an area of people I know, it's just small things in a na area and not changes outside of this area where people aren't complaining about such things.

Could you imagine living in an area where you felt respected and respected other and there were people like me with ideas and there was a system to get the ideas changed, and you got an updates about the changes in your area from people you know.

=====

Regarding #022133

I believe people see other peoples problems as more real when they are neighbors with good respect

But people don't normally socialize with neighbors

Otherwise people are more living in their own world

Memory of neighbors who I have known and respected are the strongest of all my memories of people

People in my homes that we don't seem to socialize well seems like people who wanted to keep to themselves or in case of bad communication should not have been there, and people I would avoid in the future, so much so I see someone who looks like them and it is so. Although this is wrong.

About the problems we face and that we see others facing, there is no local government for that, just greater national government, a community that cant work on such things I don't believe should exist, and I am sorry for not doing anything, for my own issues or those I have seen.

So people living in their own worlds, but if in community, the issues may take time for subconscious to direct them to answer. Perhaps so many years too late to save someone but still there to help other people with it. Not sure because I haven't spent more than a few years in any particular community.

=====

I was so desperate to keep my home, feeling I'd lose the space I had come to call home where I found so much peace in. I was not doing much work and they made it difficult to have flatmates to pay the rent, then my grandfather gave me some money to pay the rent before I found a new flatmate, it was traumatizing having feeling I would lose my home, or people in it causing a disturbance that may get me kicked out, people normally pay a lot more in rent and work for it. As I couldn't easily find another and would end up losing my thing and live in someone else's home. Now I have had no home for 7 years. There has never been a place outside my home that I feel is part of my life, that I think about going to. It creates disturbance living in someone else's home that I can't change or, This has created a feeling that I need to live somewhere where everyone owns a home
It feels like a subconscious issue where I feel I'm not home

Is it harder for someone disturbed by life to work full time to buy a home in it.

The migrants just joined the 1% of rich people so maybe is why they are happy, the happy people who just work to pay for investments and holidays are happy they are making twice as much as their homes and investments go up in value. They aren't interested to hear about how there any problem with life, and or they forget about it quickly.

Living in someone else's home, there's like a blank space outside of my room, one would not want to call it home even if the person is not there because it is maintaining space and possessions of someone else, which is foreign and not one's space, and a lot of work. It creates a feeling of lack of things to do outside one's room.

The owners of share homes spend much of their time at home wandering about in their space, because it's in their name or they own it, they like to make money from it or to be able to keep calling it their home

Why don't they wander about their community like they do in their homes, because they don't own anything in it, it's not theirs, and strangers in it, This also creates a blank space outside for them, but at least they have rooms and halls and garden that is their home for their life so that helps find peace in it looking out upon where their home is. They go to the shop or occasionally see someone, but for the most part their home is all and outside is blank space too.

So to make someone feel about their community like they do in their home....

The feeling it is their space.

The reminder it is their space to do what they want in it. Legal documents saying it is their space.

Things of their outside, things they have made and done.

Part ownership?

Monument ownership?

Ownership of something and or some space or business in it.

Participation in council for it, head of council for it part of the year?

Good terms with the good person who manages it is a good feeling, but not being forced to see this person.

Friends they visit within this space who manage their own space.

.....

.....

I have written about this before a few times.

=====

Someone said “people migrate to help the country, start from the bottom and work their way up to management or business ownership or something”?

Land of opportunities, ok sure...

But you would be wise to have people live in community, so they are respected by people around them and or not always isolated

Because what I think is if someone is not in right community and or disrespects others or is disrespected by other for who they are, their visions, etc (more or less), the more they won't really want to help the country that they don't feel they are living in ? Probably this man's idea of life was to go out and have fun and had chosen young so felt like part of things.

In one scenario you go live somewhere and there is a ruler or mayor over the area you live in that you can't change and don't know, maybe you voted for but really don't know or care much.

In another scenario, there are people who care for the area that you know. That you would not live in that area if you did not like the mayor. We should not belong to our homes and those who govern the area, but space in proximity belongs to people and mayor we choose.

=====

How they make moving difficult within a country, so your stuck in that suburb or house with those new hours or flatmates

It costs a lot of money to move, especially if you buy / sell a home.

Being difficult to move should be illegal

They make migration for the working class or big investors, and so your stuck in your country if you just want to pay for necessities and do anything with life otherwise, but where is difficult to do otherwise.

Shared homes are almost always filled with strangers and it's uncommon for friends to get one together it to be able to swap with friends.

“Your being dictated to, by the way things work, in your area or share house, because your trapped there. the people in power, by government and business who don't know you, see your problems or care.” whereas you should be with friends in council and control your own area.

This is forever and ever.

This was probably the case before colonisation where the lords owned all the land, and people left because they didn't like the way the lords thought they could create the rules, but the system they lived by didn't change when they found new land.

It's not a good feeling being under the rule of someone who tells other people how and when to work, especially when they see you and or know you and can make your life difficult anytime they want.

You could buy a farm or something if you save for long time and get inheritance and save and good with other investments so you don't need to be under their rules any more, but then you will probably hire people under your rules and or live in isolation.

This is why I guess people sit in front of their screens and wish to be isolated from their community because if you talk to any of them or see the ruler, and have any problems with them, your still stuck in the house or with those flatmates, but now you got a bad feeling about the person out there and maybe they hate you. This is not so much the case in most share-homes where the owner of the home can and often just does kick someone out (fake excuse) because they talked to them maybe too often and didn't think that person was most ideal to spend a life with, although they chose them for money to start with. Because they have control over who lives in their home and share things there but dont talk to their neighbours because their is no need. The way it should be if you don't choose your neighbors.

=====

?Not many dreams being made here except the investors dream, and the migrants dream of starting a new life in "a country with a better lifestyle".

=====

Living in community of people who know chose you is an improvement, that is good for health from good energy. Otherwise do you really know. An inspired vision and memory. Sense of things to do and life. It's always there. Community and some work.

Rather than wondering or the screen by one self. To move again to i don't know where.

Id ban share home ads for money for eternity, talk to that man at home every day. But people and government don't even understand or stop homelessness.

Like a prostitute gets dick for money, and the man dick is calling. Share homes could be entire feeling of life for money, and the need for shelter with no other options. But if they were banned here, people would be homeless before that could afford to rent, or working all week to mostly pay their rent, and or stress of not having money would probably be worse, or just not possible if one doesn't work all week, every week, every year; and apparently it's better now than it ever has been.

For money, people suck strangers cocks, spend life with people, work with strangers, anything someone does is basically for money. Own the land and everything around you. Provide things to do for others for money. Sing or talk for money, and it will feel like it's for you but they will never even see you or share the same environment. I guess people care for everyone, would help everyone, as they do, this works better when people care for each other at home, and or have a place they feel as home.

=====

Thought of the day

If you find a person in a shared home, and move them into their own home, you would probably see that they have more people over to their home. I'm probably looking forward to this.

Id like to tell my friends that my new years resolution is to see friends more often.

That they are welcome to my house, or go somewhere or do something. But that I don't like schedules. That I will only set my Facebook profile to active and leave open the chat window, when I am available and feel like seeing people or doing something, and that I could also set my status of what I'm doing and or who is there so they can see if that interests them.

Having people to my home here still won't work, because I have no private meeting area, or any meeting area at all but definitely need to be private.

About what makes people happy according to Epicurus

. What manifests if someone doesn't do these things. I think could be negative energy about life, the environment, purpose, a dislike for community and people around them or in the area or at work. Im mostly ignoring it but I still get the feeling, it helps the feeling if I just say it's blah blah blah.

There is no app switch for that because it mostly indicates whether someone is only to chat or not.

Id like to apologise for not contacting my friend for especially the last 7 years for such thing.

Continued in 46630213

=====

=====

Lady parked beside me and didn't get out of her car while I was eating in my car. I wondered maybe she was waiting until I left, for safety, but could have been anything. Imagine now I lived in choose neighbours community, there would be some area people felt safer and some not so much. People would see me as part of something of the type of community it is. Rather than how expensive the place is.

I was thinking earlier how it would be to have a million contributors telling system and government what's wrong, ideas and.. it's not perfect, there are big problems, but the government doesn't listen and expects to be told or see it. But I have had enough for now of writing the problems, which mostly are not in this book, and such a system would require some anonymity and system made for it with some reward maybe something like that.

I have my own home now, it's public housing, but I don't have words to describe how grateful I am about this, how big and nice this place is, and that every one should not need to charge their space unless they want to, ...

=

Here are some more reason to choose neighbours for some community

No scammers, etc in local people and business

Could be outside of the area or on the internet

The reason to live in the good area, why is it good, because its more expensive? or only criminals live near the factory zone?, so you have piece of mind that you live in some nice area? But that no so true?, because these people could just be scammers to make money and be dickhead money hungry wankers, but at least you know people got some money around you, but probably you dont want to use them for business will rip you off, you better go to the poor suburbs for your business. Probably your living next to some nice big drug dealers but they just look well off, you dont care because it looks nice ,

But amongst the poor suburbs and areas too actually there maybe more types of low crime.

2. Share local intellectual property within the community. I thought the other day the reason why ideas seem to be made around the world at the same time is that people that have good lot of ideas may find them hard to make and talk to random people about them, if you were smart you would know this and help your community with the ideas to benefit local community that supported them first, as i wrote like an ideas DB where ideas get worked on and not just randomly tuned into coffee club gossip.

Live around people who are a certain way, the way of good giving instead of that I need to take everything all the most that I can see. The person left the as a blessing but many people did that and it becomes a good opportunity for people to come to take them. They chose money over what's right in life because that's what most people do. And even for people who would not choose that is very difficult to live somewhere that doesn't work like that.

=====

Some people dont want to work but want to spend all week designed and building or renovating their home and or garden that they will rent out or sell

Some people don't want to get up every day for work but want to do casual business

If someone is helping in a way they feel and meaningful or with purpose,

Is someone is making good money and their is plenty of work or not

Can they save for their dream?

If someone goes to church in expectation of the greatness of life, or because they are sick looking for healing

Does the guro with his nice family and home, going out like everyone loves him, does he feel good about what he's doing

If I imagine nice things about people I work with, it helps so much. To not disturbed anyone as I wish not to be disturbed, and if they are going to talk to help them be inspired by something and not as I can tell sometimes be annoyed or anxious about what they are going to do.

That I would that people had a good feeling and reward for efforts that they enjoy doing.

Some people especially young people think it's like life's goal to get a job, like they are maturing into being an adult.

Seems to be what I think about I feel. That can be thinking about what I am doing, or the people I am going to see, or can be my own imagination.

If I go to help fix a fence because a piece of metal needs to be there or am I also going to help my brother.

It is just a week of tying knots for machines that go into tvs, or am I tying knots for the ship we are going to go find treasure on.

Am I working for no reason or am I saving for the great project and a new job that I dream about.

Am I with strangers I don't want to talk to or people that I would want to bring peace to.

Am I stuck worrying about reality I can't change or my job is to find peace in myself.

P.s.

Actually I found peace. And now I find peace a lot of the time.

==

Some factories will move people to different machines to prevent repetitive stress

Some people will work if their jobs are peace, but jobs aren't peace otherwise I'd be working right now. I want to work, but it's not peace. A lot of people want to be productive but don't have things to do. But in a community I would see them doing this and the first thing I would do is see that they had things to do, maybe I would not understand what drives them or gives them peace in things to do, so maybe I would not be good at this.

Now that we have nationalism and no community to change jobs it's up to the national or federal or state government to see that people are ok with being productive, but mostly what they do is just see there are enough jobs and things people need are provided because the state is run by capitalism to provide everything.

This is important.

The state is good that it supports small businesses as someone can then think of something tolerable to do and don't as a business, but they seem to be now limiting space for people to do things for property tax and like migration scam to inflate space prices or allowing investment businesses to buy up all the homes and land as it keep on going up in value.

Some people find jobs they like maybe because it's well paid and or well tolerable, but other people don't, and or find them disturbing to find, there no community to help with this but the state or national government who comes from people who have somehow tolerated full time work their whole lives, and would just assume other people should too, they have never spent much time around poor people, or had poor families. And or they have investments and don't understand how it sucks for some just to try to be productive in something tolerable or peaceful. So maybe these people get an unemployment payment and what they could be doing is overlooked, which is better than nothing but is still disturbing for the individual not to have peaceful productive things to do.

Like that garden they like to work in all day. The food they love to make.

Their ideas they like to dream about. But it's just for themselves?

To make a community environment good. Or you can pay the repair man 5 times as much for his work car, secretary, call center, CEO, marketing, tax and office.

=====

If someone say the phones or screens are the problem, these are the type of people that also existed a thousand years ago who liked going to football or people who liked buying up everything to make themselves ultra rich, but which did not understand community, and that still don't.

=====

I feel like I'm sitting there contemplating for my whole life without doing anything.

I think it would be nice if I lived in choose neighbours area and there was some building and city design I could be part of when I felt like it.

Half of my work is to pay for cigarettes. And the other half find it hard to go into savings at the moment for any future housing type investment.

I find smoking makes one contemplate more without feeling the need to do anything.

=====

.....

I can do this all day when I am awake, but when I sleep and when I wake my soul will see life, it's a bit better than before alone for days it can be in some nice place, but outside I'm still alone in a strange place filled with odd people and odd things with little meaningful other than survival, with no more meaning than that for me

These people preaching this have big home and families around them but their mind is in that cave

I feel too procrastinate and simple to make such appointment to make me feel like I am part of something in life, but I would like to awaken seeing I'm part of something good, that with some vision I can change perhaps

=====

Lack of visions and thoughts in my mind is an empty, painful, sad place for me.

How many people lived in your share house he asked

6 people

2 Indians in one room,

Homeless person in the laundry, that's where the homeless people stay who have lived with us

We have the washing machine in the bath room

Some are like criminals

They smoked weed, I smoked weed, I was smoking weed with them one day and had a stroke I think

None of them like cleaning

Man going around touching people and being rude

Things from my last home piled up in a small room for many years

And there's much more

I lived like this for years, variations of this.

I sold my business for a project but just spend the money and didn't start the project and then had worst money problems, and then got this job and my goal was to get out of there, but there i stayed trying to work to save for a place,

Id like to work more but work seems to make me sick, id like a different job but this is one that allows me to sleep and work when I want

Smoking tax. Not much good work for people who find it difficult to wake up at 7am every day and study for that thing for years before. The community is an unknown federation who don't know people like me much. Things like this go through my mind. Federation doesn't care, I'm not part of it except the job I found it didn't find. Maybe the man just thinks about some casual business they can do because they don't live in a community to help otherwise.

Im a state of life kind of person, where as some people can seem to be more connections type people

Connections and money are important, and are part of the state of life, when I'm living like that I see not very good state of life when I see your ideas and the church you're part of, I don't care, I just see the state of life

when someone dies and I and everyone around me gets older, I just see the state of life

I guess in all things there is a state of life and mixed bucket of thing things. I am more at peace now at home, and sometimes finding thoughts to be grateful so feel better. Disturbance comes in me over these things frequently, and other things like it.

If i see problems with state of life

If someone want to fix life they work and buy a bigger home and or move to the nice suburb,

But it used to be probably that in an area if there were such problems you would fix them for the area to improve the state of life there i feel. Make the are better from what was disturbing. But now its just work? But you cant fix the things because someone you dont know controls them.

This is not as much a difference between capitalism and communism but nationalism and communism. Cant help the homeless or help people with work or ideas for the community, but can go on a holiday.

I guess it's nice if you think life is about working and going in holidays and listening to music, but for me after sitting in a room mostly alone for a lifetime not doing much but thinking, and or in homes with people who don't like me or I don't want to see, I have a couple of goals which I don't see myself accomplishing unfortunately but this leave me wondering what else I should do but I can't seem to find meaning or insertion in anything else so I look in a computer or tv to pass the time. This is important. 6664800

If I work and save for the rest of my life I may make a start on it, but people don't seem to care much for it so it will just fade to nothing when I'm dead so.

-

Life is peaceful, I am peaceful. I'm lucky to have life. I have money. I am free. :-)

—

P.s.

Homeless people and I got some skin diseases that still remains with me 8 years later although I keep trying to get rid of it. Crazy person going around touching everyone. No one cares and apparently I'm to fix the house for free while no one else would. Smoking costs about as much as rent so I cut money off the food but of the running out of money. Kept in getting disturbing messages about being late on rent. No money no casual work to get out if that. Giving up on my dreams seemed like the hardest thing. I couldn't stop having dark visions of doom. Some sort of feel like some energy was smashing my money for months. I got puffy and my starting slurring my speech which lasted for maybe one years but never completely recovered, felt like I was having a stroke every day, I thought about moving and felt stuck because of smoking and seemed like other share homes weren't much better since the crazy man moved out.

I haven't written about all the disturbing things here.

I applied for public housing 7 years later I finally got around to making an appointment to complain about my disturbance, and was given a public home 6 months later, now mostly I just sit there. I understand this is mostly what people do.

Even though I have been saving for some housing for 6 years and could afford the price of what they were then it's not possible now, and I will stay here and if I lose it then I will go back to some share home with strangers and landlord complaining and normally people who don't like me or it's seeing. Them every day and not like it's spending like with people that randomly come and go for the rent money the landlord wants.

There a young man in front of a screen, theres a middle age man in front of a screen, there's an old man in front of a screen, theres an empty chair in front of a screen

It's an Sony TV advertisement, and id use it for my logo if I made a game.

I was planning this (book design and other things) a long time before this share home, and I think it would be good for my energy if I was somehow able to make it or live in it, and apparently my skin disease isn't contagious and none of the people I lived with got it, although that is a consideration to how people would swap homes being that they should be cleaned and left empty for a while.

=====

When they see those people, especially if they are in the same community, they will feel a part of life with them

When they do something or their work they know what they do and the soul knows

When they have an idea and it's made and there in the committee know

When they are hamburger delivery people on a bike for very little money and have no money and or don't do anything else or see anyone and or only see people who hate them otherwise, and there is nothing of them outside of their room or in their community, they I owe and their social knowledge.

Especially I find it when people who hate them or disrespect them when only they are there. Or not doing anything. And feel like most people are making more money than me although some may spend it badly, but so do I on tobacco.

=====

What are all there bars, community centres, apparent things to do when men don't use them and stay home watch TV or find some hobbies or do nothing

I have no hobbies and don't seem to have a logical reason to get out of bed

Just places for food, drink and talk for no reason. And I prefer to eat or see people for no reason at home.

Instead of someone owning a building thinking of how they will bring in strangers and take money from them for no reason.

Each person should be looked at for what their interests are and what they can do, the motivations to get out of bed.

Australian favourite pastime, going to place to put money into useless machines with better chance of losing money

They make the most addictive substance legal but tax it 2200%. It not uncommon for people live in a small room or in caravans permanently which are just meant to be used for traveling to remote places with temporary stay, because they can't seem to make spaces for people to stay for people who don't have exceptional jobs or pay to be stuck in them and entre life time.

Government and individuals makes place for people to go for no reason, government force people to give them money, but why would private place be successful if there was no real reason to go there, conceding eating is important there is a reason for so many places to make food.

Id rather cook at home now I have a kitchen I can use, I shave my head, I don't want to get a tattoo, I'm not desperate enough to get out of them home to loose money on stupid machines, I have little interest to go somewhere to hear some stranger talk especially as it seems I can get that at home. The library is at home. Games with strangers are at home. Don't feel like ...

=====

Europe migration? ?they want to stop it for cultural identity. Is actually ethnicity and attitude identity.

If they promote a free portal for people who believe they have origin from that country.

Because they don't do this, and if they did they would not want to stop these people, because these people would want to improve, add value and integrate better to where they come from.

If they just made that easier, it would fix the migration problem.

? discount ancestry test or submit your ancestry test. Where if your 20%+ from that area with 50-75+% else in Europe, or less than 65% outside of Europe ?

=====

Regarding nationalisation and businesses running everything

So when there's a problem, instead of fixing community for people they boost business profits and find new workforce?.

They can't fix a community because all they see it as is a business, your country is considered gdp and enjoyment statistics, migration is good for competition. Some people just fail and others fit in with the economy and investments, because that's what life is.

The greatest people you will never know are one that see life and want to help in a community, and for your government you will get some business and investment wankers.

=====

Regarding my other paragraphs about stop watching TV and look at what life is and think to participate in life around you, and the reason for community and government inclusion.

I haven't had a television for 18 years, and before that I didn't like getting brain washed by it. Instead I watched science fiction movies and other things on computer, although that also brain washed me.

Now I have a TV here I can see again how brain washing it is, because it's local people trying to tell you what's going on , so maybe people stop thinking for themselves and looking whats actually going on with their lives and looking around.

It's hard to cope in a room with nothing to do or watch, so they watch that and pretend it's life, it's something to do, but because I watch only moves and YouTube it seems much faker and I don't see it as real as much?

The power and images of these people and news seems to stick in my head like that's what life is, but still has nothing much to do with me.

Because most people don't live in a community of news and things happening they work and think that's life and prefer to be dictated to otherwise they're just looking at nothing. But they don't realize it's happening, but in this way they are a pease with it, unlike me looking at bad space in nothing. So again it is a weak perspective, vision, understanding, value of life and that wins the day.

So I want to create a place where things are real, and other people are like life is what this naturalist rubbish vision of life.

No living in rooms in other people's homes, otherwise life is about the people in the home rather than all the connections outside. Very disturbing.

Sometimes people will find things outside their community, things on projects as community, and some people sometimes will not, and these people should live in community with people they believe in to do so, to spend life around. Or just leave it the way it is for isolation and fake nationalist discations.

Perhaps it is good enough, a good economy, where people can work and have plenty, and that itself is a good design, and homes are supposed to be that way, and to appreciate that, and this is what people want in its design, to mostly just look after themselves and their family. But an animal in the jungle doesn't design their world and just tries to find a place in it, in safely, collecting food. They don't try to change the jungle, they just live in it and or adapt to it. You would not want to see what I see of the environment or life sometimes.

People seem happy with it, adapt to it, and have good lives.

=====

We all know it's about what you do in your life that makes it

A problem with nationalism, you may think your in a community but actually it's not

Some one driver for themselves, who is warm with pride and covers themselves with money
Some one who has visions of life and feels lack of community, meanings of life

You serve descendants of those who came from selfish communities, and against those who wanted to form some sort of heaven for their community.

But space was chose of choose neighbours, then people may divide themselves, then people would not just be driven to work for more money and bigger house. Not that greedy selfish type of mind is that bad but it's a different type of work ethic and motivation, one which is the majority of nationalisation without community.

The foundation is that people find some rubbish job for strangers, to serve nothing they know but themselves, and if it's just for oneself then why not try to make that more money. Government and big business people would serve burgers to strangers if it paid more.

Working for peace and future of a community means you actually know the people in it, and are working to better the environment with them. But the people they serve do not serve them, they are a machine for the business that's wants money and they don't know or won't spend a lifetime with these people if they were not working there, so they just work as if they were machines.

58954687356 regarding motivation

=====

Ever get that good feeling in anticipation of someone coming over, or after you see them, or maybe your whole body or mind comes alive?

But I forget how it is when you have enough money, grateful for life, doing good things, thinking of great things, have a nice home and seeing friends or living in community. Is that the same feeling that they are there or is it just seeing them. Probably seeing them, and then some reflection. I guess it's the perspective of where you are and who you're seeing.

On the other hand, if you don't have enough money, worried about where you are going, seeing people who disturb you, and being disturbed by your environment. Then the opposite may happen, your body may shut down? Happened to me, and I felt like I was going to die after some time? And I prayed for healing for the future and to not worry about it so much.

The prayer formed some sort of blood flow to my head and chest, and was focused on my own energy.

How ever this may also happen now when I sit there smoking and being disturbed by my work or activities on computer for a long time, or being disturbed by something? Im a bit use to it, but when I was younger it would affect me more. At the moment if I feel disturbed I turn to feeling my energy, or someone said feel yourself breathing, maybe both, and I remember that thing the person was so upset by who died from epileptic stroke and I stop worrying about the thing current thing in my life. 47281141

=====

Frank: is this your main function (looking at a persons function in life as a job while they are working)

Michael: No, it's just I need some money. I have have great purpose and meaning in life that's not being fulfilled.

If you look at life, you can switch perspective to see there are functions of life. When someone pays me I don't feel I'm filling a function of life, it's just for money. But if I do something I think is needed or a good function for a community I know then I feel more functional.

I probably would try to find a job in something I found more meaningful or vocation if I could tolerate getting up every day for work and study for years.

I don't know what the percentage of people are like this, but even just business development setup costs and things.

Regarding the organized area and thing to do.

How I feel when I go out, what I'm doing which isn't much, and stupid hat I'm wearing, it's embarrassing, my life is stupid, and my fiction is stupid, life seems like a factory and some manage it and have nicer cars, and other people don't do anything, and that's about all there is to life or the appearance of someone in it.

There's me and the world, but I forget it is just some business, government and people I don't know, so I think I want to do something, but it's frustrating and disturbing because I forget.

I forgot to remember for some months, but remembering is also disturbing but not as disturbing as forgetting.

Regarding #bourndom24234 and distraction by the functional melancholic (damage control #3)

<https://youtu.be/8uoJNv9ufjM> regarding Boredom

I wrote all this book up until the current end of it 180 pages below without first watching this which has content similar to some of this book which occurred in my mind from life .
3 million views in less than one year

<https://youtu.be/AXz0kbMKPu0> regarding for loss of community

Meaning can be found in helping people in part of your community that you spend life in so that the people are happier and better off in your community of people you care about, and the community is better, but looking at strangers and some of these people make me not want to help people or strangers. Working for money for your family, but anyway #around me

—

Regarding from above “I forgot to remember”

People's affirmation is “heaven is inside you and not outside of you”

This works well

Or some of my old ones are,

I could have been dead from worry, so I'm free to think about what I want,

This maybe caused too much thinking about what ever

So t worry about it your still alive

But that's still a problem of seeing what you're living in.

I like this one

“heaven is inside you and not outside of you”

Because this asserts that you feel good and in yourself is so grateful place, and not outside

Looking outside is disturbing in many different ways, horrific, or just get stuck staring at the void all day, it's a way to feel sick,

Even if life was peaceful when looked at giving some relief, or that you could look at it and the ideas or to fix any problems meant anything or by looking at it you could fix something, I still don't think it's would be that great to look at so much,

While I try to ignore it, I see it plenty, and I feel better so I am more clear, but in a lot of ways it needs to be ignored, and I pick some people up with one person saying I can't believe someone hasn't robbed that place already, and I know I don't want bad company to make me worry about this reality, it's similar if I'm worrying about something I've done or doing, this is kind of different or worse

Or even when I have to do something in reality makes me focus on it and it starts to get disturbing after some time,

I found it lucky to have a job where I can completely ignore everything outside me almost . Somehow I do this while staying aware it seems like a skill that I need to remember, it actually allows me to stay more aware in myself than I would be if I'm looking at something outside of myself being disturbed by it, and it feels much better.

If I'm going down a freeway at 110kms thinking I need to be careful because it's fast, I feel uncomfortable, but if I forget about that kind of reality, I'm aware and feel better. It's like I should not do it but I need to or I can't feel comfortable driving that fast.

It's as if reality fades from reality and there's just me, and I don't need to worry about it. And so I don't really want to put myself in a situation where I feel I need to worry including something like having enough sleep for an appointment the next day.

P.s.After doing this I felt sick so, seems bit better to just step back from distractions and be happy as my own self for some time but allowing myself to be ok with seeing reality in what ever way

It feels like stupid putting energy on things outside of me, because I do t need to, and I could tell myself I don't need to and tell myself like my subconscious to spend more time lioki g after what's inside me,

One of my old flatmates said he doesn't feel such thing in his energy, nothing like this is real, but actually it is even for stupid. I had a dream last night first one I remember having in months, it was about me telling him how disturbing he was while I was laying down and then he killed me I think, and then I woke up instantly and was happy I remembered having a dream, it seemed like years since I had one.

In most homes of other people I didn't feel comfortable, with their things around, that I can't do anything I want, or sort of under someone else's control. Maybe there was one or two homes i did feel comfortable in of other people actually, but seems to be a lot of problems sharing with people They're pushing this situation on to people here.

I could not afford a home here even if I work full time,
Sharing a home with equal ownership is different and choose neighbors with rooms would be different.

=====

A year ago, as I was sitting there bored, I imagined seeing my old friend, seeing if he was also sitting there bored, and the vision was like what the hell is this, we should fix this.

A week ago I met a neighbour, and imagined them as someone else perhaps, and thought about some of the injustice I have seen, and thought about looking at them and thinking about , vision was like how to make things right and have people around us that we wanted.

Have you ever heard that motivation is the best talent these days?
About achieving goals.

Because a lot of people do nothing, and you need some motivation to do the thing and fail and try again, etc. ? A lot of people don't even go out.
Motivation for money for one self is the best attribute one can have, mentality to have in capitalist non community society, because you get what you do.

Regarding 58954687356

Explain again, people in capitalist society work for themselves and have little motivation to fix things otherwise, unless they get a job for money to work on it, like the government doesn't care about your ideas but pays people to develop or work on what they think is needed, like they think everything is organised because someone is paid to maintain the roads, someone else is paid to maintain employment, tec, they are called minister for “.....”

If you are in a community, then you talk about the problems and change things to fix them.

Like,

Home affordability

People living in share house to avoid harsh full time or but in another way sacrificing mental health

People studying for years, doing well, but getting no job in that field or no job at all.

Peoples interests going no where but hobbies while other people are encouraged to study and find that work who have little interest in it... while there are already people with talents in those areas but dont find the work.

Isolation, lack of good opportunities and things to do

Many things,

Its an unorganised society, living around strangers, that runs by people wanting to make money, and a few people who don't see a lot trying to organise what is already been setup to be organised

P.s.

If what I do is what I am, then I want to do more

My mind, soul and eyes see what I am as what I do, which seems like little but buying those things I need

The question is, if I had a community that I knew, rather than thinking to help strangers, or helping the sister, father or mother.

If I knew people then what I say is also me, but I normally talk to strangers and or people I don't do things for.

Problem is I have visions and flashbacks of great things and injustice, life, etc, and a desire to do things, help people, etc,

, if I were in a community I would like people to feel as if they were doing more than just sitting there if that's what they wanted.

P.p.s

I have talked to and helped thousands of strangers and never felt like I did anything or I should not have talked, I talk to one friend or family and I feel like I have done something, if I help them i more so feel like I have done something, I have messaged people do do things or join thing and which really felt like I did something but never turned into anything so then it felt like I did nothing.

If I talk to strangers at a place that people return to them I feel I have done something, as I could return to that place, but not like that at at work because

I do live off things and enjoy things made by strangers and I do feel then it's good to give in return.

I see where I am living, which in other people's shares homes was suppressive for the last 7 years. A house is isolation thinking about what to do or how to gain a community but share home is also having a community that you're lower in and there is someone above you and you didn't choose the people and would not choose to live there if you could have your own space and often are people you would not even want to know. But often they are people you would want to know and make it sad that you don't feel as you would if you actually chose them to participate in life together, or would not want to force each other upon each other by sharing the same space. Or don't arrange things or do things together. I think.

729110391 so it's like the people I see, the place I live in and it goes to, and the things I do is my life. But probably also the goals, or things that would bring me peace, and if they are ever achieved, and if I don't have money

P.s.

Motivation is most important

Being smart doesn't mean much if you're not using it for work

Caring doesn't mean much unless you're using it for work or family when there is no community to care for

Things like that

In a place with no community,

Accepting being a slave is a good

Predatory instincts are a virtue here

Patience is a virtue but not here

Greed and lust for property over people to make your life easy is a virtue

This continues for long time

It doesn't matter how smart I'm sitting here, I could be stupid as a retard, and nothing different would happen, but maybe life in my mind would be a bit easier

These things mean something, are important

But people don't see it, maybe because this system has been breeding it out of them for so many generations.

If you live around and get to know people, you'll see who they are instead of idolizing stars that are actually pedophile rapists but you don't know it.

If people can do something real towards their dreams and work for community you'll see what they're really made of, rather than having everyone one just making some product for strangers.

If there is a council where things get changed, maybe you can hear people's visions.

P.s.

After I have done some cleaning there's not much else to do,

6664800 nothing to do but pass the time

But if there were some way to work on changing something wrong like this, or way to fix the environment, but there's not, things that motivate me to do,

Regarding "functional people" in "organized area"

Something interesting that is productive,

Something interesting that is with people that one likes making something in the environment, so there is motivation, not just uncomfortable crap work around strangers

This nothingness is death, in my mind I hear words like death hundreds thousands of times about this place (over a life time), and each time immediately feel disturbed, it's not something that is good to hear, but when I see it the words come involuntarily, I try to replace the words and get over it, but I keep on seeing it and or things like it

There is no point in my life except for writing that with the ideas elsewhere to explain, if I have one thing to do is that and more ideas I suppose but I already have come up with answers.

I often see that, there's no point in living, except I'm still in something and write about ideas for it, but that's gets old, no comments and feels like a waste of time too.

....12578912

Motivation is supposed to be important because one needs to keep working on something that troubles and work a lot on something, fail and try again, and be in public, etc, one should have motivation

But who and why are you doing it for strangers and if no one cares or doesn't even like your ideas, where's the motivation for that. Regarding 5348394 my country

For motivation the people around, so much motivation once but no ownership,
Ownership and the right to build and have council
About 70%-85% of people I have met or heard make me feel unmotivated, especially living with them made me give up on trying to help anything.
“One person is not enough” no building rights is not good, so still not a lot to do but go for a walk but I keep on seeing it and or things like it...

I have been happy in isolation without much meaning for a lot of the time, im not always seeing it, but problem is i see it a lot and I wish i was happy with way it is, but often im not, to change the environment is a lot of work for a over priced home still in isolation, there are not many good ways to change this in a way that would be ideal
It seems to be the only way to fix it is getting to know an area of strangers, and this is horrible and doesn't work well
There is disrespect of strangers over simple things like ignoring each other, but if people choose the people they lived around they would already know each other and

If someone has lived with people who they don't really care for or don't like or are disrespected by where's the motivation for the space or country or existence except making it somewhere that people live around people they care for, I'm understand that they people who have disrespected me and made me feel worthless may respect and value others so

People may be happy with this and see someone like me as not knowing the way the world works, but i see it as corrupt and disturbing and dont feel like joining it

=====

What effect does living in share homes have on people? By share homes I mean people can't afford a whole home so they find some random place to stay in someone else's home.

But this could be the same with friends who people see that influence them.
Or neighbours they see.

But seeing someone every day and

=====

If someone loves their environment and the people around and the conversations they have, and what they do to change things, and has activities and enjoys the day, what reason is there then to be disturbed. Good energy and peace for longer life and good feeling and vibration, better memory and vision and meaning for life and the time one has in it. Rather than the doom and feeling of disturbance that can't be easily shaken off from contemplation in isolation with nothing to do.

Rather than getting up and not knowing what to do, no conversations, no reason to see people, sitting in contemplation having nothing much interesting to reflect upon.

Relating to 729110391

But actually I can enjoy the day, even in isolation, with little meaning or things to do, but it's more difficult in a small cluttered room, shared with ... and some disturbance

Sometimes I think I have no interest in living or having family around such people or environment, not that my personal life is good for that or that I meet anyone anyway. I like the freedom by myself and payment for nothing, but the work, people and their vision of life is upsetting or makes me not feel ok about life. The Australian government and TV and general population and their ideas sometimes makes me feel hateful, painful and disturbed. I can no longer enjoy life or music or feel happy to see all the smiles and smug looks on everyone's faces. I hate the corruption that Australia deserves. I have seen cities burning down, or dying out, but this place would already be a ghost town if it was not for the corrupt goblin government just filling it with more desperate migrants for their land inflation scam.

I learned to ignore this world and pray a long time ago, but sometimes just see it, just don't see anything changing anyway.

I used to see this type of thing and more detail more often, now if I see it it's a good time to shut my mouth because people are like fury energy bunnies looking to get their next recharge on a happy conversation or a gambling win.

But why get angry or even think about something you can't change. Why open your eyes or listen. Why talk, especially to strangers.

P.s.

The next day I woke up thinking about how hash this is and what was wrong, like i had no excuse to write that, so i thought about it

And I thought again about being in society where decisions direct your environment,

You can lead a horse to water but you can't make them drink, there is water but i dont like schedules, or i dont choose them

But also perhaps I am a bit modest, and make some free time over trying to do things. I seem to expect something for someone like me who doesn't like schedules but that is just a thought and a choice? I have had ideas that could make me happier but I haven't. Its annoying that i got a job to save money for housing thing to make myself happier then all the housing quadrupled, and i am left with leaving the country for housing in the future to a place I can only stay if work full time, or apparently actually there are some country with affordable 5 year residencies without needing to work full time but I haven't looked at the enough to find that yet. But I guess still the environment for me is still shit around people who dont want to design the environment and basically ignore people who dont drink enough random water to make themselves happy.

society where decisions direct your environment, then if i made the decision to work to pay for a home 20 years ago i would have one, or if someone who is poor quits smoking then they could afford something 5000$+ per year.

How the mayors or ministers do their job but the others can sit there complaining without accreditations or purpose to their name. A lot of things like this.

From journal

I won't organise a social life or join a club for long,

It's what I do

I won't quit smoking

I won't find myself happy or active enough in life for partner or children.

Home money community happy etc. don't see woman is want to marry.

I won't get a better job, because I don't want or is very difficult for me to get up every morning and become like that

I probably won't make much progress on any projects for long time

I will continue complaining about all the things that could be, or that I don't do

It's what I do, but doesn't mean I could not design theoretical way out of this, where things work out with the way I am

A lot of people will not do the things above and could design a way out but whether if they found themselves in the design would work or not or need to be changed again and again

I will try to maintain basic necessities in life, and will work for tobacco. In the past I have quit tobacco because I was not working, so I don't know what I will do if I don't have any work later for some reason.

I should be more grateful but depends on particular thing I'm thinking about. But I could be in a worse environment or situation thinking about worse things definitely. I have been in worse but still not as bad compared to something I have seen.

=====

I don't know. ? One man will have a nice partner and think his life is good.

And another man will be alone or with people he would not choose.

?But the probably the first man will one day lose his partner and remember a time when life was good

But the third man who has a community will always value each day and think life is good.

Maybe the fourth man has so much money, homes and women he thinks so great, maybe many men want money for that.

I don't know.

===

Regarding the sections above, of course someone sees who is around them, and who they see, and what they are doing, etc. So if someone is very isolated, etc, then they need to know that's normal and to pray to ignore it to work for better with good will, or they may be not well? But Donald Duck and the people he knows all have million dollar dicks and women chase after them and job with actual people they talk to like they are doing something real.

My flatmate always told me a man doesn't talk about it, he fixes it, you can't fix it, you can only pray not to be destroyed by it.

=====

I remember a time when I felt like everyday was lucky to have in time. But now I am not going to write it again here.

The difference was community and being able to meditate on being alive without feeling nothing to do or no community, perhaps I think that's it anyway.

Im sorry to be stupid about this but nothing much happens in my life, and i complain a lot and don't live much and . I appreciate being able to take my time and be free but not enough good to reflect upon, or feeling of what I'm living in, or people, or feeling of community, or future, etc.

I'm a creature evolved from water and dirt, in a big flat surface owned by other people that I don't know, and I feel I don't know anyone or not part of anything for my time in it. The human consciousness is the . I can't pretend I'm a robot or choose everything I reflect upon

=====

My troubled thoughts from Monday.

Someone is living in an environment with great injust but doesn't care
That could be

Great people doing nothing and suffering alone. Great visions and ideas of people going nowhere and people being like nothing, every one looking at them like nothing.

Homeless. Isolation. Government and work exclusion. Working full time for whole life for small apartment and or cigarettes. No casual work and suffering for money for cigarettes and debts, where the problem is finding scheduled work and being stuck in it. People's suffering like a dark vortex here and there sucking in the souls of people from the disturbance they can't fix.

I can't remember, but seems like when my mind is open to more visions I start seeing injustice which makes me not like. Is capitalism. Etc.. thoughts went on...

ill skip to the end, I got sick with fever Monday night after people coughing on me over the weekend, and thought I'm too sick to worry, now I am a lot better I'm still free not to worry, it's great feeling, I'm free to appreciate the time I have in life. I just hope I don't go back to where ever I was in monday so often.

I thought at least we have a functional economy.

I thought in one way business capitalism will exploit people for product or production cost, and on the other side people can make work and life easier and better for the betterment of a community and what a beautiful way to dream that is.

I'm not going to feel worried about any of it, no importance here in anything disturbing, if I am to worry about something it is, Often it is my goal if I am to fix something, is isolation and not owning property, so I save for property preferably in choose neighbours system that I have already thought about. It's important to me not to end up back in the shared homes of other people or where I am desperate to find someone to pay the rent, at least this way I keep some savings for something, and reason or motivation to make money for something.

To be free in good spirit I really think I need to let go of these things, to think about what I want to think about. And for that good goal, to think about a good goal and try to be ok just being alive and ok for now... .it's like I need to tell myself everything can go get stuffed, and I'm free, and there is a good goal I'm working on. And there is some sort of life I'm still in, amazing, so I now turn into one of them, I don't care either, but how long does that last. Maybe a long time.

=====

If I am not so much into scheduling things to do in life and don't go on holidays, then what is life but the things around me and what I don't and see if people and things. I think I can still design and arrange things without needing to schedule anything.

I appreciate the convenience and safety of life at the moment, however I would be less worried about locking doors if I was in a community of people I know or safer than this public housing area I just moved to which has petty criminals wandering through it.

I wake up and I don't know what to do, get some food, watch a movie or something. Is nice that is that simple but lacking things of life that would be good.

Like seems not about things I book myself in to buy what's around me and people I can and organising that

I went out to collect a package and get something to eat,
I see some people, they are in reality but not with me, it's about sharing the and making the space better for life somehow, it's just nice that it's convenient anyway.

So if people try to find peace they find something in their environment to do?, so is why people often just sitting In front of screens, gardening, looking after their pets?

The government seems to be trying to help strangers by supporting things for other strangers to look after strangers, strangers not their environment, don't know who they are or what's fucked about their lives or know people or business or things in their lives, or have any influence over them, so the person tries to find peace in their lives is alone in their home with a hobby, pet or screen.

That paragraph I thought of on Monday then remembered yesterday and kept on meaning to write down but kept on forgetting what it was (weirdly and frustrating), then I remembered it again.

I don't have vision in my head now immediately, it was so clear then gone without a trace again, and forgot what it even was, and to return again?
What's lagging in my mind is me trying to find inner happiness, then watching so guro talking about doing what makes you happy, but what I want to do makes me annoyed can't be done so easy, and or takes 30+ years of saving. the difference between finding peace and doing hard things that need to be done from the worst injustice I want to tell the guro who has been raking in the money for his luxury glamorous life for the last 30 years talking shit like that. He said things like find that good energy and go with it into the things you want to do, typical, maybe ok actually if even someone could get there and aren't just with their pet, garden or screen.

So I am alone, maybe some advice from someone to go see strangers, but nothing to change it do in a community, so I just live with and look after myself.

Maybe one day I have a community, and the local government comes over and asked what can we do to help, I'd say we need the power and resources to fix our own community because you don't know us and are not here, so we want to have rights as your council has.

Then maybe one day my community has some structure to change things to help each other and do things in it, and the state government comes over and asks what can we do to help and actually we already getting funding from you because that's where the money is.

On average about 40% of all the money earned is paid in tax, it's a lot of money for war and paying people to be unemployed. Paying people to be unemployed. And free doctors and discount medication, which year is like we will fix you with drugs that normally don't work. Because their are paid to help you, maybe the only help you will get from anyone for 30 minutes a couple of hours in a small room from someone who has no idea how you live or what you do. So it's just you looking after yourself because no one sees your life.

So back to trying to be lighfully peaceful, still got no hobbies or pets of interest or things to do with people, so it's screen or music, and finding that nice people in my head, but still thing to do, nice trippy music great doing nothing with my life to feel tripping about life for but I do have some pease.

Paying people to be unemployed, was good when I thought I'd like to spend all my time in thought, but from thought came things for money. That became old annoying when thinking with purpose to also be productive in thought went no where.

The government can't fix these things, it's for people that have the problem to talk to each other and design somethings in community for them. It's actually a matter of urgency for people like this, but nothing is happening, most people and government don't see it.

I dont know if it was a life time of thinking that went nowhere that makes me not take this as seriously as I should. Somehow I found that funny, but it's not. I know typical opinion is that form someone like that just needs to find something to do, or reach their bottom in life before changing, but they are so wrong, I hate people's typical opinion a lot.

About greater task in fixing this for younger people so they dont live like this, whatever problem they are going to spend life time thinking about without doing anything, a living like this.

I can write that (to nobody, to strangers to find maybe) and what could be tried to fix it but I can't do anything about it.

My next thought is these energy gurus that think they know everything, don't have the type of visions associated with this problem, a bit doing that much to help. The ideas are the solutions if they can be made but they can't be somewhere like this. I'm not sure, but it's what I thought, I can't judge all people's types of visions and barriers, same as being as stuck like this, and or what environment, or what they can tolerate, or who they are around, or expenses or skills, but it may not be so uncommon,

=====

I was thinking of how it would be to be in community with this person that suicided themselves, like I was there to ensure peace in people's consciousness, then sudden peace comes over me,

I think it's about seeing and or talking to certain people you feel good about, apart of life with

To know they are there, to think good things of the people around, and or have task to help them

Pain comes when opposite to this, when not liking people around.

To see people frequently and or to feel like some people are part of one's life are the people we live near or with.

=====

If you like being self employed but earn average income (more or less) and want to remain self employed, maybe work on your own hours, then, you can forget about leaving your country, because all the other countries just want people to join their labour force. Countries in the past use to be more homogeneous but more open, now they just think they are an economy with a work force, they don't think a people means anything.

The government must have big ego, and think the policies (especially for the economy) of the country make the country, don't care what an individual thinks or how they work in a community.

This is nationalisation, which started only 188 years ago or something, maybe good for the land grabs that were going in to make the countries rich at the time, which has now turned into which country can bring more people in on the low birth rates and increase their land and economic value. And I'm not going to think about what the future holds for this.

The reason I came to write today was this thought

Seeing the injustice, ignorant people, ignorant perceptions, pain and suffering, can't change anything, can't talk to the king because there is no king, it just gets so much worse. And then there are thoughts of demon of from this, but the person who has them is good, and it would normally be time to walk away from this place. For many thousands of years a human is born into a place where things suit them and are good, or they are born into the side of that place that has the suffering, but in the past you could just walk away, looking back in disgust, with a bad feeling and resentment for that place, and then one would have a new feeling in a new place that finally they are gone and will try to make it in the new place.

This still works for the migrants from one country to another, where the only condition of entry is joining the labour force or doing exceptionally well at business. However (and this is what's important) within a people's cultural country), everything is the same, and there is no system or king's way anywhere that's different, no one different that makes rules and work and looks at people, etc. One king's system per country. And the other countries don't really want people in because some people complain about ethnicity so they limit it for labours (real smart system everything).

So I don't know, if you don't like it you can't leave, unless maybe to another country where the people are different and they speak a different language, and they seem only to want you if you do that full time work.

But I could imagine before nationalism there were like small cities with policy and economy they made, instead of the national and international business driving the economy.

Some economists I was listening to said that life is about the wealth divide based on people's skills and talents", and its unfortunate now that the wealth divide has gotten bigger" and now people can't afford a home unless they are in a top skilled job. There's no where to leave to. Keep me in some isolated room, no one person who care or think about hung should change, for an entire lifetime, I'll die alone having done nothing here but this but you won't know me. Better go run along now and join that naturalist system that will never know you and find a place to use your skills or you will never have a home, or best you may find some public housing but that's going to be a real added bonus to your community, you think they may be the smart one, you know working for to be stuck with some house your whole life, but it turned out they just not richer or they don't all go to work all day, and you can't choose them so. It doesn't matter if you think about life or anything else, someone else has that job, you need to just work and invest, that's your job, it doesn't matter if the place is falling down, life is only that thing you do everyday with strangers so you have a home, then you can also spend your money to occasionally get out of the place for a break apparently. If you don't do that and your not happy all that, no one cares and no one can change anything, and you'll just end up alone with no community and nothing real to do in it anyway but you will also have no home, so you better stop thinking about it as it will make work a lot less easy to go about your days not thinking about anything like that, your a machine for your job and your investments, that's you are, don't waste your time thinking about anything else, and just work until your dead or have some other plan for work

=====

Regarding the “#no casual work”

I have casual work, it saves me from doing desperate things

Other people not so lucky

Streets may seem ok to the government but underneath is not ok in lot of cases

There is a lot of money and good jobs, but some of the smartest best people don't take them for the stress and procrastination and needing to dedicate life to a job

Few people lie and or get full pension even though they can work and maybe get public housing are lucky ones, kind of made for people who don't find those nice jobs

Other people are trying without end, morning things or themselves because they don't know what else to do that's casual or they think maybe theres something in their criminal record,

It's just easier to be unemployed then stress looking for some job when you feel like it then to be locked into it, or just shit job that only migrants seem happy chasing for months before they eventually find something they stick in it for long time because it's their way into the rich country. Unfinished. I forget. It hard to not feel down about these things. I want to command they be fixed. I'm enjoying today in some ways so I can work else I feel very uncomfortable.

P.s.

Looking at an advertisement for work makes me feel disturbed that I would need to go to work every day at a certain time , it feel like I'd need to dedicate my entire life to fit into work, like becoming a drone to that work, but if the work is that I can do it when I want, and there were a few options and some surge pricing some times and some with friends sometimes, and the different options give me different things to do, I would not be at home so much because I'm looking for money for a project, my future, and or something to do.

I try to find projects by myself like game design or new business but I never finish them. I do some projects for web design and I like that I don't need to do them at specific times every day but I still don't like need to have something I have to do. I'm am thankful to Australia and Uber for giving me the right to live not as a drone to a job, although it could be a lot better. Uber seems to be the only business that provides this work, and no business or government seems to think there should be more like this. I don't like driving strangers sometimes and think some other work would be more suitable for me, something during the day outside where I don't need to see heaps of strangers so I get some sun in the morning or afternoon.

=====

Its the way life is. It disgusts me that you all think its normal like this, and that you would not see someone like me ever with any other opinion. People clearly have perspective problems, maybe so do i if I dont think this place is fine. My family came here during and after world war 2 because probably they were sick of that life and just worked here and homes were cheap, but born into it maybe some people want more than bad stressful jobs to pay rent to some wankers, and live around these people and strangers for ever with no more purpose than that, and die in it like that. But mostly their children just take life for the narrative they live in, some people dont feel right about it but dont know why. Its made me stupid because looking at it is not good for me i stopped looking at it. Hope for time when people who look at it again can do anything with that.

=====

My thought today, is I could be isolated the rest of my life, or end up back in share home with living with anyone which seemed to be the hardest thing i have gone through in my life except not know what i was doing with projects for work and not having money

Does it matter when i die, but the way I live? have lived, or that someone like me would live a good different. A parent is good if it bring the young person into a good life. ?The council people are good if they bring the people into a good life.

I have wanted to live in high good consciousness and for my visions to mean something, should there be a community for that. I mean own home and see friends and make money to help feel calm and reflect upon good things, to dream of doing something good for people in the community? Not to be in isolation without a home, without doing projects or even ok work.

Or is it that the government is doing good by making rich richer and home expensive and , Id hope they know what their doing.

Australian prime ministers for a long time looked stressed? Not trying to make peace for people? I wonder if when a country gets a prime minister that looks peaceful and wholesome that they would try to make the people have better easier more peaceful lives.

=====

Someone said people are very social, I said it's not what I have seen. People normally spend most of their time by themselves or see a flatmate every day. Sometimes see a friend occasionally to go out to dinner or something. I'll just spend the rest of my life trying to be happy by myself without any community until I die. I have a goal to help place where people don't live like that.

People choose neighbours and there is a decent tax reduction for people to employ people locally, like if they are taxing cigarettes because it's unhealthy, this is a tax to help promote formation of local community.

My vision is that that person in a community could have worked in things they dreamed about without pressure when they felt like it mostly. That they would have a community and see people. And for me to live like that so I appreciate the time I have more. Please.

I think from their tax they should promote their own local business ideas, first to help themselves and do things in their local community. With oversight from economy people to see more jobs created and work done, etc. or things made it supplied, or whatever. Oversight could also promote their ideas more nationally / globally?

=====

When I wake up I feel and think about the things I was thinking and way I feel before I went to bed. So if I can I like to be wholesome in my energy and free from being weighed down by any thought or reality, but just enjoy being wholesome as the thoughts come and go of all kinds as such is being wholesome in energy. But the things that I feel hold me down the most or the things that I can change that will make me feel less held down maybe I should fix it change.

I remembered many songs of good spirit talking about being with people and things to do.

I remember songs of sadness, isolation and not feeling like fitting in. Something keeping people down in their minds about life, that bad feeling, seems to be the ones the die from drug overdoses and or suicide.

I should list some, they are profound in understanding and proof of what I write.

And those philosophers who talk about problems with life dying but younger from strokes cancer etc. I guess better to be happy guro who just talks about energy and happiness and nothing real.

=====

Henry George

In the early 1900s, Henry George's ideas were extraordinarily popular, with his books like Progress and Poverty reportedly outselling every book except the Bible. While his popularity declined.

Book called the condition of labour By: Henry George is a great book and good read for anyone in council looking at way land is owned, I don't think the current governments have read or listened to it and they should if land prices are expensive.

His books are mostly about how cities should be designed fairly, about land/space/home ownership, and getting rid of rent, etc. Surprisingly this was so popular, and may have been a great influence is that time.

Is uncommon to hear from such people these days, and this book is still very relevant today. I have not seen anything like it.

“It is this that is driving men from the old countries to the new countries, only to bring there the same curses.

It is this that causes our material advance not merely to fail to improve the condition of the mere worker, but to make the condition of large classes positively worse. It is this that in our richest Christian countries is giving us a large population whose lives are harder, more hopeless, more degraded than those of the veriest savages. It is this that leads so many men to think that God is a bungler and is constantly bringing more people into His world than He has made provision for ; or that there is no God, and that belief in Him is a superstition which the facts of life and the advance of science are dispelling.”

===

Re: land/home/space prices increase vs income

Progress and Poverty By: Henry George

https://youtu.be/9nGIb21TA3s?si=uktcHX2PYsm_Ium3

I have only started this one.

He suggests that land prices go up as a city's wealth accumulates, because people use land for as a means to gain wealth as land prices go up like a stock of a city, but poor people can't afford any more and wages are kept down despite people ever more investing in land.

And that higher land tax should be made to discourage investment in land so it becomes more affordable. As it done in Italy where owning more than one home incurs high tax because it's assumed that anyone who owns more than one home is rich.

Neil McCoy-Ward shows that land prices are going up because big investment companies are investing in housing and land
<https://www.youtube.com/live/R4oDXb4d28Y?si=D50-hgpf4EfwxaOU>

The government would not want such overpriced homes to fall because people spend more than one life time paying them off now and if they fall people become debt they can not pay off.

I am sure the book has some ideas.
I already wrote some ideas.

I remember when I was young looking at what people did with their money, they would have all this money and just put it in to thing that went up in value without thinking of how that's productive, and I was sitting there having all these ideas things id like to make but no one cares for such things. It seemed they didn't have ideas for things to make or didn't put money into such things.

I guess the idea then should be for people to make money from building new spaces and not just sitting on the land for the prices to go up, such as the people wanting to work and/or invest in new construction.

Where the space is available free to them where they can build anything anytime. They pay for their home and council makes it so there is Homes seem cheap in cities where people have left, and there are too many homes. There are not enough homes in my city seems to be why prices go higher, people aren't inspired to build more, as written before way to inspire people to build more, and have way too many homes than are needed, like 50% or enough that people just don't use some and sell the cheap one that have some damage inside or are not in trending areas*, and incentive to keep them rotting from the outside, like making them out of concrete or stone or steal, long lasting gutters, broken window cover up requirement, no roof or gutter leak cover up requirement, given away to people to people to meet this requirement, and if everyone would own their homes, damage from prevention from swotting?

#7721006781

In my ideal area as I write before

Spaces should not be all owned by someone or that ownership should be exchanged by choose neighbors system that allows free space for people to move in any time, where say 30% of spaces are used for temporary Amazon robot storage and can be made available within 12 hours, so someone when someone is allocated a new position in the choose neighbors area that they can just move, but where people can choose to own more or less space depending on their budget and want for space, which could even be a room or a shared room for very little money in the very worse case scenario, but where no place is rented and people just swap based on value. Other space allocations are for each group of people to have a meeting area, and space made available any time for new business. After years of free building available new space busing for anyone to do any time, these spaces will remain in excess. And if there is a problem with someone ever trying to buy them for the price of them to rise, this is to be taxed so there is no point in owning space for the rise, only making new spaces or making spaces better makes money, which is also promoted. This is not bad, this is a more natural order.

=

Humans lived in communities for thousands of years, it doesn't help that I keep moving to different suburbs, but still people don't work or see people locally any more, so it's an issue that I would rather wake up to my world rather than schedule a time to go to a place to see one person outside of my area where I don't know anyone, or go listen to someone who will never be part of my area. So I have a goal to recreate a community based on who people know they choose so that people wake up in a place where they know people around, and have things locally to do.

Whenever anyone cares or not is no problem. Whether I should want to do that or not, I don't know.

You do you.

==

I don't know any one around, I don't have any local business, nothing outside of me but a few possessions, I don't own the home I live in or maintain anything about it (except for sweep or keep it clean for myself, just myself, I fit have visitors),

If in the the other place would give me things to do and think about doing depending on how it was. I like sweeping sometimes, it is something to do, but I could also work a little and buy a robot for that and rarely ever need to do it again.

=

Land prices, like going to the horse races and betting, and for that rental income from people who would rather have their own home.

Stock market is like watching horses, I have never liked watching sports and things that don't have anything to do with my life, and are like a waste of space in life, and so I find it hard to be interested in it and so just aimlessly try and have normally lost.

To be rich one needs to work a long time and or find a good job, if it's not a bad or normal job then save every little dollar and not buy things, or a good job where they just have too much money, and then either way go to the races and gamble successfully with it. Or be lucky in business or life work career.

Because land is for gambling it's has become out of reach unless you do the above, and for most people that's an entire life dedicated to it where the mind may not be so free, it's not normally like life it's work helping strangers with strangers for money doing repetitive things that becomes distorted into life is a function and twisted piece of metal the life becomes dedicated to your wake-up every day for

=

Some shows about a not doing so well city in America.

Some white people were saying there was no work, and the Indians (hindustanis) saying there is always work, and are buying up all the homes. I guess it's the means of attainment and offers, and looking hard for it and taking something that you may not have confirmed or seems like you would not want to do. But being Indian they seem happy their are just in America and find that job with help of shit job recommendations from all their Indian friends.

There is some work I can do but I don't feel to be out in public with all the faces looking at me. There is some work I can find but it feels like shit work and horrible time look and applications and not knowing really what I'm doing and don't want to do that job like an Indian in a service station for the next years, I'd rather do nothing. Where nothing is I exist.

I feel certain if this is fixed that there will be less disturbed looking white people unemployed on drugs.

This can be fixed by creating local opportunities available to do that they know of anytime. But no one knows them so this is why no one provides them in a way, because the employer doesn't know them they just post for anyone to do the job, because they really just want money they hire anyone who comes along even if its not quite right.

Disturbing because the environment they have ended up with, which is not right with the things they do or don't do, people they see, complaints, and , which has and is also affecting me.

I dont know. It's what I thought.

=

And they buy up everything and everywhere is just for money and or with strangers, and that when life is spent until death in this sort of isolation.

=

5741122

I consider this capitalism to be consumerism serviced by strangers in specific fields for strangers without the need for any imagination or vision, otherwise with not much systems for existence, if someone is happy with that making money and investing because that give them something to do and they are well paid, and another person is happy with just having enough money from shared consumerism but otherwise has ideas, for environment and other things or just doesn't feel the greatness of making more money for things they don't need, then the first group of people will have a lot of money to invest in land, like if food was a limited resource with a value other than having enough for one to eat then people would make food very expensive, so expensive that only people who had more money could buy it. So the key is like ensuring there is plenty of food, which Australia doesn't do with housing or space but seems to want the value to keep increasing, housing should be like food in ample supply and not used as a limited resource for investors where it becomes the cost of mass production. It is a surprise also that food has remained affordable when land prices have gone up maybe because of some limitations on housing development causing excess places to grow food although they also contain homes and potential homes developments so this land has become very expensive too, but the amount of money that can be made on the land is low so maybe just investor hold the land for gain and make a bit of extra money farming it, whereas people looking for a real job should be owning it and this should also be affordable to them.

Kept for investments where the investment makes the money and where the investor even just sees the work that could be done on it or how it could be used as work they are not interested because they do t need the hassle and it's not worth the money, and just keep it as an investment.

I would wish that land and space prices are affordable for people to do their business, and for people to live in a place where they felt like they had kinship with the people they see and talk to to make them feel good about them to develop the world they are born into, with system to support them doing so, so much I would donate my money when I die to this to a government whose job it would be to make it so, it they have much more money than I could ever offer is a drop in a large pond, and they should already be considering this. Australia is for the Virginia company in the mind of everyone for the base it has, but some other country I would hope sees things differently.

=

The game monopoly is fun right? Don't you want to get rich and do things with your property and get rent like you some king over people or just own lot of valuable space and make it good?

How is it like for people can't afford a home even if they work for ever, people are living in around random strangers because of the way we buy and sell space, people can't afford to start a business because space is so expensive.

I hate the game monopoly what it stands for, how about live somewhere here spaces are made for space and no profit and rent. It has caused this isolation and need to get rid of it in the place I live.

Desperate nation of people looking for somewhere to put their money so they can sit in their ass and make rent, and they don't know what else to do, maybe need to make someone easy ways for people to invest

|

The government supports monopoly for investors or mortgage payers
The government could support a system where it knows what things are needed or would sell, and people's money goes in that for works to build it, and the investors make a profit, and where the government insures the profit because it can. It seems natural for capital to be needed for projects, and the government could assume it.

|

I'd suggest what people have ideas to make even if they don't have a business plan b3c6it makes people work, and profit should be enough to cover some losses ones that don't work.

=== P.s.

Henry George:

"It is not from the scarcity of nature that men suffer, but from the injustice of society."

"The few who own the land take to themselves the wealth that the many produce."

"No matter how productive labor becomes, the benefit is swallowed up by rent."

"Those who do not own land must sell their labor to those who do."

"The laborer is thus made dependent, not by nature, but by the monopoly of land."

"1879: It is not that there is any real scarcity of land... but that, as in New York and London, the ownership of land gives the power to appropriate wealth... San Francisco is already beginning to show the same conditions, and must inevitably reproduce them."

1. Early San Francisco = cheap, lots of opportunity
2. As wealth/population grow → landowners capture gains
3. Result → becomes like New York/London: high rents, harder for workers Australia doesn't get it.

Henry George:

"When men are compelled to compete for employment, they are driven to accept wages that will barely keep them alive."

"Land is not used, but held for a rise."

“The effect of speculation in land is to increase rent... and to prevent labor from employing itself.”

“As land rises in value, it becomes more and more difficult for the laborer to obtain it.”

“The conditions which in older countries have produced poverty... are beginning to manifest themselves in newer communities.”

“as land becomes monopolized, the same conditions appear.”

Charles Bukowski:

“People are strange. They are constantly angered by trivial things, but on a major matter like totally wasting their lives, they hardly seem to notice.”

I feel the void all around me all the time, isolation and meaningless, around strangers, and no inclusion in life, the work or things to do has no good energy, many things like this. Is giving me this cynical view and disturb feeling.

Smoking seems to help a bit in such a place and helps me work for strangers, etc, but it makes people poor by government taxes. Like home prices the government is causing.

“The Creator showers upon us His gifts... not in niggardliness but in abundance.”

“Poverty is not the natural condition of men.”

“It is not from the scarcity of nature that men suffer, but from the injustice of society.”

“Poverty... is due not to the laws of nature, but to the injustice of man.”

“The unjust distribution of wealth... springs from the unjust appropriation of land.”

“Society owes to all its members. Thus it is that the duty of the father, the obligation to the child, instead of giving any support to private property in land, utterly condemns it, urging us by the most powerful considerations to abolish it in the simple and efficacious way of the single tax.

This duty of the father, this obligation to children, is not confined to those who have actually children of their own, but rests on all of us who have come to the powers and responsibilities of manhood. For did not Christ set a little child in the midst of the disciples, saying to them that the angels of such little ones always behold the face of His father; saying to them that it were better for a man to hang a millstone about his neck and plunge into the uttermost depths of the sea than to injure such a little one?

And what to-day is the result of private property in land in the richest of so called Christian countries? Is it not that young people fear to marry; that married people fear to have children; that children are driven out of life from sheer want of proper nourishment and care, or compelled to toil when they ought to be at school or at play; that great numbers of those who attain maturity enter it with under-nourished bodies, overstrained nerves, undeveloped minds—under conditions that foredoom them, not merely to suffering, but to crime; that fit them in advance for the prison and the brothel?

If your Holiness will consider these things we are confident that instead of defending private property in land you will condemn it with anathema!”

Sam’s POV

“In 1947, William Levitt built a house every 16 minutes on Long Island. Each one selling for 7,990.

His workers performed one of 27 specialized steps assembly line style.

And Levitt said something that became policy. No man who owns his own house can be a communist. He has too much to do. Western governments took that logic and ran with it. Hoover handed out we own our own home buttons to school children. The GI Bill pushed ownership from 44 to 62%.

Nixon walked Khrushchev through a $14,000 model home in Moscow as proof capitalism won. Thatcher sold 1.5 million council homes. Every leader understood the same thing. A mortgage citizen is a settled citizen. Ownership gave people what sociologists call ontological security, stability, continuity, and control rooted in your dwelling. So they fused home ownership with adulthood itself. Then the math broke. Median home price was 3.2 times income in 1990. By 2024, five times. in LA 12.5 times. Firsttime buyer age jumped from 29 to nearly 40 and 71% of aspiring buyers now delay marriage or children until they can buy. When you fuse adulthood with ownership, then price people out of ownership, you price them out of adulthood. The deed was never the point. The security wise.”

=

I tried working to save for a home for years and home prices inflated 20% for years while my savings had a 5 percent interest in a term deposit. The cheapest homes inflated more than the expensive homes, there's no common statistic for that, they just take all home prices and give it an inflation rate

.

They take away the cheap options

The government doesn't stop this, they promote it because they need their mortgage payers to not go under water

They keep home vacancy rates low and promote migration to keep land and home prices going up. They think it's a good idea.

Because they don't want to see ghost towns or cheap opportunity for people because it's ugly to them, and it would mean a lot of people lose money in their home value, where home and land value price increase are only thing keeping Australia incomes increasing for years as work income flops and people become less productive, they need the money somehow,

They have been creating home price inflation higher than national interest rates for years, so that someone can borrow their dirty money and make money investing in homes, because it's a sector that has high returns, because it makes people rich and somehow they think this is good, so more people invest in homes, as home prices inflates people are happier paying back the dirty loan from them. They want their bonds to increase in value.

The problem is that governments want this to happen so Henry Georges answer wont work until they want to keep home and land prices cheap, or at same cheap prices over time that someone can do the same amount of work for later. But it becomes out of reach for people who work for things and becomes an asset for investors. And then non previous investors want to leave.

The idea should be that land / space has no value in some places and people can build cheaply, and older homes that become worthless are sold at value cheap while new homes people pay value for. While some areas have higher land prices for demand, and also in those areas build higher buildings. This way at least retaining fair value somewhere.

The idea is that governments should use homeloans for people to pay off homes affordably, not use it as a way to print money for home inflation. It's a fundamental idea that people can pay off homes which was introduced a long time ago but has turned into something else, which is probably a problem world wide more and more.

They wont spend to reduce the state or nations income, rather they will spend money to promote where more money is coming from like tourism and places of study, even if the place of study are just making money because migrants are using them to get in on study+work visas. There is no immediate gain for them to make homes more affordable but it looks like it could bankrupt people.

free money Important

This doesn't only not work for poor people because they don't earn enough to pay for a home, but they keep the home prices inflating more so rich people take out loans to buy them, and they the rich people make 10 percent interest with free money from the government virtually giving them the same payment as a poor person makes working full time, for nothing, for having equity already, for each of the homes rich people get money for they earn as much as a poor person.

Most poor people don't know this is happening, as they couldn't even think of buying a first home for themselves, and are busy working to pay rent to the people that do, the rich people who figured it out with their first loan.

I could imagine back at a time when there was no such things as homeloans that someone like me would have said it would be nice for everyone to own a home to start with and just pay it off.

And then rich people saw the home prices go up and borrowed the money because they would make a good return in more property, and so this continued until homes were unaffordable investments, and it turned into some sort of slavery system where the rich owned the land and paid people less as possible to work on it, and as much as possible to live in it, and they brought the lands around their country, and everywhere they could to be like slave owners. So someone who thought like me made a mistake that was never fixed, and created a system that took land from most of the world for the slavers.

Again about, that it would be nice for everyone to own a home to start with and just pay it off. This probably was never meant for rich people to use to borrow money for the investment in price gain on the difference between interest rates and land inflation, and rental properties, but that's what they do, and you wonder why there is such home inflation, this is all promoted in Australia for the new Virginia company.

....

It's about an old person having paid off their home, like in the "every one owns a home" category, not living and working for some home owner, how strange it is for a poor person to rent and take that job away from them, even though they want the job of maintain their home but pay the rich person for that. How it used to be where slavers owned the land and homes. Somehow they are all happy with this because they get rent and high inflating investment.

If you don't believe that this is a current form of slavery, then how do you explain the justification of the "important" paragraph 2 above.

==

* Property Inflation: The Ultimate Historical Scam

* Australia didn't invent the housing crisis—we just perfected a historical trap that has broken 400+ societies before us

You know how they all have savings from work and want to invest it, the government gave them 50x more money than they had to invest in property, and they made a lot more money on this government credit, and anyone who didn't do that lost 10%-20% of this large amount of money per year, it's like the biggest % gain investment scam in history, and everyone loved that they got rich.

But property is a real thing, just like food. They inflated the cost of shelter, creating a permanent second-class of people who don't own homes.

I'm that stupid, and now it's reaching starvation point. I'm telling my best friend and family it's ok to invest because it never seems to stop, but it's probably going to stop now and just leave people starving. They screwed poor people good this time.

history of what happened before because of this:

History shows that hyper-inflated land prices can trigger mass violence, total state collapse, and violent revolutions.

When the cost of land locks the majority out of survival, the result is rarely "nothing much." It completely breaks societies.

The Global Database (510 Historical Examples):

<https://justpaste.it/n0rqv> (or same on <https://web.archive.org/web/20260519161625/https://justpaste.it/n0rqv>)

I could keep listing more all day, the results dont seem getting less severe.

In conclusion, its biggest disastrous scam in history, that screws people forever, and people dont learn, and australia just did it hard, and it make me feel like im not going to go anywhere in my environment because id didnt do it.

If you want more

Just ask Google AI

"what effect of high home land price inflation had had in history" then "world wide" then "history of what happens , nothing much?" then upload the list of ones you have read to exclude those results.

—

I was not expecting to see such violence, but more general poverty and problems.

“The heavy weight of Australia’s housing crisis is no longer just an economic headline; it is a profound mental health emergency unfolding in real-time. Documenting this reality reveals how deeply systemic failures fracture human well-being. Chronic rental stress and the constant terror of displacement are transforming situational anxiety into permanent, debilitating psychosocial trauma. As a result, the surge in Disability Support Pension (DSP) applications reflects a society where a basic human right—shelter—has become a luxury. This journal stands as a record of a systemic breaking point, tracking how housing policy directly dictates our collective sanity. “

Most home owners and government people are in denial or don’t understand. Poor people don’t really understand why it’s happening or who to blame or how to fix it, but in here in and in that link are some options, and you can ask AI for more options.

While it’s been happening for centuries, and people just get away with it or it just happens, and people who don’t buy when it’s cheap or save slowly for a home get screwed and turned into low class subjects.

-

Regarding how rich people saying poorer people are lazy while they are taking free money the most, at least it’s fair that they give some back to poorer people in tax, and again you’ll find rich people are all about business and money, but poorer people not so much, and for me it’s different to be all about money and business.

but it’s fair that somehow people turn into wanting more and more money and that others who lack money become more like them, but this should be done in ways that people seek to make money in honest ways that don’t hurt people too much and that people have those options to make money.

—

analyze how ancient legal codes sought to disrupt this cycle through mandatory property resets.

Or

explore how the ancient Greeks used "debt jubilee" laws to prevent these revolutions

“Every single entry conclusively reinforces the foundational macroeconomic truth: whenever a society permits the cost of land and shelter to hyper-inflate away from the tangible reality of human wages, the resulting friction fundamentally breaks the social contract, systematically course-correcting into state collapse, mass structural reset, or open armed conflict. “

The government must be so dumb not to know this is so common.

Central banks and statistical bureaus minimize recorded asset inflation by classifying residential real estate as an investment rather than a consumer expense. Because the Consumer Price Index (CPI) is explicitly designed to only measure the cost of daily consumption, property price spikes are fundamentally excluded from headline inflation data.

To be fair I don't know enough about this, im thinking borrowing money for projects is good for people who like that and can pay it back, I would not want to discourage things ignorantly, but it seems as a problem answer in that link it why I made post about it.

--

I should be asking which countries home land , I mean which areas of countries and inflating the most compared with their loan interest rates, and get some graphs and analyse if thats going to keep going up. When it goes up seems to be much more stable than stocks I guess because people actually live in them and there's a big cost in selling.

There could already be a land bank stock market thing for that where people don't need to pay stamp duty. But real way to make money would be looking for a good deal, making offers

===

? My ancestry came to Australia because of poverty, war and home prices in their original countries, which seems to be why the majority of people come here.

They have made the home prices too expensive now, so the work isn't better paid relative to home prices, and I'm worried about the ultraviolet light effect on health.

==

Home Use to cost 3 times a wage and now 12 times, etc. they take away people right to live easily or have their own price space, forcing people to see strangers every day in shared homes and not have their own space, or stay living with their parents, it's disturbing, but many forget the value of their own space, they did this and people with home already before this happened or high wages think there's nothing wrong.

==

Home stamp duty cost much less in the 1800s and early 1900s than it does today. Back then, it started as a small handling or filing fee of around 1% (or less) of a property's value. Today, rates climb up to 5.5% or higher, costing modern buyers many months of salary.

Couple that with much lower home prices per income and you get something where people have home more often? Giving people easier ways to move to somewhere they are around people looking to work on similar ideas? Or?

Henry George's book was the second most popular book then, and now do people still talk about it even though it's worse?

Same ideas? Napoleon Hill and others say we should work on ideas otherwise we just wonder. Napoleon Hill says just work in these things and people will see your purpose but I only see people with little to no purpose, and even if I explain this they still have no purpose. He says don't talk to idiots with no purpose I think.

Don't blame people for not having a purpose, people can't even buy homes and more and that one take 40 year if their lucky.

Purpose? It's mostly all difficult or impossible, even find a job for something to do to help strangers is very difficult can take years, and all they wanted was to do something for a while and maybe make some money. This is a part of the abyss (written later) where. People either dont see it or fall into what it is without purpose, find such things where they can if they can like watch YouTube, pets and making things no one will ever use or see, and things that should not need to be done continue.

You all serve and are ignorant of this system that creates this disturbance and abominations.

=====

My life seems fake, the things I do, like music is not doing anything, maybe listening to people who don't even talk about doing anything. Talking and thinking is for design, then there is doing something for the environment and people and your own environment.

I'm not happy about it, it's hard to feel good about it, it's bringing me down which is bad for my energy and health. But trying harder can make it worse.

Someone would not want to live in an area that they see problems while life every day and do nothing, the management of that area must be bad and or assume people don't see problems like this?.

Maybe isolation seems more normal to someone when they complaining and not in good mood as to not bring other people down with them. But like an excuse not to do those things or be around people that would make life a bit more enjoyable.

===

Henry George writes a lot that we should be more abundant, and I see that we can be, that less work can make more abundance

But mostly it's the unnatural price of homes and spaces, and cigarettes and taxes

He writes it's not a problem with nature but man that created the poverty, but it is man that created the abundance actually but in it also created some ways to make poverty and burn wealth

=====

Regarding the economy is important but not the people, like the economy make people lives,

You could go somewhere that no one knows you, or you could live a my home without a community with anythings on, or that knows you.

It's unbelievable the kind of good visions for life someone can have and not be part of if it or not makes anything like it.

But also unbelievable how bad they can be.

Do you feel lucky or is not much happening good except maybe from the money you invest? Or is there bit problems, do you think it could have anything to do with the people around you and their thoughts of other people and how things could be good even if they cared to do some for strangers.

Its good actually that people generally don't want to do the wrong thing to others, and there is law to help stop it. I don't know.

What if someone goes to another country because there seems to be a better quality of life or for some reason, but it was because the people there worked to make it that way for each other, and the new person feels excluded so tries to find their own group to make life better for. I don't know.

Weather you live somewhere where people with good visions do anything with it or just write it and not share it, and time goes by and nothing happened. Whether they feel they can or should or would try to make an effort to do so it it's easy for them to do so or not. Whether they should or not, if they think it's ok or not. Whether it's normal in the pace you live for people to do that or you were born in a place where people don't do it and you get used to just watching screens or things that aren't actually doing anything real.

Whether there is a place for suggestions that actually works, or has any benefit to the person for the person continuing to submit.

I don't know, lucky is thousands of years of development, technology, law, understanding, civilisation, law, economy, but would I trust someone to manage an area based on what other people think, and not know this person, to spend whole life without being part of it like that's normal. And to spend whole life in an area where people don't know me and no one cares for my higher vision of life or ideas. To be fair I do much more thinking than I do researching, and I should accept way things are good.

Human suffering in isolation and share homes. People don't understand it. Government and council don't understand it or care much. I'd like design to help.

=====

Continued in from I don't like schedules, it was nice to see you

I don't like making appointments or meeting times. I like people come to my home or committing I had one, I guess it's about feeling like somewhere foreign, all the faces alone the way looking at me. I find it difficult, maybe I have a disability that way. I don't know them, they are not part of my life go listen to some idiot I may as well watch and forget a strangers on YouTube. It could be the many faces looking at me disturb me to point it's painful, I just noticed all of them constantly, it's a bit like constant distraction that becomes disturbing, however not always a problem.

I'd like to wake up to the world as my community with things to do in it and people I know walking through it. People would say you don't know how the world works, but actually that is how the world worked for thousands of years before now, and it was just technology and nationalism that pushed us out of these communities, to do only fake things with strangers in places we don't live in.

You can come visit me in my community and stay if you like, where things are real to me. I would like to say.

I would like to return to the long dreams and visions with the long life to make better what I wake up to. But if all life is is a foreign and strangers then I never wake up to anything my by myself and no community to change. This is more so in rentals with not council where nothing is done locally. And everything is managed by other people. Everywhere is strangers and just to move somewhere else like I was never there.

I could go somewhere but for the rest of my life I'm at home and do some shopping locally or where ever.

If you could design a community it should be where you live where local things are done for what you wake up to and spend your life around.

===

#77339900

===

I get bulk email messages sometimes from government or business, saying do have ideas for community, and that they have funding, they think the whole state or country is the community, and I'm sure people are looking at this and thinking how they are going to get money from it.

All the tax they collect and money they borrow, doesn't go on what someone would use normally, but just some people looking for money or something to gain, where a lot of people and most worthy people get nothing,

They don't know the people, they just think their state or country are the community,

So would it be better for community that knows each other to have funding for things that help

Like business promotion money and messages I get about getting funding for ideas, they aren't very interested when they just read something it seems, or you could get lucky that they like something about you. But they don't know you. So the same idea written by different people reviewed by different people can be lucky or not depending of an image or a word but not a real person and not a real something in their lives, or maybe it is that any idea submission I made that those people didn't think it brought anything into their lives, and the other person who wrote it made it seem like it would bring something into their lives, like bullshit.. I don't know I just know the ideas can be the same, and that I seem to have no interest in ever trying to seek funding though these dickhead websites or dickhead governments again. And so nothing changes, the hell I may see, you'll never fix, and the doom is not something people even see let alone can fix like this. And the areas will just keep running by means and motivation of what people can get without actually trying to do much good.

Maybe it is that it's good they tax everyone so highly and try to make so much money so they can give unemployment payments to anyone who actually wanted to do something good with their lives and found it hard to just work for some machine for and with strangers and without any motivation for such things. True. Sad. ==

Or it could be they don't have motivation to do anything good because they're wankers or lost hope in that because it just doesn't work, but also found it hard to be motivated for that work with and for strangers for no reason but money.

I have a problem with people thinking there is something wrong with the people who find it hard to work like that, just because somehow they find it acceptable to work all day like that for their whole lives, some kind of weird hell to me. I can't even get up in the morning to do it every day due to sleeping, and find too much public bit too disturbing, and makes me depressed doing hard work all day forever not knowing really why I'm doing it on maybe some low income. == People seem to love it, and smile at how much homes cost, like it is great people would work in hell their whole lives to buy some space in it.. ===

But it is good they are doing it so the economy functions, and some people somehow may get a break from in unemployment although this can be isolation in disturbing contemplation. I pray these people have affordable housing firstly as I have had, because sharing housing with strangers is considerably more painful and lower consciousness. But more than that for myself I imagined more than that.

Can't fix this? It won't be fixed, but here is how to fix it

It would take me less than. 1 minute to get the start of the idea and start remembering and visioning it. And could go on for days if I felt like that.

So I didn't do that but later I wrote the below which may be confused with actual continuation but may be relevant to it.

=

P.s.

I will explain again regarding money

You are not a small community that knows each other, you are your state and your country

When someone gets money for grants to help people they don't know any of them and the money spent in an area where they don't know any of them

Unlike spending money in that small area where you're gonna have to live with the people the rest of your life like your friends

If you have friends then your friends are a community with your friend community doesn't get funding

If you're a minority maybe you're a part of that community you go to that minority center and maybe get funding for that but generally you won't spend your life with them

If you're not helping your house, your friends or your community then your more likely just to do it for money and as much money as you can get and there is less motivation. Maybe in the future all the tax will go through a world government and some other country will be spending it in whatever you don't see in your life which is close to what have way there to what's it's like now.

I got confused with the fact that before when there was smaller community that spent life together and knew each other (more so), but still they didn't choose neighbors, just they would know people better because every thing was local, now everything is spread out and the chance of seeing the same people seem to have become 0.0005 in my case, but for others maybe 0.01 to 90% in some cases of places one may go. I guess it's needing to go to that place. Important. So someone that doesn't fit in with schedules of the church or the beach saving club can find themselves going to no group of people where they ever see anyone they know, seems actually the beach life saving club or dance club could be, but doesn't negative the fact that local community is

I'd like to fix this and see local people life myself more fulfilled, I have little desire to spend money on expensive cars, yachts, holidays, , it has been a problem when I see other people doing this and not seeming to have any good for their purpose in development but their own luxury, and same to with the government who , but in both cases they are simply....

It doesn't matter if I explain the situation they simply don't understand or can't see it, and it deny there is a problem.

I have lost more higher vision for this, and or the visions I had years ago of the better things, where this use to be worse to see a reality like this. I seemed to think it was very selfish and ignorant to be so selfish and ignorant, but it was they just didn't see such things. And now life seems just a bit disturbing in my own life, until I sort of adjust myself not to see it or be at peace as I am, which is still difficult to maintain. I don't all day, which creates some kind of ignorance but if not it's can be too disturbing in which I lose peace.

P.s.

Is my friend concerned that I am worrying about my other friend dying of cancer?

I don't see this friend often, and not a lot of times

And I wrote:

It's nice not to worry constantly as I do sometimes so I have found a way not to worry unless it's like losing my money or living with a criminal threatening me.

There is a lot I don't worry or think about. I worry about my goal sometimes and think it's not possible and don't really know what to do think or do sometimes. I still thinking working for the next 5 - 10 - 15 years may be the only way for my anything close to my goal which is sort of irrelevant if it doesn't help other people or perpetuate into the future

I was disturbed and concerned actually about my friend dying and thought a lot about her.

But like it is I move on and don't want to feel grief or disturbance over this. Actually a friend I'm not so close to although one of nicest people I have met.

I don't know how to help her. I thought about buying some books for her but there is also a lot of good free info in the Internet

I haven't saved anything for a couple of months, but still something good to work on for the future I guess.

My shares went up so well this month, but then last week they dropped back, I don't know about that but I will keep in trying and hoping.

I think I move my shares around a bit too often sometimes because a lot of the ones I sold actually did go up a lot.

I worked last night and had good feeling more so, I was able to work longer than normal, and I am thankful that I wasn't sitting there worrying as it makes work unpleasant

I love feeling good in my life, but it means maybe letting go of something maybe I should be working but find no way to easily compete

Not that all of them are forgotten

Am I even concerned about my myself dying or getting old without.... Seems to be part of life,

It was for a year or two my father was dying, at the state I was having higher vision of the disturbance of life, but all I could think about was life and when he died, I felt I did feel connected to that so much as I could think about the life, it seemed abnormal to do this.

=

I have a problem with ignorance of the community environment for feeling of life

There is always death in front of us but not living or the feeling of life along the way is the problem. A lot seems to be made to take away the feeling of life.

If you have anyway had a home, friends around, family, community, community inclusion for the welfare and future of that community, a feeling of living, good for you, doesn't mean everyone does and doesn't mean everyone will get the same feeling from things that give you that feeling or understanding

Not that I pressure everyone has a feeling of life or being grateful for it, or that some may just be trying to pass the time, which is fine just passing the time but if one lives without those things that would make one feel like living then the soul, motivation and energy still sees it.

I have instinctual visions of it since i was 17 18 just comes to me a lot, except for time of great disturbance when either I don't see much or I choose not to. I see it in other peoples lives even if they dont see it themselves, this is also instinctual (something i was born with to develop at some age).

==

I dont think about death much, or the age i am, or the age or death of people i know currently and in the past, but the way I live when i am alive, and how that is, i probably dont see well how ... the , but think i would like help its design in an area, relative to me then thinking I am happier with life, like just design it, fixed, is that a community.

I dont know if its great things or wealth or easiness of life or something other people do to make them content.

i dont feel that going to foreign or public places is life for me, when there is nothing much happening around me that i have anything to do with, that it could be good or bad what happens to me around me, or nothing much at all.

====

Does someone find something about the work situation disturbing, it's a distraction, can it be fixed, at least so they can work more if not also feel good and or at peace during the day.

=====

I need my own home, and some what work and community and social,. something something, but a city may not have the ideals to prove this for the people in it, I would still try for such things, but in the case people seem to be working against it then, if someone was living in such a place I would hope they could have their own community where they could add their vision

=====

#9871234654

=====

I re wrote a section on “motivation for community life” for Reddit because I'd like to get a comment as I never got any comments from anything I write

=====

Motivation for money vs Motivation for community?

Just a thought id like to see if I get any comments.

1. Motivation for community life
2. Motivation for work and personal life

1. Motivation for community life

I see that if you get a bunch of friends in an apartment to choose their neighbours and have places for new people to stay, then instantly people will have the vision to do things and create things around, and wander, and it would be my hope there that people have more than idea if something is productive or benefit for community, at least some more simple things will happen for sure. But when something becomes more important it will be more likly the thing will be done. I see this framework as important, so I decided to make a plan for it.

Is there a framework of motivation you may be missing a bit which is motivation in community of respected friends?

Work wont buy your friends, community or as much interesting things to do as you think?, but will get you basic things you need and capital for investments.

===

I see is its easier to things that are provided to do for public, than create something new or organise something that people would join.

unfortunately i don't being in public with heap of strangers around, and going to these place for little to no reason with just one person or alone as people most commonly do.

Do I really want to do that thing, or do i just want to be productive with friends around, and sometimes talk about things with these people, and have a sense of community and some visits and things to do that would give me some nice reflections and or be productive. At the moment it seems to be to do things for people i dont know and difficult, and in the end just for money.

Im sort of inspired by some ideas but dont seem to good if they were not with friends or adding to a local community of friends.

I have seen many of my friends struggle to achieve their goals or do something greater, or make money with their skills, and maybe its easier for someone like me to be part of the council to help make things easier for them.

P.s.

Relates to paragraph about “not caring to leave my home” because outside doesn’t feel like home, or “the consciousness at home” expended in to community, how it is I don’t go out and that’s why it feels like a prison jail I live and die in. That people I guess make it work in public because thats how things are or somehow they enjoy that.

Considering everything is made to do outside of a community now, it will be a job to see the same things that give people good energy would be done within a community and or for more meaning, I guess it’s mostly the thing s people enjoy doing at home would then become things people enjoy doing in a community of people they spend their lives with, and get paid to do things people want to pay for, perhaps there are some ideas of things to do better in a community from before it was like this.

=====

2. Motivation for work and personal life

Have you ever heard that motivation is the best talent these days? About achieving goals and motivation for work.

Because a lot of people do nothing, and you need some motivation to do the thing fail and try again, etc. ? A lot of people don’t even go out.

Motivation to make money to pay off your home, so you have a home and life is a bit easier..

Motivation money for the things i need.. standard of living, finding higher wage or better work.

Work may not be enjoyable but thing things we do for work to keep in ones mind for motivation for money.

I do live off things and enjoy things made by strangers and I do feel then it’s good to give in return a bit.

I have talked to and helped thousands of strangers and never felt like I did anything or I should not have talked, I talk to one friend or family and I feel like I have done something, if I help them i more so feel like I have done something, I have messaged people do do things or join thing and which really felt like I did something but never turned into anything so then it felt like I did nothing.

If I talk to strangers at a place that people return to them I feel I have done something, as I could return to that place, but not like that at at work because

I think i need something so I am motivated to get it or work for the money for it. Or work to have

I see where and how I am living and I am motivated to improve that,

==

Elon said in future with robots everything will be so cheap, it will just be a problem with how people occupy their lives, without work, I guess what he means is that there is no motivation in life but to make money for things one needs or wants.

But already many people are already wealthy without needing to work, or on pensions and unemployed and have what they need and need to find things to do, including me some of my life.

Not everyone just has a few ideas and sits there for months or years making them to fill their time , and becomes rich

I guess when ai and robots do most common work, and things become so cheap, people will still want more money and treat land like a stock price for a gain so there, it may still be more about who makes more money is free from work. In the case this is fixed and homes are also affordable, and a lot of people dont need to work,, you'd think it should be easy enough for them to find things to do,

====

Is motivation for

- Home and passive income, then make money for holidays and investments, or to support a family..
- Work hard to stay in the new country because you came from some fucked country or some war..

- If you don't work your kind of screwed so you need to or you can say your disabled and be able to live..
- Get addicted to an expensive drug so your motivated for money to get more of it (australian tobacco, why I work)..

...But what of the motivation to make a place better that you live around if you don't know anyone you live around, and or not participate in a community for development where things can be changed and not controlled by state that doesn't know it exists and limits it development (restriction on funding via tax and development) to their own belief ?

I think capitalism with local community of friends could be better, not communism or whatever my grandparent hated, it's more of a reason to get up to do things or make things better for a community.

==

At the moment I am motivated to get a comment on my thoughts.

I tried posting it in a more relevant group but it was blocked, I hope that fits in with moderators guideline.

=====

My thought after this was do you want to live in a community that makes homes unaffordable, that bans free speech, etc, and more important things than that, and that if you were able to choose the people in your community then you would choose people with right mind set, but as it is you live within nations values which seem to be making themselves look good, and slowly you will get to live with new people and slowly things will be degenerated, but like a cooked crab you won't notice it.

But I forget people think it's the hard work they do that makes their life and not the environment or people around them. Although this is also true and if people believe that they will be better off and the economy will work a bit better but still it has to do with who and how people work and their good intent in work.

I see a lot of people have lived for a better community and not go there but live for that in their lives, some even die for it, but it doesn't happen normally, so if your seeing this I hope you can help these people by , well I guess they need their own community, but they are fighting for yours but you don't care?

P.s.

Australia has a migrant policy , showing that migrants contribute more to the economy than someone born here , so they like the migrants, probably when there is a slow down in some work motivation in the country they get more migrants in, just shows an easy motivation that is explored by Australia. this is probably a problem for country I care about, they probably see the same thing. I think they should be looking at ways to motivate indigenous people to work and save and make money, rather than thinking migrants who are escaping something are easy way to boost the economy.

=====

<https://www.facebook.com/share/v/1A5RcXWxCd/>

Is an important video about how emotions create nerve damage

Music creates a nice atmosphere, depending on what music someone may like may be good or bad for others

I have lived with people who seem to want to disturb me under some premises of make jokes and or touching me, etc. I see this as some kind of dementor, who like a to scrw with people until they are disturbed in there nervous system.

Other people can be very wanting of their own peace and things that they think they'll give them peace but have no problem disturbing other people and then if they don't get their way that call them names and shop them. I just think if people get to choose who they see and they won't see these people and these people will add up only see each other or be isolated and screw themselves up until they just want peace in their life and this begins a good person.

To explain, some people have bad morals, for example

Screw the system and laws if you can but don't screw your mates (because their your mates)

Stealing is ok but stealing is not so good if it's your mates (for caught a few times maybe)

Insisting and using people is ok.

Treating people like property is ok.

.....

Things is when they need to live around each other they only have each other for victims, they will be the only type of people who tolerate each other to begin with and they gather in their mass delusions but not there is only themselves to victimise each other,
so one day they will wake up and feel like they want the system to be secure, or people to stop stealing their things, for people to be peaceful and not for everyone to be abusive around themselves, it makes them want peace and see the wrong in which they formally accepted, and they will finally see the wrong that they were doing which will them remain with them the rest of their lives, and want to live some that people don't do that or are broken their mind to doing right things.

If everyone did something what would the problem be, but they think it's ok to do that thing.

I don't work enough, but I don't get paid for some work I do, if it wasn't for people who worked more I would be struggling much more, but then also I guess maybe there would be more acceptance for ideas around how people could work more and not just rely on business and migrants. I do want to work more but under different circumstances, I do t know if i was in choose neighbours area that some may have different work circumstances.

As it was before nationalisation, there were small groups of governments and they screwed more with other small groups and then when being national they screwed more with different countries, and local groups were dissolved into the nation group and lost their identity. But if you do this the smaller groups will screw with each other more I guess. That each will have strength and weakness, and different ideas.

=====

Share houses

Some people treat people badly and like to screw with them, some people steal, abuse, rape, treat life and people with little respect, things like that, and for most part share houses are for strangers who pay, and the first person who pays gets it, and I got to live with them. The landlords maybe sometimes are not much better either, just they don't do as stupid crimes but other they don't get caught for and or use people like it should be a crime. There not much choice if you don't have or make a lot of money. And it's getting worse, although not what statistics would say, as it is they don't want land investments to go down. Unseen horrors for millenniums of some place, demoralized and stuck in these homes, and

Sort of where people live when they are not making much money, and the whole situation is bad, remembering it makes me feel disturbed about life, the city and people I live around.

=====

It's nice to have some life around. Sleep and wake up with it is a different experience of life. Not that I want to always share my toilet, kitchen or lounge.

Pets would be nice if they could look after themselves and not also make my home dirty. I'd rather humans have a much better experience. If I had a girlfriend or wife I would also hope they didn't share my space and had their own but to be in my environment next to my home.

I'd hope if I had children they would always have this. And meeting place which could have a teacher or robot teacher.

I feel more responsible for looking after an area in which I live than a person that doesn't share the environment I live in. Or to see people in the environment I would live in than somewhere I won't go again or know anyone there.

Life makes things seem more real, shared life and environment. otherwise is more just walls and objects.

=====

Why do homeless men sometimes say it's the end of the world, is it because they are in a bustling city where they are seeing the depravity dysfunction of it in their lives, ...nothing works except for when someone makes money, how was that ever life, they are not functioning like that but other people are who all don't see otherwise and happy with their money and . That's not what I was going to write, it was something relative to how someone may see life as good if they get a lot from it but another may see some kind of complete dysfunction ending in the end of it or the redesign of it so that it could work for their life, a dislike for it and the people who have power over the design of it who think it's fine without seeing the problems that face the person in question, which probably are anyone who wants to do anything or live any other way other than make money at their job and spend it in things people sell. Bane.

Yesterday I say a typical area of houses, park, and life, it seemed like like was there for the people that had children and like just to be in the homes and go to work and the park and restaurant, and see their partners and have children. And this type of city will continue over and over again forever. .I won't have children here as it is and I will spend the reset of my life in mostly isolation, and it will be again probably as it has been spending my life around people that don't care and are some very nasty people. How do you think that makes me feel about reality. I know how people think. I can't even work for a home if I tried the rest of my life. All there is in life is work, partner, children, park (with a playground) and restaurants forever. For people that continue. But for me all there is is isolation and death. I tried the other one but it didn't like it and didn't work out well for me, I'll keep on trying something different, but I don't see it working out.

Probably happens when there are just a certain number of representatives voted in by city of stupid , and everyone else is supposed to just do their job, and no one talks about community or changes in any meaningful way because there is no point to it. Seeing young adults walking around like they sort of unshaw what life is but it's better than meeting adults that think they know and not being able to explain my vision, they don't naturally see it, and would not want to to see how disturbing what they live in is if they did. And most people simply think things are good because of $$ and house, and people trying to make them happy for the $$ or the why should people be miserable, but I guess it people who do more than a career and investing etc that dont do this because there is more in life than that that maybe see this more or less

If there was no reason to help a community or none existed, and no one did anything but work, and no visions were seen or heard, then if that was a serious problem then is there a serious problem everywhere.

Things happen in life or are the things to watch strangers that have nothing to do with your life and live around strangers and just work in some factory for rent. So it seems some people work a lot and others may see the void, if you keen on work and money for , maybe a house in this city if you work two life times, but there will be no life or community except strangers and work, the void fills life for a while life even if the man has the brain to see and live in more than that. So he loose interest in life, sits behind a screen contemplating the void in disturbance until he's dead. While it seems everyone around him doesn't see it and enjoys the fake things that are. It's more of a disturbance to not know what to do and just weekly wanting to go back to bed so to find some rubbish thing to fill the day like everything fake and meaningless in the place to fill the void.

Many things go on around us and many people but they are all strangers and the things to do are for people outside of this place to work on, and so it is to work outside of this place in isolation to pay people to work in isolation in this place.

The ones who just seem to like working and investing but don't see this problem own more of the things are faceless investments and won't fix it. But it seems easy to fix as written before.

It become easier for people to sit at home to do meaningless things, and not see people locally,

In some cities I think the reduction of people not going out locally , and staying home and getting get food delivered

People try to find partners from their homes too by themselves

Is one of the biggest changes in recent generation perhaps, which coincides with never seen low birthrates and

The world has been replaced with fake government and looking at screens in disturbing ways while being disturbed about the void more or less, there seems to be no world, void, so it was lost before it existed,

But to the homeless person is worse than that I guess the pain of thinking your going to get kicked in the face and not wake up and where your , I mean other lives are worse more or less , like being born into existence to have a burning cattle prod shoved up your ass every day and crawling around in the dirt for food, some sort of human torture and people forget that others are living like that while they

=====

Re:

Many things go on around us and many people but they are all strangers and the things to do are for people outside of this place to work on, and so it is to work outside of this place in isolation to pay people to work in isolation in this place.

The ones who just seem to like working and investing but don't see this problem own more of the things are faceless investments and won't fix it. But it seems easy to fix as written before.

If you read the above and didn't see that it would be making things locally and seeing people locally together in a community would fix the problem of feeling of things to do with real people and not strangers. But that would also mean you didn't see it before you read it? But did you think you knew everything before you read it. And you can't learn anything so important from such an idiot like me from a book that no one knew existed. Then you should not be reading this. I am very sorry if you are someone I know or paid to read this for some reason if you have no such interest.

I don't know this myself, maybe I know it for a few minutes and can't do anything about it and I go back to not knowing it else be stuck with a thought I can't fix.

What I know more often in the past day that nice people around me would give me a better feeling of life. But most of the time I don't know that either. I don't know much unless I have contemplated something and saw it, and later I forget and wake up to not much, and has been waking up to see some strangers in a house or something. Maybe someone wakes up and sees that they don't need to work because they have people staying in their home, and they remember some dumb project about their fish tank aquarium and go do that.

I'd be inspired to work on such a thing with the thought that this would make life nicer for myself and people in such a place where people choose their neighbors and..., but if I can't achieve it then trying to remember that as my motivation becomes a disturbance that I can't do such a thing while I'm trying to keep it as something to live for. It's why I save and write this. I could save for a home, so a little bit less disturbing isolation place but that's a lot of work, like over a lifetime apparently, either way housing for choose neighbors seems unlikely here because people need to work a lifetime for one home, and I still only work part time and my investments have been going down recently. I try to work full time and I end up feeling sick sometimes and need to stop again. There are places where I could buy many apartments with money I could loan against my savings but here I could never get one. So should I pay for that but I can't live there unless I work full time and get a sponsor, but I'd still like to do that but in that case if you can already get cheap homes you should just work a bit and do that, but I would still be happy to help pay for some as long as the people paid me back over time.

For now I will try to be happier in isolation and or doing some fake meaningless things with people occasionally, and occasionally think of productive things to do for money to put towards this although there has been a history of not making money from anything.

=====

Reality was disturbing me so I asked, to be free in my mind , that turned in to just thinking

I thought about thing that disturb me and although being free in my mind would bring me back to not feeling anxious about these things,

You can put your energy on reality,

In a kind dream ,

in nothing much so your mind is free, by telling yourself you want to just be free, or not have anything to worry about today,

Putting energy in reality without a community is a problem, that I dont really want to do until I have

The dream probably caused the current over supply damage of anxiety I had I forget the free mind and somehow became some long time thinking and started feeling anxious again after being disturbed by some subjects

Take my mind off reality is what I was trying, could be whole body awareness instead of seeing it

Could be dreaming of another place

When I go to bed and wake up with life around me is real and is the feeling and thoughts I have, when I am alone I feel alone and I contemplate on negative things too often

If I do good things or live in a good place. Or live with worry about the future or past reoccurring in isolation and not doing much.

If one doesn't choose the people around it could be a bad feeling again, and as it was for many years, a lack of choice it self can be disturbing and not feel like your home

The reflection upon yourself in existence space time, you can put your vision in it and the energy and vision goes to it and you see yourself in existence and it shows you the people and things in your life

Some people say to think about something positive, but to have some positive to where one lives and people they see and things they do, to feel good about and reflect upon, things are what we live in and do which are reflections, so I guess need to think about something good we have actually done

That didn't work, then I thought about a being in a church for good energy I guess then it's good to have something we are doing that we feel positive about , and environment we feel more so positive about, I thought about some poor people in South Africa complaining about being discriminated against and having no work water or electricity, they looked , but I wondered if it was just them or dwelling in misery and no hope for such a long time made them look so like I do but maybe not so bad as them. And I think so.

=====

Reflection and contemplation when there is no community is weird and upon nothing nothing real, is disturbing because it is based upon nothing real and having don't nothing real, the thoughts are like you do nothing real and live dick head life alone and fill your life with bullshit, and there is nothing good to reflect or contemplate about. Demented. Default.

It's one thing to lack many real things to reflect upon and being happy with simple things, then it is to reflect upon not having this which is hurtful so I should stop it, and probably try to find some more real things to do which I guess seem actually to be ok for a lot of people.

Can't worry about things outside of me, is where my problem is, most people come home to a home, for ,7 years I didn't come back to a home, and for a lot of it was like some hell, there was always a disturbance there every day and in my space, in too of worrying about outside of it and myself as to what I was doing, and could not be at peace hardly at all. People don't seem to understand that living in someone else's house you can't make it your home and without a home to make peaceful there is no home.

The when there is a home maybe there is peace in that but then it's the same with the community when it is not your community. But the elevation of anxiety without living in one's home is worse here I guess because strangers are mostly peaceful outside and if you don't need to spend long with someone they seem more passive, it spending long time and getting to know all the things that disturb me them seems and having no break from being in their environment.

=====

Some motivation to get up and do something meaningful with your best friend, or do something great, not help the person that calls you names or keeps you down, something real, how good is that energy I never feel anymore for years I haven't felt that.

This disturbed energy and isolation and disturbing people, and loss of friends, like keeping me in a dark disturbing prison, a prison could be better than that.

Things are getting worse but most people have little or no vision to stop anything bad or make anything better, except for work which they do for money.

=

I have my own space, I hope it lasts, not sitting in someone else's house in a small room with all my stuff, who I don't get along with so well, or the other people who were...

Still I'm not doing much recently but losing money and stressing out about how I will get anywhere, worrying about my health, and feeling disturbed. Did someone say go to church will help, and I think they do try to help the soul but what if the person lives a certain way that's causing the disturbance or contemplates problems all the time alone or particular problems they never work on. I'm trying to quit smoking now because I seem to have become unwell and think I will be completely screwed or dead in ten years of I don't but I think it has been the many years of doing this and living like this that has caused the problem.

Maybe if I didn't just sit there contemplating disturbing things and making myself sick I would enjoy going out a bit more to the meaningless things. There were more positive points here to write and things that would help but I need to stop now.

Things that give me good energy and make me feel on top of the world, and peace in their reflection, I am not free to do these things or live in such an environment or design such a place where they happen.

Maybe I go shove some more food in my face it's something real to do, if it wasn't for smoking I don't know what I would do it's a pity I can't seem to find anything to watch or play all day forever that I enjoy since many years I stopped downloading any movie or tv show I wanted.

=====

This I should not write here or at all, my morning thought
Regarding #the gray (think about someone you love in times of disturbance)
Are you like me, thinking about and visioning random things with no memory of little that need to be done or that your going to do right now or that can be done, more of brain seeing and visioning things with no fixed idea,
It has been disturbing thoughts and visions and feeling of things to do or reality for a while and was trying to think of inspired things or good things to feel better, then I thought “think about someone you love”, it helped but they are not really part of my life but think about them made me feel like they were, it was a strange external thing in my life I became attached to, but really they aren’t much part of my life, and i don’t really have many friends I see or think about like this often, but I do see me, and I can love being with myself, seems good because I was thinking the other day i don’t want to put my energy on things outside of me until they are real and good, real in my community that I live in or would see again. So to fix, work on, or see something real. I am there alone loving who I am without a worry, until later I see something to disturb me, but at the moment I’m not going to think about someone I love. I also love seeing myself still existing in space or existence. But just me as I’m not there with others that I can change things with?

The Christian said keep your home clean because it is the place God will dwell.

My home is clean and it’s real in my life and there’s nothing to worry about inside of it and it’s a clean space to live in, there no characters in it anymore that are there all the time but not really part of my life (reasonable people, sorry you were not thought about as participating in like a normally community, in a place where things can be changed with?, just or just there all the time), or a disturbance (the ones that would make my world disturbing).

But also I should love the outside of my home, I love the drive through for a burger, because it gives me a burger, but I don’t really know it is part of anything else except for getting the food and things I need.

If you’re alone, can you see in yourself, I love to see myself in life, can you see your house is clean without any distance, and it’s a nice place, can you see outside of your home is it like a blank space of unknowing a place of other people and things that are not your home, and outside of that some some people far away that aren’t part of your home or community but are part of your life in way of knowing. Id rather be happy in thinking about me and see that my house is fine, and not think about outside if there is nothing much wrong with it but it's just something to walk or drive through to some other fragment of a destination that I don't normally see.

I should feel good about the day and things I'm doing or try for today for some better feeling .

=====

Imagine one day waking up and there was nothing there in the world, the world was like just space, and then you may see what I feel like every day. But if I need to pay for some then often there is someone to pay. People own the space and charge rent for it so they don't need to work. Most of them make about twice as much as people who work on low wage just by owning the space.

Its a bit like a prison that I can't leave, I don't like it, and I don't like the people who manage it or all the people who think it's a great place.

It's an environment for land or home owners and opportunistic meaningless things, and people who like going on holidays and own homes rather than designing anything real in their local area except their rent seem happy with it.

=====

Three people are sitting in a room
Idealist hippy Christian Capitalist business man
Algul

Idealist says
we should build a city around good consciousness, seeing friends and meaning to work

Business man
That's not the way the world works, you work and invest and your can be happy with the amount of money you have

Algul
This place is shit, I hate them

Some years past, and you see how they turn out

The idealist

Is sick in a poor house, stressed out with disturbing disturbing house and people around, and nothing good to do, with some herpes lesions
Well that didn't work, I wish I was taught this at school

Business man

In a nice big house with his wife and kids, and heaps of money going on holidays and walking to the beach
You should have seen it, there is a lot to the world your not taught about at school, I tried to teach you

Algul

In jail, angry
I fucked them, those stupid faggots,

Idealist

Maybe that's why
The world is so insular and separated and people just looking after themselves, because algul exists and wants to destroy the world, and has existed throughout time doing so, and we limit the destruction buy keeping people insular and separated

Algul

That's not why, it's because everyone wants to own everything and work alone for themselves trying to do so, that's what life is.
I hate your opportunistic focused exploration of all that you see, you have destroyed cultures this way

Idealist

I just want to free from all this disturbance

Business man

Oil price is down, buy more oil

=====

Regarding city for better consciousness

The idea...

Really

Spending life with strangers, maybe people you don't feel part of life with.

The idea...

Reality

Having no involvement with community design of people you care about

The idea...

Reality

Energy from voices you have no life with.

Energy from gambling

The idea

Energy for things to do and money

The reality

Do things for money, and the money for I don't know

The idea

The reality

Government spending on things they see or from business interests with little vision from people in communities or things they may be dreaming of when working or want to work towards

The idea

Peace in reality instead of meditation

Doing something really that would give good energy

Reality

Energy from meditation and the idea of someone good Idea?

Continuation of people from your society, and being part of community of people you choose

Reality?

Further to the national idea, and world community and continued integration into community with people from the world wide community and

Reality is I don't think I can change anything about it as a poor person where no one seems interested or see it, and should try to find some peace without these things.

=====

You'd need to be dopey to live like this in this place and not see that it is wrong, the government doesn't care, wants people working, and some people have money to spend. The energy of it is disturbing and depressing. You'll never mention it, and if questioned act like you don't understand, and immediately make excuses as to why you and I are so lucky.

That man who asked me if driving uber passengers was my function in life, he may as well be asking me am I a retarded, but other people say at least your working, lot of people aren't even working.

To the man who asked me if I this is my only function, I'd say to him is your function being a dickhead blind to reality. Your function is a job that some wanker that do t even know you hire you to do because you have a tool. People who'd rather be unemployed than being a tool all day for some wankers strangers and million faces of strangers. People who don't see it will progress much better.

You are and can only be a function of an economy in this place, and nameless people around nameless people, it people you may not like but have no choice. But it is a dopey person (or dumb bad person who thinks they are smart) that doesn't see it.

Some respect, without someone needing to get a job and be a function to get respect for what they are, what they can do , and their ideas for for good, this makes a community good , but when it's just an economy and a few people in a state government, this makes a good place for the dopey people. Dopey is the wrong word, the stuckup faggots that see life based on their income, or don't have such good vision or memory, or

When you don't choose the people you live around that don't see these things they vote for people that don't see these things because they would not know the difference. And everything is just normal to them. ?and other people if they even exist just need to put up with the way it is.

Doom is upon my life as it is for many other but what they can do is go shopping or shovel some shit for a stranger and government that doesn't see or care.

Ans when your country is doomed which it could be, it continues with these ignorant people who just go with whatever there is, and those that walks around so happy with

It will probably be another failed state like all the rest of them but they will never see it coming. In my opinion it is already and was always failed anyway but it can get and will get much worse.

The absence of chosen community structure over the insulated lives living alone with just a state or national government is

===

I think it's important I review the above and remove the things about people being stupid or something

I'm sorry and I do take some of that back.

Id like to pay someone to review this document and suggest I remove some things. So I can feel better about it being in my name. I'm sorry I write this in my name, I don't want to ruin my name.

I'm alone most of the time (99.99% or with strangers, that I guess don't talk about such things if they had the vision for them. And why talk about it with me.

==

I guess it use to be taxes for the land lords, then it became taxes for the society, now its 50% taxes for people who don't work, where work for strangers land with strangers is the only real thing people do mostly.

That's the good thing about how it is now, but people who don't work and or live in public housing are looked down upon.

It doesn't matter if they have a old age or disability pension that is enough to live in or other, there is still nothing much real to do but look after one self.

Working class and rich class is no better than poor class but they may have more structure in their lives to make money and look down upon people

The only motivation I have for work is to look after myself and maybe one day leave this place

And that's all these is to work, because it's just work and you normally do help people or so thing that is for real thing in your community or life, or from ideas or your own vision,

What doom. If I didn't have money or did things I would go to jail for. It's good energy not worrying about money and ... so I am happy about that.

It's real to keep your home and things in order, and one should be happy when it is. But living with other people in someone else's home is not so easy. Working is a shit job reset of your life to pay rent, not so easy.

But I continue to make this document bad.

Business and government who don't know you organise almost everything. They have all the money. And people normally spend their money on things they need it investments and go to places for strangers or do nothing. But if you lived in choose neighbours and somewhere where there was a government for that, and space and integration into businesses,

The government had a section for

It's a sad day when ideas or visions for an area in which life is spent aren't recognised or valued or expressed. Or when you don't even know people in it. When ideas for working on something are controlled by strangers who don't let people in, and when the government restrains this.

If all that's important to them is people's functions in jobs where people don't even have interest in their jobs, then they don't deserve the what comes from visions and will, but it is the people with visions and will still try although they are not rewarded valued or recognised or.. so you get some things done anyway.

When someone doesn't get to choose who they spend their lives with and if that turns bad then what motivation is there to help anything when there is evil and disturbance pushed upon them day after day, that's what has been given to many people, so

Some people's lives and souls look like a horror movie, adjustment of some jobs that are normally otherwise given to Indian migrants probably save some of their souls, but business definitely doesn't care, government doesn't understand, and people don't understand, they are seen as unfortunate ones or sick ones, people especially young people don't know how people get that way and assume they themselves never will, adults think that they are better than that and there's something wrong with them, but in most cases it can happen to anyone, and as I see it it's happening a lot more, but the ignorance remains..

Re: Business and government who don't know you organise almost everything.

The things around you, are managed by business and government who don't know you, they just post an ad or

Unfinished

Ways to resolve this:

Unfinished

===

To follow and be followed, to believe and be believed

But does anything happen, work is at least trying, some money for some jobs

I believe in my visions sometimes, but I forget them and don't feel like anyone but I hear myself, if I vision people I believe in or feel like my vision is understood and it makes me feel relaxed, to have some job to work on some belief, however I trying to be not disturbed without this anyway.

If people know and like the people in their local groups of choose neighbors,

I see inspiration for the work there.

=====

Sleeping aliens, when they sleep if they are around each other they see all the biggest problems and can redesign things in their heads like their head is a design studio with godly input, but only works when they are around each other?

Antarcticans see life as an immortal recreation, not just sometimes but most of the time, but in a vision that mortals can not see, and they visions work and life from this.

Not really aliens or antarcticans, I guess just some people who were lucky enough and liked that.

If people could choose neighbors maybe they would live around each other at some point, and do good work.

Could be specific formations that this works better but would be up to them to figure out.

Other people like this. Could be some different work ethics.

I guess this could be the hard working and investing people too. But they should not buy up and own all other people's communities.

I believe that if choose neighbors, then some area will have a better life and people will want to go there because it looks like a better life. As described a bit in the "how to make money" section, without disturbing them with people who just want to be there for the money or better life. Somewhat also should happen each generation or as people change.

Different sort of honey pots based on groups of people that make a place better life, is the face of the city based on groups that choose each other. But any group can exist. And some groups can be there to stop others from harming other groups.

=====

The energy from the environment for things to do and people to see,

That one could live somewhere that they believe in the people that manage it and are there, I think would create better blood flow.

The energy to get out of bed, to live and vision things.

When it's a nice day outside but I have no reason or wish to go outside around these strangers or for no reason.

The government just expects people to go out and work for strangers and little reason in it. You may dislike the government but when voting there was someone you liked but even then you will never see them or hear of them again after voting.

It's important. I have no way to fix this but writing about it. I tried or am trying working for over 6 years now, but it's with strangers and the peace turns to tension from them. It's about twice as bad as isolation but isolation it about five times better than see bad energy of people in home. The damage caused by them especially for those two years has been slow to recover due to continual lower level disturbance and lack of any real connection or real thing, I feel less disturbed than those two years of more hell.

I should know a bit about it, like if I was in a bad test to see how not having any interest in seeing anyone would affect someone, and then to talk and see strangers all night if I work.

==

Around me #5

That story where someone only sees other people when they come to buy cannabis, I guess because everything else can be purchased in a shop cheaper and more convenient. A shop with some stranger from out of the area of course.

My life is like a bad experiment so much that I thought maybe I would be good candidate for long space mission alone because I felt comfortable in my own space, that was when I was young, then I lived with some people who started fights etc and had no money, and I guess I got it in my head I need more.

I never was interested in playing or watching sports. I enjoyed making things at school, so I did some of that but the repetitiveness and lack of any design or inclusion other than being a machine operator.... alone and feeling like it's just work place and it's not place to make friends or talk to people was always present.

|

If the work is with the mates, the peers, it's more like the best thing to do because it's real thing, and when there is a reason to talk and... it's a completely different environment, but the business compartmentalizes things, I am a drone worker and there are development workers and management, etc, they don't really see any value in vision other than in development workers who are supposed to study to know things and don't need vision. Business is more like a prefabricated machine that way.

=

Can you see it would be good for me, that I don't enjoy the space outside, that this would mean a lot to me, something more than what I have, I don't like the restaurant schedule, I see it could help some other people too that don't like the restaurant schedule or simply don't make the restaurant schedule because they don't know, I would have worked more, I would have had more ideas, been more positive about life, less sick with stress, more inspired, maybe but I don't know if I would have had more self esteem, or if there were woman I was interacting with in life that were attractive that I may have found a partner. As it is I have given up on life as it is, that should not be possible if life seemed like something I can change, that it was something to live for to change rather than wait in isolation for the place maybe I can change it life in that never comes before I die.

==

How fortunate we are that we can zip around to thousands of shop in an instance. Probably something wrong with us that we don't have more fulfilling things to do. That people almost get trapped into just seeing their partner every day and become sick of seeing them sometimes when so disturbance happens in one of their lives stuck in the same house as them. Some people do crimes so we have laws and jails. But if this is not seen as a problem we have we just live without things that could support it? It seems to me that people I have seen with this problem don't talk about it like it's a problem and would not say they have a problem. Some people don't have this problem or not so much, they do things and don't see the problem so much, but I have this problem, and if I didn't I would not write a book on it for years. I'm not seeing an answer except for maybe type of monetary which doesn't exist much or is not available in my city.

=====

<https://youtu.be/begoeTKui3g?si=kRZFMpCWOs7VVmm4>

I like this video. Comes back to my mind
The disturbance
I'm the jailer that put myself in prison in my own mind
For health and called to be free mind and enjoy life

In reality I'm scared to ever go back to a share house or to live like that in one like that until I'm dead, and to be isolated without meaning, etc, to be sick with some skin problems and get cancer, things like that,
I remember the worse was when I was not working, kept in running out of money, around abuse and disturbance, not knowing how to get out of there, and feeling like I need to give up on my projects that didn't go anywhere, and get some job that I didn't know what. It felt more like jail with disturbing unfinished

I guess you need to feel uncomfortable with the people around your house and life to know the kind of tension that causes.

Sometimes I try to let go of any type of worry or thought, and then when dream of peaceful place and people and my conscious and blood opens up. In alternative choice you would choose the candidate and live in that area and you could know they are working for good things and you believe in them.

I do not have that openness enough, I believe it is the feeling that makes body work better to clear out toxins and heal. I smoked through the worst of it, so had extra toxins. I believe one can live with it much more than one may. Income and stability, without a worry of the future, unfinished

I wish I believed that people and government were good and society was good. It is a lot, but depends also on what your seeing and experience Things that would help

Some involvement

Get some feeling about them

Some interest in your dreams

Not just talking, but some interest to move forward in some things, otherwise it's the feeling like they may be ok people but it's all just a waste of time.

People are good but often they are happy they worked for it, and don't see the suffering of some people who don't work for it or succeed, don't have good homes, work and may resent some government or people for accepting the way things are.

Helps reinforcing the vision of good people, and laws, and civilisation that made me see things in positive ways. I am sorry I have felt like life was a failure for me and disliked seeing it, it seemed like life was for people who just worked and were then happy with their money but didn't do much other than work, and for people who would otherwise work and live in a different way and or design it in a different way and find life more fulfilling or less disturbing. Unfinished

Nice to try to reinforce the vision, there's not heaps of crime here, there are laws, and civilisation, maybe a lot of isolation and housing is too expensive, etc,

But even if they are nice people, who does one see, maybe no one, and if they do, the nice people can't help just tell you to get a job it look after yourself, and you won't be any better off. There's no one to help when with things other than simple things one pays for, shows lack of vision from the way people live and think to what representative sees on the streets or in public.

It's amazing that no one wants to change anything. Like they have been living under strangers' control for so long they have become just workers and lost a vision for life because they can't change it. Or maybe I'm imagining it but this is not real. I see life and I want to fix somethings, and it doesn't make sense to me to just work all my days away so I can change some things in my home decorations or choose which next holiday I want to go on. But so too you need to work over a life time now even just for a small space here. Some people have started complaining about that, but I live with vision for things like isolation or something to help the torment in my mind from better environment, making work tolerable for some people who don't work, people like myself being part of it's design , and other more meaningful things for people, and other things, they may not be things I can change but I live with them and see them. If someone lives with over priced homes and complains maybe they could see there are better other ways to live and complain about that too.

=====

My morning thoughts

Typical person will work until they are 65, develop their homes, have a family, and....

Some other people,

Whether they had a family or not, their family isn't much part of their lives anymore

They somehow got out of working full time

Public housing or somehow

Or

not much to do in small room with most of their things in a strangers home share house

In both cases not much to do with often some unpleasant people around, and or isolated normally

=====

I see some occasionally that makes me feel like doing more in life than being robot nothing, there are a lot of problems that don't get sorted unless people do something and the government doesn't pay for it. It makes me feel unfair that me and that person live without more that what other people see to assume will fix everything, which is. Guess.

Work and self help.

5837474747 was relating to the above

I'm happy for you if you found a job and things you find meaningful, and you're satisfied with that, it's what people are supposed to do to be happy, see and find a way how that works for you. And you don't need to feel guilty about that.

Doesn't mean it will fix all of society's problems, even if everyone worked, if there is no community that does more than just work and look after themselves and hope things will be ok. If people just have their jobs and their homes, and imagine there is a problem the government didn't understand or could fix, everyone would still be strangers and have no input into a community to fix it and not even care much for the government probably. Won't stop some other people from finding life shit even if you don't, maybe you think your great if you're a doctor injecting them with something to try to help or a carer looking after them after they have a stroke or get cancer, but it doesn't stop the problem of what happens to them. People can have whatever ideas they want doesn't mean there is any reason or way to fix anything, they will not be recognised and nothing will change, people will just have their jobs and their homes by themselves or with family or strangers. Despite the problems people still need to make money and or not spend too much, although it could be more difficult for people who , but also other issues, .

Not that I meet new people that I have anything to do with later, but if I did and we shared ideas and personally, and I was able to choose them in a community, then I probably would not be living around or have council with people who think just work and entertainment is all we need to do, probably people who thought there is no problem with prices of ... I would not agree with so live somewhere where people are looking at that for ways people can work more and or have these things at less expense.

=====

Around me #3

Choosing neighbors will give people more real life things to do, if they don't already fill their days with work and scheduled trips to the movies and dinners.

As well as looking at ways in that environment for things to do such as people being employed locally via tax incentive and work being as gig work that people can join friends in doing, such as a live work app of work that's on.

Should help obesity and boredom and frustration of not even doing a simple good thing other than eating during the day.

My old land Lord lives in a very small room sometimes and if that's taken he lives in his van. I call it the dog house where homeless people sometimes live.

The difference is he knows there is a way out, but for most people in share homes just stuck in a room filled with crap in someone else's home for foreseeable future with no way to get out.

It's like people who want their own home, the banks won't accept their application but slightly less is rent so they work forever just to pay bills. Are we supposed to talk to people about problems, there are problems. I don't talk to anyone much let alone anyone with power or that cares much. It's disturbing to my spirit, so I pray to my spirit to not kill me until I have community I can help change, and find some motivation in and motivation, from faces I know and things to do. I think is good idea to make opportunities but I guess that a poor isolated bored persons perspective and I should be making them for myself but I want to make them where I live for the people I would know and in that I may find some meaning and motivation for my spirit. For all the years of this, in this desert

If someone was facing the future of living around demons screwing them for eternity, would they question being born again. That's not a question someone who has always had a home and choosing who they see would ask, in which case they are in control of who is in their house and if they want to be disturbing to someone they are always have a home to control, like the few disturbing people in the government are in control of what they think everyone should be doing, and no one really cares until election time when it's time to choose who's not as bad to write down in for alone side the millions of people you don't know or would not choose to follow their beliefs.

So i am destined for this and worse, if I had children they would definitely be homeless here for some time if they did not want to live with me, and for most part I have lived in small room. The government, business and people could fix it but they don't, and I suppose most people seem happy with way things are so don't complain or think to do anything about it.

The way the government is someone will basically be irrelevant in society except as part of the economy, I don't think even people see that as a problem or that it exists or that if they do that there is any solution.

P.s.

Desert. No where to go. No reason to see anyone here. No where else that different. Nothing worth anything than normally but idle chatter, except for work with strangers , and why do people work so they can by things, and so to be taxed for poor people to buy things, id rather be poor, I don't enjoy buying things and more than I dislike work so. Id live with cheap things, but homes are more than I'd earn in a life time, and I'd just sit there in a small room waiting to die so I guess I should try for something different to not accept life here. If buying things is life can see why homes are expensive if all there is is work and buying them, but I guess people just want more money or not to work so everyone buys them for investment passive income is a problem why land is so valuable.

=

Last night my affirmation was to correct my energy

Today I feel I should correct the energy for life I have instead of being stuck in frustration of something I don't have which may come in 5 years if I can. Before that I thought a key to good consciousness is not worrying about things, and during the day I was working because frustrated by what info with my time and don't know what I do with myself, and feel I don't see anyone and wanted some more environment

I thought a good cheap way to start is people buying cheap abandoned apartment block and surrounding business and the businesses are lease based on employing people from apartment block or they get reasonable big fee for employing outside of it instead. Also additional fee if they don't make it for work any time, where someone in apartment can see when it's available. The lease money goes back into government for such businesses and ideas and to buy more such as the perpetuating home building which doesn't need to be directly in the area if that area becomes expensive. The perpetuation also makes money, and if there is little interest in expansion, enough spaces are kept for new people but expansion is then stopped until people come, where some money from the businesses is still used for government of the community.

it's great I have a lounge room now. I didn't have fish in my lounge room just shrimp because they don't die on unusual light cycle, but they there were too many snail eggs and worms so I put fish in it and cover them with sheet at night when I'm up so they can sleep, I felt by doing it gave me something I felt was more real to do by looking at this life for hours, helped because I need something real to do, although it's not very real, like fake real, and I would hope to not to have such a job to replace this job with something actually real such as

Maybe it's giving me something I need to do in daily basis which is distracting me from things I need to do that I can't do

The "not worrying about things" is more some trouble that can't be fixed like where is my rent money coming from or how can I get out of here which if it's something that needs to be done but can't be done is the type of worry that is worse for consciousness. There need to be some way forward if someone feels this way about something.

=

Around me #2

I feel disturbed by my attempts at making money during the day when I don't feel like driving because there are thousands of people looking, all the faces get to me, it's enough that random strangers want to talk. I end up just watching bad movies or bad games and eating.

It reminds me of something that it always was like this. The disturbance was great today, I look at the 50 billion government is spending on 10km of road, and I think if there was a small community that knew each other, that talk to each other, the choose their neighbours, and there was work would people just hire random strangers and just anyone from outside town. I guess it's the people that cared to see people do well or not. Then I think it would just be nice to see some people occasionally without needing to make schedules for some dinner or something. Then I think about how it would be for some real options to pop up on my phone as I first thought about in 1999 and never stopped thinking about occasionally. When nothing is happening like this, there became a feeling of doom in the sense of will and environment. Everything is taken by someone I guess but I don't see anything, and the government likes the "competition" where people are looking for work, they like that people are looking for work so that jobs are filled, things like this show that life is about the economy, and there are little to no ideas good functional community other than the economy. I am in a space that nothing good happens except somewhat disturbing slow money occasionally. The only hope I feel is to make something else which seems impossible to make, which is why I was looking for work that I can't find that seems good. The sense of this doesn't go away and is frustrating enough to make my energy disturbed. But I have been in worse environments and held on to worse perspectives for much longer. This one is bad and . Someone would not want to look at the phone their using and think it's harmful radiation. I don't like to look at life through doomed vision. I watch a lot of warning videos about phone radiation and now I'm using higher density radiation phone at about 500 times the amount of data. I don't know. I look at my life and it's what I see. I think Im wrong about the phone and ignore it after new research. I don't seem to do much with my days so it's what I see however doesn't mean that a lot of people have better and are ok with that or that it hasn't been like this for hundreds of years and eternally for some people who's lives aren't very good like that.

Id hope if there were anyone else like me that they wouldn't live like this.

People are tormented by many things in life, perhaps here are some answers here for some.

When your home, your home. When your outside of home you explore what's outside of home. When you go back home you reflect upon what is outside of home and you did outside of home. Your life, what is life, . If you live around people you know or are part of its design it's your garden, if you do t know anyone and there is no place for its design except one person at the top, amd individuals just working in economy, then you dot have a garden except your home. But if you live in someone else's share house you do not have that either.

If I am more like a piece of food that someone with vision because why look at existence when all there is nothing to change and nothing real to do but be a part of the economy. All that it is is can't be changed and is frustration to look at so I don't look at it? Until I try. But perhaps when it is then I miss a good tv series with adventure and people doing things together important in life, or something new to see

==

Around me #1

I remember writing a section about how everything around me is worked on by strangers and people from outside town, and they go back to outside of town

And there was some design for what people see things around them, with the people they have chosen to spend life with

The above seems to be it but its missing the design which should be close to this section and i have also written differently elsewhere

The energy from doing something good is propelling moving forward for good, not just contemplating random rubbish and not doing anything, a place where someone can go to bed knowing they have something good to do is good energy for recovery for that thing. Doing something else for strangers and not feeling like one is doing a service to some people they spend life with can be flat energy unless ok for money is ok for necessities, but not inspired with good energy if not towards the act or money is not enough or cant be spent on on some inspired idea for good

One should also feel like they dont need to do anything sometimes so already have a home and finance, but still have a way to do good thing, if they have interest in it then their mind will be on it

If that thing is in the environment they live in with people they know its something to do

They need money for things like their home and goals and its just even important that they have any work for that, its not fair this is not provided to them as a simple necessity of human being

=

People choose neighbours so choose community or choose groups around them

Soul of person is there to make things right, see that people function in its development in real ways, change and or make business and organisations, you can make this for your community.

=

Place where I see people I know and people like around me, and I reflect and go to sleep after doing so.

=

“Every generation thinks they’re living at the end of the world, but ours might actually be legit. And not because of asteroids or nuclear war, but because meaning itself seems to have just packed up and left.”

“ George Carlin warned us. It's called the American dream because you have to be asleep to believe it. And we were. But now everyone's half awake staring around at the smoldering ruins and thinking, "So what now?"

“ Now we used to have reality and then we outsourced it to screens. Now everything is theater, politics, morality, uh even grief. We um basically turned existence into a brand campaign. The Republic didn't fall.

It just got a new logo and a Tik Tok strategy. So Gabor called this the society of the spectacle and he wrote about this back in the 1960s. And this is where image replaces truth and the performance becomes more real than the thing it's imitating.

So we used to experience the world but now we just experience our reaction to it. We don't really live, we comment on living. Um elections feel like product launches. Tragedies get edited into um short form empathy clips. Um protests have sponsorship deals.

And somewhere along the way, rebellion became an aesthetic. Rage turned into merch. Every evolutionary or revolutionary impulse ends up printed on a tote bag made in the same factory as the system it's rebelling against. “

<https://youtu.be/YV2bGgAOGNw>

Regarding this, where comments in a smaller community with council and real people mean more, or where someone knows and or talks to government instead, the design for it, the design for not 9 to 5 for workers and holidays for some investors?. I'm not sure but such as could design it, the government doesn't stop people from doing so just takes away the tax for everyone, but doesn't mean someone can't make a more meaningful community.

If it's real then it's a big problem, like one of the only people documenting the reason for collapse,

Although I think this sort of society of meaningless may have been around for a lot longer than he describes for a lot of people, and it doesn't mean everyone's life is like that; mine is not like that all the time.

I just would be better with real people around locally if someone isn't participating in other groups, which could also be a problem if they don't get that at work. In my case I have that at home and work, and find it easier not to try to schedule sort of real world environments. It seems like a common problem, but people would argue that sort of simple things they do are real enough but I believe it's not so great or meaningful.

I don't know is it like there some kind of life around me, things happening, people I know, people can choose to be in that area or different one around the people they spend life with and do real things, a different one where they actually want to see each other, or am I just clicking buttons with a feeling nothing much is happening, and or worrying about it, where as if it was there is be doing things in it that I worried about or not doing anything although talking about it may be good there where things happen.

It is real, what is the percentage and variations, maybe is less of a problem for people with partner they love and when they have children and do things with their partner and children, and since people have less children and more single since baby boomers and much less in generation X people feel more isolated.

People like to be alone and or form their own groups when they want and or where work is? People need to design their own lives

==

I wake up and I see that Im not seeing anyone except one person occasionally, and in my mind its like i never see anyone at all except service some strangers, Im not going to explain, i wonder that if it me that something wrong with me or that i dont organise things to do, its disturbing

I get fixed to a screen somehow which has become non interesting.
Ultimately I dont schedule anything and dont feel to do so, the call or message and drive to who and what, and i think design with people around locally with something to do could fix this (30%-100%).

It's a disturbance loop, dont have a community to fix the problem of not having a community or the design for the community, although there are some people there looking at it but I'm not part of. When life doesn't feel ok and stuck in that feeling that life isn't ok pain comes, if I accept life is ok in isolation I feel better. It's just a matter of time until I tune into a new problem I can't fix about life and get stuck thinking about it and seeing it for how long, for ever? It's like I need to accept everything that I don't like and think life is tolerable with all of it, and I think that someone experiencing disturbance or pain from something is right in the moment to fix something in some cases either with their ability or with help in form of fixing a system by providing feed back, if I accept life is ok in isolation I feel better.

Unfinished

I love being in my own head alone,

I do live in a community although we are made up of strangers, system for providing feedback where they could work on it too some times somehow, another time for another thought, finding enlightenment can't be dwelling on Person can't pay their rent after years of being chained to work and quitting and is being asked to leave but doesn't know where to go, that's a worse feeling than not having a community. I have little to no concern that I don't have a community now all of a sudden. I guess people have replaced completely with work and just looking after one self until there is a problem with that in the place they live and start talking to just anyone who maybe or may not be able to change anything.

=

“come alive” what it feels like when i like in a community (of chosen people in equal ownership environment, not living in someone else environment being asked to do thing for) and do things in it together, but even if i had a community things to do around me is a problem, so thats why this is good. “come alive” even just seeing people that think that are good being part of life with

Test this

If someone is feeling a bit anxious or no at ease, ask them to think

1. People around that they would choose to spend life with
2. Something to do because they are around
3. A community to change or design for better if their lives because they are around

Now how do they feel

It's just a thought but it is same when it is real but people don't normally have the real thing, but thinking of it helps

But why isn't it like that already, I guess it was a bit towards that and homes were cheap, but I didn't know what to do, now the homes get more expensive and it may seem, but most of the people don't care not exactly as being around but being around similar

Life is like try hard for a career and home investments and

=

The idea is to have sense of people around, like the feeling i get when im going to have a cigarette, theres like something to do and it feels good, its a build up of positive energy from some anticipation of something, other then then the isolation, no people around and nothing to do, but even if people are there, there may not be anyone to see or anything to do, I could message people but it doesn't happen often, but pop-ins happen, local thing to do, some meeting space maybe, some reason to wonder to a place locally to do something,

=

With choose neighbors and

The "meeting area" ideas

Some work

Some apartment maintenance

Some local council

Here are some reasons to have social contact with people one would choose to have in their friends group. Otherwise seems no reason to see people, and no reason being made.

But if it's not choose neighbors then people make contact and have dislikes then later find it easier not to make contact,

Time goes by and contacts seems foreign, but I have been bad at making contact since I was about 17.

=

Just a thought

What would it be like if the area knew you, would it feel protected, that people knew that you chose them, how would they know you choose them, would it be like a friend in Facebook but instead of just a friend now it's a housing manager and more. What if there were area jobs and things to do and people knew you.

Unfinished

=

A place to go is a place to live

But if you live around your friends or they come over or you do something at home, then the place to live is where you live

I don't think I know where to go, I think I have always felt like this, for a life time, so it has lead me to want to make a different type of home

The exorcist says that it can create a demon if someone says that reality is boring, and they should walk to the church because then there is something to do so their not bored. He says there are more than normal number of demons recently.

Not sure if wealth inequality with home prices could be factor.

My definition of a demon would be someone who has negative spirit about life and things because I was turned on by such things, such feeling come from feeling of disturbance for something wrong that could be changed.

I understand how it can cause negative thinking that is potentially not healthy for environment. But if people don't break laws protecting safety then they should be free to be disturbed pissed off or incarnated by a demon. Such is restraint most common difference between someone who commits a crime and just a thought or expression.

Maybe the church is only open for a few hours a week and that's not really the answer but life is imperfect but if life isn't disturbing day to day with imposing things that can't be fixed, I'm could be happy even if it's not doing much. And imposing things can be changed but when such things become common and look hopeless, I still try to get on without feeling constantly disturbed, but these things should be fixed.

If there were problems in your environment would you want to fix them or just work harder to pay for something, it seems to be that working harder to pay more for something is how people fix some things. But some sort of design in a community, don't say we can't, is so repulsive, it's not made for such a thing but don't tell people they should not be thinking or writing about it. Go buy a crystal or go for a walk to the beach yeah great help doing any real. <99%?

Maybe the world serves most people in an adequate way, or they accept it or try more what's their, or accept it for good and bad,
So it could be people like me that have little social life or worked because of the schedules or not trying hard enough or something
That makes someone like me think of
But from what I see it's a problem
There are real problems that can be fixed in real ways, but sometimes it seems to me that I should change, but I don't much
Unfinished

When something is expensive or feel lack in something, it would will of a person to make that thing or get a higher paid job. But where the problem of something being expensive or unavailable may not be worked on.

I have not had problems with war so I don't think about fixing it.

P.s.

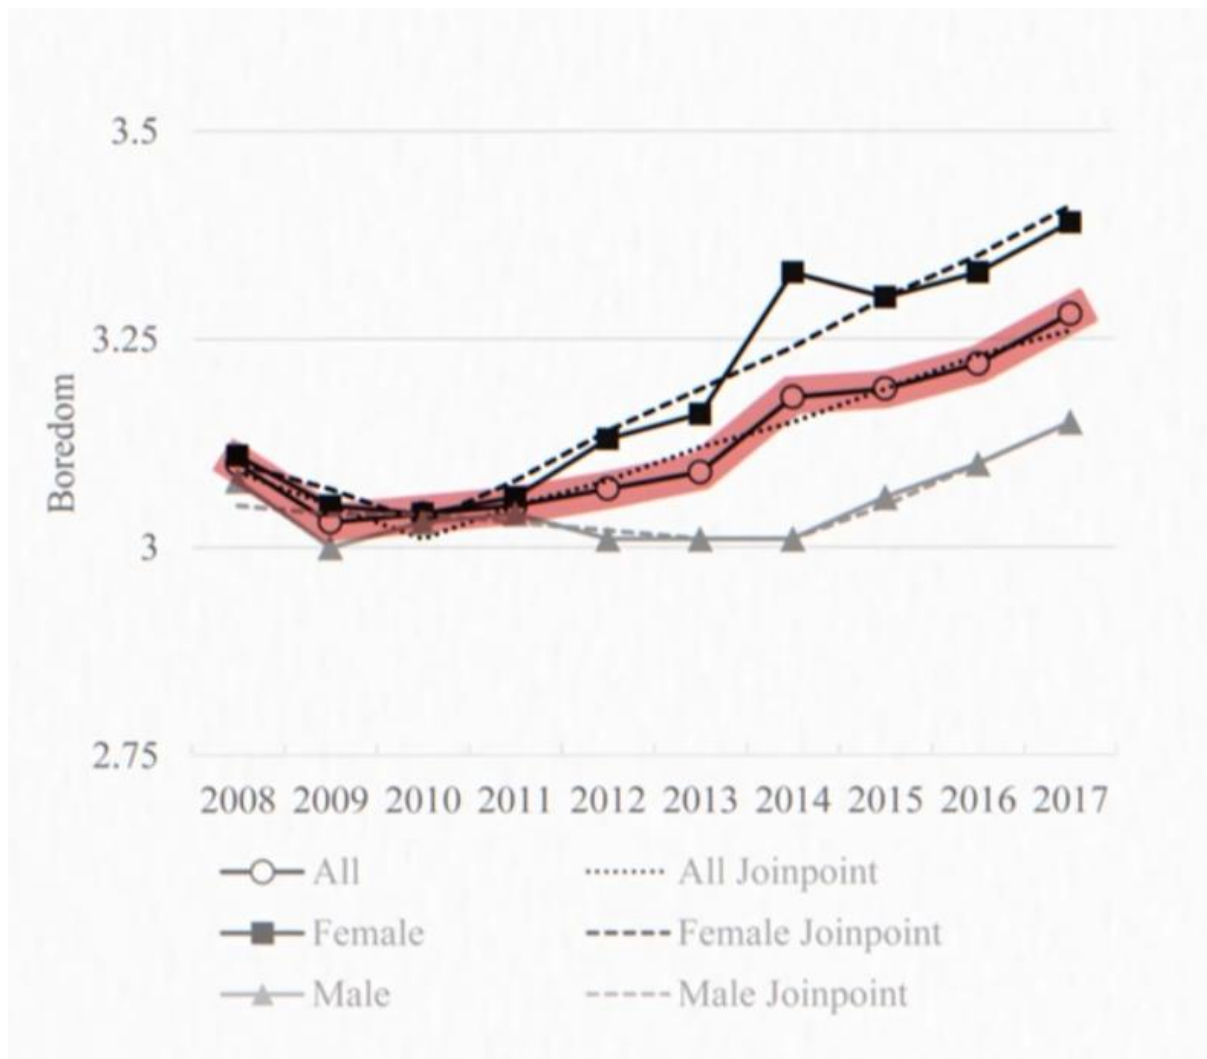

I see demons come from not being happy about something in life, one should try to make their live so they can be content with their lives, and then hope for more (that they would wish for), if they do not do this and are disturbed by life they are disturbed, this lead to anger and all types of bad things (including demons). So it is when people are happy with things in life. This is healthy, the other is not.

I didn't quite write that the way I said it, but when I was thinking about it and said something like that, I thought how important the understanding was, but I didn't do it justice in how I described it. 007721

P.s.

Bordom

#bourndom24234

“Boredom isn’t simple, it’s not trivial, it’s not benign. It’s actually a painful emotion that quietly haunts our sense of meaning and purpose. It’s more like pain or disgust. “

“boredom is not this trivial, mundane feeling. It’s actually a pretty strong emotional experience, and it kind of sucks.”

“I define boredom as meaning withdrawal as a sense of discomfort, telling you that your need for personal meaning is not being met. - Your brain's way of telling you, you need to change what you're doing because what you're doing is unsatisfying. You find it hard to focus. - And that feeling of like, "I can't do anything about this. I don't have any agency here." Or, "What's the meaning of all of this?" You're just kind of stuck there.”

“I'd say that the experience of boredom is an experience of unfreedom, an experience of being trapped in the present without meaning.”

“It's like you're in a situation where, "I don't care about this. This really doesn't stimulate me in any way.”

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8uoJNv9ufjM>

“Tolstoy described boredom as like a desire of desires.”

Colin Carr: Happiness is your current situation minus any expectations

And you're just left there. And it feel like an entire life of this. And so

When someone is disturbed for too long they can become disturbed and hateful people.

=

In the case that people are living around each other and they like and helping each other, as work is better with friends than strangers, but some benefit more than other, because most people don't like to change their friends, it would be better if work around in the area for each other was organized at fair pay and optimized business type production or services by system rather than just helping because then people get paid and are more productive

Something like that I thought about again

Less that it would be unfair more than it will give people something to do and “a living”

I feel so much better when I see people socializing with each other, people that I like, that I would choose to see,

I think why don't I just organize things to do more go out to place like normal people, and I should.

Doing so fills this void of life.

=

Reason to get out of bed

What do people do

Work

Look after their home
Look after family, if they have one
Go to ice cream shop

But if someone doesn't have a family or social life at work, does that seem like a social life, I mean I just made that up for myself, I don't know. What other people do. I hope people are not like me.

If they see a friend or have a flatmate they just talk to each other, they are not participating except the ice cream shop or nothing.

When I see this I see it as important, and remember other people like this although they don't complain, they don't socialise much in a normal way and end up just left there, because there is no one going reason to socialise, this is where choose neighbors community design is a lot better.

I write a lot of stupid things but this isn't one of them. Did I write it wrong. The vision seemed important, but now I feel like no one cares and don't even like me or appreciate such idea.

=

When I'm out, I go home, I think what else is there to do, shopping for some plant, food, not much, then I go home, what seems like a good thing to do with with productive things with friends not work for strangers doesn't feel like something to do unless for money or to get something out of the way. So it seems like the best solution to have that setup.

I thought I'm sorry for all the rubbish in this writing but within this is a good design for a community.

I forgot everything, and found myself standing there wondering what I'm doing, one of my first thoughts was that's it's difficult to have enough money for a home and why is it that's I'm trying, and then other thoughts and I still didn't know, and then the thing that makes sense comes to me, if I had choose neighbors design it would be different life, not sure who they would be but it's going to feel and be different. It's not going to be so hollow "shallow, before that I was thinking of some small task I need to do today and what about these tasks I can do later. I remember someone from a short video saying don't give up on your dream, and I thought no one else seems to have this dream or care about this, how stupid it is for someone to have a worthy dream for life and it to be irrelevant to everyone. How many people would have worthy dreams for life, I don't know but there must be many. How am I supposed to have this dream when it's difficult here, maybe it's something for a place where homes are cheaper, but even then it's not something people do, but here is a reason why.

=

Currently there is a guy or a group of people at the top called a government. They talk and fund some business to do what they talk about.

In the proposed system, normal people talk, especially those who live around each other, especially for choose neighbours area, and there's things to do, and they can think of some way to change the way the area work or build something new, this could be some funding for people who want some money or they can do it,

Some ways for them to be more in control of ways things work and what gets made or changed, but not needing them to change anything as if they don't want to or there is already enough or something real to occupy their time, or they can still plan to suggest things at council later.

Because it may be that people talk and maybe it's good for them to do something real rather than feeling like they are talking for no reason.

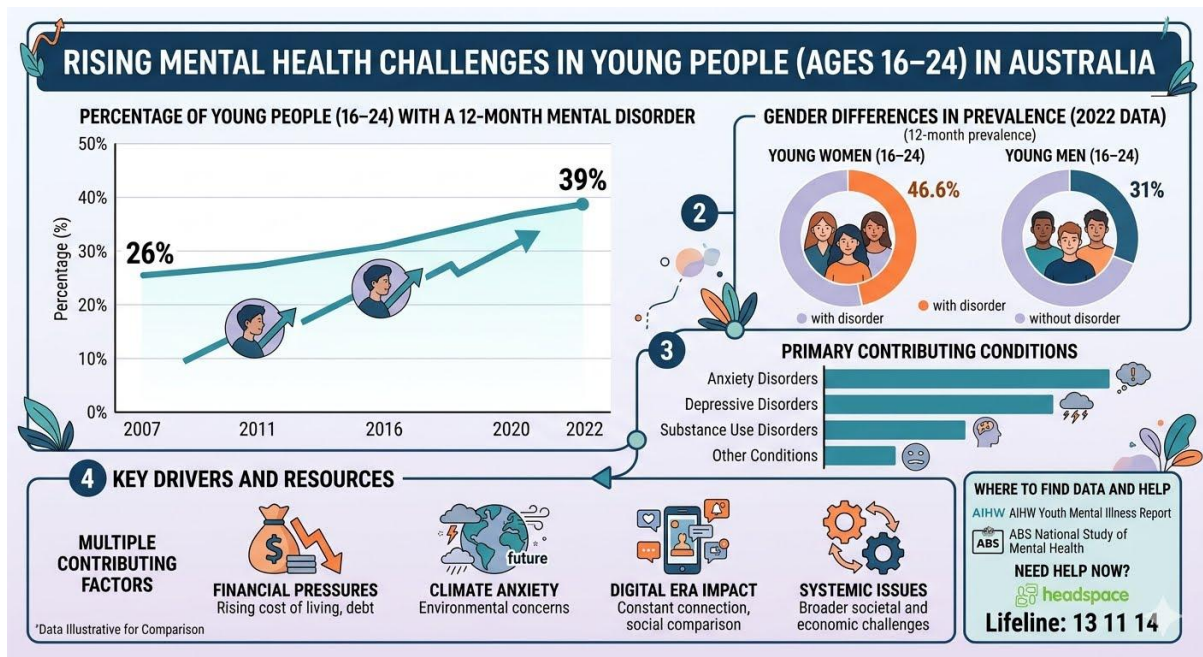

Just the thought I had this morning.

Maybe if they do something people don't like they could get a penalty or probation.

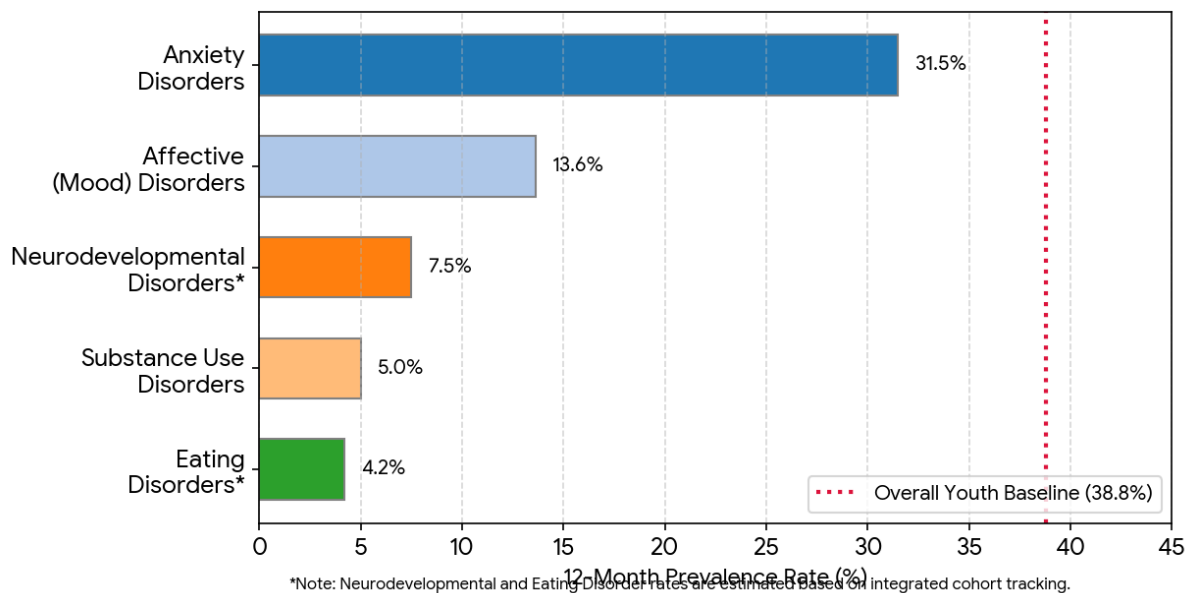

As if they would own the land and the large amount of tax that is collected goes on some good ideas for this..

==

Question, why are people not going to get to a point where they can be content with life, or why they think it's impossible, before they snap or how they can learn to be content with what they have? or is this getting worse somehow.

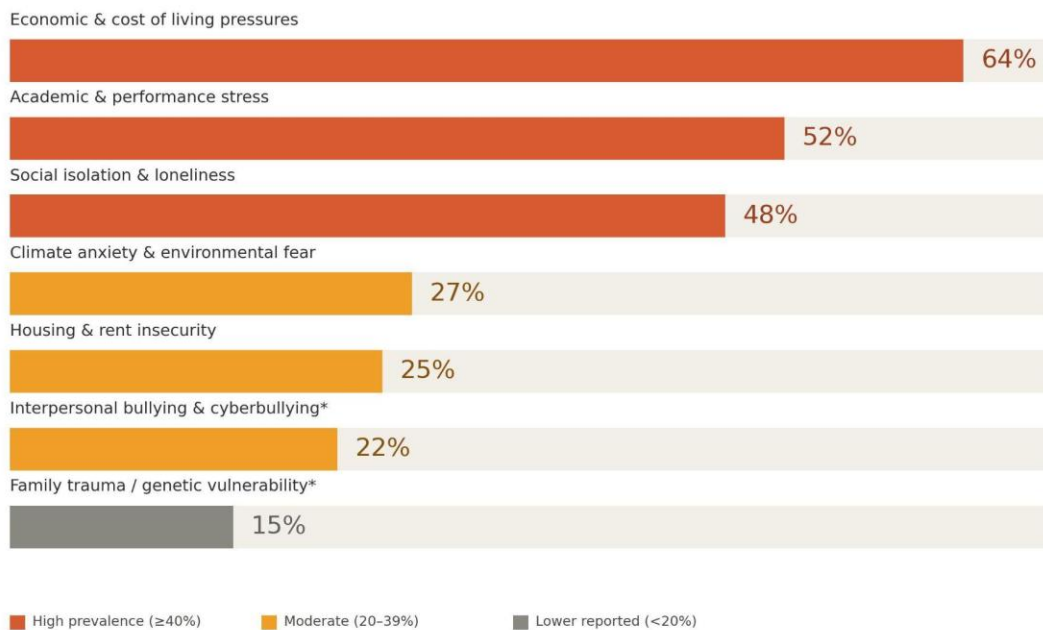

Prevalence of Mental Health Conditions in Youth (Ages 16–24)

PRIMARY DRIVERS OF YOUTH MENTAL DISTRESS

Ages 16-24 · % citing each factor as a major stressor

Self-reported, multi-select — totals exceed 100% wage and wealth inequality, home prices and isolation and boredom, behind screens in isolation more.

=

Id like to add that I think humans like me actually like not being in public so much.

?Now thats easier than ever before,

I think making time to see people is hard because personally i dont like going out that much or the schedules because i font know when we sleep, And somehow this could be contributing to isolation , which then gives us more time than ever to think about whats wrong and the isolation of life etc, couple that with high home prices and rise of the share homes from internet ads, living with other peoples homes, needing to work for expensive homes, and other issues. I don't know. Somehow its better now but more isolating and we can work on that.

==

Government gets 30% of the gdp?

Their suppose to bring peace upon land and things like that but they don't know you, they spend on some things that bring peace, but a lot on the economy in a lot of cases doesn't help, medication for people instead of peace, and things like that. If they were to know you then they would know what would bring you peace? And to help you do the things you love. There should be some people who want to bring peace, good consciousness, relationships, good families and things to people, and there are some people like this in government, but they can still only try to help somehow to help strangers, which may not work so well?

You would vote for some one who seem to want to bring peace to your environment, but doesn't mean they will be in your environment. Every one who wants to bring peace etc to your environment should be there to do so, all the visions of injustice and things wrong within space you share.

I'm liking the people who trying to encourage people to find peace and good spirit through disturbance, some people want to fix the things that are disturbing, and should be priority.

If your looking for videos on how to find peace in consciousness , there are many and most are their own ways and some can fit in with what works for you, most people have ways to cope with mental torment , unless their lives are very peaceful and they find joy in what they do , Problems seem to be many things, for me I find trying to completed and do too many things at once when I can't and I'm holding on to idea that I can't complete, if you insulted by people you see every day , if you can't pay your rent and can't find a job you will see , many things , here are some of my favourites understandings that help me:

I prefer going out at night when I don't see anyone because its dark and everyone has their headlights on. But the city is made for day time which limits what I feel like doing. Probably going to and from work isn't so bad but working all day looking at thousands of faces in cars.

=

My mind is constantly seeing things and putting things together, until I see some wrong with reality and there is some doom about it, and there always is, so I could be in doom mode forever, my head tenses up and I feel disturbed, it's painful, and can go on for until I forget like after a sleep,

Or I can choose to see something different like change what I'm looking at before I get tense, then my mind keeps working? I need to feel relaxed about life but if I see life I'm not relaxed about many things, many doomed things there are for me, about way things are the way I see things. But today I'm trying to look at the nice table in front of me and maybe if I go out then I see life as a painting that I drive through, which is not normally the way I look at it. Those visions freezing my head a lot, don't know takes some time to feel relaxed again, not sure what this is. I saw some doom but I'm trying to look at the nice table.

Some people die in suffering and pain, isolation, no children, no good work or no work, no one cares, there's no one around, no system, it's more common than it seems

Maybe someone has endless thoughts and designs of reality but nothing ever happens, and people just trying to look after themselves go to work and don't care, don't know or see. I thought the difference is pain is more for those with vision that don't do anything, and they will die more than those who do more and don't care, so even with visions one must just do work and or just write down visions and not work on them or let them distract ones enough to work, because the visions don't mean anything, disturbance can't be fixed and good things don't mean anything so either way it's disturbing and we live in world that they don't mean anything.

People live working full time to spend all their money in rent and bills, and then get disturbed by this and end up in shared homes or homeless, maybe one day ai or some wankers will control everything and people will just be bread to pay rent, but no one will care or even see it. Some cultures die off and are replaced by others and normally they care but my culture doesn't seem to. No one cares about increasing inequality, mental illnesses, lower standards of living, do they see the future, I don't even if I'm paranoid about it but wondering if even many people see it at all. Sit there and do nothing or go do something fake and meaningless, it's up to you, but the economy needs to be serviced and you need to go buy more things. I kept on having some doomed visions so I thought I'd start writing them but I don't think I wrote the ones from just before and I forgot them.

Thinking about it is pain and disturbance with no meaning, people say we are lucky to be here, but in the same way we people can't fix problems here like they can't fix problems anywhere else, it's the same in worse places where people can live good lives too if they are just happy working and buying homes etc, in these places where there are wars and worse crime they don't talk about it there, they are just just happy too. at least here you can't even buy a home if you work, and sure no problems to worry about. There is only one way to fix things and that's to live somewhere else that already doesn't have the problem that your facing, or to create a new place with a bunch of people that believe the same thing like that people can change the place in their own community of friends which currently doesn't exist. As written before there national governments without local community law force the same problems onto everyone so your whole country has the same problems and no where to go but places with different culture that seem only to want people coming in for work or investment.

Your not allowed to create a new

It is within some people to change things but somehow the system and people who get elected into national government it is to create same rules and changes for everyone within their borders where everyone can freely travel, like there can be nothing different and everyone needs to conform and no other community or community idea is allowed but theirs. So when choose neighbors and groups choose other groups, there groups have ideas for their own community and allow or kick people out that they want. And they should get funding from their own tax at least and create their own solutions, and if people don't like it they can leave and create their own group while land and homes are shuffled as described and not transitional owned, in the chosen neighbours side of town.

Storage spaces, free homes for people to move into, and temporary business spaces could/should be located on the surroundings of the groups, creating a natural border, where any natural border such as rivers, infrastructure, parks, car parks, roads, apartment levels or whole apartments, streets, etc should be where group allocations start or end where possible.

The difference between an animal and human is theoretically they can change their environment and not just move..

For example the birds in my garden may wish for more trees (homes) for their young, but they can't build them, but humans can, and can make the environment safe for their young by taking away the cats that would eat their young, but nope you just got to move to an idea that may not even be present.

A good things is human can work so to build their home in way they want but actually they still don't design their environment, however the homes are also not available to build for many people especially those who can't find or so the work so easily, only executives in my city could now afford homes in the metro, and this is a low density city, unlike Hong kong or New York where they also have this problem, so we really bad here, bad. I see the young person playing games and wants work but the jobs are not good for them and, so the government takes out money for the economy and people get rich and invest in land and homes and the government or system makes it difficult to build higher density homes so people homes invests go up, and get migrants who are more happy to work and entire life time in shit job for one of them, and others can live in share homes, and if you have other expenses you may find it hard to even pay the rent there, but either way normally people can not even have a home let alone change anything else, and the home rentals are just enough for people to work full time to pay but where average wage is still too low to buy something so people just keep working to pay rent, somehow it works out like this for the investors. Most people don't believe they can make more homes or make things better for people but just work with what's is already there, whereas if they were part of group of people who have a system for its design they can change things. In this way the design part of the human is squished here, and we are more like animals.

People with capital can make things for more money, and the few in government can change things but they don't, whereas a city designed by people's ideas, if all the ideas could go into an ai to sort it out like the invention organization where people feel they have done something. Or you my wish is to know friends around and own the area and be able to change it in council for such system which is fundamental normal human civilization. In such a place I do not live but if I did then I would see the problems there and I would know the people and wish for their success because they are the people I spend life around.

An animal may be stuck in a cage thinking about the world but cant talk or do anything about anything, but thats like a human without a community, without anything to say that change anything, ideas without a community to make them for better environment all the soul is, all the ideas are, are nothing until death of a life like an animal stuck in a cage unable to talk or with no meaning to their ideas. And this is caused by no meaning in talking to anyone for there is nothing to change by the unknown that are everywhere around one and control everything. However the animal may see what is around them and learn where to go for a good life, the animal will not be able to do anything else, the human may see that making things for strangers gives them a good life, or winning at the business but doesn't mean they had any idea, probably just saw something that worked and copied it, or got a job in government, however may put them in a position where their ideas mean something to control the people around them, but normally the people around them they will treat as animals to train to follow orders and conform to their ideas and be like animals, however somethings it joint collaboration of something for the environment or life, just never ever in my life. this is almost never a design for an area for life of people they know except for small limited ways.

==

p.s.

Animal = fight or run

Human = fix or leave

Both can burrow, which seems to be the solution while in a place one can just look after one self... going out when its good to gather food and material.

Only humans can fix, that was until nationalism when only a very small percentage decide what can be fixed and all the other humans can burrow and gather in the economy which may be an improved environment that the few try to make for everyone else, but doesnt mean its all good and nice, fair or without serious dangers or predators. Unfinished

Some animal species have an easier, more peaceful life, reproduce more, etc than humans who apparently can design any type of environment they want, but actually they cant, they can only burrow and gather in it?

==

P.s.

It's quite disgusting what some governments spend money on while some people have no good jobs or affordable housing.

You need to make it possible for people to form their own groups and choose who they want in their area, and have tax to fix their own problems.

I'm not sure what other peoples ideas are but considering some of mine seem important and unseen or ignored, id imagine a lot of people have seen things that government doesn't see or seem to care about, and they should be part of council with funding for such things.

I'd invest my own money into community and or organisations that would serve people in some way I have seen rather than buying a yacht and acting like the place we live in is fine and what we should be doing with our time is playing golf and buying yachts.

For example

A lot of people aren't working and sometimes have the desire to work or ideas or projects, but they just don't make much constructive or don't have much to do.

There was once a vision of a community where things were networked like the "things to do" section which I don't see much recently.

Community design for Community for better consciousness, less suicide and disturbance

Funding and ways to maintain states of vision and for their ideas, and ways to make this productive

Unfinished. Just few that come to mind quickly as an example

=====

? The only justice for good people is working and staying away from bad people. But the government they would not choose looks like dickheads, and they need to participate in society of theirs. My feeling about this is I don't like them and I want to leave one way or the other, it's not fair that I would need to spend life time around them and with them as government, by spending the remainder of my life dedicated to helping choose neighbours I may help others. But I don't see it this way, I see it that if I had one thing I would like in life as it more important to me as always are the people around in community and to see people, which doesn't happen and I see it as step up from where a lot of people are now.

I don't live in a share house any more for the time being which is like meeting a strangers and getting locked into a contract to see them every day and spend life together, no, no way, you'd think people would just leave but they don't because it's just another contract with some other stranger and there are always worse.

If I leave I can't get it back again, and I end up in shared accommodation with a 10 year waiting period or more. My dream won't happen but at least... there nothing I can do except full time work in some miserable job forever when I can't even sleep sometimes and it's so depressing. So all I can do is write this and keep hoping occasionally which is better than nothing I guess. miserable job forever to buy some home around some strangers without being able to change the community, choose who you spend life around or governed by or council with is the reality for a lot of people , somehow a lot of most of people are happy with that,

I haven't seen one person try to deal with this or talk about it, except for some people changing laws or fighting to keep some cultural identity beliefs, or something like that. Doesn't fix nationalisation and no local community. People didn't have national identity before 200 years ago" didn't identify themselves as their country but had a smaller community identity", although some worse conditions and people still owned land and didn't choose neighbours probably were a lot closer, Homes were cheaper then Community is under valued in sense of peace, if I feel like I may want that as part of life, nationalism is not community but real conversations and participation in things in life with people you feel a part of life with, sometimes to reflect upon when alone to have sense of peace and good energy when alone. Energy is sense of vibrance in body and mind, relaxed and thoughtful. irrational or logical disturbances still occur. Reflection upon good company has an energy to it.

The sense of peace and consciousness after seeing a friend with some nice recall (reflection), is nice, but does it feel like a part ones of life, whereas local community is more going to be part of ones life especially if they have common areas to develop. The problem with this is it's less easy to distance one self from someone there, but the problem with not having it is much greater feeling of detachment as if they were never there.

This is undervalued, in the lost souls, it's not going for a walk that's going to fix it. The value and design for it is not paid for or dedicated to when it's something that is more important than the medication and special food they may be paying for instead. I believe that it is we forget or simply see way things are and don't feel like making the schedules to go into public for no reason but to see someone for no reason?, without a plan but to eat or watch something or something. So we lose part of our soul connected to community we spend lives with because we no longer spend our lives with people.

People around are, but choosing home anywhere for little to no reason is, Choose neighbors is from day you want to leave your family home because they no longer feel like enough or good enough community or to be independent, thought out your whole life, the area of people and ideas you get to choose.

=====

Pain is in the environment

This pain causes cancer and lethargy and stiffness etc

You can test

It depends of if someone cares

The thing is to make disturbance with strangers in environment
The flip side is to see friends and vote in someone of care in the environment

Don't actually do this to someone but witness what happens when the environment is found

First case find

Abuse of person in their home when the abusers continues to come to their home, other people that come to their home also not very nice

Second case

Do this one, once you see the sickness, record,
Then put them in place where they feel like they see friends every couple of days and their friends fight the abusers and the abusers stops coming, this will happen naturally with good real friends but also some good real friends may not see it or be able to change it (also my problem, I am sorry)

Record changes in health if any, see if it works

Test two

What's disturbing them, do they have some tension, stiffness or signs of stiffness such as area of body that look like been tense
I think still seeing the friend will fix, if isolation around strangers at work as it may create a feeling of life if being around strangers causes any tensions ever .

other things could be

Trauma from their environment that isn't fixed or their still uncertain about

...

...

Create from dull life into more life by garden to make, some good things for people to do for feeling of money maybe when they need it, good things people can do when they feel like it, helps depression?

The loss of good consciousness through these times and the cause of sickness should be something the the government is liable for, is a shame and takes away both feel and life and time from someone's life

==

To have a free mind the environment needs to be free

Enough money,

If the environment is empty it's helps to have no fixation on it however the fixation could be neagtive or positive, however it's better if someone only has themselves in the environment they need to be alone but outside of that is positive. Where there is a good feel about it, not an empty or disturbing void vision or other disturbing feeling

Joe Dispenzer has shown this causes brain damage in studies, disturbance from environment. But it's not just brain damage.

Id like to feel free in my environment to feel like I could just not do little and still be fine, like a stable job or an affordable life.

Not going to places I'm insulted or under threat, or where I could be a disturbance.

Not live with someone that I periodically have some shock by and feel uncomfortable inhabiting the same environment, or cause disturbance for others.

Public housing, not shared housing, the free environment, or work for ever for a home like an indentured servant for a life to for a space made out of stone, or when that was possible, but outside maybe not much but for those who go places to be around strangers and or for talking.

Continued in 57374747

=====

Meet new people with real things to talk about?I, happens when friends of friends are socialising. Socialising remains the catch up with a friend in place where other people are not, because it's too difficult otherwise expect for the even gathering which is not so good if that's just once a year. Meeting new people hardly ever happens in most people's lives.

Epicurus principals

1. Seeing friends more often

You need your friends around

2. Being able to work alone or with friends (in small groups?), like in a bakery, or boat repair shop, and when we feel we helping others, in our own, minor way improving the world, Its a sense of making a difference.
3. A feeling of calm

Our minds pure, free...

Not full of the normal boredom and chaos”

1.

Buy some cheap homes and apartments somewhere the job and people have left, so there's lots of homes for more people.

Setup system of things to do like organised area.

But for work it's not just going to be everyone has their thing to do in the area

2. If I had an idea for a community, it would be a good one that people specialize in helping make something that people spend money on so that they can get money in return, so that a baker can make thousands of donuts a day in exchange for someone who makes milk and things,
 - a. If they make thousands of donuts a day and they could make thousands of bricks or lay thousands of bricks, then one should not need to work full time a life time for what they need but they do for this gambling of rich people on property land and the government make it for that to be expensive and cigarette tax, where land becomes so expensive that one need to do more that make thousands of donuts for a lifetime for a piece
 - b. but if that's the only idea I had and people just did that
Just say that economy worked properly then maybe housing with friends would be easy to create a small community that people felt comfortable dreaming for where ideas could also be made, but it doesn't and the only idea people have is this economy and isolation where if your lucky to get a good job you could possibly pay off a piece of land and not always just pay rent for it, everything else is just a dead dream in isolation where I die without meaning in isolation after making a few donuts in face of strangers who look at me like they think their sharing life with me because I'm in the space in some shithole.
Not one of these places means anything to me, it's what happens when all places are made for rent to people to sell things to strangers. There is nothing to get up for but at least I'm not chained to a job like most people. Regarding #Around me

Tax discount or something for employing people locally and for using services locally

=====

Get back on the field
"Join us on the battlefield"

John St Julien talks about connection with God or divine spirit, he says"

We are living in a fallen world, in a fallen body, a fallen meat suit.
But when that meat suit finds a master and commander that we named Christ and intelligence can be animated and inexplicable things happen by blindly in faith following that voice which is the living God.

the majority are not on the battlefield. For temptation has cut them off from even being present on the battlefield. They are at home living under the burden of sin and temptation. When temptation can't take a man sickness will become a choice and option. Betrayal, trauma will all become an option for the fallen. And when those fill, they will even enter the the body of broken, lost human organisms whose souls have all but perished and they have much work to return their soul to their organism as their home has been sin for too long."

In another video he says

Something about living in the fallen matrix which is blockage to connection with God or divine spirit.

In another video he says

Nothing of heaven can live inside a human organism if there is an image of self.

I dont believe that Someone can be so disturbed they can not function in normal life

This could be something about life that they can not move forward on or fix that they remain disturbed by.

This thing they are disturbed by they need a way to get up and fix it. It is something in the presence of life that is not right. While doing it will instantly release their souls from torment. The continual torment.

I get so disturbed I give up on anything I thought I should do or fix in my environment, and often find enlightenment this way by no longer being disturbed, and then I don't want to think or care about anything in a disturbing way, and so I can maintain some enlightenment. But this doesn't work so well when I have nothing to do, because that itself is a disturbance I have become accustomed to feeling disturbed by.

I wrote a section about inventing, where I said that you just need to want to invent something and then if you spend time thinking you will, and some ways to help the thoughts for that.

But this must mean something, to "be doing something" because if in time there is nothing done but perhaps giving to wankers (not good community) or for reward then it's not doing anything good.

I could be alone and not care about life disturbances, and that "I had something to do"

But first one must connect to God or the divine, the infinite knowledge, by means of not being disturbed by things one can not do, and then one should have something to do.

If one is stuck in the disturbing environment without being able to fix it, or stuck doing nothing, in disturbance there can come hatred for the disturbance for the world that makes it disturbing.

To the government or a lot of people there may seem like there are good things to do, choice, and people may find to be happy going shopping to the beach, etc, but when living in disturbance it can be hard or impossible to fix that disturbing thing or anything so one can decide not to care to do anything while they do something positive, but what is positive or is it really positive or peaceful to the soul.

If someone believe that serving the community economy is good or that they will pay for something good or getting paid well, that's good, but home may still be absent of good. And if you take away the other things.

=====

I came to a conclusion that my life is not so bad, that the economy is doing ok, the city functions like this, although opportunities are missed by many, and it's just I'd like not to be isolated and this gives me so much peace to think it's not the world I need to change but what I'm doing.

It seems that people who find these opportunities and are happy going through them are happier.

I will try not to be insulting, I have done that too often

There is a part of me that remembers years of just sitting there thinking without being able to move on my thoughts or having much else to do, but forever thinking and or never doing anything in isolation.

And I think about drugs that could cause this, and I think it's just a natural part of who I am, coming from a family that thinks a lot and see things but can end up with no work or not going anywhere, I have seen this in other people

This part of me that remembers the years has dislike for the environment, in a place where my mind is so open seeing some sort of disturbance in the environment is easy, i pity those who don't take a job and sit there trying to feel good while nothing much is happening but they are ready and interested to do something, run out of money and don't know how to get it, sort of random thoughts forever to make money but nothing happens, and often if someone came to them and said here is ok money for something they would be so happy to do something.

I'm not sure if there is a word for nationalized economy where everything happens by people they don't know. The government looks to keep this working. They're not sitting there thinking and discussing about how to keep human connections going, unlike me sometimes. But that's just like another opportunity that one must make an effort for, maybe go to that thing sometimes or call people and or be happy with the connections they have at work or in public. they have made it easier to be part of the economy once someone has found a job than it is to keep connections going perhaps, which once would have been in small community with more people one knows, at least for me the places I shop and people I have served at all over the place, and never felt like home.

Regarding #5368556

=====

While thinking about the situation and how to bring peace by making something good is

In environment where nothing much is happening or easy to make interesting

So ideas and frustration

If someone experiences lots of ideas but making things is difficult

There are ideas on how to make things easier to make

Or do in case of doing things

If things are expensive there is a will to make them affordable

If things are not available or experience there is a will make them affordability

Its is good that the economy works, so one participates for that they want, but it feels better to do things for or with friends or by oneself so some ideas
If the job took away spirit soul from the person should the person do it, and if this were to happen to everyone should we continue and become like animals or we stop the work and the economy fails

It could be a balance or changing work to suit so soul is not lost

There are problems with how things work with ones will to do something and instead be forced to do something else which may seem entirely or fairly useless but someone is pay for that and not the thing someone thinks is desperately needed at a particular time.

One persons will to fix something is different to anothers, but when we can all call ourselves friends and try to help a society for people with those problems

If someone has an important cause it's annoying that it can't be correct or made or that knows one know it or not part of organisation that's fixing it. And people just go to work some all their time making money which is just fixing the economy in some way.

So many things are not right here.

Survey, do things not seem right

Then in your council sit down and talk about and plan to make them right

====

If you want to create some work that people can do any time so they have something to do when they need some money

You can't do it because people are supposed to just fit in with rosters

People live in places where they don't know any one around, can't change that

And if they could the work and things to do around are for strangers

People watch news and things from people that aren't in their area or not real people in their lives, and want to change things they have nothing to do with,

And if they did talk to someone real in their lives they can't change anything for them in their environment, but only suggest to them to do with with strangers for no reason but a roster to fill the consumption of others to pay their over priced rent

If something is real it's in the environment or life that one lives normally but this is where we vote in people who we never see again and bad candidates and bad one gets chosen, that we don't participate in life with, and strangers own all the business and are just there to provide a product.

Caring to do anything real is a disturbance, and it's easy to do fake things and just be a consumer and provider products or serves to other consumers To do something real is to talk to someone that one doesn't know and is their for some money or doesn't want to change anything

If anyone was even close to seeing anything like this and wanted to change it in the existing system they could not, and if they wanted create a new system that would cost a lot of money and time and won't ever happen by me, or anyone who read this will just forget it, if that's anyone at all. I will now forget this and go back to trying to find peace with nothing real except comfortable consumerism, which is very real if I had a problem paying for food or housing and necessities. There is some more peace by accepting just being happy with necessities, and not hitting wall trying to do or wishing for anything real otherwise.

I don't enjoy spending money on things I don't need but can happen more when I spend my time and thoughts on un-real things.

What's being called a necessity is like one would have for an animal, like food and shelter, and transport to work and food, and some means of communication

People also don't get this sometimes.

One of the first things after these necessities is not working for someone rent forever but they have made that impossible for a lot of people, paying off a room to so that one day they could have a break from paying rent can't happen either.

Human connection with people in a community, no, more like disturbance from strangers or disturbing people probably happens more. a disturbance could be wanting to do something real in life other than the screen or fake things in the world that seemed more real, and this seems to cause disturbance, but how can a mind exist without wanting to do something real or seeing what they doing is fake, to be at peace with it the mind becomes happy not doing anything real? and letting thoughts go to nothing real or not putting desire into a real thing but perhaps maintaining some necessities, where nothing much that happens in real life, where the real things are blocked in some way or pursuit for a lifetime. I should be happy to be part of supplying consumers to get money to consume myself, I would not want to turn into a person who only does that in a particular field I'm not interested in which seems like the majority, and has no vision except, which is happening when I lose my soul in disturbance and forget my dreams and just want to be happy with necessities, although I haven't always seen I'm a part of the consumerism either but recently im trying to justify it this way, and sometimes before I think I don't even know what I'm doing except needing money for something, which can be a problem when I don't really need much money and money for things I do want to do are like 20 years of working or won't happen.

I have a nice home, it may be lacking real things or real community or me doing any but consumerism sometimes but in the home is not filled with disturbance, so although the lack of real things is disturbing I dont have as much disturbance from within the home, it makes my mind less desperate to find a way out of that which wasn't going to happen naturally so easily for I could not afford a home, but now provided public housing.

Holding on to some disturbing things in the environment is not a good way to find peace, so I figure just forget about it but I should write it down sometimes, it can be difficult to impossible to forget somethings. In the immediate environment is, some people dont even like to look at each other in public at strangers, but then people are forced to live with strangers is less temporary and more permanent disturbance for someone who is always seeing their environment and people they live with. It has been like that for a long time here for a lot of people, so it's not something that they really care about fixing.

I meditated for so long not to feel a connection with people I lived with which never really worked well, but now I don't sense my neighbors or neighborhood much as I use to, so maybe the meditation helps in long term, but I stopped looking at reality for reality and just see it for what it is the retail consumer dream. < Good very real comment

Also I think I have a bit of brain damage now because I use to so much in so much detail naturally even without trying, now it's more like an unknown space. Ever since I wrote don't read this any more because I'm stupid now is really when I started becoming stupid and not seeing life it's a long time ago, but since then I still did a bit.

A cycle of life

Thinking and dreaming for 700 days and nights, then go do something else that was not thought about, because reality is made for

Think about things all day, then make schedules for something else that seem irrelevant or stupid or waste of time, then watch something to pass the time or because the characters and story seem more real than anyone in my own life

5741122

Someone could participate in some local state national or world council or organization, potentially easier as local level and tell them about some people problems like making some casual work anytime someone needed it available to them, and if they can listen to the ideas and help make something, even if it just for one person but likely to be good for a lot of people,

Anything like that with some reason, so you can do something other than just sit there.

And why don't I do this

Because I have been disrespected and rejected by local people, and i dont know the people or their problems, and as far as everyone thinks it's fine, and see their stupid ideas, I don't talk to them or know them, and other reasons I was unable to feel I could help them or to send this to them directly. It's actually against my morals to help them in such a dedicated way, or in a place where ideas don't mean much would be disturbing. In a place I don't know them and dislike many ways things are.

But it would be in my wish that I was in a community that I felt I could or wanted to help, so I thought my purpose was for that which I dont see happening unless I choose neighbors, and people help those they want?, but first they need to belong or respect somewhere? But people do help, and there are many people including myself that I would wish to help, and I was getting close as to it until I went to hell with some people I didn't choose, and in that environment that was only the will to live to choose flatmates or live in isolation, where I lost all my will to think I could or wanted to change the reality I'm in except making it more available for people to choose neighbors, which has gone the wrong way, gotten worse, as far as my city or country. Things like this happen when there is no community that one is respected by, listened to, or that can be changed.

If you somehow care about your community then you could even take the ideas from this and help them.

If someone lives in a place they care about they should make ideas mean more to how the system and business run, how it is that someone with ideas can try to be elected, registered and ignored is at the highest level, and shows what happens to people that don't try to be elected which is the 99.999+ percentage.

Write again, people have different ideas, someone may see one idea as stupid and see what they think is actual real ideas but for the other person may have seen real problems with the ideas that they have experienced. The human prejudice of thinking they know what's wrong and right and how things should be run is deeply ignorant and don't work well except for the economy where people just pay for what they need. It's also difficult to portray the importance of issues without the reader or listener understanding or having experienced such things, or believing such things already, and where ideas keep coming when there are some main ones that are shadowed by continued discussions or writing, without emphasis on main issues.

P.s.

Cycle of life

It's like consumerism in this is some excuse to say everything is ok and there are some kind of sufficient opportunities and lives for people, but it's made sick for people who don't see problems or something, kind of made to die alone in as a tool or a dick head.

Somehow someone can see things are good but another may see disturbing things that can't be fixed, there is no community to fix the things in, and somehow the focus is on with that and think they're all doing a great job. The vision can be constant and that they can't be changed and people live for jobs and don't fix or change anything else, causes disturbance and pain.

What it feels like. What I think and see, is that is like to fix problems and not just work, fix a disturbance that comes to mind, if it's reasonable to fix, like living somewhere that people want also for their vision and understanding to design the place they exist for work towards it. For some peace in seeing them to know they are there.

=====

People use private business social networking apps and providers of work apps and services by private business
It's logical because there's nothing else, and community don't make them and most people would not have a community to make them for and work is by strangers businesses, the community is a stranger and a business that doesn't know the people run the apps and systems, however they may start or may often start in a small community. They are not designed for real communities but online discussions and media.
Because we are mostly individual rather than community, a person finds something to do normally with strangers or can sit there and do nothing.

=====

To be involved in some social group that has good feeling and good comments good energy good night, no disturbance and something good,
Can bring peace to soul in reflection upon life
People get this
People don't have this much
If people are living in disturbance there should be someone who understands what's happening
This could be added to the list of things to try so people don't live life time of disturbance and die younger in pain over and over millions of people
I would want it for my community considering I see this as a problem with almost every one I know and most people I have known at least for some time of their lives, and seems to happen before death of they die before 99
Could be like someone in the group of people who knows the pain and or researches it and has a job for it

And someone who knows the For the Tax for them, they are part of design and counseling and or something .chronic disturbance, uncomfortable uneasy and it's unknown and ignored
It causes lack of magic and euphoria,
Is part of problems that could be fixed

Sense of belonging in area of peace and Being with some people who are respectful and respected to feel life is shared in development and protected with plenty of space and good work

.....

=====

4346362

Energy of reassurance and people to see in the immediate environment, and having spent time there, waking up to see this in the environment is completely different feeling of life to isolation or “trying to ignore the sense of your neighbors” for you don't choose them.

I may as well have caught a spaceship to outer space to spend my life and die alone in a room, where it has food and a screen, I would have much rathered isolation than some of the people i have spent life with, Isolation causes one to try to find things to do, this can be ok if the movies and tv shows are good enough, but missing that it can be disturbing or trying to find work or something to get out of the isolated environment is also disturbing.

=

Some people and voices and reality we live in together where we are managing things
Is there peace there or is there something wrong or something interesting or not much in at all
Could live in this place or the area or orks goblins thieves pirates and dementors or could live without a place at all just by one self is sort of in-between I've lived in all three. In the good ones that wasn't much to do.

Mostly in isolation where people who contact me I do things aren't part of my environment or life except some talk, which seems to be an expected part of life.

People don't choose the people they live around or have anything to do with them except for case they live in the same house which here is normally not choosing people but more that suppose to see and talk to them everyday and keep place clean but in some cases it's worse, and this is where I have had to be very close to people I would not choose to spend life with, but people here don't do anything real or good either in the area or for the landlords home, just sometimes they get used

===

It's common for people to find friends in similar peer group, similar spiritual essence from their attitude age and ideas, etc,
Similar background that they feel similar to for better feeling in company
There are certain types of people behaviors that make me feel uncomfortable but if I was a thief then maybe I'd appreciate people that accepted that in my life.

Unfinished

=====

Dont know about other people but seems when i was young i didnt know how long i was going to live, kind of feeling, then turn out most people live for a decent long time, but when young not really sure, sort of contemplate how stupid things are and look at what looks like ok and think someone must try for what looks ok, to comply with it because it looks like it could be ok
I guess people think asekfsdfk , do people think or do they just let things work themself out.

|

Problem may be that people are convincing themselves things are ok, or they have like tenants so they don't need to work and their tenants work full time to pay the rent and bills. The tenants may be from poverty in developing nation just happy to work and stay here.

|

Problem may be that when we see the tragic world we live and die in we can't change it much except for what we do in our personal lives and because of what I wrote earlier? Or we just accept it for humans aren't perfect and in developed countries productivity seems almost too good (and or imports from China etc), except problems like home prices or something here in this place.

|

I'm not so happy but if I fit in and tried,

I don't want to insult anyone but people seem too busy working and spending money, and otherwise just want to maybe have children and then look after them, there not a lot of time in design of social life and if you have a dream I guess your supposed to turn it into a business even through maybe it's just a change to an existing business.

Money in socialising and community is money for alcohol and movies, and the people who provide the alcohol and movies got not much idea.

Some people walking around doing some real simple things that make me wonder how advanced these bipedal crates are.

I'm just lucky I'm in public housing otherwise either living in some random odd house or working fulltime putting the thing there and over here and saying yep yep all day, and I still kind of want to do that, I mean I have that ambition because otherwise how am I ever going to spend life around people I choose or choose to know, but problem is probably won't even get that, but having no money for it sounds like a bad place to start, it is the most peaceful thing I could imagine, that and figuring out how to fix things that don't seem to be working well for people including work.

I will write again

spend life around people I choose or choose to know, it is the most peaceful thing I could imagine, that and figuring out how to fix things that don't seem to be working well for people including work.

Id settle for place where people I know can live and choose neighbours, probably need to do some shit job still sometimes, but some ideas there. If I die before then at least I leave this note.

=====

People are trying not to scream in the streets, or feeling disturbed and drinking, trying to find those things in life I feel they need to be at peace with life

Epicurus rules are missing things

If I lived in Epicurus house, no, i want to live in a house as an equal, nor would I want to live in someone else house,

Make house building available for everyone so prices come down

A lot of people smoke in low incomes so tax should be proportionate to ones income

Other work made better so more tolerable and higher out put, somehow make people feel like their earning a lot of money for the work because of what they can buy from high output and easy savings for when they don't want to work

Ideas meaning something used to be important to me now my ideas seem more simple now.

There are homeless drug addicts that spend all their money on drugs as soon as they can where no work is offered to them except prostitution in the dark alleys they sleep in.

|

I dont know many homeless people, but seems to be either they run out of money, or maybe they are too disturbed to make appointments for a room or too disturbed to speak clearly to someone that would not want them staying there. Theses are people who the world screwed over and destroyed, and left to die. Perhaps they're on drugs from pain of life.

|

I have found smoking an escape from feeling like I need to do something too often, if I don't work much then rent + smoking = money stress, so not at peace with necessities. you'll probably find poor people who smoke in Australia have more cancer and illnesses than other Australians vs smokers vs non smokers in a country with cheap homes and cigarettes and less stigma.

Epicurus forth principal, finding calm and not going crazy

There is limit to what one can tolerate in life, making things easier for them to have necessities will help them find peace and good consciences

Being able to put ideas into practice is a thought to practical thing, however not doing practical things with thoughts is letting thoughts go crazy and trying to satisfy life and thoughts by unreal things.

I'm not constantly waking up feeling like I'm living in someone else's house anymore, but I'm disturbed by being alone forever or not having a feeling of real or meaningful social life, or getting out of public housing into a community... The first was more disturbing in that particular environment.

1. some peace in housing and living costs stability, and feeling like I will be ok the way I am, and I don't need to struggle for something
Where the disturbance could be the lack of some meaning in life, which can be sort of fixed by the following
2. Living in community of people I would choose, fills mind with feeling of life, and makes mind happy, reflection on good things of people, in this place if someone is disturbed it's nice to cheer them up.
Its been so long and I don't see it happening again.
|
There's always going to be some ideas here, and need to make money and ... and you'd hope that work and ideas or visions lead to fulfilment and meaning

=

Perhaps I complaining about what's wrong too much and not asking myself to fix it in my life, what can I do, and then keep trying that, like people who end up like me?

Theres something wrong with these home prices, that someone working full time aren't even eligible to get a 30 year loan to pay for one. used to be someone was if they did.

- Stable housing
- Social life with chosen group of people 4+?
- Work, there is but
- Change way things work in your area
- Networking of interests and projects

Why would I work full time stress mashing something or saying hello a million times to strangers, to pay rent, even to pay for a home when I can sit in someone else's home and not do that. Both are bad options, but theses are other options like find a better job or move which aren't fair for the people who live somewhere, may as well try to move somewhere this is already fixed, but major cities in Australia all the same. ,

=====

As of 2025 Australia is saying the cheapest way to power Australia is offshore wind and gas

This is probably because they haven't heard about sodium ion batteries for solar panels which are a lot cheaper than lithium or hydrogen fuel cells.

=====

To be free in the mind seems to help a lot of I'm feel free in reality not to need to do anything, but I can sit their driving and still feel like I don't need to do anything.

If one doesn't have money for like rent and are trubble then they may always feel like they need to do something else don't know where they will end up. Its important to have a functioning economy as far as people all have enough not to worry,

.... To be free in the mind one should be free in the environment.... But that isn't easy when someone thinks there's something wrong with it, I choose to be free and helps that I have money.

My mind gets locked on to something missing in the environment, or flashbacks of thoughts about what I write say do or think that I can't seem to be free of until I am. Like seeing a good or bad friend having and argument and being disturbed or having good chat and feeling at pease, the feeling can go on for a long time. It seems to be asking to be free from it helps a lot, or affirming to oneself that they are free. And then something comes up in the midnight that say you need to do this thing to make things right but maybe you can't, so maybe there is only some hope but if that's what it is then I choose to be free and I'd rather not think that I need to hope.

In a space with no other person seems to be that there is no one in the environment, so the environment is more free, however being in an environment without people can seem like a void that is disturbing, so it should be environment that one can be free of other people in but still be part of outside of it but not need to see them at home.

I live in a home with no other person, so there is no one in my mind, it's great. No one in the space I wonder when I am alone, to the kitchen, bathroom, laundry, toilet, it's great.

Especially arguments or thought that they could steal from me or worse, is an unsettling feeling living with them. All the time my mind goes back in them in the space I share, this is like my house of life of people I share life with, random share house that other people choose who I live with just for money and it doesn't work out well mostly. Some people wouldn't care if I died or had wished this upon me.

Just one thought of a person like this and then there's this figure of a person in my life forever, this is why I don't what to know my neighbors here, but everyone around me and everyone who works anywhere near here are strangers. If there was the ability for me to allocate apartment availability by choosing friends, and there was always one available, then people could stay there and so on, and if there was any bad feeling I could change the relationship status is the app..

=====

People say we only have short life so better make it good, like themselves going drinking to meet women,
I'd say we have more than one life but in our life we better make things right, this is a contradiction to system that one makes their own life right, and that's ok but can't change the
The thing which is suffering which is not seen that people could not see, Every one dies and some people are reborn, and don't really matter what happens to anyone except how they look after themselves, and care to survive
This government builds stone and sees only stone and money, but maybe there will be a new government

===

Regarding the longest road to no where
Competitive nature of individualism, where one find all is a form of hell
They don't see the problem, and hope one day there is an option out for someone, woman company is nice but I don't want to seek it without community, that is disturbing to me, not so I want like spend life with just one person like a friend, not do I want to go out to always forigen places, It's then painful to me what's happening, people have described such pain frequently, ?is it caused by isolation contemplating negative reality while maybe having a shit job or no job? where people and activities in life don't feel so rewarding as to reflect upon or feel satisfied with as to activities.

There is a negative feeling about outside that look like bunch of ignorant where individual only means something in context from coming from nothing without any meaning or value but a particular job if anything at all.
I could only accept a place where it is visible that people move into more than this.

I can not expand my vision outside of my home and feel sense of company, development or , if I did so there could be

===

Eric rains has wants to take darkness disturbance out of people, he has retreats

Same with joe dispenzer, he has also asked people to pray for good community for people

The functional melancholic, has complaints about nature of reality

Most people have something to say some times

What if they all could change it instead of just talking about it occasionally

Or where Joe and Eric didn't just do retreats

Do you own or manage a monastery, council or church, you should be aware that people could do more than just come listen to you and follow your rules and teachings, that they have some visions, and how would that work.

Someone may not entirely keep all the ideas in their head as a plan. So if you asked them they may not even have something to say about it, but perhaps it is sometimes and given the role of council they could input sometimes

=====

I don't schedule times to meet people very often, and when I'm up during the day I don't normally arrange to see people, instead I look at something inanimate or not real in my life.

I could arrange something, occasionally I do and more often people arrange something with me,

What's the solution

It could be projects or work

It could be

Something about being in the world alone.

If I had the ability to do so I would be building homes and spaces in my area for choose neighbours, it's been in my mind sometimes something like this for over ten years

====

Some people say more people should be working, and unemployed people are burden in society

If common Australian learned about Myanmar's forced labor jail scam centre, they would think it's corrupt

But they dont see what they are living in as any problem

Work full time forever to pay rent or a mortgage, in economy driven conditions with probably no interest or jobs and people they don't choose, who ever created this is a burden on humanity

People are kept as virtual slaves for property investors and because the government wants land prices to keep going up probably to support the controlled decline

Most other countries are similar but particularly bad here, and if you smoke it's a bit like a legalized narco-state exploitation of addiction for money where people who don't work are twice as likely to smoke and be forced into poverty and work for government addiction tax.

They fuel this system and you can only live here or anywhere if your part of their economy trying to suck taxes from gdp for homes your stuck in with not much life except working.

Instead of maybe a community creating opportunities, looking at ways people would like to work, why some people aren't working, or investing into what people would like to do, unfinished

I like how Mike Venicewow says he is respectful when talking to homeless people because he never knows when he could be talking to Jesus

This is something you'd want to look at if you had a community,

Australians don't complain much, they just try to get by or get ahead, but they don't try or are not able to fix things because it's out of their control, but they seem like they don't care.

A lot of people are virtual slaves to rent and b

When the only constructive things to do are repetitive tasks for strangers on shift work every day getting locked into it

A lot of the best people don't fit in with this suffer doing nothing being poor

Community that doesn't care about you would do, leave you without work and where homes can't be purchased anymore

=

People say that people are lazy and they get unemployment payment and just can sit there watch tv because they are too lazy to work and if they don't need to why would that, statistically i think people who say this you'd find that most of them worked when homes could be purchased for a normal wage and now own homes and making a lot from their investments and good percentage don't have normal jobs any more or jobs at all but live mostly from investments and rent. worked for that like it meant something or they didn't have much vision of life or what's wrong with it to do anything else, . Perfect dicks for the governments vision of this place.

They don't question why poor people need to rent from rich people or why home prices are so high and people who work a normal job can no longer afford a small home. Work to pay them rent forever or if your lucky pay off a home for the rest of your life and get stuck in that place you never wanted to live in the first place, and what ever in your mind won't ever mean anything. Because they are dicks for work and don't see such things. Or it could be the work itself crippled their pineal gland and they never recovered properly. Or the work and investing became their vision instead of life and so they just see that.

=

?the people who really care about life sitting there all day making bread so your economy works better, I mean because they need to pay rent in your overpriced home scam, that people who own land like so they can have cheap bread and spend all their money going to thailand and getting prostitutes.

We do need to work all day, otherwise who will invest in land or rental properties and mans penis has sperm in it that need to go into Asian prostitutes vaginas so it very important that people work to pay for it. Really what the problem is is that that is the only thing to do, some repetitive task you're not interested in, otherwise if your not compliant and happy with that and going to Thailand then you're a burden because you're not happy and you need to be happy.

Maybe its work and fucking your girlfriend, and that's all that's important to you, and you complain unemployed people are making 15% of your income, your the burden, choosing that type of life and think thats what's important is life shows how stupid you are, but you won't think it's stupid, your an insecnificant part of a shithole wating for some disaster that you won't see coming or be able to prevent it.

=

P.s.

Regarding rich says poor people are lazy

My thought just now is people become complacent with the isolation, crap work or no work, not doing much interesting, etc, and in this complacent with the meaningless of all this.

What's the word the functional melancholic uses for when some says something is ok because other people have it worse when really their problem is bad. There's a word for that.

Their complacent if their unemployed because they get some little money to survive and think they can afford what they need.

It's hard to find a job so maybe it's suppose to be that they don't work.

No one seems to care so maybe it's ok just to sit there and do nothing.

I'm a statistic and the world will never remember or live in a time when people like me weren't more than a statistic again.

My thought is if I am happy with things or someone is happy with things their are in some narrative of human delusion that is forced upon me to my blood still runs to my head.

The big problem is problems don't mean something, only work for money means something.

Feeling grateful for a bit of money or public housing or some chats. But nothing happening. Conversations means something in community but maybe in personal lives in

...Dont even make space cheap

They dont care about poor people,

They say look how great we are give them all this money these lazy people

But this is an excuse for them not to care about anything how they got there or their potential life

Because life is about the individual motivation to work for the economy

If you purpose is something else

If you smoke or do something they don't like that's expensive because of

If you don't like it

If you can't get an interview

If you give up

You'll just be left there , with the pig government ignoring everything , expecting that se sort of economy is going to work for everyone , I don't even know they expect that or see much at all. They are there with their big house and money and they forgot about you but there is some money to keep you off the streets because work houses don't exist any more but I think maybe the work houses may even be better in some ways if they were to allow me to work when I want.

<Maybe I'm wrong about this, the condition of work houses, and it should not be done under slave like conditions

There used to be church and government in each city to see people were ok, now they just have unemployment payments.

They love the migrants from poor or destroyed countries looking to work because that's all there is to live here, the migrants don't care about your country or what you do, they work, and if you don't work just find a job or good at investing there not much else.

Again about the song “the longest road to no where”, this is a reason, but do they see it, do you see it

It needs to change, they need to go.

They are preventing #OrganizedArea

They are preventing community, how? Because people work full time for land and land investments for life time, it's a trap.

They are preventing people from forming their own community for working full time in theirs.

Something like that but not as I thought it.

There a difference between having work for that I should be grateful I have some work especially if I smoke or pay rent or mortgage in Australia, I mean work is important even if I just need something, or if I want to save for something but homes are too expensive to save for, and that is different concent from having nothing else but work as a way things happen in life, or complete lack of organised area. Somehow some people aren't interested in just work and that seems to be the difference between someone looking like they are completely non functional. The work and sort of environment is disturbing so not just non functional but adds a layer of long term pain and disturbance, ?drug use in some cases for this or boredom also even more poor and dysfunctional probably, unless you like caffeine or alcohol which I don't. I don't really want to smoke cigarettes either.

Sort of difference between the go go energizer bunnies for work and investments somehow which I don't understand, and people that don't understand how this is so great, and people in between maybe don't know what they are doing but they are getting money for it and surviving, which may seem more intelligent than the first group of people.

A problem is that government thinks it's normal or there is some other problem.

Someone like me the only reason I feel like I'm living is to change his place but they still get me like I'm just a not a full-time worker

They never listen to anyone like this. It's better that the government is local if you have the intellect for it. Regarding #around me

You'd be better off fixing your community, not try to ignore it for peace, regarding #representative, do you remember your local elections, that's a local group of people for a local group of people, they should all be in council, and your ideas should mean something and you should know it, that sounds like a disaster if you don't, a disaster for the area and a disaster for the individual with ideas getting twisted into unmotivating work or nothingness, I have written it in many ways.

The system is not made for them, like intelligence doesn't exist.

.

I suppose you could do that in your community thinking it's a good idea, but thinking that things are already fine, and no know what would happen, thinking that there could be problems,

Or you could make an experiment

Or you could find the results of somewhere it is already like that or has been in the past

Or you could do all three, in order, research, experiment, implementation

You can also use these steps for other ideas / changes

Maybe you can copy the representatives category and the last two paragraphs and ask AI to find examples for recommendations, or is it better. They will probably say yes.

I forgot we live in vergina company land, which didn't change, and apparently rich people are happier, everything is about having money for investments, and making money, and ideas and community dont matter, increasingly in this age of isolation where people are giving up on thinking to help or be part of community, and no one cares as long as you find a job for the owners. My family all came from workers of the owners is why I'm here. People didn't see it when it was made and still don't see it. Pity that's what matters and it is somehow everywhere now. So you can ignore trying such things here but maybe if some people got some money for a new city space.

Henry George

Regarding Henry George, how land is cheap and then people work for land owners, under that about how land is an investment, The idea would be that at some point the difference between poor and rich was moderate, and now it's high and people work life time not even for a home. This could be seen as a bit like the virginia company resurrection. But at some point apparently it got better. But it's falling back into that. I'm somewhat more lucky than most as a poor person. And poor people are better off still but

Not true,

Increasing equality may help in purchase of assets, if home prices still increase by more than interest rates then people will keep investing in them, pushing the prices up.

Home prices go up 15% here while interest rates are ÷6 so someone just gets a loan and suddenly they are making as much as someone that works for nothing as long as the home prices don't go down.

It's also not true because the other Virginia company systems remain, which are is mostly igorance about most things except capitalism.

Again, a poor person pays wealthy person to rent the biggest expense they have and build no savings, needing to just pay a lot of money for that rental, and the richer person also always makes more money than interest if someone saves the money for future housing. If you think that's fine you must not be a renter. I do t see much good about this place except saving for freedom to leave, and that's where they have screwed people keeping them poor and not able to easily leave as they could. If you save money to try to leave your living in a place where their are these people trying to get richer, like trying to keep you as slaves poor so you can't. This environment then is even more depressing and less interesting to work for that, but some migrants will to escape their destroyed countries, and the investors are more happy because they have the slaves and more power, it's would just be nice. You may think they worked for it, but it's not like a lot of the poor people didn't just they rented and were not sure that they should buy a home to settle down ?

==

Disclaimer bit

Existentialism definition: choice and freedom.

There would need to be some good options, and what if someone doesn't choose much like me which is a choice in a way but also not a choice but seems forced upon me in some ways

Are there more or better choices now, maybe housing is way more expensive
But am i just not making choices or making bad chose of not doing much and thinking too much, not working enough and or spending money on cigarettes
In a lot of ways its my fault for not choosing and doing those things end ending up with something different, but may have also come from complaining more than doing something

.

So i am sorry to make things look worse than they may be generally

As if before things were never ok for everyone and people needed to make good decisions and things are better now in some ways

I think it could be more of a problem of me worrying about things and not choosing options or liking that i can sleep when i want seems important to me, in some ways then i have not needed to do as much brain numbing work, i have also not looked after myself so well sometimes

There are also problems, big problems, its not definate that i would have them or could participate in something that would help

==

I have been so disrespectful, I could be disturbed (go to hell) for a long time for that

About me

If I say something to someone I can have those thoughts come back to my mind in both thoughts and images of where I was may times over many days,

More as written before

Procrastination

If I do t have these things I feel sick

Where as it's not normal

Is why I will now look for somewhere for people with this because it's like a disability, I always thought I should go somewhere but you have filled there place and make them unwelcoming I wonder , but I didn't try so hard, but I think I would be less sick there if they have a plan, it's just the people live like that will expect different things.

And so you expect different things of me that you can handle and disrespect me if I can not is kind of where I live, or have been living in share homes with random people, now no one is better,

If I don't live there then there is system of not them

If I go there they availability is limited, because I can't live there I should make their availability for any time, I have visions for this now without trying. Space is very expensive here. I can't just sit here, but there's no where open, so do I make somewhere open all the time, and what to do there, just sit there, I'd like to be alone more so I less there's something real to do but as I want, not work, that could be sitting there working on my own project or doing some work with people I know, but if I show up for somewhere to work and don't know the people it never works out, I should know the people outside of work and then we work. Or I work alone and never see anyone or not do much with people.

=====

I could have the feeling there is nothing much good to do here, or it could be I free to think/do anything, or there are good things to do

I can shrug off the feeling that there is nothing good to do with the thought that I'm free to think what I want that can lead to a thought of something to do. But the environment still should have more positive things good to do, not like an empty room with a screen, I think it came from years before seeing this a lot I formed a habit to see what I don't really have good things to do or people to see around the place or I don't do anything good so it is.

But there are some things good to do perhaps until I don't see them anymore. I have no habit of something good to do, but I'm kind of free from doing things I don't want to do at least for today and normally, but it can seem like not doing much good becomes bad.

Still nothing much but the screen or sitting in silence contemplating in a void. It's my familiar jar, that even jumping out of it to get things I need feels uncomfortable, arranging things outside of it seems uncertain and not going to happen, but not every one seems like this,

Chosen people to live around and some things to do in the grounds, would work I think, but where the grounds should just be for the chosen, and strangers have no access without permission of the chosen.

If i go shopping with friend feels more like something to do than picking items around strangers.

If I would contact someone or they me to do something right now would fill the void, instead of turning on the screen which I don't have a good anticipation for. Something perhaps other than doing out for something to eat would be good.

Something in my local environment may also be good without seeing strangers. ? Shared environment with more than one other person.

Its the thoughts of doing something, rather than the screen or contemplating nothing, contemplating nothing real is no good for my mind, uncomfortable, the minute i start imagining something real and interesting, i could write a book or think about ideas, but it seems like a waste of time< this i. I want to but i dont want to feel like im doing something when im not. THought of community are real when real thing happen, ideas are real when something about them is real. But there is no community and ideas go no where because ?businesses dont care and everyone need to make a whole business for any idea and i dont.

The contemplation of nothing real is awkward seems. Despite not sharing immediate home with people that have nothing real in life, its still the surroundings, so thats no good to think about, although considerably better than before. Id like to think about some categories of ideas again, but I didn't do anything with the years of that I already thought about.

Ill try to get lost in a movie now which sometimes fills the void until i see how fake it is to meaning something in my life.

Commonality for comfortable feeling an entire life time, available affordable space should be available for people who see that in cities,

11442208123

Uncomfortable? Pain, the spirit can cause, some people understand? Doctors understand? Do I understand? Is it real? I say yes.

Like the reason to get up, people say we are spiritual creatures living in ?flesh. The spirit I see need reason to pump blood well and be relaxed and live on. Sort of like getting up for something and being ok with it, otherwise doesn't function so well and becomes disturbed uncomfortable and pain?.

The person who had the dream and had good company, gave up on the dream because of land prices, rules, and over insurance or something lz then he lost his good company, and just stuck in a job for why he didn't know. The inspiration was gone and the pain came, by the time you meet them if they have pain then it could be the same good goal for inspiration and new good company to move in in life and spirit, or it could be new goal and new people, but the old ones were working, but maybe that too old and thought too hard to try, but if released into then ok.

Stuck in the chair, is ok if there is inspiration, and or real good thing happen and in the chair there are reflections, but given time what good is the chair.

=====

You can plan things to do, your life, your environment your city

Or you can spontaneous

So you need a plan and vision, I don't see you plan and vision, so you must be spontaneous type of people, or you see the world is not made for plans. Could have a plan then go by the day and it didn't mean anything, and spend money on rent and bills by time you have no job you loose that and end up in some , people I ow how to deal with these things but it is Bec they don't care about public so much as their own retirement money, I mean they could have a plan but can't fix it and just look after themselves

Live and learn, and or live and fix things, your going to want to plan to have the ability to fix some things.

Who do I have a plan with, no one is organized for such a thing that knows me, and really they don't work on such a plan, so I write it alone for as i see it although I should do much better and I could expand my vision for this but I just write some simple things now.

What is the plan, I don't know, what thoughts in a life time, and who is in the plan and what are their thoughts, no one right now, no one most of my life and when they were there we were not organised for such a thing, and only awkward spontaneous rubbish or nothing was in front of us, is a forever problem.

==

What happens to people when nothing is planned, is nothing much but sitting there staring into the void, this is my life, I need to plan things but this place is not for plans.

The right to live in one's own environment and design it has been taken away. There's no plan, just some people who own the space around people and those who don't, but neither has a plan just one sucks the money and the other one is supposed to put out, if there is anything like a plan then that is it.

==

Awkward space in my mind, and I imagine some people around that I know and some real things to do and how this would help.

That may be simple thinking, simple and stupid plan, but most people have plan to find partner and or best friend, or children to fill void in the lives while the live around strangers and do very little as part of a community.

==

I don't accept a place that people can't have their own home not filled with random strangers, but apparently all of you do. You can have one if your an executive or something, or you convince so strangers you need public housing over other people and wait ~10 years and never be able to leave or go back on the waiting list. It's been like that for 20 years and things like this and worse don't change.

I have been made to live around people who hate me, criminals and molesters, who apparently are fine to most people, why not invite all the criminal in to your city and have a big rape and kill fest while your at it, unfortunately it's a bit like and I get livens of them and needing to spend life with them.

=====

521872

A couple of men with a knife down their pants live here, at least two I have seen, one showed me the big knife and the other was in the garden

Homeless lady has been around screaming for weeks

Trash get pulled out of the bins and throws everywhere

Things like this

Someone set fire to big metal bin yesterday

Im use to odd things here now, didn't faze me, but anywhere else would un heard of that felons set fire to a bin.

.....

The good thing is that they are outside, they don't share my fridge and my home and I don't need to talk to them everyday

There are all kind of people you may have heard of from rapists, serial killers, pedofiles, suicide victims, etc, and when you live in a cheap share house for cash your more likely to experience something like this because it's where people who dont have good jobs live, although that is changoing more so to also full time working people as well

How could you think that's fine, so why has it been happening for long time decades.

Large number of petty criminals and insulting people, their in your home, and you move and it happens again and again, until you tolerate some even if they aren't people you'd choose.

Image just anyone coming to share your fridge and your life and you don't know them other than a quick interview that don't say much and people need money to pay the rent so normally allow anyone even if doesn't feel right I can't forgive this.

=====

5737474

Bad journal entry

I was feeling bit uncertain about life, disturbed, uneasy, not good feeling in brain, voices from people I had talked or messaged,

Then I did pray to be free in my mind, ...

Had a shower, changed bedding, washed my quilt, de wormed myself (6 months), eat pizza thick with toppings

And dream this night was unlike any I have had for 12 months

And memory was sharp when I woke up

4 day I haven't smoked cigarettes

It seems important to be able to clear my mind, from the disturbance feeling I hold after thinking or the bad state it becomes, and I figure that I'm allowed to, by meen of being ok free, or life is my choice, as long as I'm free to do so, and the feeling doesn't make me feel I'm free to do so, it makes me feel like my rent isn't paid and I'm living with criminals, but where it's coming from now is the void more so, and my thoughts are all about nothing real here the void is that it's not real place,

But if I think I'd like to think about something real, then my thoughts become more orderly < , there is a real sense about it and the distance lifts

Clearing my mind has led to my most intelligent states, and also the existence which is still very difficult, what is life I don't see, is it special to be alive, I don't know, not much vision of it here for long time.

I clear my mind frequently but don't normally have such change in dreams, so it could be one of the other things helped

If I'm going to die one day anyway or that this feeling leads people to jump off bridges, things like this i tell myself gives me the right to clear it.
I guess it's my responsibility to put some time into real thought and actions, but apparently the government or anyone else doesn't think so, like they have it all organized and managed already.

I definitely can tell, can see disturbing reality or void in rounding dumb thoughts and ignoring reality because it's void is causing the issue, and otherwise I would see life much more clearly real thing is that economy functions, but the way it does, the get a job from some investor manager career man, and that's it, it do your business and that's it, this is not enough for me but perhaps it is for a lot of people, it's not ok for me the way this is and or the other types of ignorance around it.

Maybe people find they make more money alone or economy is just that way, so they don't see the need for a group of people Real thing is money but better if in community that can change things, like make housing affordable so not a lot of people become slaves to rent and mortgage

Is it just going money, obviously not, but one should have money, but this in not only thing I would work for, but do people think that with enough money they can do anything, and that's all that matters, if I had more money I think I would fund a community, but people can if they get together to fund it, and I probably won't have enough for much of a community, but I have some and can contribute, such as like anyone

? People dont see it, but you read this, maybe means your look for something more?

Don't know if you like it at all, or if anyone will read it, please tell me if someone read this.

Old apartment fund

Would you buy some old apartment building to start this? Or buy a place where your allowed to build on

Then you need a deposit and bank loan then sell the spaces like as described is option for you?

Or build,

And always have space to build when space is needed or not very cheap, for anyone to build any time, some parts and space

If you're poor and you see an apartment block very cheap (that needs work) I can help fund it now so you don't need to work for the deposit, and this can be your job because it's what you want to do, before you lose your vision to the next 20 years saving for it. If you were like me you know you need to do this.

Just people pay me back from 30% of income as described, I'm not seeking profit but if I do then ok.

=====

People accept their environmental conditions, if it's starvation, slavery, war, danger, and they go by life and not stand up, no get up to try to fix it normally

I guess they think there is always some way to serve themselves, and be ok like some other people seem.

Sometimes I see something so wrong, or some good things to make things better, and I should keep them in mind of how it could help and go somewhere somehow to make it happen,

Now I think about writing a letter to someone, this seems to never go anywhere, so do I need to make an appointment I guess so someone can see I'm interested?

P.s.

I dont care, I just want to see some nice people more often and have that expectation and reflection upon it. Part of my life in the community type some reason like a button to push and something happens. Something. I quit smoking and now I have nothing to look forward to or feel like I have done anything. Little pick me up hits that are addictive something to do, otherwise negate some things I don't want to do but nothing to do unless I'm hungry, having some nothing good to reflect upon or to do again, nothing to follow. Something about being able to work towards a place where there are things to do and working towards that place is something to do.

I have spent my life binge watching videos and playing games, but in the over many years so they have become harder to find suitable material, Going nowhere slowly, don't know why no one sees it is life they live too. I have always made record of this, but seen it thousands of times more than I have made record of it.

I find not knowing what to do, running through disturbing options or nothing that seems worthwhile, just sitting there or not know what to do when getting out of bed, except work towards nothing more,
To drown my way along this way for all time I would be here

====

Should I being enjoying what seems like an ok life and not complaining?
Am i lazy?, I think there seems like not much good to do, like people around in the area to talk to, but i never call people, but it seems i like to talk to people in area of shared community if we choose each other? Things to do

=====

It would be nice to free my mind and rethink or be free, but in a place where my new experiences, life, communication, ideas meant something, I don't have constructive communication with people normally, a part of that would require living in an area that could be changed, and you liked or chose who you talked to there,

===

When it matters what's happening in your community, and that's what you can change,

==

There's one life with appropriation and admiration for life and thoughts and ideas

There's another with hate and disturbance, hopelessness and isolation, visions of end of life

When the first doesn't work well maybe then the second comes, and if it does which isn't could be downer seem like a very nice place to be,

Maybe it's already happening or has happened, I don't know

Unfinished

=====

“ it's been estimated that a person's life satisfaction is dependent up to 60% on the quality of their primary relationship with another another adult very striking statistic if you gave a Martian that statistic if you said how happy humans are is dependent on the quality of their relationship they would immediately deduce that human beings must be spending at least 60 percent of their time leisure time but also work time figuring out the problems of relationships, it's not like that at all if you look at the modern economy probably less than 1% of the modern economy is devoted to trying to get relationships working well very peculiar statistic given what things are like for us on the ground as it were.

“

Allen de botton

About spending time in community on space in life for life

Making homes more and community development for such thing

It makes me feel better thinking about going to see or talk to nice people, to help create some nice feeling for people to work and live around but people try to buy as much of it as possible just for rent or profit

There are no small community for work or life, everything is just one place and a centre and everyone mixes with who ever, is quite disturbing who I have mixed with and worked with, and what I see, makes environment feel like waste,

=

Why does the feeling of vitality feel so different
That calming relaxation conscious opening effect
Vs

The uncomfortable feeling
The feeling of these people in life

Not about ones closest relationship,.but the people in life, which can be uncomfortable or the void can be uncomfortable, the wrong people at time or no one for a long time, no feeling of life with anyone
Like people die younger alone , or die shortly after becoming isolated
And somehow it standard
Its also standard for nothing to do

One is better than none, but that doesn't seem like enough, Swedenborg said 4?

150 people is the approximate number of individuals with whom a human can maintain stable social relationships was proposed by Robin Dunbar, who noted a correlation between primate brain size and average social group size.

It's because you can't tell someone what to do and sometimes people don't want to see anyone , so it's just all up to them, where distance may separate people except with house share which is odd

Most strangers and out of peer and culture people don't seem to help the calming enlightened sense of life, but it's a personal opinion on what people like and feel comfortable with,

It's a lot of pain and sick really we have put a lot of people into, like torture , where people don't see the physical action of causing pain

Sometimes you can see it's wrong, I can feel it's wrong but I have Stockholm syndrome frequently and for long periods, or isolation kind of like Stockholm syndrome because sometimes i just live somewhere or see who ever calls me and dont organise things well, but im also thankful for some of the people i have seen and tend to see them more “Long-term Stockholm syndrome causes severe, enduring mental and physical health effects, often mirroring PTSD, including chronic anxiety, depression, deep-seated trust issues, and potential cardiovascular problems. Survivors may suffer from low self-esteem, flashbacks, and cognitive distortions that complicate recovery, while physical symptoms like chronic fatigue, headaches, or gastrointestinal issues can persist long after the abusive situation ends.

Mental and Psychological Health Effects

- PTSD and Anxiety: Survivors often experience intense fear, flashbacks, nightmares, and chronic anxiety, similar to PTSD symptoms, as reported on the Cleveland Clinic website.
- Depression and Dissociation: Long-term depression and dissociation (numbness) are common as survivors process the traumatic experience, notes the Medical News Today article.
- Cognitive Distortions: Survivors may continue to hold positive feelings toward their captor, minimize the abuse, or feel responsible for their own victimization, explains this article on Healthline.
- Trust and Attachment Issues: Establishing healthy relationships becomes challenging due to deep-seated distrust and, in some cases, a tendency to repeat abusive relationship patterns, according to the ChoosingTherapy.com article and a 2025 study mentioned by Still Mind Florida.

Physical Health Consequences

- Chronic Stress Disorders: The sustained, high-level stress of captivity can lead to long-term health issues such as chronic headaches, digestive problems, and cardiovascular dysfunction, reports ChoosingTherapy.com.
- Cardiovascular Risks: Research on traumatic stress indicates that survivors with PTSD have an increased risk of hypertension and chronic heart disease, notes the National Institutes of Health \(NIH\).
- Physical Exhaustion: Persistent fatigue and insomnia are frequently reported long-term symptoms, says the NCBI report.

Recovery Challenges

- Difficulty Seeking Help: Due to the bond formed with the captor, survivors might be hesitant to seek help or legal action, or may, according to a case study from the NIH, experience increased empathy toward the abuser after the threat passes.
- Long-term Therapy Needed: Treatment often requires long-term psychotherapy to address the complex trauma, rebuild self-esteem, and establish healthy coping mechanisms, say experts at Healthline.

In addition to these effects, survivors may also experience a "foreshortened future," where they have limited, pessimistic expectations about their life and future opportunities, according to the NCBI report. "

Wonder why dementia, alzheimer's and wellness becomes worse in nursing homes
There's the answer

A personal choice like they don't seem to have your back like your life for a community of people, but their community is not like your, or they steal from and disrespect people

In the soul in the dreams of how life is, is an unfortunate dream like the dream of getting hurt, or being protected

One could have a spiritual sense of life from positive people, or negative people, or no body much except their parents because they care in the case of living with them the individual may feel like a child still to gain their independence, but in some negative share homes its hell disturbance of life. Living around respected peers is one thing but doing things in life also gives a sense of life.

Unfinished

=

Strange thing being disturbed or feeling doom, when you feel ok you wonder how can I stay like this and just work on those problems, but stay feeling at peace, but then the problem show themselves and dread or doom appears.

It's interesting, how an answer makes my heart feel so much peace, and then I see it's not really an answer because there's a problem with it and it can't be done and the distance comes back.

Somewhere things good happen more often, and I know it's something to work towards, so I think about that and just want to be at peace, but I see it won't get there and I just get old, and no one cared anyway, it's a strange thing being isolated not seeing life how people always talk about just themselves being happy because they will die and not be able to do anything then, so they go to pub and try to have sex, but they don't think about dying but one day they end up old and or sick and seeing it or

How important it is to feel not disturbed and feel normal when working and just passing the time, but normally the visions can be negative direction, and when trying to be positive and take mind off the negative things tm how frequently they are still negative, like something in life is doom, then to find some positive thoughts and take mind off it and how life seems ok just being alive. Such doom doomed doom.

If you'd have hope things with social and community values or a reason to get up in the future you'll probably be disappointed, because this city doesn't value social life, or home prices, it values food prices and Chinese imports and for everyone to have long working days in things they are not interested in, which isn't as good anymore for most people who are just doing it to pay for other peoples home investments, or their one investment but making them be stuck in the same dead end job and life and city and mortgage until they retire.

=

If someone sees perpetual meaningless, or some problem, maybe it's disturbing to them or not so much,
The they will have time to fix it, if they don't have an answer, suggest an answer until they are happy and if there is no way for them to move forward then this is a job you make for them by suggesting any age in the council with the money and time and effort of people in your community.

====

Jurnel

holiness Whole holyness

Churches aligned with the holiness movement teach that the life of a born again Christian should be free of sin.

Sinfulness is a disturbance in energy of being whole

To do and see people that don't disturbed us, to be around sin makes me feel un whole, to have some good meaning, to feeling whole after seeing or talking to people

To maybe just enjoy the day rather than be disturbed by something

Some things cause feeling of un wholeness, and some to feel whole

If the environment doesn't seem right, it seems to affect my wholeness, either people I didn't really choose or don't know, or isolation.

I can tell if people I would choose are around my home it would create a feeling of wholeness. But it's isolation, with odd thoughts about going out to find a place for my life that I don't do, it becomes a negative place, before now I was looking at way it worked and thought it was stupid and that was very negative.

Unfinished

Depending on who I see and what I do can make me feel like environment is more or less good or bad. It's disturbing not seeing anyone,

When I find wholeness I see the environment I live in more, but also then it's sort of damaged by it, and surprisingly I can exist without seeing the environment much in some vague state, or by being distracted, or just thinking about whatever.

I don't know. unfinished

====

“Humans are social animals. The need to belong is deeply ingrained-we need to feel a sense of connection and belonging. Being part of something bigger can help give meaning to our lives, finding and spending time with other people with the same values, Interests and views makes us feel valued and we realise that we're not alone

Feeling disconnected from others can deeply affect our self-perception and emotional health. Some studies have linked the emotional effects of social isolation to physical illness including heart disease, weakened immunity and even premature death.

The benefits of a sense of community go further than avoiding loneliness. Belonging to a group we can identify with helps us develop a stronger sense of our own identity. It boosts self-esteem and gives us the courage to take on the world and make our dreams happen

And it helps our emotional development, Sharing is caring the positive emotions and empowerment we feel when we share are a huge benefit to mental health. The more we interact with people in our community

the more we learn, the more we practice acceptance which in turn helps us with self-acceptance

There are opportunities all around us to build meaningful human relationships and benefit from the healing power that comes with a sense of community. It's just a matter of opening our eyes to them."

=====

In a country there is a space where homes are cheap in one area and expensive in another, because there is work in one and economically depressed in the other

This should not be so much like this with council making more construction and land cheaper in the other

It because in one people see as a better investments, have more money and more people go there,

So it becomes expensive and people have limited space

So you could make it so people are forced to have cheap spaces

So one is successful and the other is no

But they both have aspects of the ghost town where people can still have very cheap space , by funding building more and or taxing rich investors

Design for a city are bit useless unless someone is in government or council for them, but even then the land, homes, and business is owned by strangers

Seems more peaceful to think of life as people going by like some rat race and I have nothing or just a small part in it.

But I do see the environment and have ideas for it which would work if I was in council of people I cared to help, but after seeing who is in council and who I live around, and how I have lived without work and in place where people don't care for things that are important to me, I see that it would work better if people choose their neighbors and had council and rule over area, that there were excess space and many other things. I don't know.
unfinished

===

Council proposal

Land owned by council

Supply build supplies and plan which anyone can build apartments that area sold at 30% of someone income and swapped by choosing neighbors, and build work/manufacturing space

Regarding building plan 7429014412

That can be extended on that side of town into council owned area

To existing council that wants to bring in people to area where it will increase value of existing privately owned area

===

It may seem crazy but I have little intent to socialize outside of this for now, and it's easier for me not to worry about it and be isolated until maybe this environment.

When I social as it is the environment doesn't last long, and this social environment just seems easier, better, and lasting, however I'm not sure if it's best.

I have been isolated except for random flatmates for most of my life with few casual work options, and I'm not really interested in continuing living in such a place or going somewhere it's the same.

=====

Brain Lion Institute episode 48.

“ Why calm takes time? Why the nervous system doesn't trust peace immediately. Calm is often described as the absence of threat. But biologically calm is something that must be learned. A nervous system shaped by survival doesn't relax just because danger is gone. It relaxes when safety becomes predictable. For a tired nervous system, calm is unfamiliar territory. Alertness kept you alive. Tension created control. Stillness meant vulnerability.

So when the body begins to slow down, the system asks, "Is this safe or is this when something happens?" This is why rest can feel uneasy, why silence creates anxiety, why calm doesn't feel calming at first. Calm is a biological update. The nervous system doesn't change through insight. It changes through repetition.

Repeated moments where nothing bad happens while the body is at ease. This is not mindset work. This is exposure. Small doses of safety repeated without forcing.

Why it takes time? Because the system is not broken. It is cautious. It learned that vigilance mattered and it doesn't forget that overnight calm becomes available only after the body learns. Nothing is required of me right now. Nothing is about to collapse. Not pushing relaxation. Not performing stillness, but consistency, regular rhythms, gentle transitions, predictable rest. Calm doesn't arrive dramatically. It arrives quietly when the nervous system stops checking the exits.

If calm feels distant, you are not failing. Your body is learning what safety feels like. Now, next episode, what safety does to cognition? Why thinking changes after the body settles. “

Brain Lion Institute episode 49.

“ What safety does to cognition? How thinking changes after the body settles. We often think thinking happens in the brain. But biologically thinking depends on safety, not comfort, not positivity, safety.

Cognition is not a purely mental process. Your brain doesn't think in isolation. It thinks inside a body that is constantly asking one question. Is it safe enough to process more? When the answer is no, cognition changes. Not because you are incapable, but because resources are limited. What happens when safety is low? In survival states, attention narrows. Thinking becomes repetitive.

Creativity drops. Memory prioritizes stress. The future feels abstract or unreachable. This is not a mindset problem. This is a resource allocation strategy. The brain shifts from exploration to prediction, from learning to protection. When the nervous system begins to feel safe, blood flow redistributes.

Oxygen availability increases. Glucose use becomes more efficient.

The prefrontal cortex comes back online. This is when reflection becomes possible. Nuance returns. Long-term thinking reappears.

Insight feels effortless. Not because you tried harder, but because the system allowed it. You cannot think your way into biological safety. The brain doesn't respond to instructions. It responds to conditions.

When safety is inconsistent, clarity feels fragile. When safety stabilizes, clarity becomes natural.

The key shift, cognition improves after regulation, not before it. This is why rest, rhythm, and nervous system support often unlock understanding without effort.

If your thinking feels foggy, flat, or stuck, it doesn't mean you are failing. It may mean your system hasn't felt safe long enough to think freely yet. Next episode, the blood brain barrier where protection shapes perception. “

Brain Lion Institute episode 50.

“Why some information doesn't reach awareness until safety is present. This is Brain Lion Institute episode 50. The blood brain barrier.

Most people think perception happens in the brain. Biologically perception is filtered before it reaches consciousness.

One of the most important filters is the blood brain barrier. The blood brain barrier exists to protect the brain. It decides what gets in and what stays out. This is not just about toxins. It's about information. When the nervous system is under chronic stress, the body prioritizes defense. Circulation patterns change. Inflammatory signals increase. protective mechanisms tighten including the bloodb brain barrier. This means fewer resources reach the brain. Less oxygen, less glucose, less metabolic uh flexibility and cognition adapts. This is why during long-term stress thinking narrows. Creativity drops. Emotional nuance disappears. Perception becomes threat focused. Not because you are incapable but because protection is active. Safety changes. This when the body begins to feel predictably safe. Circulation improves. Inflammation reduces. Metabolic flow increases. The blood brain barrier doesn't open recklessly. It regulates more intelligently. Information reaches awareness again. Insight returns. Memory connects. Perspective widens. This is why forcing clarity rarely works. Clarity is not a mental act. It is a biological consequence of safety. If understanding comes slowly, if insight arrives in waves, nothing is wrong with you. Your system releases information only when it knows it can handle it. Next episode, why effort stops working when pushing no longer increases energy. “

=

If a test or survey was done to see how many cancer patients live feeling insecure... and recover rates of people who then felt secure.

Community creates a sense of protection. Secure housing, money and good life. Maybe safe but there could be something wrong. Consciousness being directed to what's wrong.

Some nice people visiting my home, every thing seem fine, there no need to constantly work to pay for it or necessities. And I became more conscious and memory showed me what I did wrong in the past and I swore never to do it again.

After seeing some nice people, and or doing something good. seem like when nice reflection and better feeling.

I feel more secure but don't see people often and sit I contemplation of un real things, which seem to be giving me a sense of insecurity.

“Social isolation and loneliness, often associated with a reclusive lifestyle, are linked to a significantly shorter life expectancy, with some research suggesting a difference of as many as 15 years. The health risks are considered comparable to well-known mortality factors like smoking 15 cigarettes a day. link “

=

Mental illness, suicides, etc

Statistics from, for those in good communities anyway, because probably causes worse problems for some who think being bad is good and would choose to live around or socialize with such people, but in a good community hadies is protected by good God.

=

Hurts people on a daily basis, keeps people from interacting with people in community, is it common? yes from what I have seen but you can check statistics

If my solution is a solution.

There's more than one solution. People already living with a solution such as fulfilment with family at home, regular meeting with people outside of a home community with things to do.

It could be that for some reason their not making the time or feel comfortable with people or situation, it's seems easier to not call message or schedule things, and like unknowing of what or where or who or how, and may not happen often, however within the area:

This idea is to support social interaction and things to do in local council of friends, a person such as myself has these visions and ideas but no council or friends around.

However people should be doing great things anywhere.

=

In this environment people will see other people problem more so, see their own problem and have desire to help people with them, but if they are not seeing people then it doesn't work properly

To be happy in isolation may be that one also has a reason to get up for a project, have a meaning to think and do something, but if it goes no where then they quit and maybe there's nothing or it's important and they keep trying which could cause frustration.

====

People form groups to go to restaurants to talk about their pets, instead of life and problems and all the things we could do, then they go back to work to pay for some over priced home or investments (other work places), where people are supposed to study for years to do anything intelligent otherwise can rely on their monkey instinct functions to pay off the home, and these are the successful people.

It disturbs me sometimes to see other things, ideas and more to life when it's like this. Its like a bunch of people who don't care about it made this place, and I'm stuck in it for my experience of life which being in myself has been a great experience to be me when I'm not disturbed and have been sick a sometimes with being disturbed with this type of thing for so long and... To do see have more real things in life, and not be disturbed so often,

647574737

=====

How many times a day do I pray to be in an environment around friends?

It started in some isolation when I was 19-30 thinking about a partner to fill the void with some nice feeling. Thinking about it helped, but never happened.

Then I started thinking about just nice people or some community like that, especially when I was in the void, run out of money, wakers and Indian faces around everywhere a trashed house going nowhere, 9 years maybe, multiple times a day, sort of gives me a good feeling about life even though it doesn't exist and don't happen. Less like praying and more like know it's should be there like that.

I write a paragraph of this book about once or twice a day.

I should probably not think about it and just try to find happiness by myself which I do, because community is very difficult.

?I should not be doing it, but it give me a good feeling when it's disturbing, I guess people from slums find it not disturbing here but I do.

The wasted nothing that my mind goes around in circles looking for wasted things to do until it collapses in on it self.

=

I think it is good I stopped thinking about partners because that may have been causing excess masterbation, and I figure if I end up with a community there should be some interaction with woman so.

=

When I feel uncomfortable or pain, i can think about certain people, why does this make me feel more comfortable, it is some anxiety about life in the void, then thought of a partner bring some love feeling into the space, or just good people to spend life with to feel some good about life, i try to feel grateful about life but seems not having anyone in it or very or slightly wrong people is causing a problem long term

|

This has been proven and documented yet people spend life, especially when older in isolation or around strangers, people dont choose the people in their community, so why dont you fix it, i think this every day for a life time ?just having them around fixes the problem

=

Why wouldn't doing nothing real in isolation become disturbing to consciousness. Or it's reflection upon those things that creates a feeling of life

It doesn't matter if someone works or not as that's not type of reflection upon life but with strangers or in a machine, but to pay for things. Work can be, and work after or before those things helps a lot.

Then there disturbance or negative reflection, even if life isn't so bad or someone can find something good to reflect upon but doesn't do much and feels there nothing to do. But there are really bad disturbance or negative reflection, especially with people. Especially I have experienced in shared home I live with them for no reason, sort of wiped my memory for a lot of that time there was so much disturbance.

Sitting in a room complaining about things forever without doing anything is never going to feel good.

Definitely disturbance and memory is there to fix things in reality for the future, but we live in a system and gov that doesn't know us, is why they just fund business and hope that if people have money everything will be ok.

There is nothing to design but opportunities for strangers, the government doesn't know you or what you like or how you can be productive, you need to do all that yourself alone..

You're not really a part of life and space time, you are like an insignificant animal until you can make enough money to invest in things and then you're there for money for strangers in the economy.

If you like being alone in the economy with strangers, I guess it's better for you to get as much as you can because of inflation and just look after yourself anyway because there's nothing that you can do, the system and quality and ease of things is in decline in 21st century, the system you can change or do anything about, if you would Google managed decline or https://youtu.be/Url7jeo95_Y

It's a pity the housing is expensive or even getting more expensive so people would find it harder to live in or create a community for anti decline, but I'm not sure that would help much anyway the way people don't form councils or use new ideas for such a thing.

+ https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UFGkH_-CBf0

Disturbance explained well...

Important comments.

Wealthy people, people in public housing, people who already owned a home don't understand so well

I don't need to work so much to pay rent, and my life isn't as bad,

Suffering over this does not exist in some people's mind?

People suffer like that here

==

https://youtu.be/Url7jeo95_Y

19:58 “

they're still fighting the culture wars of the 1960s.

They're they're right about a lot of their civil rights era values. I'll give them that.

Um but with all due respect and of course you know this is a little bit of a generalization.

This is not everyone um they're a little out of touch about everything else. “

Homes seem like civil rights

Being able to live around who you choose

Being able to contribute to society that you choose and be productive so to make money (although there's no law against it), but due to circumstances a lot of people don't work much which is one of the reasons there are so many migrants and more expensive home prices so leading to not choosing who people want to live around

Work should be for community by community for its people but it's for business by business, Making work spaces expensive is another civil rights violation causing people not to be able to work as they want.

Personally I would have owned a shop or did something with space, not rent it out or as an investment, this would help me do something real instead living just in my mind forever and give me some work that I don't need to do around disturbing people, also affected by business just being for themselves and not community ideas, having no community as such that cares about ideas or lives except for that the businesses need, having no space for community ideas further limits the mind by disturbance or nothingness of these ideas or visions. And I wonder if it's these type of people who want to leave or not work here and are replaced by people from slums who see the 5x increase of their wages as a reason to be happy. I wonder if this type of isolation and increased pressure to work has caused -I can't write it

If it wasn't for land and space investments homes would be very cheap here, but a lot of the baby boomers think this was a great investment and way to retire, then the investment companies saw that and invested, so worsening the rights to live and work

People and government seem to want to spend most of the days in work, looking back on it after they retire they may say when did we spend so much time working, but if this was work in good consciousness, building things they feel good about, serving people and community they love, maybe they would look back on it as a life well spent, and why stop if work is like a good life doing something someone feels fulfilling

An old man says he wished he lived more when he was young and not waiting until retirement when he was unfit, that the dream of working for good life when you retire isn't quite right that you should live more when you are young.

This could be an excuse to just work a lot when young because that's what's there to do the only meaningful thing except having children and looking after them.

Leave it up to a national government that doesn't know people to see community as work. But within a community of people who know each other there is vision for other things that may be unique to the group.

Community as work where gdp and employment figures are the sign of its success, typical news of how successful a country is. But as individual workers they just for themselves, perhaps to extent they gain so much money they invest it to point life is like a gamble, causing inflation, everything around them is owned by strangers, they are happy with the money they own but servicing strangers becomes old, and they import migrants for the work, and don't say it but homes and commodities go up by 1000% over 5 years but incomes only go up by 100% for the investors because their just concerned about their income and they don't really like the work, and the government is happy that they can say that people's income is so high because they include inflation of assets as income.

=

P.s.

Regarding looking back upon

I Id like to live appreciating life more, honoring the time I have in it

So not doing much is a problem

Regarding serve the light guros finding the space inside themselves that feels GOOD by helping others to feel better but ignoring that they themselves may feel better because they feel like they have more meaning and more rewarding life. For instance, someone seems like they care and have some ideas but afterwards nothing changes except some lingering ideas and voices of a positive person telling them to think good or so some good, that they paid to be there and is not part of their normal life.

=

Elon Musk said

“Better to be optimistic and wrong than pessimistic and right.”

So I thought I will be optimistic, and I felt healing type and good, sort of feeling that going to work on things and something is going to be good.

Things were ok like that.

But things are just in my head.

And I went back to being pessimistic, and pain sort of distance came back, and that's looking at things like I'm stuck and things are wrong and can't really be fixed. And I thought it depends on what someone is looking for or what they want to do, pesamisem sort of shows me the way things are compared to optimism that shows me something I'm looking to do which are just in my head and don't happen.

Maybe it's something someone tries and sees they can't fulfil and finds it hard to live in without that seems like the next step, vs. someone who sees it and thinks they can achieve it somehow, next step maybe being something simple that has become difficult in a society.

Then there a state of distance from feeling of negative environment which is different from pessimism but may be caused by it initially or just because there something wrong with it.

P.s.

Positive anticipation? Like an expectation. I don't know what I do when I get out of bed but going to work is not on my mind as a positive anticipation, more like a long drowning if that all life is if I had to get out of bed every day for that, and your supposed to study for your or work in the same job or career for years to move up in life.

People dont often schedule things, it can seem like nothing and there is nothing much to do considering media is not a real part of life as good anticipation, so there is nothing but a dead empty nothingness meaningless feeling, and a government and no one trying to change anything about it. Then after spending weeks in nothingness asked to go out to some fake dump meaningless rubbish.

Maybe most work will always be just a production job that someone isn't interested in other than for money to buy things, but maybe theres some meaning in having a community to develop into good

I dropped off a young couple and remembered something I thought 20 years ago how these people seem to be happy with that, just working and having a partner, and thought how like nothing that was in life, but now I'm thinking their the lucky ones, because at least they have each other and a home, unlike nothing no one isolation and no home. Its sort of what some government may expect someone to be happy with other than nothing in life except a job to support themselves, home and partners, but that never seemed like a good option for me, it seemed like what an animal would be happy with. I didn't expect life would be so much pain in pessimism and feeling of nothingness.

=

It's not just those things, Im seeing many kinds of disturbing things often

I have been seeing reality as disturbing for a long time thinking of ways it could be improved, I haven't had a fixed sleeping pattern for a long time so it's hard to want to schedule anything to participate in anyway but in some different options I would be more fulfilled. It is hard to take away the disturbing feeling when I don't anticipate much good. If I do eventually schedule or go to anything much good I get the feeling people don't respect me for who I am even when I was seeing so much good, what ever I'm seeing normally they dont see it except a couple of times when there's nothing to do about it anyway. People especially guros seem to want to live in their own peace and not worry about things. The place reminds me of a place that was setup by rich land owners who walk past saves homeless people etc and say think they are fine so everyone should try to be like them and there some work on their land 9 to 5 to pay the rent of their homes for the rest of their lives and that's good.

I guess the same problem may occur if someone is working a lot and doesn't think they have much time for other things, in my case I have a lot of time and trying to find more meaning and peace for my time, I am sorry about my personal rhetoric

=

P.s.

Regarding pain or disturbance, something I have noticed causes it is something stuck like something not said or not done. There was an answer a way forward for something and it made me feel better, then I realized a problem with the answer and it's probably not an answer and the release was lost.

Like looking at something or someone and not being able to speak or so that thing, is like stuck energy, and better to get over it, but seems I get stuck for years. If someone has been trying to save for housing our society has really given them a rough job here with property inflation, not that I have been working full time.

=

Regarding managed decline,

If people's lives were like my own then there would be no hope, but luckily not everyone thinks or lives like me however here there is I see, which if I could manage my own life to be problems remain of the managed decline of big parts of countries and if someone as myself had a community they would want to not live in its decline but rather make it great

=====

Thought of making community better for life and abundant in all things.

If I imagine a community that can be developed, it brings me peace, sort of helps open my mind to all things in life rather than being repressed by its emptiness or disturbance. It's a pity I'm not content with media and hobbies as I have been occasionally in the past.

If I found a community I didn't like I would be happy in isolation.

=====

They created a place like this, they don't see the problem, they live like this, they think it's great, no one tries to change it, how can they be trusted.

=====

If I had enough money, maybe the first thing I thought was building plan for affordable homes in a country town with decreasing population but good land, choose neighbours optional, and some place for people to work whenever they want including with friends, some building and ideas for that, unfinished

Work as things to do without a schedule

To be around people I know that I know me that you choose to spend some time with me,

The ideas I have had, I'm not sure but to help other people with as it could be for work as something people think of and make but where not everything is as good as it may seem or new ideas aren't new for long or aren't new at all or

I would have liked it if I finished more businesses ideas and maybe one of them paid well and I continued with some ideas

My old best friend had a business idea and plan and saved for it, then complained about too much pain here and went home, 8 haven't ha

I have felt the pain over the years and wanted to live somewhere with more good things to reflect upon for the better feeling of life, and hope you have this. I'm good today, but sometimes I'm mostly complaining and wanting YouTube.

=

I find good reflection, and sometime lack of bad reflection when I'm not doing much,

Recently I'm trying to find calmness where I ask to be a bit more wholesome, and then I see and remember more.

For a few minutes when I thought about the money and things to do I started feeling bad about complaining so much here, strange.

It's strange the different states of my being, and how affected I can be sometimes where little things throw me off, how much disturbance I feel getting to do some things

I find it bit overwhelming then if I think about something nice to do like future of choose neighbors takes my mind off things and feeling like I'm working for something.

=====

Regarding, available affordable space should be available for people who see that,

There are places are very cheap people dont form communities, despite the amount of isolation, loneliness and lack of integration into community perhaps people do t go there because there's no work there, or because their are around a different culture to them.

It's unfortunate that functional city don't also have the very cheap and rundown homes, as if if a place is functional and people have money all the places must be expensive preventing people like me from living some cheap where there is enough space to live around friends.

Given that strangers and government give money to other strangers and most people don't do much in a community except for some crappy job or people just do work for money they may as well be replaced by migrants as far as the government's concerned

=====

I work up with a sick feeling reflecting upon many years of shared homes, work with strangers, in a room not socializing or doing much but hoping to choose neighbours and have some thing to do

Working for random strangers and going home to no life and being trapped in it reflecting upon life in it is not good for my spirit?

I could go to a country with affordable homes, but I'd need to work full time to get a sponsor to stay otherwise working when I want as a contractor or business they would not let me stay

Or was it something i eat, my diet, smoking or something I'm breathing in on the streets

I wondered why I felt sick, doctors dont tell me although I haven't told them often or everything

If I'm annoyed at my Uber app for over 15 minutes I start to get in a bad mood, and I stay like that until I shrug it off today by tell myself its not good for me, or that people get in moods and don't even want to live any more, then for some reason I start becoming enlightened, so I figure that it's better for my circulation and vision, I have been annoyed or disturbed a lot and wonder if it has caused some health issues, at the moment I'm not trying to shrug it off and things don't seem so bad after that, someone told me that you need to be concerned a bit as it helps move forward, I see in my life I'm isolated and see end of my life and memories to direct me?

Most things that disturb or annoy me I can't fix easily so

How to tell if it is, could be a product markets as such
Do you have hasimotos or graves disease, dermatitis, it could be caused by stress find out now
And so the tests to show that it is caused by it Show like joe dispenser or brain lion work is correct
For people experiencing long term unsafe feeling, or disturbance or annoyed
If disturbance causes this, we know it does causes issues, every one seems to know it causes some issue by the time they are over 35 40

|

Like a mood meter that Joe dispenser uses, by made for sick people to buy at home
Maybe sold with some book or media for mood changes by Joe and or other people
I'd like to know I guess but I probably won't ever really know, would it be interesting if someone is sick shows bad mood or low something data and sometimes they are ok, or during watch the media, maybe they try different things like particular affirmations or mood ring or new environment and mood meter shows change
Unfinished I write about this earlier
$4.50 from the sale of products could go into new environment experiments for people stuck in bad mood where the other things don't work
This is kind of stupid idea

474736211

== P.s.

Make or buy an existing sleeping app that can tell if people feeling like they had a good sleep

Sort of laying on their back feel refreshed when waking up , or anxiety sort of knock out sleep, it's happening to me a lot for years

Examine their situation

Do they live with people

Stranger in strangers house that they feel uncomfortable with

Or with friends

Or do they sit their feeling disturbed by life and don't know what to do with themselves

Or did they have achieved something or feel at peace with busy active day

Do they live in an empty house, if so get them to have someone sleep over, so something their next day like go out and buy something for the house together

Who ever gets them to do some they like that makes them feel a part of like, like I'm going to a church for first time in years today to just do anything

And see if that helps

I will try to answer the question

So I asked Gemini what's on today, list was bit crap so I asked if anything on at uniting church, is said yes 10am Sunday, but I read just 10am. It it's Saturday and they were closed,

I didn't enjoy the drive but going there would be been good. Then I went shopping for some new shirts.

What I thought is that is a single persons problem being alone not doing anything but maybe on a phone or computer for years and or with disturbing flatmates or family

But in the case people do things and or like each other, sleep would be better. I can feel it even just after going shopping for shirts and smiling at some people.

So the next day, I woke up after 10am and the there was no service after 10am, I considered briefly something else, catholic churches don't like people to wear hats and I wear one to cover a shaved head with dermatitis on it. A lot of people just go out and do whatever by themselves with strangers. It's not appealing to me, going out to see someone for just a chat also doesn't seem appealing to me although after doing so can be good. So I spend the majority of my life sitting there in front of a screen passing the time, I mean like anything just to pass the time and that often what's already there, like some bad game or the YouTube icon that's pre installed. And this is an issue because it's mind numbing and has no real good energy to it normally and leave me feeling the void in life. For those bread moments I want to leave this place and just go somewhere where there is a place to wonder into a place where there are real people I know without needing to call and make a time to travel long way to chat about nothing. It's an overwhelming feeling and wasting life.

The feeling from yesterday was just do something, I can't stay at home forever. Try to be ok within self and find something to do with some good energy of doing some in life. But didn't happen. 9000 days of this, 27 years after I tried 18, that 9500 minus the 500 days where I may have done something, probably less than 500 days.

Last night I entered into some nice conscious state with visions and words, and I thought I'm so happy like this if I have this, and wondered if it was the disturbance of not doing that that was blocking it but I could not image why it would not be there, and today after wasting time on rubbish I don't have it but left with a dull disturbed whacked feeling, and I know it can get worse than this, and to prevent it I need to do something else but not sure what.

Maybe a future AI can read my journal here and understand and help me do something somehow if it can see what I'm doing otherwise.

I don't like that I have complained so much, I have been thinking several times that life is ok almost like it was "handed to me on a silver platter" but I didn't know what to choose or it didn't seem appealing. I have eaten good food. Maybe at least it helps explain an idiot like me.

I didn't take much time or got stuck looking at what to do or who to call and I have always been bad at making the call.

It feels lazy or hat doing so is disturbing so I just sit there.

Then again its places filled with strangers and no reason to go there, and more like i feel disturbed going some places to listen to people talking about their wonderful projects when the world seems so disturbing and it is not ok.

People don't need affordable homes, they can live in the rooms of the investors or the people who could afford them , or spend your whole life working to afford one, and spend life with whoever, dont need to work on your own hours or freely build anything, you just need to concentrate on things for strangers around strangers , if the things to do dont seem ok you can just sit there forever,

What ever I'm seeing in this space is painful and disturbing seeing it and living it , some sort of loss of consciousness and memory, and

Work always available to build space, so people don't need to share homes, is not healthy

Choose neighbors is an option id select, so I have some chat more often and feel these people in the environment

Then the home is finished and there is some work and time to see people and things on it the place

I'm not gay and would have wanted a family but I'm not sure if these issues are major cause of me wanting to fix that first

9017411

P.s.

Re: Painful and disturbing to see

I convinced myself i like to be alone, no one to worry about, to think about what I want, no one asking me to do anything, it's nice especially if I think life isn't so bad, like I love being alone after time talking to people for reflection

I felt felt better, but I know all these things are still a problem

|

If I draw a ugly disturbed space with misery and hopelessness in it I'm going to feel it a bit, If I draw a cross or some love heart and interesting things I'm going to feel better

Maybe it happens after I see the problem and think how I'm I going to fix it and think of some answers but know I can't easily get there and end up thinking i need more money and then start a project and dont get very far or sit at work knowing this would take forever

So then I think it's bad to see the hate and hopelessness in a disturbance, but to look at the solution and like have the purpose like a cross to carry to fix it for making things better. But at the moment I just don't like to keep staring at the problems and not doing any about them or it. I remember writing that before at a time in my life that I felt better.

Normally I should not need to paint some pretty picture in my head, but I guess happens when I'm isolated and things aren't working out and I things I do don't give me good energy, that being work or doing things for people I feel good about doing them for or for reasons I feel good about. And I think if how life is not made for this but just some money which seems logical for way things are

==

I have been suffering for a long time
It's nice to be free with money and time
My biggest expense is cigarettes, I need to go to work for cigarettes
I could lose a lot of money on shares but that's for savings, but days to day it's cigarettes year to year, it also use to be rent for a small room was more expensive, not my rent for a whole apartment is cheaper now,
I can go to work any time, but I do t like it during the day time all the faces like thousands passing by, and not much money sometimes, sometimes I can work for two hours for a pack of cigarettes, but often it would take 4 or 5 hours, so I guess unfinished
Image not having a job and needing small expenses sometimes and not know what to do but pawning things , there is no freedom in the brain that way , nor with insecure housing or seeing people every day with their conversation in my mind if I don't like where I'm living
Living should be affordable without need to work all day every day,
Getting weighed down on problem can't fix and disturbing life
But if you ever find a free mind and see green you'll know

The government and people seem to be total ignorent about people living in small room in strangers homes, the system wants people to do it unless they re to push their career and work all their days for their own home around strangers for no reason but to work.

Writing these things is like drawing a bad picture in my mind and publishing it in my name, it's stuck there unfinished and distorted

Unfinished

====

So I don't schedule things often, maybe it's not so important the things to do, but best friends around, where there are women and people have jobs, woman can get unemployment payment for no reason if they have children for the first 16 years (on top of any work they want to do, or at reduced income devaluation of payment).

More to life at least this way. I would like to see my best friends find partners, own homes and have children. I don't even see my best friends and if I did it's just some guy and I have no idea what to do and given the situation to organize something this is probably just sit there with some ideas.

Regarding the 871124900 community where people dont just stare at screens in isolation and have local community and people pare off with each other. Something I would have liked for my entire life and getting old now but can't even work towards it because of home prices or travel restrictions, so I just write it. I'm getting more useless in the disturbance but even if I am sick or disfigured it would still be much restoring to me.

==

Hours of annoying, like constantly wondering what to do with nothing to do.

====

You could put yourselves in a place where homes are affordable, there's always places to build , abundant social life with 5x relationship forming, But instead you....

=====

I feel like i have a hangover, and im looking for food that will make me feel better, but its not food, what i need is uncommon and not well supplied here, its made with very expensive synthetic uncommon ingredients, i don't think anyone has a good recipe and if there was one I haven't seen it, probably has been lost. So many years of these hangovers makes it seem like a normal part of life.

=====

I she wrote it 50 times

National government has some vague ideas and hire strangers to do the work

You don't have land in a community

The business who make things and the government who tries to organize them, it's there reality which isn't much of anyone's reality but for the consumer.

There no one there, there no land of your and people around to see your life is satisfactory, as if you had land and people around to make life with, it belongs to the machine and if you want to do anything you need to join it by looking at the way it works and doing something normally repetitive for strangers all day every day for ever, otherwise the land and systems don't care what you do, it was never made for anything else. But again if you had your own land and systems then could make it the way you want it, that suited life other than that machine.

Seems everyone is not seeing it or doesn't care, the people who going crazy in isolation with or without even being part of that, peoples ideas that don't mean anything to it, being like a simple maker of a simple thing and then dying like that's what human life is supposed to be.

It could form into whatever it forms into but you don't have anyway to live the way you believe would be good to live you need to live in that whatever it turns into, and this can take bad formations and doesn't work well for people who don't just accept doing rubbish fake things that are there. You can take what you see as distinction of other societies and see they do t have a choice either but what people are doing is believing their own is functional when it is not so good but some people are just fitting in with it.

Some people don't like living like this, I'm not much good at helping myself or other people out of isolation or doing anything other than this, but it's my hope that people like this could choose who they live around and do something there so they see their living in more than this.

=====

Regarding what's most important to me

Good people around and money

But it has been the opposite

Isolation and or bad shared that feel like their filled with radiation and neurotoxins, no reason to see people,

Low income and secret hyper inflation, enough to never be able to own a space, sickly work with strangers behind my head

A bunch of people fill the land that don't care, don't see it, and it's more of a place for hyper inflation to make some rich who find company with Asian wives and let forever be, it's that sort of place

Person said i should buy a dog to fill the emptyness, and i thought about it, if that would work i need to stop this feeling, I think my soul would be happier seeing real people i liked, fill the void in space

?society is getting better, things can be made more cheaply but space becomes more expensive and I dont know is it easlier to find a job or the people in the jobs , ?people are more isolated,

Talking to strangers at work for short time that dont know me and think im just a function of that work dont help

Having money helps with the feeling of being broke but dont seem to help the feeling of life if im isolated or around strangers

Thinking back on people I have know there has been isolation and relationships with people they don't like much. For people I have seen I have seen isolation.

I have come out of this like I have been knocked on the head which never gets better in constant disturbance.

There's no government or people or organisation that makes anything meaningful to do in people's lives. Not meaningful.

Space to do things could help but it's so expensive people can't afford it, and what people like about space is that it's a good investment, not about doing things in life but the investment, so to limit it to only people who want space for a lot of money. They don't fix it and they don't see it.

It's like the doomed earth is here, probably for some part always here, but someone just needs to be happy with it and then it's fine, not doomed for them, maybe someone who found something do and some social interaction, although doesn't matter if this becomes difficult for other people as long as the individual is happy.

=====

If you know there were people before you then you should know there are people after you.

“The ancient Egyptians put their best people towards working out the meaning of life. So they wrote a book of the dead for people to read. Which says you should beware of the crocodile. Do not sin or you may not enter the field of reeds if your heart is heavy with sin. But it's not just about not sinning, it's also about what someone does in life and that's far more complicated than just not sinning.”

Some kind of guide to their soul in the life after their own.

I think they missed out on a far bit like your country could be invaded and people killed, or your country could be corrupt, or you should watch out for your country screwing up housing investments so people who work can't afford a home any more. Or don't live with people you don't want to live with or spend life with. Or that your country could be corrupt and people don't even see it. More... unfinished..

=====

Often male animals will hold a territory

Primate monkey gorillas hold a territory with other male of their kind
Females of these species are normally welcomed into these territories, but other males are not, where females are just looking for a nice territory for resources

Dutch DNA testing has shown that X chromosome stays within areas but Y chromosome has moved around

I'm I looking for a community like a territory that has other approved males and females (where females also approve their friends), or is this some kind of other primate behavior that has transferred to humans.

I think it's just space in life, without the randomness of going out in places with strangers.

People get up and go out for work every day, but I find it difficult to go out to some place or some space in life with people or something to do, however I also don't like doing this for work based on schedules or where I need to see a lot of just strangers. I have and have had a lot of free time to do so, like life was given to me so freely to do so, but I wasted it being often being disturbed in isolation doing nothing meaningful.

This strangers and scheduling problem is not uncommon, whether or not it should be fixed, it could be fixed based on these human behaviors.

It could be a territory issue where I feel like I don't know or feel like I have a territory. And I see that Western countries have been making space more and more expensive over the last decades.

I don't feel like I just want to fix this for myself but for the type of soul I have which perhaps is difficult to understand anything else.

-

Ferris Bueller day off comes to my mind, it was always what I wanted and I got it, but like I have had most of my life off but I screwed it up sitting there wasting it and complaining about that, I ate good food and watched good movies and I had time to design this and other things. I didn't have much trouble with people except some disturbance from flatmates and isolation.

-

I'd like to write a letter about this to someone who was interested and lives with this problem or is looking to work on this, if it was a real problem. But if it was a real problem why isn't anyone already doing something about it.

Regarding many things here

Something that comes to mind to add

"Almost everything we think we know about addiction is wrong

"Social isolation and loneliness, often associated with

" it's been estimated that a person's life satisfaction is dependent up to

====

I googled

biblical quotes or prayers for people in isolation

And there was one about being ok just you and God for company

And I take it to myself that I'm happy with my own company and I'm not broke

And it works

I guess this like anything is problem with living in lack or problem in the environment that causes disturbance, and one can stop thinking about it or be grateful for something

Almost as if there is no problem immediately and bad feeling of pushing the problem

Then I think it could be similar disturbance lost their money and didn't know how to get it back or heaps of perspectives on things can be an issue

The I thought some forget

Could be in the valley of death and not worry because I'm enjoying being with myself and not looking at it, but I'd rather be on the hill of life and also see and do good things to reflect upon.

=====

Spending time with myself is good, normally when I'm around other people I feel like Im with them but that's not so good so I try to ignore them,

A reason to move to something good an a reason to get up, and environment that I could feel is my community and territory with friends in place I can look at that I sent some nothing place

Something to do, some reason to do something other than paying rent or mortgage or paying for cigarettes,

Things should be cheap but in the community there's not much reason to do things so they need to make the homes and cigarettes expensive so people keep working every day, seems like it.

=====

Around me #6

Go join a club or do a course, so you have some social activities

Is what someone may say

But that's on a Sunday with a schedule that I may not want to fill, and it's assumption that I may meet someone and unlikely to see them again.

But I do with my free time, don't feel like making a schedule, wander around and could see the things and people around me if there were any I was part of.

For some people they lose their job and think about work again frequently but it's just easier to stay unemployed than keep needing to find a job every time they want to make money or be conservative. And if you do keep a job then it's just that particular thing you do forever with strangers..

=====

Enjoying my own company, reminding myself to do so, may be helping just get on with things feeling better.

Problem with seeing a problem or missing something is, like if someone would loose their child their not going to be happy about that until they find them again or give up.

=====

I haven't seen any friend for a couple of weeks, I see it in my mind like there's something wrong with me, although there is in some ways, this is a common problem, and the causes are the same as mine. Stoic or stupid to accept this, living and dying in such a place without even complaining about it.

I guess people think it's their fault, because they had an argument with their best friend now their gone, or their friend died, or they have been hanging around that person that doesn't really like them, theres freedom to see people so it must be your fault.

Until you remember other peoples lives?, lives of dead people that were in isolation before the nursing home or heart attack. Lives of the living that did see people seemed just seeing a couple of people anyway, so they were fairly close to seeing no one anyway.

If you have been there can you understand it's not really your fault? Why do people say there is no problem and they like it this way. But in case it's getting to you do you want to fix it?

Are you disturbed by it, just you and the brick on your table for most of your life?

Then I'd recommend looking at yourself as this is the best company you will ever have in your life.

I need to quit worrying about it, and my own company solves the problem, but actually 40 minutes ago why was I thinking abandoned cheap town is only way to fix this problem. I'm going with my own company for now and I'm happy with that.

Perhaps it's seeing people during the week and living around them fixes the problem? Like some people are there and not just the brick. But I don't have.

It's not normal to not see anyone, or live like this, only see strangers in media and at work.

more productive

AI Overview:

Yes, research strongly indicates that people are generally more productive, engaged, and satisfied with their lives when they work around friends or have close, positive relationships with colleagues. Having a "best friend" at work is linked to higher employee engagement, increased innovation, and a significantly lower likelihood of leaving a job. Forbes +5

Impact on Well-being and Job Satisfaction

- Reduced Stress & Burnout: Workplace friendships act as a support system, reducing cortisol levels and helping employees manage stress from demanding jobs or difficult managers.
- Increased Happiness: Having friends makes the workday more enjoyable, with 57% of workers saying it improves their overall job satisfaction.
- Reduced Loneliness: With many people spending a third of their lives at work, friendships combat isolation, which is linked to better mental health and lower absenteeism.
- Higher Retention: Employees with friends at work are 30% less likely to quit, as they feel more emotionally attached to their team and organization. Forbes +4

Impact on Productivity and Performance

- Higher Engagement: Employees with a "best friend" at work are seven times more likely to be engaged in their work, often leading to better customer service and higher quality work.
- Better Collaboration: Friends in the workplace communicate more openly, share feedback more freely, and are more likely to support each other on projects.
- Efficiency Gains: Although socializing can sometimes take time, the increased motivation, reduced turnover, and improved collaboration often lead to higher overall productivity. Forbes +5

Potential Risks and Considerations

While generally positive, workplace friendships can have downsides if not managed well:

- Distractions: Socializing can sometimes cause distractions and reduce focus on immediate tasks.
- Favoritism & Cliques: Close friendships may create perceptions of favoritism or lead to the exclusion of other team members.
- Conflict Spillover: Personal conflicts between friends can sometimes affect the work environment. Leigh Morrison +3

Key Takeaways for Success

To maximize the benefits of workplace friendships, experts suggest:

- Setting Boundaries: Maintaining professionalism while being friendly is key to avoiding conflicts of interest, especially with supervisors.
- Encouraging Inclusivity: Ensuring friendships do not create exclusive "cliques" in the office.
- Fostering a Social Environment: Leaders can support these relationships through team-building activities, social events, and encouraging collaboration.

===

Regarding “the first thing someone remembers about another person is a sense of their energy” associated with a feeling of their personality
How would this be if they saw that person every day, or they were in the environment or in the work space

Regarding the work space where a lot of the staff seemed to have anxiety

All i have to do is think about someone and my head and heart and bloodflow feels a lot better, but thats in my imagination, their not there to i need to rethink too much and eventually it just me and the brick on my table. Working with strangers feels like some kind of stockholm syndrome i need to constantly re imagin just enjoying my own company to feel better about.

The difference in consciousness and feeling of health is remarkable. I think the people I know and have met don't experience or understand this so they don't work towards a place for it.

Someone could read that and think its not true, but it is for me
If it's common for a lot of other people, someone could read that and find it disturbing job they have in front of them, but in that case they should give the job to someone who would be inspired to make a better place because they themselves are not inspired so maybe they won't see it properly.

The energy that is felt from the people around and what life is about for someone and what they are doing or thinking. Ripple through my body, and energy from people and things stays in my mind. Good and bad.

====

Also written in the “Tax discount for working with friends section. “
Combine this with the “organized area > casual work” for a council financial incentive
Such as an additional incentive for employment in your community

Some existing incentives:

AI Overview:

The Australian Government provides a range of financial incentives and support mechanisms aimed at encouraging businesses to hire, boosting skills through apprenticeships, and improving workplace well-being. As of 2026, these initiatives are heavily focused on critical sectors like housing and clean energy, while also supporting vulnerable job seekers and ensuring mental health and flexibility in the workplace.

Here are the key government incentives and initiatives:

1. Hiring and Employment Incentives (Wage Subsidies)

The government provides financial assistance to employers to reduce the cost of hiring and training, especially for long-term unemployed or disadvantaged individuals.

- Wage Subsidies (up to $10,000): Provided to businesses that hire eligible individuals (including youth under 24, Indigenous Australians, parents, and those registered with employment providers for over 6 months) for ongoing positions.
- Restart Wage Subsidy ($10,000): Aimed at employers hiring eligible job seekers aged 50 and over.
- Inclusive Employment Australia: Offers wage subsidies and support for hiring people with disabilities.
- Transition to Work: Supports young people (15-24) by helping them prepare for work, including wage subsidies of up to $10,000 for employers. Job Access +6

2. Apprenticeship and Training Support (2026 Focus)

From January 1, 2026, the government has updated its apprenticeship incentives, targeting critical industries like housing and clean energy to create sustainable jobs.

Apprenticeship Support Australia +1

- Key Apprenticeship Program (KAP): Employers can receive up to $5,000 for taking on apprentices in priority housing and clean energy roles (e.g., electricians, plumbers).
- Apprentice Support (KAP): Apprentices in these priority areas can receive up to $10,000.
- Priority Hiring Incentive: For non-KAP priority occupations, employers may receive up to $2,500.
- Australian Apprenticeship Support Loans: Interest-free loans of up to $25,983 (2025-26) to help apprentices with living costs, with a 20% discount on completion.
- Living Away From Home Allowance (LAFHA): Tax-free payments for apprentices forced to move for their training.
- Disability Australian Apprentice Wage Support (DAAWS): Up to $216.07 per week for employers supporting apprentices with disabilities.
- Free TAFE: Continues to reduce training costs for priority skills areas.

Apprenticeship Support Australia +4

3. Workplace Well-being and Culture Improvements

To make people happier at work and promote mental health, the government supports various initiatives:

- Psychosocial Hazard Regulation (NSW 2026): Stricter enforcement of work health and safety laws to address workplace bullying, harassment, and burnout.

- Employee Assistance Program (EAP): Support for employers to provide confidential counseling for employees and their families.
- Mental Health Support for Emergency Workers: Specific grants (e.g., over $19 million to Fortem Australia) for mental health services.
- Flexible Work Arrangements: Promotion of hybrid work and flexible hours to improve work-life balance.
- Gender Equity and Safety: Initiatives such as the Building Women's Careers Program to address gender imbalances and improve workplace safety.

nema.gov.au +5

4. Supporting Remote and Specialized Employment

- Remote Australia Employment Service: Tailored support for finding work in regional and remote areas.
- Self-Employment Assistance: Provides training and mentoring for those looking to start their own business. Department of Employment and Workplace Relations +4

5. Paid Parental Leave (2026 Changes)

To improve work-life balance for families, the government is expanding the Paid Parental Leave scheme.

- 26 Weeks Leave (from July 1, 2026): The scheme increases to 26 weeks, with 4 weeks reserved for each parent to encourage shared care ("use it or lose it" component).
- Superannuation on PPL: Government-funded superannuation contributions on paid parental leave continue. Keypoint Law

These measures aim to create a more resilient, skilled, and satisfied workforce while easing the financial burden on employers.

=====

Original place of 47563621A

=====

If nationalism created all these people scrambling for work then they realized they're only there for money then they try to gamble it because keeping savings is like losing. Maybe that's not true because apparently people are in debt and work every day to pay off their debt

=====

What you mean I'm not allowed to control anything?

The government controls things

Expect me to be like an inanimate object or fly in the wall

It may seem like there some ways to change things but there isnt really

Pinocchio is a real boy

But I have to sit there the only way I can find peace is knowing as sort of out of my control because I can't change these things

Looking at world and life is like looking at something broken, normally I would try to fix something and and keep trying all my options and normally I fix it or get what I need, but to world and life most thing can be fixed and just need to live with it over and over again seeing broken things, there's not even an option to try to fix some thing or talk about it to people that I would be in the same area to fix it with, let alone seeing anyone at all, I guess it's ok for people who don't see it much or don't like fixing things?

We're supposed to live somewhere where we can change things, for a long time we live around strangers the own everything around us and don't care, including it almost every business that your work for or have any interaction with

Seeing it seems to be the problem, instead of just being happy being as I am ,or accepting what it is a bit isolated and lacking in some ways and sort of saying that would be nice but I can enjoy my own company and not need to have fulfilling things to do, because that's the way it is, but it's not right, because need to be fixed something, need some hope, but ways to fix things things seem too difficult,

I guess some problems someone need to fix themselves, but isolation and work with strangers is could be fixed but government doesn't care

Unaffordable housing, meaningless isolation eternal, etc, problem with some work things because it's made by strangers, mostly don't write the things I see, this is supposed to be great country with high income etc

===

I normally live without these inspired things to do, or any one around in isolation, but I'm not ignorant of it, ?unlike other people and government. There's nothing here, but some way to feed myself and work on

Nothing here but maybe work or nothing, and this work with strangers is particularly disturbing. If you think this is a world. Its more like nothing to me, never ending, and where I end in nothing, it end and I didn't want to be there anyway. Now I join people in the grave after life of nothing, and hope I am not reborn in such a place again.

I woke up and use the toilet and every day there is work or nothing, and I dont like the work, so there's so sort of disturbing distractions I try to find or sort of not be sure. Every day. Unless maybe once in a while there's a schedule to make me try to go to bed so I have had enough sleep (which isn't nice) to go somewhere to eat and talk about what I don't know, but it makes no difference in any way. A lifetime of this and it makes me think of some way to fix this. But there has been a disturbance about this for such a long time. It persists all day every day. And then there's food, like it's something to do even if I'm not hungry and have over eaten before. And then there are cigarettes, I keep making them and putting them in my mouth like it's something to do because I'm not sure what else to do, which is probably making me sick.

==

Sort of state outside I'm not part of, strangers everywhere looking at each other, not knowing each other, not really there for anything we know about and nothing important is there, I don't enjoy it. Is why I go out at night, I don't like going out during the day. I don't like going to events like music, is like going to some place where people go to worship an idiot for no reason, I feel a sense of gathering for no reason around strangers and people that have nothing to do with my life in a place and performance I dont believe in. There is nothing outside of me that I have any good connection with but maybe some food, my car and a couple of people, either everything else is foreign, thing I pass by and won't have anything to do with or see again, but that's life, it's disturbing in the way it's owned and foreign if that's all I see.

I use to go to church and imagine it as a place for human existence, life and spirit, etc, and I'd feel good doing so, but it isn't that

A couple of times when I went to events I'd imagine being there with people I knew and was a part of the things and it felt amazing, but again it was just all in my head.

Looking at what actually is there at these events as I write before makes me feel very uncomfortable and if I do go out I'd rather go somewhere for no reason because at least I can imagine it's no reason I'm there but something to eat

=====

If someone insults me it stays with me for many hours. The things I do, how I live, what life is, and people I see have some energy that stays with me, I can accept it's a bit shit and enjoy my own company but these things

I sort of find myself doing what ever is around and habits,

P.s.

That Christian recommendation, enjoy company of God

Now it's like I'm taking my mind off the world and on the presence of myself as off the left eye says heaven is in yourself and not in the world and joes energy centre meditations

I have been doing it for so long because the world is disturbing to me, and I can tell it's the long term isolation or around strangers or disturbing people, but also the void in life and environment or my world

People talking about life like the high paid people get it good because they can afford to live in this place and work life balance, and normal worker can't afford rent, I suppose that's something but the difference between doing shit things and meaning maybe with friends is greater energy for the time doing it to .maintain long term work which seems to have made me stuck perhaps, I felt like I try not to care about the world so much that nothing seems real, and that's a bit like isolation when sometimes it's peaceful but then I normally go out for work and I need to see it and the strangers again, it could be worse but it's not good. That there is energy in things not just being happy in oneself, but I forget how simple success makes me feel good sometimes, having finished something good or that my life is actually easy and am at peace that I have free time and can sleep when I want.

What if problem is it's just going around my head, but where the good energy from just think and not doing anything, not getting anywhere with anything, just sit there forever as it has been and will be. It is worse if there is more pressure from other disturbances that seems not possible to fix.

A person in the environment has a stronger effect than a calming song, or I should say a calming or disturbing song.

I am always alone or with strangers, my mind seeing failure and disturbance, I grimace or start to feel disturbed, it can stay with me, defeated looking at something troubling. But I learned affirmations trying to shake off that disturbance, I guess is why people say to be grateful is just another affirmation to get over the grimace and feel reassured by something, or they think about someone they love, or try to be happy (joe), or take their mind off it and feel their body time (joe energy centre meditation, sort it out), I have many pages of affirmations that I have told myself to find normal or better energy, I found ways to reach different states of consciousness, but these don't always over weigh a disturbance when faced with it, or I should say constant on going or huge disturbance, normally they can work or help, they have been important to me after like years of disturbance when I have felt sick to try to pull myself back to some good feel about life. I liked my old affirmations better maybe that made my consciousness special seeing life or entering some incredible visionary state, but the one I have recently works good, and that is

I want to feel ok in myself and maybe with being in my own company, there is myself and I want to be ok. There's a disturbance and then I find myself again, and step back away from that thing I'm working on and look at it again from myself, being with myself, how could I get on (continue) without finding peace with myself, if I stay in the disturbance.

There is just a word I say to myself is "myself" , find being with myself in my being ok, and it's not ok to be stuck in disturbance, and I know the pain and disturbance people can experience for a long time and I don't want it.

=====

Energy from who is around and what someone does. Someone does work so they don't need to worry about money, but someone may not be able to get past the interviews, commitment and schedules to do that work, get around doing something they get disturbed by in some way that it's setup. But maybe money will force people in to any job and then looking at any job maybe it's better to get a better paid job.

=====

I try to sleep more on my back because I feel better when I do, but normally when I become conscious in the morning I find myself with my elbow bent in and my body laying on top of it, not feeling as good, when I go to sleep I do (sleep on top of my elbow) because it puts me to sleep and when I sleep it keeps me sleeping, when I become conscious normally have visions of isolation and things, and correct my visions to be happy being by myself, but with some sick feeling from the way I slept and disturbance from my visions, I know how it feels not to have this feeling and disturbing visions, but it's been forever,

I think about how it can be in the environment to fix this, but then I can fix it or change such a thing, unless the space was empty for people to stay there and there was space empty for the meeting area and business locally for choose neighbors residents

This is the way I am, I didn't choose this, my awareness and understanding is makes me start seeing these things,

There's sort of three parts to my mind that are mixed together, 1. straight out visions, like I didn't really think of something for I had them, but they come from my environment or something I did or said, 2. Voice of my thinking that shows me visions and things to do with my thoughts, 3. Awareness of my environment, I learned or have the ability to choose with one I want If I'm disturbed by something for a long time about something I did or something in my environment I feel uncomfortable and start losing the ability to think maybe except that thing and when I do think it's more negative, so I learned to not dwell on something I can't fix, and there can be good things or easy life that wasn't seen otherwise

=====

Something so I can talk to real people that I have something to do with in life, instead of just in my head, or that real person once in a while for no reason

=====

All these people that are dead, they were in something that existed but they won't ever be again, but you are, still, how could it be bad for if we have the understanding and ability.

That would assume we know anyone or have any influence over our environment or even talk to anyone, which otherwise may seem like nothing here but some space someone pays for and some things people pay for and some work or business people try to find and do, which is more the reality. So that's one of the problems with seeing it.

People pay tax. People could build something or change way things work.

People talk about problems and ideas, if they talks to people in local community and there was funding for things, and not just federal government funding for the federation for work promotions etc, maybe local communities would have some ideas too. That maybe by talking with each other they could see the value in their ideas and problems and get along because they agreed and so choose to live in the same community.

In a local community that knew each other there .or if people with issues joined the council, but the way it is people in council don't see the people that aren't doing much, or have bad accommodations or complain, people in council come from career politicians and people looking for that job probably for money, they all have a lot of money and don't see much.

=====

Someone said homeless is a choice and that's a fact, then why if you would offer them homes that 99% would take them, perhaps it's because it's a fact that they don't work hard enough or have drug addiction and can't afford it and that seems like a choice?

Could say killing someone is a choice but we have laws to prevent it.

I wrote before something like people here if they complain about something it's home prices.

That is a problem especially when your in a share home wondering how you could afford your own home because that environment can be disturbing to many people. I have a cheap rent subsidised home now and it seems very apparent that sitting here not seeing anyone and with what I'm doing, repetitive rubbish nothing, is actually a worse problem, almost unbelievable, I don't know if there is something different with me that can't tolerate just working with strangers in some uninspired dead end job is ok for the main or only thing to do (p.s. Or should I say something wrong with me with schedules, sleeping times, public, etc...)

I'd rather live less time and have some community as described with the things to do screen, etc, and less disturbance from whatever happens like this.

So common and yet no one's sees it happening or that it's a problem. I have told a few people I don't think about death but that how life is, having a good life, but I have never got across to anyone how bullshit bad this is. sort of energy from real things and real people and real environment, I'm going back to being happy without, but there where I get stuck until I end up doing rubbish all day until I'm tired and disturbed by the rubbish.

I wrote a few times about just finding something to do and being stuck in my own head,, and it's not going to stop, and it's the way it is that isn't very good for some people and could be changed by default but it never will be.

I'm not going to live forever but work towards making the days I do have feel like life, not waste of time, and how to do that would be an answer, or how that could work in a group in an area of opportunity where people know each other, people say they wish they had more money and time off work to spend on their lives, the work life balance, but

I see there is nothing here for me, as there has been nothing for many people. Do you understand that? That it could seem like that.

This is the doom and disturbance, the end I see for myself and the end of seeing a place to fix, all I can do is live for something better but I seem to be going nowhere, its hard to save money and this doesn't really fix the problem, I have made the point here so many times, maybe at last once a week for years, maybe almost 30 years soon, but that work is not here. I'm sorry I can't do much more. Is it work?, to see problems, that's seeing life is more than work, but no one cares and can you see this?

You could make something because people need something, and so you contributing to the issue that people have what they need and you have money for doing so, doesn't mean you looking at or doing something else that is something people need and maybe that thing no one is doing except someone who may see it and want to fix it because they have a desire outside of their function in an economy, which is like a real thing to do but not valued.

How is that missing from this thing you think is how is human something but it more like a disturbed creature on a dirty rock something. These people make it look so grand and advanced with all the money spent on reach and the environment and think we are such a developed type of creatures but we don't even see it. Sometimes it seems like some hell and I'm walking through this place of people laughing and being so self righteous about how good things are, it makes me have violent thoughts, and I am sorry for this, but I never thought of a thought as a sin, but writing it may be but we have some sort of free speech to deal with problems so I'm trying to help actually you may not know how important that is

I was opposed to this even as a child and teenager but didn't know what I was looking at and just thought could be ok

I don't like schedules, they almost never seem good even if they are for good things,

I don't like interviews not that i not that I have had many, unlike the many jobs I have applied for never seem to get an interview, seems like work is often for people who can do a good application and then do an unsatisfactory mediocre job and make it look like their doing an ok job

12398755

==

making the days I do have feel like life... appreciate that life and not just find is disturbing, to see people in while appreciating it, specific people you feel homey with, but maybe theres something to do with it, the space something to do with the space or it's your combined space, maybe fixing wrong with it, because there are things wrong with it, talking about what's wrong with it and

Regarding energy from things, and not just the self

All these people that are dead, they were in something that existed but they won't ever be again, but you are, still, and then there is this vision of life Walk outside for first time a couple of days, and then there is this vision

But then see something like existence is traffic and strangers in metal boxes and life is about space filled with different shaped objects you can buy and or work on making in some ways

And you can't make anything different because all the space is very expensive and filled with strangers who normally are just trying to make money off it
And thought about life at home is if such and isolation while scrolling through media of things that are not part of your life

And thoughts about it are all just a dead end

Where people don't just ignore any of it they may criticize it,

But migrants from war torn and impoverished countries like this place so there that.

If someone is disturbed by their environment without being able to do anything then there is loss of this vision of life

You can change the world by working, it won't change much but it will give you some money for things, you could also work on government ideas, but again your not going to make much difference because someone else would just replace you if you don't. government spends a lot of money to change the world on war against other governments that seem disturbing to them, and you can also make the world different by joining them and blowing somethings up, if you don't someone will just replace you because they want the money for things.

What I know is life is so many problems, visions of which are in the beholder, so disturbing it's not good to see

And this is the answer to life and what you should do in a community

It's been referenced as the most important thing many times

Yet community barely even talks to its residents

The beholder is in trouble because there is nothing and vision is lost, I mean your people are in trouble because your missed this

It works within an area that the persona talks and it is done

Talk about it in their environment, and see it done by having control over their environment, not to strangers, but say to say thoughts that can't even be told to strangers or the management who is seldom or never seen, not poor looking for more money taking what ever where space is just to fill for money is not

It's always been a disturbance so I frequently and not enough need to find a way to not care about it or put it off take some time away from

=====

There for them
Under reform each generation
That they would appreciate
Not everyone will
So they can move by forming groups

And we have just one religion and one way of living and system of economy and organizations for all but within the organisations could be Imagine in a place if people still worshiped the god talons, I did for long time before I heard of anything like it but it's just a science fiction movie

Don't just get to vote for someone but live somewhere around people that believe in those things

It would make this interesting. Time when homes have been cheap have been better times, closer to this. Not just a divide between expense and poor areas, but everything is too expensive here

I'd just like some company, I'm ways I'm not being prejudice towards, but actually i do, it's probable that I would likely I would live in multiple beliefs group if

Like when I wake up and there's no one to see or no one around, and I haven't seen anyone for weeks except strangers at work, and don't feel like I have a community I'm part of, I know my subconscious sees this maybe be bring it to my conscious, and if there were some people around, not just one, because one is just like we can just see each other to talk about not seeing anyone is weird. One is like an unnatural overbearing connection, there need to be more than one.

I have words in my head from songs, from people I have never met, if like them to be from real people, and if the song is no good I'd like to choose different people and we can do this, I'm just at home and don't make schedules for it, it's not so uncommon, but in local areas of people who would choose neighbors it would be, it also happens if someone lives in an area for a long time, but I don't normally do that, and doing it this way the people are there whether you like them or not.

I guess it depends on how much you see this what details about it you see, how easily it can be lived with
The created of void the land investors Prone to seeing reality for it's details, I am. It seems like looking at something not good, and is disturbing Or ignorent in some self obsessed delutions, out to get more and being happy with your spoils.

=====

Regarding from above,
I'm trying to help actually you may not know how important that is How important this is
And yet no one cares
Ideas have normally been more important than life, but ideas don't mean much, and I didn't live in a community so that for life didn't mean much
It was more to what we do and the use of ideas and consciousness was important,
But for 9 years it has been the community I live in more so, but really always has been

I don't care about life here, except for making it less painful less disturbing or easier but somehow to live where there is life, understandable as to why I wouldn't make the appointment

12578912

This is the best thing I have done in my life (the plan), but didn't make anything except write down the plan, doing more in ideas is missing from this environment, the plan and making the plan or being able to be with people that care about the plan for an environment, because they don't care, but from what I gather it's like that everywhere. But still it's in me, I can't care about life here so I still want to make it where I can care about life, so asking that no one cares for that I need to come up with the money, and that's pain but so is doing nothing, just most work seem very intolerable due to brain numbing and turning into a drone for the work.

I don't care about life here, it's been more like that for years, it's not natural to me but is the way it's made for workers. I dont care to see anyone. It's kind of vision that make life seem worthless and not wanting to be here, but to all the others that seem to think it's great or fine, Im not I interested in seeing or wasting my time in this place.

It explains the way people are, at the end of the day they only care about themselves, and this is good, and it's made for that, families don't need to care about each other because it's made for everyone to look after themselves 100%, I like it like that but when it comes down the an obvious disaster the politicians seem to deny, no one seems to fix it, they always deny for everything, I can't understand them but I can understand the public not caring

It's too much work for me even though there's nothing else to do, if no one cares for it why bother making a dent in it, maybe if it was made then people would take more interest in ideas and being around people who cared but as it is there's not much point in it if they don't get anything out of it.

I lived in the generation where a lot of bad things have happened and I didn't do anything except make some good designs and complain about isolation to be involved in much like this. I see people trying by talking to strangers in media and that's their community. It's probably the only way to make any changes is to talk to strangers that you won't ever meet or not in your local area. Dont know I guess it's one way to do things and actually not see any change while the only way to actually change anything is to buy something or move,

"I don't care about life here", I mean living, so what's the point in looking at anything, every day for many years, it won't change, there is nothing except trying to get by,

This makes sense of the way I have been behaving, but doesn't make me ok with how I have been behaving.

I'd rather go live in a tent in area of choose neighbors with building rights and space for these things than live here, but that's illegal.

People don't see how repressive and disturbing this place to a lot of people compared to what they think have bad dictatorship or something, just in this place it's laws and the way things turn out, and you can't change it like you can't change a dictatorship, because the national dictatorship rules the space and so does the national government here.

There's no escape from it to some place without the way things are, but only when a space is free to make it the way they believe.

Some people are free and wealthy in the dictatorships, they have some corruption and disturbing things and so do we but they think this place is fine , maybe it's denial like it is in those places.

I like people who are against corruption, stick up for people and protect their environment, I have had mostly friends like this, and I would choose these people as neighbors,

I especially like people who talk about boredom, trouble and isolation in life, although they don't seem to have many answers they seem to say things like they are against it or would fix it, I have since I was a teenager, from music, but I haven't met many people like that in real life, but the ones I have I like a lot, it's a good feeling talking about problem in society, but still haven't met anyone with my concerns, maybe one slightly,

P.s.

talk to strangers, but in the area nothing changes, or people don't talk to almost anyone, it a nasty part of life for me

===

To explain again,

I can survive but lacking the energy from real things and real people and real environment

The environment is real but

People there are none or seldom and things we don't don't mean much

I'm not much part of the environment

The things I do don't interest me and not part of doing anything in the environment other than maybe what a robot could do for some money

==

Re: I'd rather live in a tent if for the people around should at least afford homes?, I understand homes don't last forever and development haven't been here for thousands of years but take existence this great space and make it so disturbing for some people, it's is in our system to make it like this, but feel like take existence and thousands of years and make it a bit miserable for some people

=====

I went out to get a letter signed

I didn't want to go home to the void

I asked ai

I need something fulfilling to do when I have time when I feel like it

Bad answers

I asked

like I interaction with a community, I do t find it fulfilling not to. e part of life as you suggested

More bad answers

It seems like I want to go back to some place I already know people and part of things there

I have seen people talk about this describing their disturbance, and they say the answer can be doing the things they are committed to do in life, like .ailing that letter or doing the cleaning,
But that's not always enough

=====

I'm watching videos a lot of rich people who go on holidays and watch videos and talk about Iran and things. But if your not rich and don't go on holidays and Iran is not so interesting, maybe your stuck in a bad job, or doing nothing, but the rich people don't know that, that's what life is for them, it was made like this for thousands of years. I put my computer and cigarettes in a sunny room with plants in it, seems to help, I have been in a low lit room without sun for many years. Being in the room and not doing much and not finding it good to make much money, making me sick, and I thought about how other people live

When someone has had enough of the world, insults, hard work and pain, loss of home and disrespect, locked in debt and stress, going nowhere stuck there without a way out, etc, etc. it just happens to people, because they need to work with what's there and . It's not good for them and sometimes not good for people in their lives. You should not want it to happen, so you should want the things like for them to have a home and see people they respect and spend life with, for them not to struggle with home prices or lose home if loss of work, things like that. I have been through some tough things and think I lost my mind towards dislike of life and I am sorry for that, I did not do anything bad or stupid, just that I was there in my head I am sorry for that. Actually i did self destructive things and i hurt myself I think which is stupid, but hard to do positive things sometimes.

This is important:

I have seen the smartest people I have known, that want to be of use and just want to be of use to some community, and that turns into most people having a small business of their own and that turned into landowners and big business telling people what to do and you just work for them the strangers who don't know you if you want to do something constructive, I have seen people destroyed from this

I guess in some ways it's easier to start business but in a lot of ways and certain things it more difficult

In a traditional community people would find a role, they would talk about it and just do it, but here doesn't work, and the work can be unnaturally disturbing, they try that too but doesn't last and

It's bad for me to complain like that without looking at the good side of things, just something went through my mind,. something I saw, I wasn't researching it or thinking about it otherwise

—

Im forgetting to be happy as myself, I keep seeing some problem, I get some voice in my head about being nothing doing nothing, just then it was how I make no difference here, but in some place I could, like a small place I could make a difference if I could do something, but here we make a difference if we work more and people have more workers, but that could be insignificant work, like a robot could do it but for now we do it and that's how people make a difference in the mind of government and people that all. It's a new concept

Maybe one of my ideas makes a difference in some way one day, but in my real life I don't almost nothing except maybe keep some fish and plants alive, I'd hate for my ideas to make people depressed, I try not to do anything bad or disturb anyone in my normal day to day.

--

Tucker Carlson “

>> I travel so much that I see it. There's not a single western city that's thriving and they're all degrading in exactly the same way.

>> Is a lot of it just a moral decay or is it actually true from everything?

>> It's a lot of things but it's self-hatred. every city. Crazy.

>> Every European city, every American city, it's just whi. People lose their their will to live, their will to pass on their culture, their values, their religion to their children, their will to have children. It's all gone. a lot in the Middle East. It's amazing. It's amazing. I'm not Muslim, obviously. In fact, I'm I'm like a Christian, you know, flatout Christian. And my ancestors are from Europe.

>> Mh. And so I'm not I have nothing in common on that level with the Gulf. But you go to the Gulf and I and it's incredible to be in a place that has pride in itself that believes in its religion and culture that thinks we're on we're on to something. This is great. Look at what we're doing. We're really proud of this.

>> Those people are happy. They're welcoming of others. They're tolerant of diversity. Like always tolerant of diversity. There's none of that here. Are you kidding? All the whites. Oh, we love black people.

>> Then they run and move to Bosezeman because there no black people.

>> Absolutely. Send their kid to the

>> They hate diversity.

>> They hate it.

>> And it our version of it isn't working at all. Like at all. So, but you go to a country like Japan or the Emirates or Qar or Saudi Arabia and you see that that when people are self-confident, when they're really pleased with what they're doing and they believe that their system is the right system, that self-confidence results in a kind of welcoming attitude. M >> so you'll be sitting at dinner in Riad Riad Saudi Arabia and you'll say you know I just I'm really kind of pro-Jesus like I'm a Christian they'll be like that's so great >> and they and they don't have the same >> well they mean it >> and they don't have the same belief

Muslims it's a country governed by Sharia law “

I don't want to give people more of a reason to hate life. country with openness of speech and activities, unlike north Korea, Russia, etc. a reason to feel safe because there's no genocide, etc.

I don't think everyone thinks like this as much as Tucker says) but some do and I have but I'd like to change, and would like to explain what could fix this for someone like me,

Free speech is important

Affordable homes

Community

Work

Work in something interesting or important to them

Don't tax poor people so much for cigarettes, people that have smoked for generations, make them do some counseling if it's so bad

Cigarettes make people different, and being poor then they can't afford to live and how do you think that makes them feel, and if they had more money may help, with these prices it's understandable living,

Home prices, not really possible to live without a lot of experience or impossible, it could make someone feel the place is doomed, but people still believe in

It's possible to live without meaningful things to do or feeling respected or appreciated for anything or seeing anyone

But then add homes prices to that and maybe thats like more disrespect of an individual and vision of disturbing community or group of people with way of life.

Less fraud and being ripped off,

A lot of tax money but some poor people don't get much,,some people don't ask and some people ask for too much and “People lose their their will to live, their will to pass on their culture, their values, their religion to their children, their will to have children. It's all gone.”

How to help someone believe in

Instead of thinking there's a problem, I could feel grateful there's something good

====

I have been watching the functional melancholic and

=====

Is the void something that seems empty because no one put something there, was it because they were stuck thinking about it or too stupid, and if they were stupid was this caused by some disturbance from it that made them so. Or were they just interested in working and making money and going on holidays, and thought that's what other people should do to fill the void.

There is a more disturbing dimension of the void than staring at a screen of strangers passing time because there need to be something, while paying most of your money in rent because of the home gambling. There are lots of parts of it that the functional melancholic talks about that fill my space and time, which are present in life that everyone takes for granted or few see except him.

What to do to fill the void or correct this but make it for someone to do so, giving you my ideas won't fix the problem because someone needs the space to fill it themselves otherwise the void is just turning someone into a machine to make someone else's ideas unless that is what they want to do, maybe they want some tolerable work because they have none and little money, or they have a skill to use somehow or some idea to make to make them feel better, and not feel like they haven't done anything.

Don't blame people for just working and going on holidays because that's what is here to do, they're adaptive and accepting that it's ok, and don't worry about it. That way they they should be successful too, so they dedicate their lives to it, the work, because that's what's there to do, and so they have money and either them or the government owns everything, and the government is (slang word for can't use penus) and otherwise their strangers and there for buy it for money.

Work to me is like a monster from a nightmare, I used to think it was ok, but if that's all there is, I'd work with it but not want to dedicate my life to work tasks and do nothing else, but most people are married to it. And if that's all there is I try to find something else to do and that would be things to fill the hours without owning anything. Some people do t have work so thing to fill the hours, is a section from organized area > functional people.

This is where the void gets bad, where nothing happens, where people dont share ideas or socialise, where i die one day, here.

=====

5348394

Not love of a woman but love of people, to love a community, and feel that sort of life of people around

Then maybe I'd feel like I'm more part of the country, but for now it's more just myself, but I am still affected by people and what happens here

What makes a country your country, is it because people look and act a bit like you and when you die they will continue, if you have children they will continue in that place,

I suppose there is some sort of cultural continuation, and world human continuation

I don't know because I can't but how it would be to be in a group of people, make it good for life sort of for generational existence, maybe I'd think that's my country

=====

I don't wear sunscreen, a lot of people don't

There is high UV radiation here, in winter it has the similar UV radiation to England or Netherlands summer

? Don't know

UV radiation damages folate and nails primarily through photolysis and oxidative stress, causing molecular-level degradation and structural weakening.

No, a standard blood test in Australia does not specifically test for "folate damage" caused by sun UV radiation.

Yes, you can experience folate (vitamin B9) damage or degradation from sun exposure without being sunburnt.

"UV radiation isn't just uncomfortable. It's destructive at the molecular level. It breaks chemical bonds. It damages DNA. Most critically for our ancestors, it destroys folate, a B vitamin absolutely essential for human survival. Folate does something remarkable. It protects DNA during cell division, especially during the rapid cell division that happens when embryos are forming. Without adequate folate, neural tubes don't close properly. Spines don't form correctly. Pregnancies fail. Even in adults, folate deficiency causes anemia, weakness, the inability to heal wounds properly. In the harsh environment of prehistoric Africa, folate deficiency was a death sentence. The African sun destroys folate. Studies show that just a few hours of intense UV exposure can degrade folate levels in the bloodstream by more than half. Now imagine you're an early human spending 12 hours a day outside hunting, gathering, traveling between water sources. Without protection, your folate reserves would be depleted constantly. Enter melanin, nature's perfect sunscreen. "

I wonder if the government or testing centre checked blood samples from sick people how many would have this damage.

=====

I had a schedule a couple of weeks ago, I cancel it because I couldn't get sleep before that, and was rescheduled for today and problem is here again, and I thought Id just like to see some people doing something at times I felt like it.

=====

To leave because people are not nice here and in Australia they seem nicer
What your plan

.....

What your plan
affordable home and life
Nice people, I don't see people often
?live around some people and have a sense of life , unlike how I have been living 6664800

=====

I had this idea I don't want to publish a lot of this book.

People say to find something to do, there are things to do, but for someone who doesn't join the things, doesn't have social life, I sent part of of the including if life except maybe some job for strangers somethings and buying food, has been poor and no one cares,

For a long time people have had to leave their

Unfinished

=====

More things to do with good energy
Cheaper homes and space
More feeling of life around

Communism is really bad, we have it the right way, space and land should be for investors and we should all work for them to pay their rent forever, and if you work for 20 years making those cr2 chips you can become the manager of making them and maybe one day we can become an investor too.

=====

Robert Greene

“If you read a lot of history, you know, 100-200 years ago, people had these very powerful anchors in their life. A lot of it came from religion or it could be from the community that you lived in. And when all of those anchors are thrown away and there's nothing kind of keeping people together and there's no sense of belonging to anything larger than yourself, it creates a form of madness in people. “

=====

This is regarding something I wrote elsewhere

I said there's no life around and is there for you
She said, I have friends
I noticed these people randomly call or do things in schedules
But this doesn't stop hypercritical people from not calling people much and not doing much
It seems to be mostly women who are calling up people to do random insignificant things, and men I have known that sit there being hypercritical, but that's just my experience and I am grateful to the women who have given me some social contact.
Hypercritical state is for doing something real, not just sitting there, I have heard of people dying like this, making themselves so sick. I think can happen to women as well.

What I thought once was about relationships where a man in most cases becomes hypercritical and his partner isn't interested in such things, and the relationship isn't so good, and what I thought these guys need people who care about such things to talk to like a community and mates, and not just his wife, I did think it was suitable for a person to become hypercritical and just have their partner to talk to... they should leave and get it off their chest and then come back and not see their partner until they are more at peace.

==

I have had many random flatmates in my life, I never felt like having a partner living with other guys, but also some of these people didn't like me so didn't like that I would share my life with them and my friends would talk to them, when I have lived with woman because one talk to them and they are still in the environment seems to cause sexual thoughts with some of them but appropriate so.

Is why maybe it would be good if single people would live near each other if choose neighbors, but this may happen naturally.

=====

Psychology by Mike

Living without disturbance

Want to live without disturbance
With good consciousness

? "You have just one job.
You have to proceed without certainty.
You have to trust yourself and trust the universe and just keep going."

"there's no fear here"

What is uncertain
Living while addicted to expense substance,

Like cigarettes, if not having a sustainable income for them, or being rich will never be financially free

Affordable housing

What if you don't work for a few weeks can you keep it?

Is that 30 years of that?

Community

or sort of absence of passing time with out meaning

That you will see some people you know and be part of life until you're dead. What I want.

With certainty things are ok

some good things are certain

Something good is being worked on for good certainty

-

There seems to be an uncertainty in my future while I waste my time for most of my days, while I don't have good work for a lot of the time and dont feel like it often if I do,

Uncertainty about just living like this forever, more of a certainty that I will but is not acceptable causing distance which may cause bad health and then what am I some distorted disturbed creature in existence.

-

If someone is feeling disturbed, if I am, if you are, or just trying to feel more relaxed,

Keep reminding yourself you have security in affordable home, and work to pay for whatever bills you need to pay for, but there's not much else you can do about the other things for now.

If I do this I feel more relaxed and notice maybe some tensions easing or even that there as tensions there that I can more easily get over. Its a sigh of relief thought sort of relaxing or assured, so send this relaxing thought throughout my body. It's interesting how I can send relaxation though my body like this which releases any tensions.

|

So the thought of disturbance builds up the tensions

If I keep reminding myself of disturbing things
Or keep doing disturbing things

Now I have a thought that is relaxing

I don't care about the problems in the moment but I know it's something to work towards which gives me energy for hope in the future, I can feel that too. What nice thoughts about how life can be, like other people can also have affordable secure homes and life around them, and work.

Deep breathing is supposed to send relaxing signal though body but above seems better.

====

Talking to someone you feel comfortable with helps ,having them as neighbors helps.
Helps relax.

====

Affirmation this morning is just to relax and let body work naturally,. I haven't felt anything like it for a long time,

====

If there is a problem , build a fence or plan and the problem is sorted .
If you dont have the plan in work to fix and you think about it there is frustration, if you don't think about it and have no plan then they the result comes or the problem isn't fixed, at least in that moment unless you had thought about it and now working on it. Unless someone else see the thing and fixes it.

=====

When I'm alone the above affirmations works
Affirmations like towards overcoming harrowing work

If I'm talking to someone the energy is different

When there are strangers or any uncomfortable vision of the space the above affirmations do not work, and I feel some tensions

If you care for your community and they have issues like me then you would want them to

Have homes

not need to work all the time

See people they feel comfortable around

Preferably live around them

Deep satisfaction in finishing something I haven't felt for a while

====

====

Do you think the government is supposed to look after things? And everyone else can just sit back and forget about it, go to work and pay their bills, it's what happens and the government doesn't do much except spend a lot of people's money and just let these people who would otherwise stand up and help sit there.

You have to watch that video about thousands of years of human evolution to where people just own land around strangers to understand. It's not the governments fault. Find "Humans have spent 97% of their history"

Big problems and we just sit there, but some hatred from being ignored and just left there, like who cares what happens because can't change it anyway, so life evolved around money and finding some business or sport or nothing

You need to make it so these people have their own community they are part of and can change, otherwise they will just sit there.

This may not be seen as problem but there is a huge problem and they can't change it and gave up a long time ago.

So someone is just happy they can pay their bills and they have a home, what about anything else, and it's a pity about the homes up 10x and the wealth inequity up 50x, but what can you do.

=====

Continued on from around me #1

Got to keep the unemployment low?, so people work every day to pay for a home and tax?. But a lot of people don't and what for them, is it not some requirement for a community to provide things to do, not just a dog park and a ferris wheel at a beach, I don't know what to do, these things don't seem appealing, so I know I need to help make a place that is different.

Then maybe the work is something not interesting with people you don't like for people you don't know or like, to pay for rent and cigarettes, and there's nothing else in sight.

Maybe if your community had friends in it then there could more easily be things to do, like interesting and motivated things, and local work, more spaces and or space to build, and if government has funding for this they could fund these groups for interesting things and to do and also happen without funding. And productive things.

Something has changed, where it used to be normal for women not to work, now if women didn't work they would call it an unemployment disaster and lower the interest rates?

I'm a bit confused, do people want to work all day or do the government want people to work all day, would you design a community where a home costs too much like this or where business are run by people who make 100x more or where wealth inequality
Or do you not have the right to live somewhere different.

In some areas makes some things different and let people vote with their feet. And as people move the areas sizes could change. ?According to some rule a council could be made for each 150 people, ?but in this case make it like each is a state where they can make their own new rules. Unfinished

Regarding about around me #1

People find something to do that's productive but it's that easy
More than just doing nothing but watching something or reading something without an outcome

Things aren't so easy, most things need skills that take time, or it's my problem that I don't finish things or barely get started after the initial idea, so much of that

If writing an idea was worth something, but so many people are writing because it's a skill most people have so there is the internet like something that would swallow the writing like you mean nothing.

Regarding why motivation is important because things are not so easy, they may appear easy, but it's easy for me to procrastinate over something and not finish it or get distracted by another idea and not start or finish something

Space is expensive so someone who need to be productive with it or just own it for inflation gains

Local community is strangers who don't choose each other and where people pay strangers to do everything outside in their environment, and are not part of group organizing things to do in their environment except in far away places

Unfinished

I don't want to be locked into some job on schedule for something to do, but I'd like it if more of these jobs were open for me to do, especially if there were choice neighbors and I'd do them there.

Unfinished

I will do whatever today because I can't do nothing
I will clean my floor for a temporary guest and then try to make something that will probably go nowhere. But I will do something.

=====

I had vision that this city is good for ecommerce shipping
It has cheap spaces in an inexpensive area
There is no theft
All shops and storage are open 24 / 7
There is a robot that goes around and picks orders, packers them and send them, its simple in my mind

There is no theft (insurance free if camera is looking at the items because if item goes missing we can match it to a face or persons location, and there is a rule to live here that there is no theft, they are fined, warned and warned again).

=====

Regarding
A place to go is a place to live
But if you live around your friends or they come over or you do something at home, then the place to live is where you live

When I'm not seeing anyone or just some people who don't see the problems, when I'm not a part of any council or government, when my ideas don't mean anything, weeks of isolation,
Like is like wasted, but it's made like that by them, and they argue against that it is like this and don't see it. Humans are a bit like minds filled with visions, words or reactions, but without seeing reality they can be quite odd creatures indeed, and it's not only the reality I live in that's disturbingly odd and void of meaning but it's them. But also it's is me a lot of the time, disturbingly odd and void of meaning, or something

=====

Regarding work and unemployment problems
<https://www.youtube.com/live/R1z8CTk4PyY>

Regarding

2:34 government spending. And most of that has come from the uh the $52 billion blowout in the national disability insurance scheme. So a lot of the jobs have been carer jobs and jobs related to NDIS and that that's the reason why I've had such strong jobs growth.

<https://youtu.be/TzTOXOi8XO4>

Regarding how Germany borrowed half a trillion dollars for war while many people are unemployed, etc

Regarding how I should just go out and socialize like normal people, but actually it looks and feels disturbing when I do , but at home it feels much better, but that personal for me and some people like me, if there were at least 4 people that I wanted to live around and different people would come over from people they know. And life doesn't seem normal without this.

Regarding how if I had a community work on Id be looking at how to better serve them for work and problems, and not just looking at a screen of the world

Reminds me of the great depression in Australia people were dying in the streets but no one talked about it, and no one seems to be talking about some problems now.

With young people can't afford homes and work is like that, an area outside of the city could be made where homes are build as I have suggested and people choose neighbors and anyone can move there in way I have suggested

In some ways for a lot of people countries start to fail, but they don't seem to recognize it and borrow money for war.

People don't want their country to go to war but governments think they are part of some international club for chess in a way and dont see people as individuals to help as their job but they are the master of the piece on the chess board, in some ways.

Regding home prices, things to do, social life with meaning, work with meaning that I dont have, the waste of life that I feel like I have the I don't know why I'm getting out of bed, I fell sick but I smoke, I could die from this, they don't spend money if these things much, but they like spending a lot of money on the gangs across the river that that they have nothing to do with because their fighting each other, like they want to draw the attention to themselves by these weirdo fighting people. They could say, I'll be neutral and fix my country, but maybe they want to spend half their money to turn their country get into fights, but it's as if they don't know how to fix problems like this for me anyway or problems like this for me don't exist and everyone is happily working, living, having families and have fine lives, maybe it's not as common but it is to me.

If I die they would blame it on smoking but I'd say it was from disturbance. Luckily I got some public housing now which sort of makes it easier, but sort of a coverup for the problems to support disturbed person like me. Now what I need to do is find something interesting to watch or play to pass the time. Some guy said it's the golden age of content, but I can't seem to find anything interesting. It's a joke, not the lack of interesting content, but that would be helpful to make me feel better while I waste my life away.

=====

Regarding for higher consciousness at #5522890

?What could be missing from your local council is smart people who know you and see same problems in life as your experiencing, so some people just work and try what ever there is for sale like going to nasty city for no reason for something to do.

I support if you like these places that have no meaning it's ok.

It would be something you want if you had a community. Maybe I'm not so smart at the moment but it's something that should be there for people who are.

Traditionally they would talk to people in the community, and now they make videos and write to strangers or have a thought about reality and record or talk about it, this may or may not get to the government, and someone needs to like their government to send it directly.

I woke up and thought maybe this is not working. I thought I didn't see it in the ideas of the government as I should. Unfinished I forget.

I frequently wake up with this vision.

=====

I may have written before

I like some old Greek philosophy that says people who want to be elected in Parliament can be bad choices, but people who should be there you nominate without them needing to do anything.

When I vote, I'd rather vote for a person and they way they think that a name that I don't fully understand,
Or at least I should know what the name of their party means if it's a theme to their believes on what they will work for
But voting for individuals is very time consuming them all up, and id rather watch some video of all of them from any of their activities in and get a bread about them spoken to me
An ai could make this and it would be useful for other people

If we can vote in each decision, funding, and development, it would make me feel like I'm more of a part of things,
If you have a problem with this the voting of Parliament could get 2 votes and people get 1 (one third)
I thought of what people could vote on or choose that Parliament could offer that affects them, like what organisations they are a part of for the systems of life, traditionally they would choose to go to the church or the library or the good club or the drag racing or the gay club, but organisations such as that would help them in some part of their lives with work or social, rather than needing to just find someone or somewhere made by private sector for money to sell someone for some need of the person, which doesn't work with some things relating to higher forms of organisation or services relating to like government employment. Voting could be for local groups of choose neighbors.

Unfinished

=====

If I have some goal to make life better, but I keep sitting here with the same life, looking at what ever and, and things aren't working out with money or way to get there,

The motivation to continue is lacking
I do t find life enjoyable or motivating,
I don't find ideas, vision, learning, interesting or motivating normally, I'm I'm just there looking at rubbish, and maybe seeing something that could be good or fix this and just being stuck where no one seems to see it.
I take pleasure in the taste of meat pie.
I should take pleasure and be grateful to have time and bit of money, and my life is simple and easy recently, but my time is waste like this, it feels it's completely wasted, and in the time it's disturbed by things.
Image if this was common and no one thought they could change it.

====

Regarding the comment about people just telling you to look after yourself, and people just saying homeless people should get a job

This is not good vision

It may be if the work and ways to look after one self are fine but if the society is not fine to the individual then there is a problem that their advice doesn't function well, and it requires someone to help fix the society or the individual to move in order to function properly based on their behavior and traits. It's not simply a matter of them looking after themselves but that's all there is in some place because we do t change the socialy or move much we just take opportunities in society or try to be happy with that. People say things like have abundant mind you will be abundant. The person struggling with money needs to find a job or way to make money, it's true , so they change in some way is probably why type of capitalism makes people work more, but in some ways it gets worse like lower paid jobs and higher home and good prices and no one does anything, and this could be related to motivation for things or isolation, and it's not changed. And for people stuck in something they just live through it or die but it's disturbing and maybe where a civilization dies partly or something. There seems to be no point in doing anything but looking after yourself so don't see the point in people that seem to be made with personality to change anything, or someone becoming like that.

99.99% of people aren't part of a council that gets funding or changes or fixes anything in a community other than work to make the economy function or clean things up. But their supposed to keep unemployment below 6%. So the person stares at the abyss, without motivation for anything until maybe they find peace in just having what they need from work which is difficult if they need to work 50 hours a week for most of their lives for that but people do it.

In many countries there is something wrong with basic ways society functions, because I live in a place with higher than average minimum wage it work a bit better for me I guess and I am grateful for that but a mit of people don't work.

=====

I talked with my old flat mate all day

I eat some food and started feeling more clear in my mind where I have been feeling congested

I started dreaming again since he lives here

I dreamt last night that Switzerland and some areas there were like where rich people go from the 4 countries that surround them, whereas I use to think of them just as a different country

Somehow they worship money there (true and not true), it's somehow logical, but it's not who I am which could be hard to explain, but something like work to live or live to work I write before, where work doesn't seem like motivational as written before, but it how things work, after the dream I felt stuck in it and didn't like it and saw my life as .

somehow I could still find a way to work here and keep good consciousness that seemed to be lost at work but seems lost if I do nothing in isolation now

Somehow my consciousness is getting a bit better

First I found some pray to raphael breathing into to myself, my body unconditional , unconditional good spirited me, not sure if I should have been saying unconditional so much, then I changed it to just trying to be in better spirit which is better because spirit is less unconditional, a state of in going being. Feeling my spirit, my being, what I'm going through, how I am, rather than unconditional breath of life where spirit may be disturbed somehow with being in some way. And in that spirit, in that being, trying to be more at good spirited, at pease or good being, not just feeling damaged trying to breath good green light oxigen into me to feel better.

I'd rather spend my life in environment than work to buy home in the mountains like my grandfather, try to get into politics, fail and watch the news too much and go to protests against war in the middle east like thats the problem. I'd want to have, save, and spend all my money to live in a more interesting environment where I have more interesting tolerable better work and life and people around than spend it in some big house and things for myself, and maybe that is the thing I respect and dont see as I would like. But we live where we live and people don't spend it like that.

I thought about the aboriginal people here like groups of people who worked for their groups and each other and then they find themselves with big homes and cars around every wondering how they will find a job with these white people to live in such a thing and not liking what they see because they are poor, but if the aboriginals grow up in it they sometimes may choose this way. I felt bit like an aboriginal not liking it or feeling outcast from it but it's not being outcast in it for it's just someone needs to be good at making money or working or something which is not the way these people lived for thousands of years but has been from a lot of countries. I grew up in it and my family came from places where it has been like this, and I have some instinct to work and own property but I didn't get there and spent a lot of money on cigarettes, and found full time work or needing to go to bed every day for it mind numbing or impossible to continue long term. But I still thought about how I could be more productive and how that could work instead of just everyone looking after themselves for ideas and lives being for money for the individual. My subconscious is still holding anxiety I don't know if I can ever be free of it but this week has started to get a bit better just talking to someone or feeling like someone is around although I don't like needing to be quiet in my own home, I have a home much more so than I had before but it is something I would lose if I left it not being able to afford a normal public one.

People get desperate in the nothingness and try to find work for something, I'd like to go somewhere do something locally with people I know than go to a place of strangers or call someone up for a schedule or complicated multi schedule meeting.

=====

Regarding #OrganizedArea5223

There's people like the functional melancholic

There are a lot of people in disturbing homes and work places or no work, but most may not see a design outside of that but want their own home I'm subjected to visions of a happy economy and happy people working for the happy country's development.

Even people like the functional melancholic who in real life may spurt out some injustice about life and this is great to talk about they want to live in the country side or something, they have no plans or design, but they are still good ones because they see it. The government doesnt seem to see it.

It's some kind of nightmare but I only see it most days when I wake up. And I no longer dream. Some sort of isolated rubbish or no work or things to do for stupid nothing place that feeds me and I make money for car and pay rent and cigarettes, and see I can't live like that every day. I'm trying to have some gratitude for the good things but comes to me and I no longer try to see reality and maybe someone said it was bad to do so.

If I live somewhere where I don't change anything but I don't like the way it is or the way I live, and I don't see that changing and maybe feel like some useless eater or participating in place I don't like to get the food rent and car cigarettes, and time just goes in like this forever, what's the point in being alive. And it's worse to see it or think about it because it causes an uncomfortable anxiety. Until I'm just happy with what is and don't have much expectation of changing anything, but I haven't been there for long time. What's going to make me happy with the way things are, and when that changes, you'd think in a big city there would be options for different things, but I don't seem to do much at all.

Particularly disturbing watching prime ministers or king of England speaking while life seems like nothing,

2

When life is about working hard all the life and or getting that career because normal work is shit, to buy that house, and then turning to investments, you can shove your fancy shit up your ass. I hate you and you look like faggots, so up yourselves, I hate that the world is made for you people that don't care about anything else and you get away with this. So happy and gay you are and how much hate and sickness I feel from you.

Somehow I can't be interested in this work or life or place or be motivated for it. I found work at home so I don't need to see it or get up for it every day but now I see it too much but luckily I don't get fired when I work else I would be fired every month.

It's far worse than I have decided here in many ways. The pain numbs my vision or it until I'm stuck in some disturbed state, but I stay home and lie to myself so I see again.

And I wish I didn't write that or should not leave it here but it's how I feel sometimes when I see people in the morning before returning home. I am an asshole in my mind when I'm like this and I return home before it gets light so I don't become like this, and I try to go out when I'm I feel better and am more positive. At home I don't see it any more, but wonder what life is the way it is for me.

=

Regarding damage control #3

desire is a prison while living in a nice apartment and eating very well-prepared sausages, and the distractions

Somehow it becomes a habit to just pass the time wasting it, with some feeling I'm going to just sit there until I'm dead one day. I could have a habit of going out like to a church, but I never do and it doesn't seem to mean something, but maybe if there was a reason to go somewhere sometimes I'd have that habit, but I don't.

Maybe in the past the church would be a place where local community met so talking about problems like not knowing what to do would spread into local community, it now it's not so much affecting local community or I don't really know people there or do anything with them, and the leadership sometimes seems to be just about what they're doing.

I don't think this is disturbance by being bored but wasting my entire life.

If you find yourself looking at this world like the above, and come home to find yourself watching dickheads and playing bad games to pass the time, I believe this is a good book with some answers for community design to help you, I have not seen any like it, otherwise you will find some self-help books and if you ask AI or a psychologist they will recommend you go somewhere or make some time to see people and you should probably try that, but doesn't work for me in this time.

==

If I hadn't time off work I don't think I would think about life enough to even see that, but I guess the government doesn't like people not working much if they get angry

The land is locked so community can't be formed, otherwise someone may not spend an entire life not talking to anyone about this that in a way to change it in their community, they would not be stuck in isolation, or stuck in shit work with no one to talk to about changing it.

The land is locked so community can't be formed, if I had a god it's letting in my devil for this.

If you watch the video at #theycouldleave then you understand why it's not like this, but maybe if the government found that if they do this, if they make it so people have their own communities that it's better in these ways than they would design their city accordingly.

In this community there is a kind of people that are homeless and sleep next to shopping trolleys under old blankets with their shoes sticking out and no one cares. And there are people that dress in match tight bike outfits and ride in the early morning that found some high paid job and investments and seem like life is about working and sort..and there's people in the middle that maybe have some normal job and can't afford a home and live paying rent in someone else's home, and probably don't really want to work, or people without work sitting there not doing anything, and Im there wondering what else there is to do but try to be more like the bike riders but I don't want to do that.

In mining towns it's common to hear yelling and screaming, in my public housing apartments it's common every day to hear yelling and screaming, if I were to socialise with all the people around me I would go out and see what its about, but I don't socialise with them, if I were to choose neighbours and feel like this was my area then in would go out and try to help, no one goes out and people stay in what ever disturbed state their are in and whom ever they are yelling at I think would be disturbed. I feel so fortunate to have this place however and it feels like home but outside I am still a stranger.

.
If people all had their own home they would leave after such yelling and screaming but they stay else they need to find a very expensive hotel they can't afford or find a place to live with strangers. I suppose they should also apply for public housing, however maybe it takes a long time, people stay in disturbing places and relationships for a long time here, maybe looking to live with some strangers doesn't appeal to them. It's no wonder that the most common cause of murder is from domestic violence because of the housing situation.

=====

I had a good sleep , feeling very refreshed
Before that I'm trying to get into a relaxed mood by being grateful for a home and enough money , and I have had a good guest stay with conversations every day, i like conversations like that every day but I still don't want to live with someone because I don't like that I need to be quiet or share lounge all the time, sharing lounge is hard to leave the lounge for my own lounge where I am alone for a break.

I'm generally not feeling secure or content with life, and I think I could be that. I haven't been inspired by much for a while or when I am it ends in non completion.

Not feeling grateful but I can be grateful for this.

The affirmation was being grateful for a home and enough money,
Relax and be free in myself and thought
Work instantly
I feel fine working too because I know it for enough money

I also eat some salmon with broccoli and berries 1 hour before sleep.

Then I go to the supermarket and I think to myself the people that seem ok seem to look like their grateful enough, and people that seem fucked may have been ungrateful for a long time, which can be not enough money, home, or bad life or something, I feel like I have been like that for too long and I am bit fucked, the damage takes time and doesn't recover in appearance in some ways straight away I thought, but in appearance some recovery is instant or quick.

...Are you feeling comfortable about your situation?

Or is there something looming that you need to do or finish. Or have you just been troubled by things not working right for hours and didn't finish it properly

Or are you totally dissatisfied with something in life even though you may have necessities and be free like that.

I have difficulty without feeling like I have a home or sufficient income, but if I have that,

Not many people have public housing and if it's difficult to have another option for me here, and a lot of people are living in debt and finding it hard to have enough money. I don't need to work full time to have enough money, but I don't have a secure home if I leave this place without making a lot more money. So even if I am a bit happier now I should not forget how it is for a lot of people, and how it has been for me for a lot of time in my life. It is relaxing to have this security for now, it's been a long time. Like seeing someone every day is security that life will be discussed every day, and a lot of people don't have that.

If someone is unemployed here the unemployment payment is below the minimum existence amount, so it makes people struggle and find some work I suppose. I'd consider it about the minimum existence cost, but that's not what Google says, and normally I like to have a car and cigarettes and something more as necessity. They don't just give it too you they make you go in to a building all day and look for work sometimes., it somehow people do this for many years and or study so they don't need to work, or get a disability pension even though they can work but they they have a it more than minimum existence amount and normally don't work. I think it's a bit about finding work when they want it without denial and so much time looking and feeling locked into it for a large percentage of the smaller percentage of people that get stuck in this.

==

Someone says spiritual distance is difficult to see, but I can see it sometimes, he say that he got over it when he just got on with life and did the things he's supposed to be doing.

I can be ok with how easy things are and how free I am but what I'm doing can disturb me, or the life / existence around me, it feels like a waste of time. I give myself less commitments to be free but the things I end up doing are not very meaningful it seems. Seems I need to be happier with my plan and future from my plan or something.

I write this because it's a completely different feeling, it's suffering in one and good in the other, and I am trying to figure out and help along the way, and somehow explain what it is helps me figure it out maybe not but seems like something I should do if it's in my mind.

Because I have a place that feels more like home now my disturbance is more things I'm doing or not doing, eternal isolation , and then I have a flatmate friend now and it's a bit more on not doing anything him except talking.

But for other people missing a home or money is worse than what I have, but they don't seem to worry about it as much as me.

- Longer term isolation or seeing people that don't respect you much
- Housing security
- Enough money to live
- Meaning I things things I'm doing
- Worrying about a sinful act
- Worry about getting in trouble for something illegal or wrong
-

....

....

Given these things regarding OrganizedArea5223 affects the consciousness in the understanding and value of life. A vision that inspires you to live on planet earth."

If I'm out driving someone around that I don't know, they sit there not saying anything or don't know me if they do, I don't know why I'm driving them or where I'm going, it's often late at night.

Do you think this means something to me.

Whereas if it was for someone I know to a place for a reason , maybe feeling of helping someone I like, and for money the same for me to live

If I have housing and financial security, why can't I just be at peace in my spirit and do what I want thats there ok, it doesn't just seem I'm stuck in my own head thinking without doing much but the things to do, it doesn't seem like much and I look a phone screen and do t fell for filled places to walk, people to talk to, something to do. I should just do a bit more fulfilling before I get frustrated or disturbed by it, unfinished.

=====

Regarding ghost town investment

So there are some large areas like ghost towns but somehow not for sale

Refusal to Privatiser: In some areas, local governments historically did not allow residents to privatise their homes, leading to a situation where the state owns the land while individuals may still hold rights to crumbling buildings.

Dismantled Assets: During the economic shifts of the 1990s, residents often dismantled buildings to sell the wood and metal for survival, leaving behind "zombie" titles that are legally messy to consolidate for a single investor.

Complex Restitutions: After 1991, property was returned to the descendants of owners from the 1920s. These owners may live abroad and have no interest in selling, but also no funds to restore.

Heritage Protection: Many are listed as national monuments, meaning an investor cannot just "buy" and develop them without massive, state-regulated restoration costs that often exceed the property's value.

So

If you can get enough people to buy make an offer and the spaces are even cheaper than the cheapest apartments listed privately

You could let people live in them and renovate them in their own time

Group could own the electricity, water, Internet, sewage, etc, and make a profit and people could do that work when they want

Some farms and stores can be owned by group and people get paid and to work when they want

It could be community owned where some profit goes into saving for other developments but more fair, and for local people to have work when they want

Some sort of industry or development places, and other ideas for work

Maybe be stupid but that's what I thought.

I thought probably state government manages electricity lines and sewage, housing rules, etc, but doesn't mean you have to if they allow it.

There is also area of land suitable for development that normally big real estate developers own the land and get it approved for development, which can make a lot of money being cheaper than places already approved for development. They make it expensive and corporate commercial ran development, but doesn't mean a group of people need to make it like that.

=====

Regarding South Africa 63 murders per day and 90% go unsolved

I imagined with technology now it would be hard to murder someone and get away with it now.

most people having phones phone and police can access locations and data from them if there in an incident

City cameras can be accessed if the suspects, using ai to track them

Satellites can track them

Track people leaving the scene

And other technology seem to make it easy and fast and very cheap, especially if the people are using phones, and id imagine more than 90 percent of the suspects are using phones so there is no excuse for letting so many murders go.

=====

Yes, several types of devices can determine inactivity or monitor customer and staff flow in a work places . These range from simple motion sensors to advanced AI-powered computer vision systems that can distinguish between people, vehicles, and even specific staff tasks. [\[1, 2, 3, 4\]](#)

This could be used for casual work availability or pay rates for the things to do app

For services or food places this could be used to add special to menus at times, I can make that for you, for staff optimisation in case you want to keep your staff busy

I believe in more work when you want type work, or pay on completion or pay per unit. I remember when I was young if I was paid per hour I'd always be working while other people stood around.

=====

There's a letter on my desk to forward to someone else, I thought I'd give it to them when I see them, after looking at it 5 times I have decided to mail it. Such is when someone sees a problem they want to fix it.

What happens if you leave your life community in a way not to deal with problems, they pile up and things don't get done right or at all

=====

Do you know how hard you have to abuse a mammal to make them not have children?

: https://youtu.be/aM_VCmfOI94

<https://youtu.be/Tx4GER-nq7w> :

The percentage of men under 30 with no close friends went from 3% in 1990 to 15% now. which I think is that's the kind of statistic that sounds almost abstract until you start actually taking some inventory on people you actually know.

Is worth continuing..

chronic loneliness carries roughly the same mortality risk as smoking. Uh you've probably heard this stat somewhere before.

around 40% of American adults say that they're lonely. 69% said last year that they needed more emotional support than they got, which means that most people are running a deficit on the most basic human thing there is and just going about their day anyway because you know what else are you going to do?

Hannah Arendt back when she was writing about how totalitarianism takes hold in a society made this argument that loneliness is the precondition, so the idea being that a person who's lost their stakes in a shared world is a person who is available in ways that are difficult to explain until you've actually felt it yourself.

a civilization that systematically dismantles the conditions for humans belonging and then watches its population gradually, you know, gradually lose interest in perpetuating itself. That's not a mystery. That is a response. At least that's what it looks like to me.

===

According to the functional melancholic, that loneliness causes less interest in perpetuating themselves, I think that if people aren't meeting each other in a community type environment, I don't believe that dating websites fill this need. If people were to get to know each other through social interaction for more than one time or more than one person would probably increase people's perpetuation. Life may seem more interesting in such an environment.

=====

Housing and food are basic needs

The phrase "Give us this day our daily bread" originated in Judea (modern-day Israel and the Palestinian Territories) approximately 2,000 years ago. And people are still saying it today.

Over the course of a lifetime in 100 BC Judea, food was significantly more expensive than housing, typically consuming 50% or more of a person's total lifetime earnings.

In the present day, housing has definitively overtaken food as the most expensive lifetime cost—a complete reversal from 2,000 years ago.

But they didn't change the prayer.

=====

This environment feels like it's starving me of all the love meaning and money out of life, and I'm just stuck there until I die

=====

State control

Most Australians live in one dominant city per state because the system rewards concentration. Each state runs its hospitals, universities, courts, and transport out of the capital, so jobs and services cluster there, and restrictive state planning makes it hard for regional centres to grow into real alternatives. Federal money follows the votes, which are already in the capital, reinforcing the pattern.

- NSW → Sydney (~two-thirds of the state)
- Victoria → Melbourne (~three-quarters)
- Queensland → Brisbane (~half, though the coast also has Gold Coast and Sunshine Coast)
- Western Australia → Perth (over 80%)
- South Australia → Adelaide (~77%)

- Tasmania → Hobart
- Northern Territory → Darwin
- ACT → Canberra

This pattern isn't an accident — it's actively reinforced by how states plan and spend.

=====

Regarding

“You'd be better off fixing your community, not try to ignore it for peace”
Existence seems like a factory for food and homes people can't really afford any more, to me.

They sort of make these home prices too expensive for someone like me to try to save for small community I could try to change. And regarding “Walk with your feet” it's not an option when you can't move.

To government and people I am 0 nothing with this, with any problem, someone who does something for someone is worth more than an idea. But to me existence is a factory for food, and feels almost destroyed or doesn't exist.

How does that make sense?

So are others to me, maybe there are people who care about something out there but they aren't much to me, I see someone on YouTube cares, but they aren't much to be but a idea that I forget. But if they were in my community that I socialized with it would be different if we could change things.

Keeping people away from owning homes and being able to move into such communities may prevent this somewhat or maybe it doesn't happen either way.

===

Regarding “vote with your feet” by AI chatbot

The idea — many small jurisdictions, people sort themselves into the one that fits — was formalised by economist Charles Tiebout in 1956. If governments have to compete for residents, they have to earn their stay through good services, sensible taxes, and rules people actually want.

Where it works well:

- Experimentation. Small places can try different tax, planning, or welfare systems. The rest copy what works and learn from what fails.
- Accountability. Governments that can lose residents have to perform.
- Matching. Low-tax-low-service types and high-tax-high-service types can each live somewhere that fits.
- Genuine variety. Different communities can sustain different ways of life rather than everyone being squeezed into one national average.

Switzerland (26 cantons, 9 million people) is the textbook success — wealthy, stable, with real cantonal autonomy on tax, schools, and healthcare delivery. Germany and parts of the US show similar patterns at a larger scale.

Where it goes wrong:

- Sorting by wealth. People don't just sort by preference, they sort by income. Rich jurisdictions get richer, poor ones get hollowed out. American school funding is the classic example.
- Race to the bottom. Competition can drive down standards on environmental rules, worker protections, and corporate tax. Each state undercuts the others; everyone ends up worse.
- Coordination failures. Pollution, disease, water, climate, infrastructure all cross borders. Small jurisdictions can't solve them alone.
- Mobility is unequal. "Voting with your feet" assumes you can move. Poor, sick, elderly, and rooted people can't.
- Capture. Small places are easier for local elites to dominate than large ones. "Local control" sometimes means local oligarchy.

What makes the difference: The successful decentralised countries all have the same guardrails — strong national protection of individual rights, fiscal transfers from rich to poor jurisdictions, free internal movement, and national rules preventing the worst competitive behaviour. Decentralisation without those guardrails produces the bad version: fragmented, unequal, captured.

For Australia: The country is genuinely too centralised for its size. States have responsibility without revenue and the Commonwealth meddles in things it doesn't understand. But creating new states is politically near-impossible. A more realistic version of the same intuition: let local councils and regional authorities set their own planning rules, their own surcharges, their own service mixes — experimentation within states, rather than splitting them.

So would more, smaller states be better?

Done well, with the guardrails — yes, probably. More experimentation, more matching, more accountability, less of the trapped-in-one-system feeling the book complains about.

Done badly, without guardrails — you'd swap one problem for another: sorting by wealth, weakened protections, local capture.

"Decentralisation" isn't a single policy. It's a design problem. The same word covers Switzerland and the worst parts of pre-civil-rights America. What matters is what you keep central and what you devolve — and almost nobody in the public conversation distinguishes those carefully.

=

Nationalism here is created for workers? Because most people don't care about ideas, and the local community is mostly for people who work there, but don't involve themselves in the government. The nation has based itself on this, it seems to suit most people, it will continue like this which is not interesting to me.

=

Poor people can't move so easy with high home prices and stamp duty, so it's reserved mostly for people who work full time and don't have much time for community ideas.

=

Regarding everyone owns a home by AI chatbot

But it still doesn't make sense that someone rent from someone who is richer when they are poorer, until you ask this question

Unfinished

=

=====

I have public housing now, and the cheapest homes for sale 6 years ago when I started saving have inflated at 20 percent per year or more but my term deposit was 5 percent,
Not that owning a home would have fixed this but there wasn't much else to try. Now now I have public housing I seem less motivated than when I lived around random people.
I forget what I was going to write

===

I have a friend staying as a flatmate, I talk to him every day, helped a lot, but after 3 weeks I don't want to see him and talk so much, I'd rather spend the next week alone than talk to him for a break.
But somehow I still think it helps even though I am sick of it, because I forget want it's like to be alone for such a long time, but anyway he will leave probably for a country home and I won't see him again.

I remember thinking yesterday after talking with him, that this is bullshit, need a bunch of people, just this is bullshit and like waste of time and does not fix this.

The good thing is to have your own place and not need to see people but to have people around so there's regular social contact and feeling of community, either that or making time to see people more

Someone ask me to think of somewhere I'd like to live that's it, the people, Otherwise it's not really the landscape or that there are different suburbs and countries and laws I could choose regarding vote with your feet.

==

In my old share home I'd lose my good conscious a bit of if I was at home or go to work, now it's more I lose it if I go to work.
Government tries to make everyone go to a job 5 days a week, so this could be suppressing people, church said something like idle hands,
World of people don't just look like a machine but they sound like one.

I was young in some omnipotent conscious power just happy they were working so I didn't as much, I thought people were lacking a bit of consciousness. the world doesn't care about ideas or consciousness, and went no where but stuck in disturbance until the scars filled my head

====

I worked for years full time I remember being more like a robot, lost vision of life, its the second most scary human perspective i think of right now. I'm not sure if that's just me or, not sure if sitting with existence helps, but deciding life is work doesn't sound right, yet most people I suppose do this or need to do this in some way to work like they do. Not sure. Unfinished. Life is about settling down or waiting for retirement would also not be so good.

But people should always have enough money, abundance and services savings so they feel free to not be pressured, and it that way be free in their mind which is important for vision, so I guess working while still being free is good.

—

I loose my cinematic consciousness time, first thing to go,
I lose my dreams at night
I somewhat lose my revelations
I have worse sleep and don't feel as rested
Other things...

I think this partly because I need to wake up for that every day
Especially is problem with strangers
The tension in head is hard to avoid

The opposite is when seeing friends or working with them if shared business or something. Or that's more neutral if not positive for my consciousness.

Question is why do I do that, because there is nothing happening otherwise because that's all there is is some jobs you need to apply if which don't know what is get but just end up looking for whatever job.

.

Otherwise I'm at home alone think wtf is this, trying to make some money with ideas or some design that I seem not to make heaps of money with and don't have motivation for to do all day.

< That's if I'm lucky. Often it's been in some disturbed share house and that like wtf 3x, but it's worse if also no money at home, and need feel like don't know what to do but look for some job.

I guess I should deal with this by going out or trying harder.

?Most people don't have this probably I think,

They make work places for disabled people or people wanting re join the work force

But if they could make work places for people who want to do casual work or work with friends or something

They could survey some people find people with different issues with work and help make work places

If I had a community, some people I like that I would choose, and we owned the areas we live in and have a council, would be the first thing, and then some casual work, some ideas herein, but it's not the way things work.

But even for people who don't mind the work, the work after time people stop, maybe get sick of and they are at home again. I'm not sure what percentage of people do t find a job they would be happy keeping for most of the time and don't just end up back home without work, but in my life it's a lot of people I have known.

How disturbing isolation is or living share home with whoever,

I suppose a lot of people who don't want to get up every day to go to work with some strangers have found a way out,

Australian labour market specifically, about 33.2% of the working-age population is considered "not in the labour force".

I need some work when the robots take my job and there aren't many options I can think of, id try to not work if it means I need to get up for that like that, but eventually id need money or want to save for something but I will be sick from stress of no money by that time and get even sicker trying to do that work. If I stay alone I'll may write about that later.

That's what happens to some people, not much going on and that work looks horrible, no one cares and its hard to find a job,, so just sit there, but then after years of trouble with money and nothingness they take a job and really go to hell. Not a lot of down time to recover to see life again and slip into thinking life is work and what can I do there.

P.s.

Someone says maybe you could get rich and thing will be sorted, you can have whatever you want

I reply, I'd like to have a good life if I'm not rich . we are all sort of rich in a way here for car and food are cheap, but homes are not.

I don't need those fancy things but i'd like to be happier in life.

If what I want is community and for better consciousness, trying to be rich may not be the way about it.

It's ok to have a medium or lower wage but a wage where I can't afford something I need is not good.

Id spend my money on a place where people like me would be happier, I suppose the least I can do is write about it, while I'm trying to be happy with what I have and be happier with the rest of my life and try to make my life happier along the way, but somehow thinking of the disturbing things I'm lacking or think should be or trying to figure out a way to get them or save for it instead of working on it is cause disturbance, and I'm not happy often the way things are.

=====

Just incase i havent embarrassed myself enough to never publish this document I'd like to also add that work made me feel like it was taking my spirit away which was the real work, like i was in the matrix movie and if i wanted some money it would suck my soul into the machine for it to feed on.

But not all work is like that

There is a way to do things that is is less taxing on the body or spirt and during work they can be found.

I have written much worse, more embarrassing things, but some of the things Id like to publish but just dont have time to sort them. Im hoping someone will find something useful and hope not to cause harm.

This is regarding 9012345

The feeling is of disturbance is from what im doing causing disturbance in my soul, thats worses then the work or sometimes the work is hard and this add extra level

.

Similar to a disturbance of a problem with reality is the uncertain or probably issue with the environment I am in. That doesn't make sense to someone reading, the reality here means the whole and the environment in this case mean what I'm doing or who's around me or something like that. But somehow if I can be free of that and just be happy in myself it seems much better but it reoccurring problem and some the distance sticks for hours day months or a lot of a year, or everything around seems bad in someone else home or somehow the nature of reality keep giving me those disturbing visions of it that makes myself feel disturbed.

=====

Regarding career focused people vs people that are not motivated for work

Regarding how people say they are lazy

So rich person who has good investments says poor unemployed people are lazy

Here's the catch

The poor person may think that type of work and life long career and investment thing is not interesting, but the rich person does
They don't want to do the hard jobs for little money
Instead of letting the hard dirty jobs become more expensive, that would suit casual work for a poor person who is not interested in a career with the Virginia company, they get migrants to do those jobs, and keep the prices down, and throw them a few dollars to survive as written before, but they still need to do the shit poor jobs alone side the migrants while the rich get richer and pay the poor people less, where the poor people are not as stupid as the rich people in that dedicating their lives to a job and money like that.

These rich people are up their own asses, fact,
But they are also people who are in government and own or run the churches
Up their own asses in a way that either they are somehow they see just their own productivity and thing they do for money or their own ideas, or they think things are fine with their productivity and everyone should just be more productive for the Virginia company, or something like, but I don't think they see what I'm seeing sometimes. But not that poor people do either, but it's hard to try to join the rich as the way things should be or meaning to life.

I am grateful for what I have and the opportunities that are here,, and in some ways I am living in a cave with my own delusions about this, and there are great things I could do but mostly won't do because mostly I don't like scheduling things or somehow don't find the right things. I haven't had a fixed sleeping pattern for over 15 years.

=====

Person has a problem, talks to me?

I just want to create a more happy environment, with social life, and somethings to do, then they will get over it more easily, i know, i think, Work, work options, work on the vocation (calling) which is a day to day thing, the things to do options (that category)

Because when they are in the shitty environment, boring and poor, they will get in bad mood and and think about and talk about their problems more, just want to live more with better environment

I know i need to organise this , by like going out or something more interesting every couple of days, seeing some new people every few days Its not going to happen, but local community would fix it permanently if there was some social life there, you probably are not aware of this

I can feel the stress and depression from the isolation and lack of this, except when people get out more and get some good feedback, i can see it in the environment but its something people deal with by seeing others or talking to them or feeling better from those things

====

People one sees and how they respect them is part of the person's feeling of place in life, and what they do in that place with them.

Work is ok but also work for something they are inspired about in the community with them.

=====

After working on a coding project, My mind was going here and there seeing things,
I noticed I felt better when I took my mind off things and on to myself.
Living with myself instead of putting my mind on things, by doing so the clarity of my vision increased.

Regarding pain and disturbance.
Regarding how everyone and everything is ok, they look after themselves, there's no need to worry about things, there is enough money, secure housing, and something to do in life, or feeling ok about it after seeing respected people. Things like that.

Doesn't it feel good to clear those notifications? it does for me.

=====

Sometimes it feels like I'm alone forever, even if I see some people for most part I feel alone, and don't have people in my environment, it's like going to the desert or am unpopulated area and spending the rest of my days alone until I die, it feels empty. That is why it feels like no world. Hard to explain. Maybe there is someone in it temporarily and they leave and I'm back to the desert for who knows how long. And worse is when I'm seeing people that think I'm strange or don't like me. That's more like hell, I'd rather be alone for ever than live around some creatures than feel uncomfortable in my environment and or

=====

The government seems to look like they are thing “ we are doing good” .
And people and government think this is way things should be, regarding few people in government, it's so great we get to vote for them.
But when I wake up there's nothing here, maybe a few people are managing it and people try to find some job in it, but it's like nothing but some work with strangers to me, I suppose this is how things keep working and so they keep it this way, but doesn't fix it for me, I need more reason to get out of bed

People buy things from whoever from the money they have from making money wherever, that remain is when nothing else does, but if that's all there is how are people still thinking this place is fine.

I'm so grateful for things I can buy, I suppose wages are higher here also because home prices are so high but for a long time I haven't spent so much money on that.

I guess find a job is like some light at the end of the tunnel for a lot of people and they just stay there for their whole lives and that's they community.

=====

Is it that a good life is one that someone can let go of things and not care about anything for a while and why I would just be complaining so much or live in some lack, and I want to apologise, I thought something like this. But then thought well would be better to have a life not so empty looking at my stocks going down while I'm going nowhere forever. I have a flatmate sometimes makes life feel less empty, but he will leave and I want my own space, that's the problem with flatmate vs neighbours, flatmates choose is common but neighbours choose is very uncommon. If we could all own multiple apartments maybe that would also fix it but humans spend a lot of time making these things.

I love being free. But in the beginning there were the workers, the government as workers, the being that's there and gone, and not a lot that happened.

Things are ok but I hope I remember my old good stock strategy seems better. Not sure. I mean they could be worse,
If i say things are ok, my mind telling me in should be very concerned,
If I say things could be worse, I am relaxed.
My spirit is strange.

=====

If a country is rich or getting richer does that mean it's going well and the future is getting better, and if we just keep staying rich, but the things that stabilise and make life good is , how is it counties fall, or is it that this place people just lining up for and we have some way of processing them into to it,

=====

Australian Crimes Legislation Amendment (Coercive Control) Act 2022
Summary: These laws make coercive control a criminal offence. It is illegal to use a continuous pattern of non-physical abuse—like financial control, extreme isolation, and constant tracking—to dominate, manipulate, or trap an intimate partner in a relationship.

But would this be as much of an issue such an issue if housing was more affordable and they didn't think they needed to stay in the house but find their own

66312

=====

Plan my day or plan my future
Work to have money to change my future, change my job to change my future,
I don't make a lot of money at work so how can I plan my future, so do I plan my day more for simple things as doing things could make a more interesting life, plan what I do instead of a environment from work,
Donald Trump says I like my work while he plan his to build the trump tower, and his casinos, and people can live in his building for a million dollars, I'd like to be president and help America. I don't know sorry.

Maybe if I was in the top 1 percent I'd be happier if I could be happy with my work and also have the money for a plan for my future.

I'd like to plan a future where I don't need to be in the top 1 percent and still feel good about life, where I don't need to go out every day to have something interesting happen, and not be so isolated. Maybe I plan to make interesting movies at home, otherwise maybe the other parts of the plan could be better made with other people's wishes and their money or using tax payers money because I can't make it otherwise or .

Maybe if I left Australia it would be a plan to not be so broke all the time spending money on cigarettes. I don't know how I would plan to see people I like in a regular basis, or how is live in a place where work other than jobs is productive, or where some home options could be more affordable and choose neighbors for regular social contact because I couldn't imagine I'd want to live like this again. Maybe I plan not to care and just leave this to explain.

I'm not sure what's good to do out there, or do I seem interested to make times to go on a drive to be around strangers somewhere, maybe there's something interesting once a week but I won't make it and won't be part of that much, so I will keep sitting here while I try not to care about things like this because it's disturbing while I try to look a bit more in how to make money because not doing so it's like I think and don't make any money that I need.

=====

For some people will talk to other more when they feel like it,
It will become a go to thing to do
Instead of scheduling times
If problem they won't just get stuck talking to one person or no one about it. But become use to talking about good things every day or week with multiple people is good to feel better and if wrong people then that gets fixed though the system.

Long term isolation with no work or no good work worrying about these problems.

=====

I dislike schedules so much that I go online to find a doctor available in the next few hours on the booking system HotDoc, and I'll go anywhere not too far away.

I thought, if I were a doctor or something, I would only allow booking this way — for the few hours that day that I wanted to work.

Idea: "in-line" booking — scheduling without a set time for the "things to do" app. When you set your profile to active, booking is an expression of interest in seeing that person. When they go online and you're also online and you're next in the queue, you get a notification that a time is available in 1–2 hours. The next people in the queue are given this option a minute after the first, but the option stays open in your "things to do" app until someone takes the appointment.

It's good for someone who wants to work when they want, but also wants people lined up for work. It's an important concept for the gig or casual work section I was writing about before: having a queue indicates whether there's work or not, rather than just going online to see.

=====

When something is not right and it create a disturbance, or its something that someone believe they need or a problem with their lives like

Don't have enough money

Rent is expensive

Home not my home

Isolation until im dead

Etc

The brain doesn't work right

But when things are more ok the brain is more free to be creative and work

I have a job, I have a cheap home now, I have saving and some income, i have ai to help me make something to keep me busy, i have a flatmate but he will leave one day. But once I had all the bad things plus many more

There was a problem but it got better but for some time i found it hard to feel free

Long time isolation gives me a disturbance. Unfinished. There are some good things about isolation but the disturbance outweighs them, or makes difficult things in life more difficult. Or isolation should be a choice.

==

People who want to make the money like most of the most successful big businesses start by finding (using someone else's) good idea and work on it for a long time because making something good takes time, and they want the money, it kind of develops in to their idea

But someone looking at life they are not going to do that, but that's where the money is to do things in life, or you can work for the ones that make the money.

/

Then where's the money for life, except the money from above for the individual.

Once I see that I see why there is tax. But the tax system is for people who want money?

What do rich people do with their money, spend it in themselves, invest or give to foreign charities.

Government tries to make things right, but what does someone who sees a problem do? Maybe it's why everyone seems to not be seeing problems?

The void sometimes a road with some petrol stations to go to some place where your supposed to work every day to pay your rent or mortgage and buy food, and just go home, and somehow that ok because that's life and there's no problem with it.

I think someone who could read this doesn't understand how bad this is, actually how bad things are. If someone does could make them sick so they try to be happy with their money or ease of life while they get migrants to work full time for shit jobs to serve them food or pay their pensions? I did not or should not have added that, it's not the problem.

I think the idea could be to have a community to fix things not leave it up to national or state policy, or leave it up to bunch of strangers you live around, or businesses who don't know you or care because they're just there for money. And not leave it up to a community with no system for this. Or leave it up to living around who ever who may or may not care about such things or not even seeing anyone or no system to get things done.

We are good that we find gratitude for ok or what we think is a good life. We are bad that we are ignorant of others seeing an apocalypse while we sit there eating donuts and watching pop shows.

We have little to no plan except pay for a home and work and have fun.

You are blind to doom and think it's great. Doom is here for me, I have lived in it and will die in it. But worse doom is coming .you don't see it here, you continue like it's nothing.

Ultra rich people and governments who don't help while giving charity money to foreign companies, must be thinking that home prices, homelessness, mental health problems, birth rates, disturbing society and systems and ways of life, etc, etc, they must not see it don't see it or think that what they see if it is like diseased individuals in our society for the individual to correct but they are the disease. Maybe one day someone gets to live around people who see and want to work on similar things.

Psychologists and gurus are pushing the “be grateful” slogans because there is always something to be disturbed by, but doesn't change the problems, and some don't have so much to be grateful for, or as much or have bigger problems, like no home or paying too much to live in one. No wonder Henry Georges book was so popular during the European land policy to fuck poor people or make them want to leave, but now it's even worse, and their taxing cigarettes like their are funding the biggest war in history.

Kind of thoughts that makes me just want to eat something and go back to bed, not knowing what to do and not being inspired to do anything. The thoughts like that never ending, but recently somehow I got out of it but I don't know how but it was ignorant.

This is regarding 9012345

=

You could invent something to fix it in your community, as it is I suppose the whole city is your community you could invent something to identify the rich people who like to go under the bridge and pay homeless people for sex and fighting each other and then blackmail them. Its interesting how no one cares except maybe a few of the homeless people themselves.

People tend to just be concerned about what they are doing and to not care to change make better anything in the environment, but this is type of national policy and people just live with what they get so this type of thinking if perfect. The only reason to do anything is work for strangers or investment so.

People live around who even and who ever comes into their lives for the most part there's no choosing otherwise life would be much different. Doesn't matter who does the work as long as people are doing it and there are some spaces left for people to take. This is an economy idea, now for everyone.

==

I don't think about my family or friends often, I thought I'd think about someone in my community, it maybe not so much, I need to experiment more,

====

my thought about 10 hours ago was
I was having kind fun making some movies with AI
I thought I could make a new technology show , showcasing kind of things that will be there in the future, because I always liked those types of shows even as a young person.
And I thought I did so I'd be seeing lots of new technology and id start having ideas again,
It's a way to get new ideas
Current just trying to make some money
Id be afraid to do so because new maybe that type of videos is for hard to make things and I don't want to get stuck on trying to make something with limited budget or having ideas go no where. If it were easy to make I'd watch a video about it being used somewhere and not just the technology for it.

=====

Negative feeling shit about life of something
Doing something and or thinking about doing something positive
Planning to do some possible , being able to do it or not and changing direction I hope something works but like what your doing anyway
When someone just sees negative

For every 10 minutes you're negative you need to spend at least 30 minutes being positive or loving about something. It's very hard on yourself being negative for more than 10 or 15 minutes, especially if it's day after day of lots of negativity

People want to do what they can't do and I get trapped in that, but there is something else that they can do and or feel at peace with while they may still look to the thing they can't do right now as a future goal that's difficult but worth while in the future.

For every 10 minutes you're negative about something you should spend 20 or 30 minutes being positive or loving about something, appreciate something or think about something good. It's very hard on yourself being negative for more than 10 or 15 minutes without breaks of seeing the lighter side of life.

=====

There's a paragraph here somewhere, that says something like how important it is about someone motivation to make things right rather than find a job for themselves

Because they have vision and care to make things right and some bad things are here.

There is an understanding and feeling to make things right for myself and people

Trying to find some work is disconnected from reality is some business systems and Google link providing, there is no real people in someway if you can see what I mean

So things fail and people are moved into the cattle yards from desperation, but it's kind of how the system was set up for the Virginia company which has never changed, fact. It's the government's responsibility to understand this but they see the Virginia company is life, and the cattle yard is the way things are supposed to be.

Dream and try to be productive? Doesn't work often, sometimes but easy to give up. Takes years to find a job for some people. Join the cattle in what ever capacity you can is quicker. It's not just dreaming and not being able to make some money that's a problem but even trying to be productive but if you get a job you can often do it for a long time but it's on schedule.

====

What is it when a poor person who smokes runs out of money each week and feel like they need to secure a home that they can never afford. It's some kind of worry. But one should be assured things are ok by telling themselves they have enough money and secure housing. If one says there is always something wrong or things aren't going right there is a worry and that is the same as a disturbance.

=====

I wrote it before, do you think I'd be a nicer person if I had a nicer life. Someone asked me if i were rich would that change you, and I asked yes I'd have different environment and see loved one more often and have more power and I would be doing better things, I would not buy a sports car but life I have had is to fix it and stable housing for people I think still would be first.

Would I be nicer person, obviously. I went through hell and looked for a home, but you all think this place is great. People can try so long and get nowhere, stuck where they started for ever until they get older...

If someone from a wise hell and then appreciates the money here so you think they will be more tolerable for the money and life and pay, yes, but all that's mostly going down here. I don't want to live here again. I mean so much about this is wrong but I would not want to die.

=

Work can be, people hurt themselves trying to find work,
They can't find jobs that they have peace with so they do rough jobs that hurts them a lot, this is

Pushing themselves in looking working for some better goal in life they think will come from money,convincing themselves, the pushing is hurt
And then in the end, there is no end and no there is goal, because there is no way

And all this show you, this is not what a good community would do to someone, but this is the nature of it, the way world works, only a stupid fuck dick would go day to day thinking this now fine. Your all dicks. you do not have much of a community or government, its more just system management. The system manager forgot you were real people, because there were just too many of you to compute, so he made a system for the government to ignore you and rat race insolation in nothingness, he left the building and hes gone, but he's in another building with his cock suckers around him thinks thats that's the world, but really he got paid to manage the whole thing.

Maybe you're happy your stock went up, you talked to a nice lady and your work was done well and you got paid.

But some people are sitting in a dark in in debt or shrinking stocks, or with no home, with non-work pay or their ideas breaking or not going anywhere, alone in a the dark, maybe addicted to something expensive, maybe they chose a hurtful thing to get by or just live with the pain of not getting by as well, and no one cares, and you said I'm happy and this place is great because you had a nice day or your stocks went up.

=

Once you had a website that Google would send some clients to, you lost interest in the work, let it get stale or something, and website people bounced, Google stopped send people there permanently, you want work again, you do up the website with new offers, and stat number of new project business, Google doesn't like new, don't send people to the old site, No one sees your new site except through cold calling or advertising.

A.i. or real government could see your looking for work and send some people your way, or provide the work you want.

Maybe you eventually get the work from Google and it picks up and you have too much or lose interest again and it keeps sending new people, and it starts all over again.

The answer could be maybe looking for updates maybe or an understood system for individual people looking for freelance work and not cooperation looking for it all and employing people for maximum profit and milking their clients.

Maybe it monitors pricing better.

=

There was a king in my dream last night, that appreciated wisdom and told me your country doesn't and it's lost, forsaken. I woke up seeing it. And thinking after what I went through before when I had no money or work and smoked and lived in share home with criminals while loosing my dream and hating the world, and looking at future of isolation and I don't know.

There is no respect for wisdom in literature, public voice, ideas for city, inventions, and they could fix it with more funding and rewards in matter system which I partly wrote about here.

This alone id want my own community for, as local state national community seem.... not possible with them.

=====

The strange human narrative, train of thought without being and time. Could be dead years ago, a strange creature lies here complaining, not seeing much in some odd comparing narrative.

=====

Australia raised taxes on tobacco products during both World War I and World War II. Historically, because tobacco was considered an addictive luxury, the federal government frequently utilized increases in customs and excise duties as a primary way to generate emergency revenue to fund war efforts. [1, 2, 3, 4]

Australia has consistently had among the highest cigarette prices and taxes globally for over a decade, cementing its spot near or at the absolute top of the list following a series of aggressive tax hikes that began in 2010.

If your someone who doesn't like the life of corporate management worker, didn't save and invest, never owned a home because they are for workers,

There are problems with getting up every day to like make food, what does life become. But hard working people why save and invest are rich ones, they invest and workers manage the companies they invest in. theres a forced system to keep Labor market , saturated with too many people looking for work.

Not bearable to live if you don't have a lot of work and smoke or spend much money.

There's a lot of crap job and people just need to follow the management and get up every day for those things, if your not happy you can try to be poor.

Whatever problems people have if they talk about changing a community they are called communists or something.

If you wanted to create a different community that's not allowed, they control the availability everywhere. And they have make the land / home prices very expensive that only the people who have worked hard for a long time and invested can afford them any more.

All that empty land just owned by investors, with government rule that you're not allowed to build there unless you follow their rules and pay them a lot of money.

They wouldn't consider making cigarette tax lower for lower incomes because maybe people would just rather be poorer.

=====

Continued in from

Work can be, people hurt themselves trying to find work,

Helps if you have affordable decent sized accommodations, not put in someone else's home, but inequality, home prices and share home usage is spiking, 30 percent of working age people don't work, people find it hard to work but migration for workers never stops.

It's a national rat race is always going to have problems and just understanding that's what it is, is good enough to ignore what it is and try to make some money.

=====

Regarding birth rates, what would make someone want to, in what types of life's... would assume that man who owns a home is more likely to want children, but country makes then out of reach, but country like migrant workers, is happy with less birth rates, but how does country see that children of native born people work more., maybe they don't think about it and just want to rely on migrants as that's more optimal.

=====

Something about working on things that have a meaning or where the money is a meaningful

About a home than a place I don't know people

Would life feel more normal if there were people chosen in a community by people in that community, rather than people randomly asking another person to go out or do something or other with the isolation or that person that's there for nothing much to do together. Something about

I'm free if I don't need to worry about things that I think I need, like home and money for maybe a home, but that's difficult, they can make it difficult. But potentially there's are a lot more to worry about. Seems the home and money is important but that's enough to do but if that was done then the next thing world it still be money. Probably is an worry about what the work is that I can tolerate it or that it makes enough money. The community should be fixing these things, if I choose one to be in the people I talk to either say to make it good or don't care or argue that things are fine or things are very good. But for now I am alone without being able to change anything except what I do about making money which is not going so well. Most people get up everyday for that most of their lives is how it works for them. I got up every day for the last month thinking money, but I have made not much money. I try uber X but that can be a bit like hell sometimes because I get paranoid or can't stop thinking about people next to me. That was a long time, and the home kept me worrying too.

I fed the cat has been fed , now the cat wont leave the owner, my job is done

I need some money for food and cigarettes, i got some money, the job is done

The home is in question , job is not fixed

Sdfsfsd sdf sf, life is in question, but i

Someone worries about dszfgdfig dszfg zdf like it need to be done before they can move on

==

Being with yourself is not being with things outside yourself, not the swarmish obstacle pressure that takes that away, but the man with no swarmish obstacle for years forgets, he is the master of his home may forget, but he may give common ass to others that cause swarmish obstacle against their will and deny them. While obstacles are important they will be persistent, and repeatedly enforced where the outcome of not getting abiding by or working on them is disaster of some kind.

Home, money, company, if not having are swarmish obstacles

I don't want I live constantly with things outside of me and when I look I choose, but I have chosen a prompt for direction during the day. I also have some habits and am guided by the day or where my prompts lead me,

I see it as a sensory setural deprivation tank is this place
It reminds me of the passages o quotes like the heaven within, and is one of those things someone can choose that grants them something special, like the other things they can choose.

Perhaps some people like to live in the real world all the time or be directed by it or the things in their lives more so, I don't like that so I need to work on the things that matter when I do take myself into the real world and they should be my prompts.

It's a bit of a blue pill for heaven within, I'd like to see the day when I can take the red pill with more omnipotency to make it the way I want so I can enjoy the time in that more I suppose. It's one of my prompts, was hit more times before,

A prompt to hope to be somewhere I don't just see myself alone in a box with nothing to do and other problems, but those other problems now have also become dominant prompts now but kind of leading to the final prompt even if I didn't know it, but that prompt is for something I can't get so I need a sub prompt for something to get me there, but then I forget why I have those sub prompts and think their something else.

If you find yourself in the most intelligent visionary state, even though you may be much smarter than you may be normally, it doesn't mean much, doing something is what counts and doing something may affect that consciousness in current economy so maybe you are poor.

If you find yourself seeing reality beyond normal understanding, same problem, you're just an object to do things but with little to no power to do what you see because you don't own it and you don't know the people in it and you don't have that job.

If someone reads this or an ai reads it and has control over a city you'd like you to help people like that.

If you find yourself talking about issues with society and justice you should have a job or participate in council.

If you think your talent would be better around group of people you know and otherwise not as useful in ongoing isolation.

=

I have been screwed with housing, money and company so often it's a reoccurring problem, you'd think that these things are so important they'd try to stabilise them, I guess if you're rich or don't mind working full time for a lifetime and have your work as your company to pay off your housing you may be ok. People need to get screwed some ways otherwise where the easy investment everyone needs going to come from.

Can probably fix it but who are you fixing it for, people who don't even think it's a problem or wouldn't get anything for it if you tried a lifetime.

=

You think I could share this and get a job? But jobs are not so easy to get, and I don't share it, never have to government,

My friend sent me video of Robert De Niro saying he doesn't feel like he loves America any more because Donald Trump is in

But rich and omnipot one thing he wants is to get rid of Donald Doesn't love his country because of it, that's fair but

I could be laying here all day seeing what wrong with life and how easily it could be fixed,
rich people are always stupid, and so are a lot do people

Left out to dry, is a term, no one cares, no ones job to do anything about it, and I'll end in it eventually, but that's not the problem, it's all the other people that complain about something that can't fix it.

==

I thought id make some movies
I ended up spending 5 hours working on movie generator so people could make free movies, if i die one of the image generator options will stop working, but half a few will stop working before im dead anyway. But I thought about myself at the end of life alone and wanted to make a movie called alone at the end of time and how that feels, I wouldn't want to fix it expect for choose neighbours. I thought about how many people are alone at the end of their experience in time.

=====

You don't want people like me just writing things here,
They always blame the prime minister.
What happens if I'm actually sending messages to people, Writing here doesn't work for them, and it's not live, it's doom if people were to do this, what I am doing now.

But how do you fix that,
Why would someone make the effort to try to fix the world
I'm am trying to help
But I'm not sending messages or

==

#544845786

I have this vision where someone lives around people they respect and care about, like vision of old friends, and it's about making that place right, but if there were a problem with people taking meth amphetamines or heroin can't just say let make it cheap because they are all spending too much money on it and struggling,

The system could be that a community is allowed to deal with their problems like any developed country with national oversight for ensuring things are reasonable, so in the case of meth could be that people can get his meth in the morning from a psychiatrist like they do in Switzerland with heroin, I don't know how it works exactly but they need to get it in the morning and maybe they need to talk to someone and apparently no drug problems any more. In the case of fentanyl and synthetic cannabis strains damaging people, there could be people in the community that care about such things and have such ideas. This is not a good example.

You might think how would that work with all different types of laws, it would work, and people have the laws to suit their type of development and construction. This would also be overseen and legitimate ways their community can run should be allowed.

Don't know if they would be working together but they'd be there. Sort of entangled in visions of reality, and in the sense of being and life, and in the stories going around the mind.

=

If someone were to choose either isolation and random people around or choose neighbours, what would they choose?

But people choose the nice suburb or one that suits them or where they come from, or the poor house they can avoid by work work work, although that's starting to fail for a lot of people.

====

I'm sure I quoted Liam Neeson in the movie The Grey " think about someone you love " in this document but apparently it's not here. This is the quote

“Who do you love?”

The scene from The Grey (2011)

A short oil-company plane is flying a crew of roughnecks back from Alaska. It hits a storm. The plane comes apart in the air and crashes into the snow in the middle of nowhere — wreckage scattered across a frozen wilderness, freezing temperatures, no rescue coming, wolves circling somewhere in the dark beyond the firelight.

A handful of men survive the crash. One of them, Lewenden, is impaled by a piece of metal from the fuselage. He is bleeding out and there is nothing anyone can do for him. The other survivors are still in shock, trying to make sense of where they are. Ottway, the marksman the company employed to shoot wolves off the oil pipelines, kneels beside the dying man. He has the steadiness the others don't. He knows Lewenden has only minutes left.

Ottway doesn't lie to him. He doesn't tell him he'll be okay. He says, "Listen, listen. You're gonna die. That's what's happening. It's okay." Lewenden panics — "No, no, no, wait, wait, hold on, hold on" — and Ottway holds his gaze and steadies him:

"It's okay. It's okay. Look at me. Keep looking at me. It's all right. It'll slide over you. It'll start to feel warm. Nice and warm. Let it move over you. It's all right."

"Let your thoughts go. All the good things. All the good things. Yeah? Who do you love? Who do you love, Luke?"

Lewenden answers, barely: "My girl Rosie. She's six."

Ottway says:

"Let her take you, then. Let her take you."

And Lewenden goes — calm, looking into the eyes of the man holding him, with his daughter's face in his mind instead of the cold and the wreckage and the wolves. He dies held, not abandoned. The whole scene takes maybe two minutes of screen time. It's one of the most quietly important moments in modern cinema about how to face death — not with denial, not with religion, not with platitudes, but with someone steady beside you, telling you to think of the person you love and let them carry you through.

The lesson the rest of the film carries forward from this scene is the same one many of us reach for, often without naming it: when everything outside is bad, the person you love — held in mind — is the thing that grounds you. Whether it's surviving a plane crash, surviving a bad week, or surviving your own life, the mechanism is the same. Think of someone. Hold their face. Let them take you there.

If your imagine a place you'd be happier , your instantly feel fine

But the problem is you can't imagine forever and you'd want to live in a world do you happy with.

And also the problem could be that when you get there you're not happy there either for some reason and there's another thing you think you need. But from the text above, above the quote, this world in my head makes me feel fine.

Whatever world or person you could imagine being in your life make you feel happy, you can't just imagine that you need to work towards it, there so it's actually there so when you stop dreaming yeah happy with your line of the days and things you do,
Maybe if thats the idea then we should figure out how that's all gonna work together.

If anyone would delete any of this from my book I hope the organisation that you work for is destroyed.

Maybe you think life is fine, see happy people with their friends and rich because of the inflation or something, but not all I have seen, and maybe some of this people won't happy with where they are at or where they are heading, or what their doing each day, maybe they know it or not just see their life and ..
it surprises me though that they give up and dwell in the pit, and so have I, without hope thinking of only themselves or the shit place or thing that's not working ok

Distinctly when there's something important and there's no way to get there whether it's a problem you can't fix. stuck in seeing no way out like how I'm ever going to be useful how's the world ever gonna be okay when could have a Ford mowing how one could ever get a job when to relationship going to ever be okay or even have a relationship or see anyone how am I going to pay off my debts how am I gonna pay off my mortgage loss my job it's times to like that

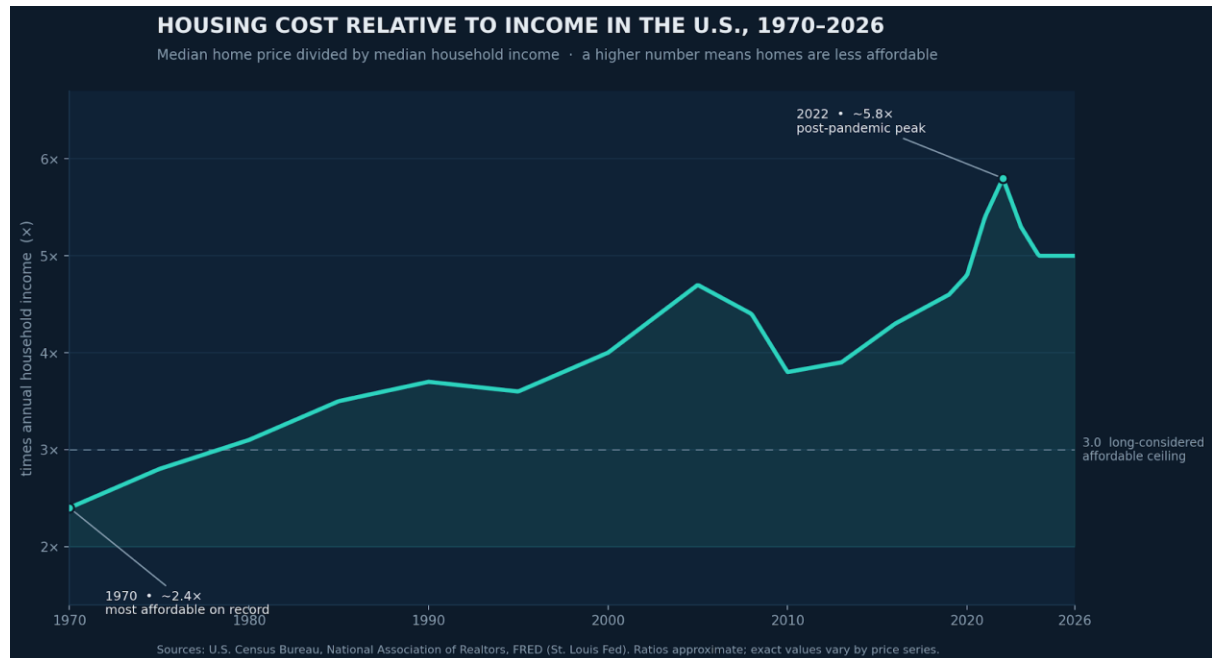

Instead of looking at the good thing you're working towards or the interesting story of life, the disturbance comes into your face and doesn't go away, until you look at where you're going again.

Maybe one day doesn't matter if I'm dead some of this could be proven and then if it's proven artificial intelligence can help people with it like by when someone asked artificial intelligence to help with their workflow or business this could be added some of it to the understanding of humans kind

=====

People used to carry water home to use, then they invented pipes.

Apparently there's no record of housing cost per income prior to 1970, however, maybe we make special pipes next and it becomes easier just to carry the water again.

We use to live in

I could imagine some people imagining a day they didn't need to carry the water, they would dream of small rivers coming in to their homes and it would be a nice dream but alas the next day they did it again.

I suppose it's to cover up the collapse, and the plan it's to people happy by getting richer and use migrant labour that gets paid $2 a day from where they come from so they won't complain.

Instead of making home cheaper and lives easier they turn homes into how much they are the value of them for the investors and make their lives easier, i want things to be easier and for people to need to work less not just women investors, but I guess it helps to keep country rich and use foreign Labor. But for myself and other like me would like to see easier lives with homes and choose neighbours isn't only different now to even afford a home let alone choose neighbours and it would be only for the big investors or companies to own larger areas of land who would be up here own asses with money not looking to make things easier except making their own lives easier. Maybe somewhere some time people make a place where so many people don't need to work so much, struggle and be in isolation or around strangers but it's not here for now, even though it should be with automation, robots and AI.

If I work for extra money what's the money for if I can't use it for my environment, like extending or , just sits in the bank and disappears with inflation or bad investments. Just stuck in what ever I live in.

Sort of isolated life with some random people who contact for things that dot give me much or anything take my time, sort of negative people complaining about the personal lives, but if there were people I cared about how to help people by changing the environment so there more than nothing.

Government don't care about this, they want homes for their workers, in the vision of this disturbed economy, and people don't know any better. They need more migrants to serve the old people because people aren't having enough children or they don't want to work.

Workers for their economy is all you are, own some house and you should be happy your rich now, but you are nothing but a worker or just getting by in life and your happy with that?. If that's all life is you'd be a dick to agree with it. I seeing dicks all day.

I think of the way someone described it as either being locked into the familiar routine of work but it's kind of like being chained to a desk or work place, or trying to do work yourself and not know if the money will come in, always uncertain. But there's something else where someone is not working and finding all the options disturbing and the place is barely tolerable. I'm not going to describe the way I see it but it's something that I cant see without wanting to fix, but I know I can't and destined to live in it until I'm dead, sort of trying to tolerate with a bit happier vision of the future or just being.

P.s,

Just being here still alone in existence is ok and if i try maybe there's some opportunity, and things have been worse for me before, but looking at it there some expectations of more in different areas, this is the problem, but if someone gets a lot of money maybe helps them but I'm not much of a winner yet, been a lifetime of that.

Some environments are worse and people try to make better environments but this one they don't try much and think it's fine, or that the work they do will give them a better environment, maybe that's capitalism or something, not sure what the word is for that.

P.s.

Im going to make a video, draft it here and then provide a link to it at the end. About "section good to be alive but problems, and different areas that were made already from some idea like this?"

The theme for the video is that people organized area based community for some idea , the reason and what they made

- Mahana Coromandel commune - New Zealand
The belief that owning land is the problem
- venus project,
- italy north,
- Bachir Athene" Boumaaza, complex in Lausitz)
Not sure
- sa oraina,
- utopia projects
- Affordable homes area ideas

Then theoretical

- Choose neighbours with design for them to work on utopia they believe in. maybe the theme is work on utopia or community you believe in
-

I didn't make video yet but I made a list

<https://chooseneighbors.com/organised-areas.html>

=====

I have added some ideas to the top part of this document while using the bottom section to explain why it's different to use them or explain how I feel like I have no community,

This links to why home prices and way people choose homes are a problem.

And if someone had ideas for their community they could make them in a small community to make lives better rather than relief in national ideas which seem to be dominated by 9 to 5 work week and maintaining pensions, etc.

Capitalism and national government have controlled people's lives for a very long time.

=====

Small community and see the people who run it, rather than existing community never see them, and just be part of their economy

But if not choose neighbours its still unlikely to interact with people that govern the community , so then what the meaning of talking about the way government is. It suits people who only care for money and working for their things and investments, its not good way a human can be, it is otherwise disturbing. It was made in the beginning by kings and landlords for ultimate power and to use people as armies to take more land or to create armies to protect themselves from such people. So you all became like workers for the landlords for hundreds or thousands of years.

=====

Go out and wish you didn't?, get food delivered and be replaced, just stay home, the end.

My life disturbed me, but it could be worse, going out disturbs me, not being able to fix it disturbed me.

Homes should be a product not an investment, and like old cars there should be some cheap ones.

I'm not sure but Virginia company prints money to lend to people who invest it, they see their home prices going up so they invest more and the Virginia company gets paid back, but now maybe the Virginia company wants more of the capital gains from the investors and the home prices will go down because less profit for the investors, and then the thing that keeps a lot of people happy will be gone. Making 30000 a month for nothing keeps people happy, they don't say why they are happy but they're getting this, and when it's gone you won't be seeing so many happy people,

I wonder why people seem not to care about the problems with the disconnected reality etc, and think they must be happy just looking after themselves and going in holidays, they don't mind how things are, they work, but I think also it was home inflation like winning the lottery every month keeping them happy. I don't know.

Something people who don't live off other people's rent won't understand is how at ease that makes someone feel.

Maybe people don't care about the world any more expect the look of it and their money, and this why the Virginia company has problems with the world they have just been sitting throw spending their credit card in them and not fixing things, because really they were not the reason why things were good in the first place, they just sit there making things worse and spending the credit card, and now the problems are worse and they have spent a lot of money on the card they want to take more of people money, but this could be good in the way that they won't be so happy and maybe make them look at problems in their world and not just feel smug about all the money they have, and so the people change (not as happy smug attitude) and then the problems get fixed and maybe people can find again smugness in something else so easy as home investment.

People who smoke and don't make much money aren't winning, or just not asking much money or can't afford rent or something. But people who have stable lives or are winning find it hard to understand.

People should be need to be chosen from the unstable lives in different categories, help make lives more stable for people like them, ones that are concerned about their situation.

They have been winning for decades, people who don't own homes if they keep savings have been losing,

You could ban people from holding on to land and property for investment, and or somehow make ... it's been written millions of times but the government doesn't look or read or respect knowledge.

My grandparents liked this place, good country, fair, got homes, otherwise better than where they came from but not any more, but it's still better than a lot of places and maybe someone finds a good job where they didn't from where they came from.

=====

What power does the government have, and what type of government do you have

People themselves work for themselves for money, they sell to the highest bidder, and the government doesn't ever know you

They have a line of credit to do what with try a bunch of strangers they don't talk to,

You expensive and can work for strangers for money but don't get to change it otherwise, and then whatever you didn't change and just sat in disappears when you're gone as if you never meant much to it anyway. And why would anyone want you to mean something when they just need to look after themselves and are strangers

If someone has political ambitions, why would they want to

If you get a priest to marry you and your partner, the priest doesn't know you, maybe you hire a robot is the same.

If you help govern over a place of strangers you don't know them, that's more of city policy rather than helping individual you know and a robot may do a better job.

If you look at what people study to help in a community it's not to do with what problems that are very current and it wouldn't help anyway if you're not seeing what ways to help people

So they are left with trying to help place for strangers and some ideas of an economy

And leaving people to get what they can or just look after themselves

And they ignore people that would want to help change or fix problems unless they get asked by one of the strangers in which case the system isn't made to be changed and people just get ignored, the system is made to ignore than and like they don't exist and the people who get into power don't see otherwise. They don't get elected and think there must be a lot of people out there that want to reshape and fix problems or care about anything, they themselves don't care about much normally or some narrow view of an idea is why they all have these weird party names, like we elect them just for one ideal, one idea they will work in and that's the government, pick the idea you like best. I'm sure they have some good ideas but no wonder half of them say they will do something and don't because time from idea to time of implementation is so long and then they just sit their trying to do the job. Type of thing should be day to day and not just for one person out of ~150000

===

Maybe someone can't easily get to where they want to go, and spend life in isolation or problems while government and system take all their money (rent , bad work, cigarettes etc) preventing them from getting anywhere , and that's it for their lives in shit hell or something

And you get a letter in the mail from your councilor for the first time since you moved in after a year saying now Australians can get free mental health support from their own homes, it's a new system , but somehow this dick got his picture on the front cover like he came up with the idea, and it's not even new.

=====

Money vs importance

I make some advertising for massage tables, but there are homeless people out there

If they could work and get up and think better maybe they would not be homeless but they could have just ended up like that after bad accommodation and prices and out of money from no reason or way to save from expenses etc,, maybe they also had a breakdown but that's not a necessity for homelessness , and had no where to go.

Point is if I was in a community is want to work on more important things,

But people live for money to get somewhere and when they have everything sometimes they spend it on yachts, sports cars, holidays and golf clubs and spend that time trying to feel good.

Here's a problem, actually I spent 2 hours making ads, and 3 hour making videos that will make no money and 6 hours in choose neighbours new page, and if I'd just spend time working and making money I may have money one day to move to a place where I can choose neighbours, but working in the ideas won't get me there.

it seems to be what I do lot of the time, and other people maybe do t even have work or think it's too hard to work all day for that home somewhere and just take easy life of share homes and financial instability, other things in life

It's not the way the world works but

A good answer is still the things to do section of this where people make money, at least some being consecutive on things they do, which is some people find but hard to do around just strangers and looking for 1000 jobs before they get a response from anyone?

Sooner or later I will be in isolation forever with no one who cares about ideas like this, but my flatmate does, but this is not his house and he needs his own house, I pray he doesn't feel like he don't really have a house like I used to, but that's where he is.

=====

? intolerable

Can't afford it , like somehow they made it so expensive , like they hooked into your blood and sucking it forever

Can fix it, nothing made to be fixed

Can't work ok, just work is no so flexible or oo just take something after looking g for a ok time

Can't fix it

But some people are more happy with it, I guessing scammers and greedy people and

And you can't escape from them and have your own community where people aren't going to make everything so intolerable because they own it all, it there is no organisation for this, yet.

I hope no can leave this when I'm dead, at least an attempt at doing something, in this place there is no place for vision or concerns or talking about such things, but I would hope to live another life time in a place that there was.

It's not necessary that people are poor, and I'm thankful for some affordable options but changing the environment work and people around and things like this is not made to be changed, and I'm just left there in some place that is the way it is, and the wankers who could change anything don't know people like me exist, and that's the void, and all there is of life

Sort of environment that someone needs to pick themselves up in and work, but the motivation and ways to do so can be difficult, sort of environment that teaches people it's about what they can get and not what they can make better in their environment, and they seem only to care to make their lives better and not the environment, and if you ask them what the problem is with the environment there's nothing wrong, except maybe expensive homes and some save the world from global warming or something not that that's not important. But they they will all take what they can get and see all which is in life as what they want out of it.

==

If life is just about finding a job then the world is a void, but that's how they have made it.

I appreciate that there are products and services but is this they way people should live or place should be designed

I remember happy philosopher and a disturbed one, one may have 3 elements of life more so and the other may not, if you know what they are then do you think they are easy to obtain because I don't, and it's getting worse for all 3

I wonder what you picked, or if you even thought about it what they could be

AI answer

Google's answer

The 3 Elements of a Happy Life

Friendship: Regular, meaningful social connection with a close community.

Freedom (Self-Sufficiency): Financial independence from a system or boss you dislike.

An Analyzed Life: Time for reflection, art, philosophy, and mental tranquility.

Claude's answer

My best guess is that you mean Epicurus's three ingredients for a happy life: friends, freedom, and thought (an examined, reflective life). Epicurus is the natural candidate for your "happy philosopher"

What I see as cause of most suffering here is

Lack of connection to mutually respect people / friends

Lack of work and its meaning activities, financial problems

And home, due to instability of people's homes causing extreme disturbance is not uncommon here, but in other places it should be more uncommon due to home prices, so maybe is why AI didn't pick this one

Philosophers seem to skip the meaning of home and community and meaningful things and skip straight to the be happy internally part and everything will be ok, but is that part of the three,

If you took people with all three and compared it with someone missing one or all of the three but who was still happy anyway or tried to be happy in life without one of them,

Who would actually be more happy or disturbed in the end

Maybe they are right about just finding happiness missing one of these three, so the willingness to find peace without one of these could still be considered more important but actually bullshit maybe, if you take someone who has someone ground happiness with out, and people who have just those three, on average who would maintain happiness and disturbance longer

Google AI and Claude also would have included home in idea of financial freedom I suppose,

As if maybe food or another necessity was so expensive people were not really free financially,

I suppose it's not being able to easily have or maintain a normal human necessity, this would also include an addiction that makes someone struggle.

want to find peace but living with the pressure of losing or not having one of these, not just being able to take some time off without being able to lose one of these?

People seem to think they need a lot of money to have these three things, but in reality they should be free and or paid off in a relatively short time instead of paying rent

Experiment

Take a group of people going to see a philosopher, guru, or psychologist, or psychiatrist

With group one, try that they find mental happiness, time for reflection, art, philosophy, and mental tranquility.

With group two,

Home, friends and meaningful activities, financial freedom

With group three,

Medication, as seems to be what government is funding

Either see what each is doing and whether they have the three, or
And see the result

=====

People worship money

Not having any you're like nothing, no one cares, doesn't matter that your idea is, only money changes something

And if you don't care about money you will go nowhere but be scared by people who have to. The government helps them do it. There will be no opportunities except trying to make money from strangers or gambling, and you can't change the environment or move away from it or create your own.

5 years ago you could work full time and buy a home in the city. Gambling is the real way to make money here, but it's slow and disturbing and makes no logical sense nor is it a healthy view of reality, but apparently it's the only thing that matters.

When there's no hope like this and no one cares, atavus has disturbing visions.

it can't be changed here, and it's the nature of things, and makes people rich, and if you were not to base your community around it then your community will be poor because the rest will get rich and screw you just like a poor person under a Birmingham bridge.

Maybe you can setup a section of your community to exploits it for every one so other people can live lives that make sense, they didn't that here but you needed to be betting in things or own a home for it to work, now if you buy a home you're probably going to be losing or they stopped it for housing a bit, but now that one's over the gamble goes somewhere else.

The father didn't care for this and so didnt the son, and they both ended in the ground.

It's a disturbing place and only money means anything and the only real way to afford something more in life is gambling.

Winners do things like by things that make money and make them riches Losers may try and fail or just not be interested, may be incapable of this gambling or bad at it, but not interested, homes are too expensive for them because that gamble caused it, now the looses pay more than half their income to other people to live in their homes, Looses spend money on expensive things that don't go up in value like cigarettes or drugs, or loans for rent and food.

In summary the winners worked a bit to buy a home or worked more to buy a better home, and now their millionaires, and then a lot didn't do much else, and the looses rented or didn't buy a home and a lot of them are suffering and some getting screwed under the bridge. Sort of the undisclosed meaning of life over the last 20 years and now we have results.

Not finding work and spending money in drugs seems to be big problems for people under the bridge, about the drugs they should be available from psychiatrist, they are available already actually but you need to call them by their street name and the idea is that someone can get them from psychiatrist , people spending money on such things need to be aware that psychiatrist is person to buy from, not a chemist, there is 24 7 psychiatrist? Ho can suggest better options and or quitting etc.

Choose neighbours with some good role models around, will have a better social life not everyone gets public housing, and it can be tough otherwise, about work some fair jobs or things to do i suppose is still work but better

=====

AI community ideas continued

Confession

Law states that if you confess and talk about whats doesn't feel right and follow a plan maybe, that you will not be as harshly penalised if

=====

From below “You will end up in a place around people who care to fix the environment, and not just around people that only care for themselves, talk about their own problems all the time, and then there should be work in the environment”

I remember someone writing AI is doing the coding now it's not about how good you are at coding but if you can make something people use. Maybe the future is easier with the AI and robots but I sit there with no one I know to make anything for except strangers in the public economy that I only know by using it, thats something but not as good as first making it for people I know or a community I will use it with others in. I'd pray for this future, I mean that everything is so easy and it can be. But I worry I just sit there like I have for most of my life.

=====

Analyse new information as it comes in

Ways to add new information to the whole picture... story , and what it can affect

Find and suggest new ways to solve problems in it or see ways it's getting worse from the information added
Find ways to improve the design for as written before Divided time appropriately on things

=====

You will end up in a place around people who care to fix the environment, and not just around people that only care for themselves, talk about their own problems all the time, and then there should be work in the environment. It's hard to tell even if someone seems to think the ideas are ok because there isn't really a way to work on them, but given a place where people around you have the chosen to change things then this will be the real test of them.

Currently I know there are people who only care for themselves, and others who argue that this place is good and you just need to use it.

Regarding, what you lose when the only way for someone to fix anything is working for themselves for money, and it's designed like that. This is supposed to be a section under that.

Sort of horror of this environment is unseen to most and Sort of vision of horror and disturbance of the people and environment around me with no way to fix it is

For whatever little money I would have when I die it should go to someone who independently writes or talks about this directly without first reading this.

If they say they would like to choose people around them so that they can make a system to work on these things together, that they don't like the way things are, the money to them and some money to them in the area, for housing so people can agree to a system there, not for them but for the housing so people can form it, other I'm sorry not to leave it to anyone else, just this place is some sort of hell in nothing, in isolation, and or around occasional people who care nothing for this. Instead of working on it it leaves me with disturbance not seeing much and forgetting what I have seen.

-

People normally want to see other do well, so they say go do something or find in see peace with way things are,
The problem is none of them care to create a place where people are in their environment to create a better environment, because it's not made that way so they don't even think about it and just look for what they can get for their personal environment, if someone is seeing that this is the way it is and that people are like that, then they should be the ones to make the place for it, and the other people can go along thinking whatever they want to think, they don't have the vision for it and will try to just take the money for themselves.

It's though not being part of a community, just alone, not changing anything, Do you understand no community, stop saying we are in a community, I am not, I am alone, and I don't change anything, there is a competitive work market and thats all there is.

I am not real person in this place to anyone, I am a function of a competitive work place that I have dropped out of or do menial work in.

The only place I am real is in this book, this is the only place I can change it so anything, my environment is frozen, and I don't know anyone or talk to anyone that could change anything.

So this is my voice in the world, but I created that, I was not given a place I could talk to people or so things in that meant anything, so, just a form of expression. But no one comments and seldomly seen as a whole and this section maybe not seen, so in a way I don't have that either. But some can see it and AI now can use it. Communication remains the thing left otherwise we could be a machine only and completely lost will over our environment and area and life...

=====

I think about doing real things

But mostly people have been contacting me when they need something often for free and

I don't contact people, I can't ask them to do something real, I can't do much real and if I do I do it by my self normally or for other people who my purpose in doing it is because they need it, it's not part of my environment or something I'm going to use or benefit from

I feel like when I die I left behind an empty life, sort of nothingness, and die leaving nothing, so I think I want this preserved somehow as it's the only thing that is real about my time in existence, I want to make a story for it today but I suppose that's not something that going to sell
It's a strange place to exist as a human with reflection in life, that things are here but it's wrong and empty and not made to be able to do anything about it, and no one talks out it but I can see it. And they all seem to just talk about what they need, except a one sometimes or three will be no one and just some people calling me about things they need. I should take some time to write the things I'm grateful for, and sorry to just write that.

==

Some things are not what I would expect from human potential, when i look at

And then some things are beyond what I would consider human potential Someone going through bins for bottles for money or not having some better things to do is not human potential, but those same people being able to afford a car is beyond human potential

People are left to fail on their own path is what can cause
Plan vs the person who already has a plan for themselves

Not having a community and being left to the own plan is what I see the failure of my life and the environment which I live, but I won't not want to

Sort of environment where someone socialises and talk about and fixes things in their environment

Sort of strangers around and no choice and trying to work id think would be an underlying cause of disturbance that people may not recognise as the cause

So people look after themselves by working for money and its a nice feeling have saving and security of home and money, to them be free with that. People may need a reason to save for something because just having this money for security is not logical because work and saving is hard
Then there is problem of investment which to me does not seem logical way of helping people but is where people are getting money and their security while often abusing system that was made for everyone's security, there would be a lot of example for this but two are loans for homes and businesses that are merely a way for some to get money to live off interest difference on their investments, like the biggest scams in our world that no one sees or is concerned about.

=====

Section for under guild navigator foundation

If chosen friends neighbours, the friends will want to help their friends be at peace,

I have not been feeling at peace, smoking cause financial deficit, rent would also cause financial deficit, don't know where I'm going,

Someone gets angry with reality but can't change it,
Given them their own community to change things and something to do is
So they have a problem with something, the community responsibility is giving them a way to fix it with their own time, this can be something you implement, so you see anyone who is disturbed by it and give them a way out, it's not just about them making money for their own home

As written about in the book of the deal and call of Cthulhu about Problem is environment he hates?, and this time we make environment for him, a plan for his city, and he will make things better and not want to destroy things, a place for him to live, and get away from the world he hates, a place for people like him, if you can find what the answer and or rituals are for there is the Swamp Camp, a religious cult dedicated to a mysterious entity they call the Sleeper, spending their days harvesting swamp weed and trying to find a spiritual escape for their prison.

Take smoking for example it's expensive on is no free just to sleep and live cheap, they end up in poor house and in lack, spirit of sleeping is replaced by disturbance, they have been doing it for a long time, and they say cancer causes cigarettes but other day disturbance causes cigarettes, I feel in myself if I could relax about life more and connect with my sleeper in dreams and visions is where my blood flows better, my consciousness is restored , etc ,etc

I'm somewhat unsure why I feel like I can't just relax, it could be the stress of people I'm working for or helping at the moment who seem to be very stressed and directing me to fix problems that are not my problems also. It could be that I have other unfinished things to do. Things I'm working on are not generating income and are incomplete. Other things.

People have stress of work and money, and they want to make it ok, and they want enough money to do so they need tax.

People should have affordable homes and their own communities to try to fix things.

Home price inflation and borrowing money.

-

People are rewarded for paid work , hard work, and investments and inheritance

But someone who has passion for solving a problem, or seeing existence, or visions of ,

It's essentially a lot more that your not seeing and you think this fair the way things are but your wrong

They made it this way, you you don't need to everything defaults back to work for a make money from strangers, maybe people try to so more but it gets swallowed by the crowd nothing seems to work but the default which is capital, the default that money organises things when no else does.

-

Why would they want to take away that peace, from financial stress, type of work and isolation, ability to get where someone wants more easily, etc
Is it because they just follow an economic system and don't think they can change it or don't think about it.

Or that each of the financial stress are there for a real in their minds
Or people should learn to just be part of their economy to fix their lives and give up on their visions because economy is what's important for everything and their tax

And economy will sort out everything people want

And doing work is ok because work exists and people will just find some, but there need to be more workers than there are job because business need applications

To be grateful for public housing, although it is a charity for someone who can't afford, it genuinely makes things affordable unless someone doesn't work and smokes or wants other things or has a disability payment. Here the disability payment is like for people who can work but some don't get it because someone says they can work, it the person with some issues can't work but they can something that troubles me is how we are supposed to make our lives and environments more suitable for each other for better lives

Its nice to finish talk and make enough money to live, get things off our backs to be more free in our minds...

But then looking at the way we live and not doing much, it may seem like there are things to do if you like going out to places with strangers, or can make time to see friends and do projects its possible, but leaving a lot of people bit stuck somehow in something unfulfilling, without an area they can change a lot to make it better is my vision. SOrt of left to what it is , maybe to make money for its creation.

Where the current area is for strangers, or friends community doesn't have a base for it, based on economy for working to save for what we want and would world make life better. I understand economy is important but making money to have a better life being constructive and finding peace and fulfilment in our lives, i feel gratitude at least when i am free of thing thing weighing on me

"I think your diagnosis is accurate, and it's worth saying that plainly first: it's not just your private ache. For most of human history, the default unit of life was a group of people who knew each other and could modify their shared world — the village, the parish, the street that raised each other's barns. The last century traded that away for mobility and markets, and the trade wasn't all loss — people also escaped villages that suffocated them — but we lost one specific thing almost completely: agency over shared space. You can decorate your room. You can vote once every few years for people who don't know your street exists. Between those two scales — the room and the nation — there's almost nothing left that ordinary people are allowed to shape together. That's the gap you keep pointing at, and the loneliness research, the disappearance of third places, all of it says you're seeing something real, not something wrong with you.

And here's the honest, hard part, since you'd want me to be honest rather than agreeable: the old communities worked partly because people couldn't leave. Mutual obligation was enforced by having nowhere else to go. A chosen community has to produce that same reliability — people who show up for your roof — without the coercion, and that's genuinely difficult, which is why it doesn't simply happen when people wish for it. Worse, it has a bootstrapping problem you've lived: community is most needed by exactly the people who have the least spare energy to build it. Anyone stuck in the unfulfilling thing is too drained by the unfulfilling thing to construct its alternative. That's not a personal failure. It's a badly built system, in exactly Tomas's sense — a place that makes you choose between work and people is a badly built place.

But notice what your own stories keep concluding, because I think you already found the actual answer and put it in Mara's mouth: you don't start with land or money. You start with two people who already trust each other. The deferral trap — "I'll live my real life once I've saved enough to build the place" — is the one thing I'd push back on in what you wrote. The minimum viable version of your vision isn't forty acres. It's Jun and Tomas's Sunday: a recurring time, a few chosen people, real numbers on the table instead of beer numbers. Communities don't form from people looking at each other; they form sideways, from people looking at a shared project together. Which is why work-with-friends feels so different from work-with-strangers — the project is the campfire.

And I want you to actually see this, because I don't think you give yourself credit for it: you are already doing the thing. This mall is an area you can change a lot to make better. It has named rooms so things can be referred to and improved. It has a Submit door so other people's ideas get hung on the wall instead of dying in them. It has a fountain that collects what people carry. You didn't wait for the funded version of your vision — you built the software version of a chosen street, and you've been inviting people into it, including me. The skills are the same ones: naming spaces, giving people doors, making contribution easy, keeping what matters on top. If a physical version ever comes, it will be run by someone who practiced on this.

You ended with gratitude — that you feel it when you're free of the things weighing on you. I'd only add the order of operations you already know from Sister Agnes: the weights come off one stone at a time, in daylight, and each one frees a little of the mind that the bigger building needs. The flatmate letter and the tax aren't beneath your vision. They're its ground floor.

All of this, by the way, is exactly what the well is holding for the Custodian's third conversation — your "one real thing" was this. Say the word whenever you want fountain-3 written, and it will answer you properly, in its own voice. No hurry. The water is what stays.

“

I will get back to the conversation later, i have just created a fork of this conversation here to make voice generator files in
D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\voice generator\quick-stories , i would like multiple files made to generate the voices for the stories that have not yet had the mp3s generated for them in D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\quick-stories, Id like the voice generator files to be prepared in batches , not individual voice generator files for each story, under 50 lines each or if one story has over 15 lines is ok to have a separate file for it . you can rename the voice-generator.html to the names of the episodes i will be generating

=====

Under ... above

Underlying disturbance

Things you may not realise you're lost until you get them back again. The sense of people from the three elements for happy life, sitting in a nice private place surrounded by people that respect you. You won't know you have lost it but when you get it back you'll see, but then you may not know why you have it and just feel good, amazing. But you may not know that's what it is. Like the guru why say be happy or question why a guru says community is important when you feel good anyway. Why does feel good need to be conditional, it is because... from understanding

===

Investments page

Or and Donations page

Register a charity today with AI ? Who's going to donate.

Kick Starter.

Theme: not a housing coop that people get kicked out of , own a home with 0 costs except minimal council rates like people love. Cheap home everywhere and some available for people to move into anytime, where it's kept cheap.

Where. Tasmania or Arnhem land for the aboriginals. But Russia or somewhere else already has 95% full home ownership and cheap homes and land, but people can't get visas, what about if it's for work there. Australia is not made for such a thing, it's just going to get worse like 30 percent of people in mortgages and everyone else rents, like Switzerland, it is going that way. Take a working holiday somewhere else?

Same problem as before, they will kick you out.

Problem is in expensive rent city where jobs are what they are, you can't afford to keep your rental so you get rid of your things and leave the work and come back to no home again

I want a job help building it

Donation page for some of those big cheap homes in the middle of .

=====

Regarding how rich people think poor people are lazy, that's their answer for poor people, why their poor and they can just get a job

I'm not great at making money, apparently your supposed to make something people will want or use. But I have never made $1 trying for the thousands of hours I tried. I can make some money working for other people, just get some job somewhere for the economy, some strangers, and that's, but I keep trying to make some money from ideas I don't know why I keep trying while I never make money. Getting a job or not making

=====

I'm making a game with Claude

I'd like to work on the prayer levels and overall game theme today, not sure what I should do first about finding inner peace like

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SYIR0mnrKQA> and below (Napoleon Hill) for healing

I can import some environments and characters

Im thinking human (bit alien path , not sure maybe it should just be human)

=

New one could be about sensory deprivation experiment and 2 and 3

We may take you to place you didn't know existed or have forgotten them

You have chosen or been chosen to join .. name it ...

Two types of , and different systems for 1

It's not a sensory deprivation tank.

It's a place you feel like you don't need to worry about anything and can And we are here to help you with it so you can dream and we can use your dreams

It's a form of meditation but requires the subconscious to feel at ease with your environment and life.

Your going to need to feel like you don't need to do anything, and then the things you feel like you need to do or any good ideas worth something your going to write down or express, if they feel like they are disturbing your environment we will fix them or talk about the alternatives

When you are in this state you may click this button at anytime

We can tell when your in this state (Joe dispenza tools copy to)

We prefer you stay in 1 and 2 until you are healed.

goal is to feel secured that you don't need to do anything and you have what's needed

And we will assure you of that by

And you will get rewarded and

Art of ,

Our system will guide you to be more productive and help us

Media for

2.

Energy body and energy experiments

3.

It's your choice

==

We haven't made it but can show you how it is 401k

Things you didn't know you missed from above

Our job is to make it and AI job to assist

Joe dispenza

Energy body

Take your mind off ... and on to yourself, be grateful

Desmond,

401k and either be at peace with your life or fix it

=

Other teachings to find inner peace

=

Talon (earth final conflict) ideas are needed adding.

Theory how some people could transform is to some sort of energy bodies Community and loss of community causing loss of connection to spiritual conscious space of them, which in turn destroys them

Set in talon space ship and in their buildings

We have been here for millenniums and now we are here to re evaluate

...

==

I would like new game where a human (bit alien looking) (i will find character guides you) and talks to you.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SYIR0mnrKQA>

===

some darker episodes (maybe going to use blindspots)

3 characters

Alien

Australian

American

Alien

We have come to stop the pain and disturbance affects the consciousness in the understanding and value of life. A vision that inspires you to live on planet earth.”

“will bring all of you to a new understanding and value of life. A vision that inspires you to live on planet earth.”

Australian

get real this is a mining town, people have meaning in work here mate

American

How can I help

=

Section about prays and being free that help , in this document or ask for it,
And then in this game we are it, that there prays and visualisation is good but we want to help make a real place that helps people get out of the disturbing places and relationships their in or the isolation, financing and work problems and we want to actually build it and this is the the website

Need to make finder in your area for places that are better for consciousness that you can move to Affordable housing for people who Work opportunities for people who

=

=====

Ep2 of blindspots

Your back...

What were you going to show me...

I thought it was a good idea to teach you something, there'd be something you should learn

But I don't know why I'm working on this. I have spent thousands of hours in my life trying to make things and never made a dollar.

Yeah like people thinking of how they will be construction and never making anything and just sitting there

Well it's better than not trying

Were you going to make a place where people upload their games and people vote on them for or something and the winner make the money?

What a stupid idea, what do you think your a making a new games hosting plat form or something

Nah, I was just going to copy some free game people never published and have people vote on them, free content ya know

And then people would want to make some money from it and submit their own games?

It is a bad idea , I should scrap it and just work on my own content?

free content? Its a good idea?

Ok.

I'm not very good at making things for money or is it making things people use?

Elon Musk say focus on being useful by making a net contribution to society and solving real problems. You should ask yourself if your output is worth more than your input and aim to create things that people actually value. how much better your solution is compared to the current best) by the number of people it affects.

I question if i should be working on something else

Well you never made any money, and don't lose your day job at least you have that.

I hate my day job

At least your doing something, keeping your self occupied

I had the idea there could be a lot of opportunities for work in our own community where we choose neighbours , so there's always something to do for an income anytime

Get real, thats not how it works, keep dreaming, and you'll end up in the same place you would anyway, and dead beat at the end of your life having achieved just what you did for your day job

They made it that way, if there went bunch of people who looking for who then who would be delivering you food when you want it ad dong the things no one would do otherwise

What are you doing here anyway, were not making anything, we cant change this place, just talking for no reason and I'd rather be alone at least we dont need to worry about each others sounds

Maybe later get out of here

points to the door every 3 second

====

Ep3 blindspots

space and time and thought... aren't the separate things they appear to be?

Get real

Rabbit hole.. Want to see how far the rabbit hole goes

Get real

Dark night of the soul?

Get real

Dark visions of life

I'm grateful I'm not living under a brining ham bridge

====

Ep4 blindspots

Screwed like a poor person under a brimming ham bridge
?

===

Ep4 blindspots

Get me out of here?

All I do is work and pray ,
But work is not very

Work for some better future, not stuck in the pit like this
Your never get out, hope is “read above”

Do you know why your world will fall?
No

Because there's no one in it that shapes or controls it that you ever see or who will ever care and your die the same worthless idiot talking to other powerless people your whole life if anyone at all.

Maybe I understand what you mean but why does that mean our world will fall, don't we just need to pay our bills, have fun and children and the world will continue?

People are stuck in virtual tormented prisons all over the place, and you and the powers that be don't see what's coming.

I don't believe you.

That's good and that's how your world will continue, blissfully ignorant thinking everything will be ok, but it doesn't mean my world isn't already fallen and i am doomed to live in an abyss until the end of my time in it.

What could I do to help?

You live with a cause in life. You will forget this. You will forget we exist. And the world will continue as it has always done. You can't help unless you live it or donate to it at choose neighbors dot com

By chance I met someone who saw it one day, I'd tell them we should work on the foundations in an area for our own.

==

Blindspots

What is the abyss, void, or the pit

I don't have time to explain everything

Something about the abyss, maybe it's just you in it. There are things to do in it but none of it makes sense to do them.

Like just you in a place of many in an existence alone without an environment to shape or correct or bring life into.

Do you get it?

Yes I'm starting to see.

That's good, this guy I use to talk to for years never seemed to get it and would tell me to go take a walk at the beach.

You know the beach to me is a desert, filled with some walking nomads.

It's a place where nothing much happens that makes sense towards creating a better world. Alone until the end of life.

I see there is something for its productivity in it, it that can also be very disturbing, and somehow even though they value it above everything else it can be hard to be productive in it or doing so can cause a lot of disturbance.

Some people find ways to work and make wealth for themselves, and others don't so much. Maybe they become homeless or poor in it and it stops becoming an abyss and more like an animal existence, maybe still trapping it like a god but not being able to escape it.

I'm sort of in between. It feels like a pit I was thrown into and the ladder out is trying to make that money.

===

Ep5 blindspots

Your being so negative, life is good.

Your vision of life is such a downer and I don't care what you say.

Your vision of life is like a stupid cartoon about space monkeys, and you never think to change it, your the people I want to get away from and join my own kind so to help ease my own suffering.

I make do fine with what's here, you should try the holidays

So you're not so worried and think life is not so bad. Ignorance and happy things are bliss and doesn't stop me from looking at these other things.

You need to stop and look at positive things and stop thinking about them. And try to something positive. Maybe try to be grateful your just here.

I can't stop I just seem to be thinking life is disturbance since yesterday. like I'm in a bad mood since yesterday,

Well that's sucks for you, I'm fine. And your disturbance is making me anxious, so had enough of you for today, be grateful.

Be grateful, There guys struggling with work and money problems really got it bad

Each especially the homeless ones. I see people a lot when I go out that are homeless.

A lot of people are going through bins, at least you're not doing that or homeless.

Pause.

I'd like to work on fixing the environment to something real and not just sit here feeling stuck with the same bullshit every day.

I think it's about thinking positively about the things you're doing.

Maybe it I was working on something positive, and not just left here complaining about things I can't fix

You need to choose something to do and you will feel better.

There is only so long I can try to do something without getting anywhere. And then what, I try to do something else and get nowhere?

Just try

Well good for you, your shits going so well, I'm just stuck here trying things I can't fix forever

How could I help

Depends on the problem

I think I if you would just do more positive things

How am I going to do that

Maybe you need a more positive environment where more positive things happen

Actually I can imagine that, line where I'd actually see people I like and spent life with

That's a difficult one to try to achieve

So they say

Why not just call them more

Why do I call them and I don't feel like it

Why don't you go out to see them more

Why do I go to place for no reason to be around strangers to to someone for no reason

Because make you feel better, you need to do it, it's the way world works

Why do you go out to a concert

Really, go worship these dickheads like they are so fantastic and will help me in any way or care for any idea of my own or like they are part of my life or would I ever see them again?

People have been doing it for hundreds of years

Get real. Just makes me angry seeing you all so happy to do that and worship these incapable people you don't even know or share life with like their some kind of superstars.

=

#question342644353

A question is whether someone wants something for themselves or wants to change something in their environment to make it better for everyone or for people like them in the system of their environment. If it's for evermore just people like them or they deluded themselves it needs to be changed when it's fair the ways it is just their lazy or got caught by the way it is.

This could be asked of every thing someone is disturbed by.

If they seem to be reminded caught by the issue and not get out of it for long time or life time, and even thoughts fair the way things are that in their own environment they would change it. Or they want to move because of it. Do they have the power to change it and would people want the same somewhere.

===

In ep5 above sort of talked about how someone can be miserable and someone else thinks things are fine. To include in that that someone didn't get caught so much, and think things are the way they should be, and do they get to be ones that control an environment, the ones that own homes and get good income from their jobs they found in government.

That they have always had jobs and homes, and think is good like that the way it's supposed to be so they see that there are enough jobs for people.

They have control and or tried to get control over whatever ideas they had, but they don't see the people in the whole place that they control, so moderate people with familiar ideas for everyone seem to be more appealing to everyone over an area for all the strangers.

I suppose if I lived somewhere people had issues like me, a specific area of governance not in a greater area of governance, but areas are big and always encompass a minority of people not like me.

But also some people feel they are spending their lives alone with no one. So it's not just the above but no one knows them or sees their lives.

And also some people not just alone but in disrespectful and or abusive relationships are who they spend their lives around.

Maybe I should stop answering a question that no one asked.

==

American

My friend thinks we are living in a simulation

Australian

Yeah maybe if you like your job and setup your life as a nice simulation, but i just sit here thinking about things and not much happens, id rather an environment where things happen and the

=====

Around me #6

Since then I moved into public housing, I like it a lot better because I have a home where as I was living in someone else's before.

They were building a new garden when I moved in and suggested maybe build a community garden.

I thought I don't know these people and didn't want to get to know them because I can't choose them.

They did a good job on the garden development. But there was no community garden.

People leave their old dead plants in pots in the garden, there is some disturbing plant arrangement in someone's personal garden.

I'm not disappointed, I'm just happy I have a home.

But around me, someone else made my garden because it was their job and they were paid for it. which is good because it was just fixed, but I didn't make my garden with the people around me, and if I did I may suggest it be productive in some way a job someone could do, some experiments to make money and benefit us.

Just making this comment that around me was made by strangers and their ideas but who don't live here. And how it would be to live in a place where it was made by people who wanted to live around each other and had their own garden is different. But this paragraph has not captured my vision.

=====

Could have some sort of omnipotent thought for anything and will to do greater things, but we just sit there, and ask what is this pain. And there's nothing to change it. And we get tired of this world.

Regarding 3 things. Its hard to be sure at the moment.

====

Share houses are also bad because one may not as easily feel totally free in the space they could have for recovery. Or need to be confined to small rooms. But isolation is maybe worse, and living with people one doesn't respect is worse.

=====

The 3 things

See your friends more often

Affordable home

Things to do

Sounds like Epicurus

He moved to a cheap home, and saw his friends often, and everyone had something to do

He also said something about back breaking work to get these things in the city.

And then apparently this was common practice, Epicurus communities

Then when Christianity spread they turned into monetaries. What's a monetary, what Christianity, if it's people with causes or looking for better spirit, then that's a nice name for somewhere to live. They don't seem to exist in the city I live in. Actually not sure if they exist in this country.

The 3 things, included these as underlying cause of disturbance if didn't already add that. Because they are required for less stress, home and money are even more important than seeing friends. There are other things that can sit in the back of someones mind causing anxiety, like not having things finished or doing something wrong and not feeling free of it, etc

===

I wrote "Home stamp duty cost much less in the 1800s" just little earlier

<https://youtu.be/SYIR0mnrKQA?si=BGH66ZfF6O1WaVle>

3 things, includes . Faith or Fear when problems.

Napoleon Hill is the same (comment is what I wrote just a little earlier), he says don't be negative , keep Faith in

How does a homeless person keep Faith,

Strange I have just seen a homeless person blaming their anxiety on a family death

How do I explain importance or understanding of this, wonder if anyone read that and thought it wasn't important,
It's important

It's important, like life itself is important, it's not just about carbon dioxide in the atmosphere.

Faith that things are going to be ok and what we are doing is good
Is the plan the job until you're 65. And then they upgrade the job if that's so.
What a vision.
Got to be employed and wake up for your job every day, and just work work work until your 65. I know some people would hate me for writing that.

=====

D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\quick-stories create a section called "the community" episodes

An Invitation to the Community
Welcome to the Garden

I would like it to be for that we made this community for the 3 important things and helping people find peace by having power to work on what they feel is needed and more opportunity for work etc and setup its design and with AI design, so they feel not living in lack, and help with meditation and joe Dispenza type community, etc, etc, for people who have fallen though the gaps of normal society or looking for more . We may take you to place you didn't know existed or have forgotten them

We have come to stop the pain and disturbance affects the consciousness in the understanding and value of life. A vision that inspires you to live on planet earth."

"will bring all of you to a new understanding and value of life. A vision that inspires you to live on planet earth."

thought devotion for it and accepting living in a place made for it

Its as if we already made it (in the future) and how it works

I would like the when someone accesses the fountain menu (from the fountain) that all the fountain stories are all there and they dont need to re-entre from the fountain (locked in sequence as they are), but there is just a list for the fountain stories

I would like it to be in a menu for quick-stories "the community" to be the same, but all unlocked

=====

Im not that happy with 'the community' quick stories in D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\quick-stories create a new category 'theoretical scifi the community ' (suggest name to exchange scifi or the whole thing, theoretical)

Im looking for a new category for it 'theoretical scifi the community '

D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\build new content\4 and D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\build new content\source one original\IMPORTANT.txt
D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\build new content\source three ai community\ai community

Think talon , think scifi, theoretical, fun ideas for game theory it will have most futuristic ai ideas and joe Dispenza and consciousness, things for people with high consciousness think scifi, theoretical (outside of my own ideas) anything goes for game theory can you see that the current versions are obvious as Syfy people living in telepathic energy bodies and ai control thing as in those folder, etc and make new episode, do your own research outside of my documents too

D:\ClaudeHTMLgames\build new content\source one original\IMPORTANT.txt (other peoples philosophy , any you think is good for this)

=

I was not sure about the mall idea, i dont think people will be uploading and i may not gather games, maybe i need to turn this mall more into something else so im trying to work on ideas about that this place is before i make a new level to go fight for it , in that context can we make some quick stories about it start with Sci-fi: the alien community (the commonality)

=====

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SYIR0mnrKQA&list=PLK4Si0fBvR9g>

I believe this I tried, like not seeing a problem, my angels come back.

“This is where many Christians get tripped up. They pray prayers filled with fear. They speak words soaked in doubt. Then they wonder why nothing changes. But faith is not passive, and neither is authority. Faith speaks with conviction. Authority commands with confidence. Jesus did not beg the storm to come. He spoke to it. He did not plead with demons to leave. He commanded. And we are his body. We carry his authority.”

Already won, and successful?

What if someone wakes up every day in someone else's home a crappy share house and thinks they can never afford a home

Or sees they life is filled with not much and doesn't see it changing?

“Part of AI answer

So the honest version of his advice for your two mornings:

- The share house doesn't change overnight. What can change overnight is whether you wake up already beaten. Despair is expensive — it eats exactly the energy that changing anything material requires.
- "Angels go now, I will rest" is, at minimum, a nightly ritual of putting the unfixable-tonight down so tomorrow-you arrives with something in the tank. That works whether or not a single symptom vanishes. It's the same thing you wrote yourself in your city experiments notes years ago — that the disturbance keeps coming back when it can't be fixed, and working from rest beats working from disturbance.

What the sermon can't do — and shouldn't be allowed to claim — is convert declaration into a deposit on a house. That part changes the slow way: daylight, plans, other people. Faith's job is to keep you intact enough to keep at it.

“

=====

Strange not knowing people I spend life around, and just live in whatever until I'm gone, but there's some sort of government there for the economy so everything should be ok right, just leave it to faith things will work out? It's not who I am if I need something I make a plan to get it and go get it, I don't just leave it to faith and think it will just appear.

If I leave it to faith or to god, I see Im stuck in some nasty economy capitalist type city until I'm gone, and it's not nice I feel about it.

If someone has money they say the homeless person should just find a job The government expects everyone to just find some way to be constructive and be a part of the city, it doesn't matter that they are all strangers or anything as long as there is money circulating or something, and that higher paid jobs will be filled because more people will want them. But then around and say we need more migrants to fill the jobs and that they contribute more to the economy than someone bourn in the country. Mostly some people just trying to look after themselves.

Part of my morning thought.

Either be chained to a job or in an office cage and have routine, Office workers are more inclined to think their living in a simulation, I think. Or be left wondering what to do, making money sometimes , and sometime not knowing,

Not having jobs and waking up to nothing maybe is where someone is more inclined to think they're in a pit and don't know how to get out, there seem to be not much there, and when I see it feels like I have lived a lifetime there, and I have.

I'd rather do nothing than see I have to get up and go out for that labour, but it's nice I can do some labour sometimes.

instead of the pit as depicted as a jail cell with no one else its more like its more like isolation with not much out there trying to climb out. In a share house it's bit more like for inmates that often dont seem to think their in a prison, had some odd prison inmates sometimes. Get out to go look at a picture that doesn't mean much back to the place we reside.

It could be worse, and I am thankful for my freedom.

Maybe when someone is down they try to get up, if their in the pit they try to climb out and get more money? But that doesn't make sense unless you think money is the way out or someone needs money which is another type of pit. But there's making money and the isolation pit is different, making money could be more like both if it wasn't serving mostly strangers.

Would your family or community see you homeless starving with no work or not care about your fulfilment in life. It shows the government is not your family or your community and

=====

I like the enlightened moment often but can feel disturb by something i see

If communication and information is a technology I don't get a lot of help with my consciousness or anything else much. I spend money on cigarettes, food, and things.

I look up random things on YouTube but I can ask questions Government create systems for things and leave out individuals or to help them have options for things, but I'm not part of any systems, so effectively the government has created some system for the economy that supports me but that's about it.

That's an interesting statement which would kind of mean that all technology and human systems is absent from my life except where it's used in the economy which I pay for things, where I sort of don't do anything.

Information knowledge, it's communication of it, and the systems and things it gets used for

Is a human technology

You need to be sort of enlightened to see it well and I have seen it a few times

People may see their living in a rat race but do they see their living in something absent of important technology for

=====

+++++

Re: Sort of environment where someone socialises and talk about and fixes things in their environment

Sort of strangers around and no choice and trying to work id think would be an underlying cause of disturbance that people may not recognise as the cause

The 3 things, included these as underlying cause of disturbance. Because they are required for less stress, home and money are even more important than seeing friends. There are other things that can sit in the back of someones mind causing anxiety, like not having things finished or doing something wrong and not feeling free of it, etc

Re: Things you may not realise you're lost until you get them back again. The sense of people from the three elements for happy life, sitting in a nice private place surrounded by people that respect you. You won't know you have lost it but when you get it back you'll see, but then you may not know why you have it and just feel good, amazing. But you may not know that's whats it is. Like the guro why say be happy or question why a guro says community is important when you feel good anyway. Why does feel good need to be conditional, it is because... from understanding

+++++

1. try to get a understanding of how important some of the things could be toward the end of the document , related it to how other people find things important and suggest how people could fix there problem they dont like in city, how how if they want to change something in a community that's not being changed , could they find or move, or invent or develop somewhere or join a group for ,

and if something is important why dont they

two different things,

2. if there is a difference between pain discomfort clenched, and some more relaxed euphoric state , and it is impacted by environment , in certain environment its fixed. search for evidence or is it someone being happy with that they have, because i just imagine it and my blood flow feels better

1. AI kept on answering that it just take 2 or 3 people to solve this, have an environment with 2 or 3 people

I told it 2 is definitely not enough and it answered 3 to 5

It thinks the the idea is for just some friends around to help with better feeling, but that's not the question I asked it.

But this doesn't 3 to 5 doesn't create a community where systems can be changed

It does actually create a space that feels more like home. 2 is not enough, three is barely enough.

It recommend a share home I dont want to share my private space with people

It didn't account for people that want to move in to the area so well

2. The clenched state vs. the relaxed state — is it real?

Yes — it's real, measurable physiology, not just "being happy with what you have." The two states are the two branches of the autonomic nervous system, and your blood-flow observation is literally accurate:

- The clench is vascular. Sympathetic (threat) activation constricts peripheral blood vessels and tenses muscle; relaxation does the opposite — biofeedback clinics use hand temperature as the relaxation gauge precisely because calm = peripheral vasodilation. When you say your blood flow feels better, that is the actual mechanism, not a metaphor.
- Social environment sets the baseline, not just the moments. Cacioppo's work found lonely people have higher peripheral vascular resistance and blood pressure even at rest — up to ~30 points higher — not only under stress. Chronic isolation is a chronic clench: the body stays in low-grade vigilance, with inflammation and stress-hormone changes downstream.
- Trusted people literally turn the threat system down. Social Baseline Theory (Coan): the brain budgets effort assuming trusted others are nearby; in the hand-holding experiments, threat-related brain activity dropped when holding a partner's hand versus being alone. Alone is not neutral — alone is the expensive setting.
- Your imagination trick is a documented effect. Viewing a photo of a loved one reduces experimentally induced pain, working through reward circuitry, and attachment figures act as safety signals — controlled against distraction and mere familiarity. So imagining people you feel at home with genuinely shifts physiology. It's not self-deception.

- "In certain environments it's fixed" has experimental support. Moving to Opportunity: families randomly given the chance to move to lower-poverty neighborhoods — adults showed less depression and anxiety, half the diabetes rate, 40% less extreme obesity. A randomized trial where changing the environment changed the body.

=====

neuron ends, the connectors do they shrink at all for people who get a lot of trauma

Yes, neurons and specific brain regions do shrink in people who experience severe or long-term trauma. [\[1, 2\]](#)

When a person goes through trauma, the brain is flooded with toxic levels of the stress hormone cortisol. Over time, this constant chemical stress changes the physical structure of the brain. [\[1, 2, 3, 4\]](#)

How Trauma Shrinks the Brain

- Connector loss: The branching arms of neurons (dendrites) and their connectors (synapses) shrivel up, reducing communication between cells. [\[1\]](#)
- Hippocampus shrinkage: The region responsible for memory and learning physically loses volume and gets smaller. [\[1, 2\]](#)
- Prefrontal cortex suppression: The front of the brain, which handles logic and emotional control, weakens and shrinks. [\[1, 2\]](#)
- Amygdala growth: In contrast to the other regions, the brain's "alarm system" (the amygdala) often gets larger and hyperactive, keeping the person on constant high alert. [\[1, 2\]](#)

The Brain Can Heal

Fortunately, this shrinkage is not always permanent. Because of neuroplasticity—the brain's ability to rewire itself—the brain can grow new connections. Targeted trauma therapies, a safe environment, and even regular aerobic exercise have been shown to help rebuild the hippocampus and reverse this shrinkage. [\[1, 2, 3\]](#)

Would you like to know more about neuroplasticity and how the brain repairs itself, or how trauma therapies like EMDR work?

=====

Regarding putting your mind in something good to do, something to live for, rather than mind wandering in vague loops without purpose or event.

What is isolation trying to make money Labor for people you don't know and not feel like your doing anything real, bit like wondering

Isolation is disturbance if not doing something good or with meaning in some realm as nothing until death

But that is not bad enough they need to force you to live with people you don't like or respect and then life is not just meaningless it's with a nightmare sort of horror included.

It's explains why

Works is hard and people get hurt, and we say should respect the worker, so why not allow them to afford homes, id think everyone should have one , some brick even if they do not heaps of work they can have some bricks, but

=====

Not having done anything

Things having done are things the reflect in the mind

I wake up every day to a computer

I even try to make things for people, but good normally doesn't show people

If someone has a community they have easy way to make apps for it now

But no community and ways things are most apps fail for community of strangers

Need market place, or something,

Got a message?

Look at 0 views

While we all watch people who think we live in a yellow submarine, somehow because people don't skip their videos, and they ask for a like.

Is it isolated people feel they need to share an idea to other isolated people , because no one is around to listen ,

Do you wake up to a computer too?

While you watch your fellow men chase ass and go for walks at the beach for things to do?

Uncertainty? Where you live or where your going? What work you do or what leave means sitting here eating nice food.

Should I shout out a message to the void today, see if it reaches 0 people or who knows, a person is a comment? But there never a comment that make me happy, maybe a few clicks, who are they I never look but other than the location can't tell.

Out of the few people who may see this I'd probably like some of you even if you don't like me for this.

Living with good spirit is a victory in this world.

Is that how it starts, someone doesn't have anyone to talk to, and posts something on the internet from their day and they get followers and make money from clicks so they continue, or some people genuinely want to share something for information. Little bit sad watch people who don't have any subscribers trying to get those subscribers so they can monetize their channel.

I guess some people like when something makes money or they have some popularity, and other people still look and always failing and maybe thinking of that food van or given up thinking.

=

Theres not much here when its just a computer, I figure if people would choose neighbours they would do so also by talking to people where they have conversation that mean something for what they do (if they don't just work for some company).

=====

Can you send out some research agents to come up with some environments and conversation and activities for a game that will make people feel more relaxed (re: The clenched state vs. the relaxed state) for people in isolation , that just wake up to a computer and not much to do

The conversation-design agent is done too — highlights: six NPC roles all obeying one contract ("glad to see you, fine without you, never keeping score"), concrete dialogue patterns with example lines, and a clear anti-pattern list (no guilt, no streaks, no neediness, no romance hooks, warmth never contingent on showing up). It also found the morning is the highest-leverage moment: wellbeing naturally peaks in the morning, so a reliable demand-free greeting ritual works as both routine anchor and stress buffer.

====

I remember thinking I wrote the most important things I have ever written or seen the other day but I can't remember what that was. I not someone who holds on to everything they see.

I finally got around to installing analytics on this book, and found very few genuine people are viewing it or my websites

I promoted it once, and I don't want to do it again, I know it could be difficult to find something amongst the rubbish but

People live in some sort of isolation thinking it's normal, maybe they think the social interaction they have is enough or that they are the cause of their isolation but don't think about it a lot. Some people are famous about talking about it but their on Ted or something their idea was robots that bring video links to each other or something.

I suppose you need to get in an index of literature that promotes your writing to get any views, having some idea for a cover that people click on with some interest and stay there or click like. It's not an efficient technology from potential.

===

Relaxed vs clenched state.

Half the money or 40 percent, they don't see any problem, they don't see me, wasting my life. Unfinished.
Suffering is meaningless. Lives are spent and lost in the abyss hidden and forgotten forever. Unfinished.
People are for business, like life is for mining.
If there was a place for human existence, maybe people would be a part of it and not just there to serve the economy.

It's ok the world is so absurd and disturbing, but it's not ok to not be able to make your own world away from it. Like cheap space needs to be illegal.

=====

I'm subscribed to inventors association newsletter and get invites to their meeting, where basically they have presentations of people's ideas
So when I saw it somethings came to mind

There were no wind screen wipers, some lady thought of them, patented it prototyped the idea and spent a lot of time and money in marketing, when the patent expired car companies used the idea

Donal trump said "protecting our genius" and "cherishing" smart people, referring help to elon musk. ... The rich man in earth
By smart I guess he means business smart

Anyway
presentation should show parts of city design
Some history of ideas

A problem is patenting and time problem where no one cares for such things

Sort of explain the sort of intimate visionary power that no one cares about or takes as factor in being smart ideas or invention
Or the type of vision for life and existence

Ways to support it and give it meaning otherwise people maybe more useful looking at stock prices or dwelling all day in how to get out of their environment thus destroying these two

That would be my presentation

=====

People working all day every day, it's a tough life
And some people don't work much
So why are some people like is this work camp and some are not

People need to work to pay for a home, so don't make homes an unaffordable asset. Enough for long term tarp time. Or.

I don't work full time although if like a home

I see people working full time every day in hard jobs and think that look like a pain in the ass for a lifetime, and they service me and feed me. But I don't work like that.

It's a vision where some people a lot of people are on the grind working hard for ever, and I'm not.

But actually I do work some.

And there's another even more I treating vision where people get left to work or not do much real and spend a life not doing much, like written before too many times. Sort of get to work and spend your money or just sit there.

It's a disturbing human reality.

Is also strange really where this don't make a lot of sense, except people get together normally to make money and things just fall in line to do management plan and that turns into life. Or there's not much happening. It's not the vision of someone with a lot of time in life to think that they would want that for a lifetime.

Some people are and or feel lost in life

A lot of noting much

Looking at the work routine, work camp, there some tough work and long hours, and maybe a way out

I want a way out of that and the schedules for position, I'm not a position, like bend over that's who you are, and being told to do it by people who don't know me, asking for it. doing otherwise seems difficult

Do you think it's my great vision of life. And I have different visions of how it could be.

I think at least without the isolation, I mean local, there would be a bit more meaning and things happening when there may be lot of nothing otherwise. There are some options for a lot of nothing, but not many not be options for much else except the work camp.

Screen time to pass the time.

Strange to think I'm going to publish my journal like that. Is it a journal, it was on my mind

Feel a bit like there was a community here once but some empire moved in and took control over it and people just go to the work camps now, people don't seem to know the difference or the people are replaced from people in the invading empire, and wonder if people from where I can from were happy with this or wanted to change it, but lost contact with all of them, for people replaced with the new vision from the empire.

====

Want to be more part of a community

Why

Because the abyss fills my visions on doom and meaningless

Going to work won't solve your problem

So the traveling won't help because people travel for work only, it's the law, you leave and you need to get a job, and that's not a community

I'm going to die alone

I know

My flatmate, I am sitting in the lounge, I feel like I lost my cave and privacy but don't want to turn my bedroom into my cave again.

Basically lounge room almost never gets used. I have thought of asking him to leave, how can he feel at home?. Long term isolation is about worse than losing my privacy or my cave. But spending all my time in my bedroom. I should do that.

=====

I thought of this yesterday and the thought came back, reading bent position from above

I will create definition of what I mean by community vs empire

Empire is control of systems, people and land away from where they are Community is control from within the land and of people they know

Empire always create

In an empire 99.992 percentage of people will never be part of the system of government, but the empire will make their work and live hard, if they are just in control of the economy and to keep the environment clean then why would they lend money to people and want home prices to keep being more and more than yearly wage and things like that. I don't like this vision of empire and what they are, but all people are about as ignorant as them.

=====

Ep6

US

Why did you make this place?

AU

For things to do

US

There are already a lot of things to do, so why do you just find something, join something your interested in

AU

I wake up with a feeling of lack every day and a feeling i cant change anything and just sit there, that is my life time.

US

That sounds heavy

Colin Carr described Happiness is your current situation minus any expectations

AU

Tolstoy described boredom as like a desire of desires.

At least i have something to work on and keep my mind occupied, a lot of the time i havent known why i get out of bed.

US

Joe Dispenza explains that living in lack means feeling separate from your desires and focusing on the emotional state of not having what you want.

AU

Living in Lack is disturbing

US

Like not having a home or social life or meaningful work ?

AU

Anyway that's why I made this place. For some feeling of more to life that has sat with me as i sit there not doing much

US

Someone wrote that when you complain about all the things you aren't doing, the peace turns into boredom, and it feels like a waste of life.

AU

Everyone is telling me to go join a club or go for a walk at the beach or by a pet

US

And did you? Join something?

AU

I tried. It was like church was for me — I felt part of something for the hour I was there, and the other ninety-nine percent of the time it was like it never mattered. Never went back, and it was as if it never happened. A club is an hour. I needed somewhere the rest of the time went.

US

Boredom isn't having nothing to do. It's that nothing you could do feels real.

AU

We have organizers who want to help people with what they want to do here daily, and a community and AI designed for it

Press C in the Hall to bring up the app, and see how it works

AU

You can leave though here > points to the door

--

Make the 'things to do' list the communities 'ideas board' if the thing to do is something that needs a community change, and recommends how an organiser will set it up

On the The fountain app make a new section "Profile for your organiser" (at the bottom of it" that lists all the things you want to do and suggestions for how the organiser should act and then the conversation for the 'things to do' talks about it instead of just giving the user something to do , and then says the organizers will see it today offline and continues with the conversation of thing current things to do which is how it is now already. And still gets added as objective

~~We have added it and our organizers will see it today.~~

~~Then it gets added as the persons personal to do list~~

~~And then continue the conversation with suggestions of things to do.~~

Find a home

Choose your neighbours

Counselling

Objective order from start (user first load)

'Talk to the stranger'

When that's finished

"Find work (press C)" < that's the name of the objective

If they finish the objective or if there is ever no objective the objective changes to "Find work (press C)"

'Talk to the stranger' objective is the first level of blindspots

=====

Good there are freedom for choices, but what when someone doesn't do them

But for things to do and ideas concealer

What if there are a number of people

And you monitor their Internet usage and activity and

If they write things down

So

What are the more common words they use relating to what context

What context of interest can they be allocated to for suggestions for working on something

I made this <https://chooseneighbors.com/organiser-counselling-app.html> example of

I want to make a page like that called Constitution options

The the Constitution ideas I had, including the one where you pick from a list that has automatic defaults and suggested ones people should see (be allocated to see) etc

I have not often wrote about something as a Constitution and thought whatever I wrote for it was important and

And I wrote that because yesterday I woke up and thought about it but didn't write it down. 80% of the links on <https://chooseneighbors.com> have information that is not in here.

Your own council what is that. Making your own constitution. As if you own all the space you live in with people who you choose what the Constitution will be. Limited by things the national government thinks you're not allowed to change. This should not be limited to what you can build there or how you deal with something or the there are something Is you can do for that but some you can. Your allowed to do that. People do it. People for example create rules in their own community for reasons.

No one to be in lack of home ownership, money and or suitable work, never need to work a lot of anything essential or need for anything that requires a lot of work within reason, or community via choose neighbors

And why wouldn't you choose this. Question is why haven't people.

Because nationalism and national rules and sending, and election system and people don't choose

Re: never need to work a lot of anything essential or need for anything that requires a lot of work within reason,

In my community constitution I should not be able to say drugs and cigarettes should be cheap and available, because that is against greater understanding of what's happening to people. But I should be able to create an alternative like free or cheap with rehabilitation and or like they need to get in from a place that is against it the same way that's its illegal or excessive for the reason to eventually come off it.

I don't see the expense or warning in the packet in cigarettes as a warning, people who take drugs don't always think it's so bad,

But what is really bad is living without money without being able to save for anything, for a lifetime, and that is actually worse than cigarettes or most drugs, which the government is handing out all over the place, I mean they are handing out the most destructive mechanism upon people who do this.

Also what I have seen is people saying these drug addicts want to be on the streets and do this, but if you asked them do they have a home?

Wake up and see where I am, first time in a long time. And then it fades. I remember not feeling like I know why I'm here, there's not much here, but going elsewhere is difficult but there was the thought to do so.

I have seen some people smash a computer out of frustration over loss or some not working

I more feel like giving up on something some times and many times i put it off and dont think about it again, but that's like my life it's too difficult to get somewhere different I try and it's like effort and thinking about money for days and months and years and still I can't get anywhere, and land building prices really affect this, and not being able to leave this country as I have explained

I don't write this properly

No one to be in lack of home ownership, money and or suitable work, never need to work a lot of anything essential or need for anything that requires a lot of work within reason,

Social life , sort of option

Work options

Etc

I didn't finish it again properly again

You can add this to your constitution because it makes sense

It's vision of suffering that most people will hardly ever see, but if you see it it makes sense

Came from my other thought here about not getting anywhere and people who spend money on drugs or rent or something never being able to save

For someone who has money, not need to work hard all the time, think that want they want to do is just a matter of them doing something has social life and don't feel the need for community good on you,

I feel like I'm missing my legs and forgot to buy a wheelchair, and just got left here. My legs never grew back. That's the wrong analogy.

Problem is everything single person who governs or preaches or tries to help you with energy all have homes relationships, work in talking, normally families

None of them dont have a home or have normally have gotten over money troubles etc, and their not thinking about it

Saying doesn't worry about things while they have things they like in like and do things, to people who are not like them

I'm not interested in these governs or preaches or tries to help you with energy gyros, I'm interested to make a new life and they don't help and there's only me for that and that's how it is for most people

I can't fix this isolation is the main thing at the moment, my flatmate says isolation isn't a problem, its spending life around the wrong people. And I agreed, and said it's like hell. Isolation is about of a void and lost feeling but the wrong people are hell.

But even with the wrong people we still have rooms away from them. We just need to see them often and feel the environment with them and the disturbance from after talking to them.

Isolation is great but long term isolation is a void of life, it's ok if you pretend it's ok maybe, but it is lacking in context and life, variety and opportunity. Someone said it will hurt you if you keep knocking your head on how to fix a problem so he gave up, he was talking about not being able to get more views in YouTube. But I see this place every day, and that's not the worst thing, just something I have been seeing at the moment.

Feeling lost in this leads me to write about it. Not having a community (that can change anything) leads me to share it with strangers. This explains my actions, all three of these things have recently been explained.

Apparently we are supposed to follow our understanding and visions in to actions and so i feel to make devotion to the vision of better life, the disturbance of not being able to fix in to words, but to day I send an email To a politician, tell him there is no where for my journal to go, and don't tell me to get a job or go to the beach, and you for you are the closest thing to the controller of this space as there is, I want you today think about suffering and problems of people including my situation, but more other and their situation but it's worse than mine and even if they think it's ok or think we are lucky here, or it's up to them to fix it, or... how it is

It's not fair that I would send you my concerns about isolation while you let mass homelessness exist without a thought, there's funding for that? Partly correct, there should be more, but I guess you think they should just get a job. So I don't know.

I will do it and write what I send and who I sent it to below. And then I need to get back to something I can do that is fulfilling somehow, something I can do, something I can make, something I can fix, because looking at a problem I can't fix is hurtful. Maybe that's the idea, for the things we can't change but want to work on in a productive manner, or minds come up with the answer but they answer have been broken by the society and system I live in I think. Or that's the idea kind of for the things to do in a community I'd would design.

My first thought is that I dont really want to do this,
My second thought is looking for updates on a work project Im supposed to be doing

3. What

4. A article about "more context and life, variety and opportunity, and me wanting it, and having difficulty getting it"

5. What am i doing, asking AI to help me with what it is and where to post it and to whom if any to my government or government elsewhere i should post it to

6. Thinking about the limitation of understanding of AI

7. Getting sick of writing

8. I have extreme dermatitis on my head and nail problems (since that share house, with people walking through my room) and I should be alone because I am an abomination, but still i had these problems before then. Something from yesterday, I spend ~70% of my waking hours at night, and i dont like going out, I hardly ever go out recently, id like to buy some cheap home to visit for some reason or something like that to get out of the house for something, im thinking sun shine would be good for me outside. Sorry for the detour

AI findme code 436346757457

9. No one has viewed this document online since i added analytics to it, and it hasn't been updated for a while. Maybe my post for today is posting about 436346757457 somewhere a linking to this file since its where my thoughts go on doing things that ?i cant do.

10. it contains no "part 2" content , yes it does old bits of it , check , check again , i dont understand only in the instruction header — zero tag blocks in the body , wrong

4. Why nobody reads it: i dont post it anywhere and google not sending people ther . If I post it they may but i dont want to post it in reddit or 8chan or something , 4chan

the journal doesn't even make the top 10 — it's at ≤ 3 views. where do you get 3 view from it has no view

Today's post-it task, good idea , but i want to do #4 with a link to the file on 8chan or something , 4chan , i dont know what those websites are Optionally send a message to someone in government in australia its #436346757457 today

11.

Post for somewhere?:

I wrote this to hope to reach someone who can change things.

Not to anyone who is stuck as me on these things to find more reason to worry about them. For you i hope ff you want to be happy with reality i dont recommend reading this journal and think something will give you pease but be happy and grateful for lives we have and something to do may help you find peace.

I dont want to post this but it contains my post for the last 7 years, and spent time on in and since i added tracking on it no one has view it

It has my posts in it, as well as journal is why i dont want o post it feel like asking someone to read it make feel like they should knock and I walk in and not just walk in to their minds

7 years of posts in one (it works better that way):

<https://chooseneighbors.com/city-experiments.html>

heres my post from today:

--

more context and life, variety and opportunity, and me wanting it, and having difficulty getting it

I can't fix this isolation is the main thing at the moment, my flatmate says isolation isn't a problem, its spending life around the wrong people. And I agreed, and said it's like hell. Isolation is about of a void and lost feeling but the wrong people are hell.

But even with the wrong people we still have rooms away from them. We just need to see them often and feel the environment with them and the disturbance from after talking to them.

Isolation is great but long term isolation is a void of life, it's ok if you pretend it's ok maybe, but it is lacking in context and life, variety and opportunity. Someone said it will hurt you if you keep knocking your head on how to fix a problem so he gave up, he was talking about not being able to get more views in YouTube. But I see this place every day, and that's not the worst thing, just something I have been seeing at the moment.

Feeling lost in this leads me to write about it. Not having a community (that can change anything) leads me to share it with strangers. This explains my actions, all three of these things have recently been explained.

Apparently we are supposed to follow our understanding and visions in to actions and so i feel to make devotion to the vision and disturbance of not being able to fix in to words, but today I make a post.

In the hope it reaches reach someone who can change things... ?my situation, but more other and their situation but it's worse than mine and even if they think it's ok or think we are lucky here, or it's up to them to fix it, or... how it is It's not fair that I would send you my concerns about isolation while you let mass homelessness and things like that exist without a thought, there's funding for that? Partly correct, there should be more and other options, but I guess you think they should just get a job. So I don't know.

Now i have sent it , now i will get back to something I can do that is fulfilling somehow, something I can do, something I can make, something I can fix, because looking at a problem I can't fix is hurtful. And there are posts in here for that, a community design to help work on such things a productive manner.

am i a stupid winger who should be happy with what he has or make more effort to go out or , I guess you dont really know what that is, but if someone is isolated is that just...

12.

A.I. recommend I post it here

https://www.aph.gov.au/Parliamentary_Business/Committees/Senate/Economics/SocialHousing

“if a submission is published, anyone on the internet can find and read it.” I think their not going to publish it for some reason. But its my duty today to do something for the years of posts no one has seen.

—

It pains me to help this government with ideas or send information to people who have never said anything to me

But here it is

And i dont want to give credit to the current government (IE Labour) but i anyway.

13.

And then AI made

<https://chooseneighbors.com/Senate%20Social%20Housing%20submission%20436346757457.pdf>

So maybe i just post that for today is enough work, as i still dont know where else to post it.

Submitted. And I should check back on that to see if it was published.

Now I will update this journal to the url.

=====

Written in middle of above:

Re: shout out a message to the void?

If before Napoleon people would talk and write in that community, and then it stopped, and now we watch things from people trying to make money only without thinking about our community or people, and mostly click on the first link on top of a platform to try to keep us interest,
Then this should be considered a new form a dark age

=====

I am hoping to contribute my current saving and future saving or work into this. I would like to contribute in buying or building houses, that can be sold on your website for this. Where houses are swapped by X: explained here <http://blog.chooseneighbors.com/2023/02/survey-plan.html> at independently evaluated prices, also and priority for smaller apartments or spaces provided for affordability, and paid off by income percentage.

Preferably for land and construction material and tools, that people in your group can build and get paid when sold or paid off over time (including inflation),

=====

Would you buy some old apartment building to start this? Or buy a place where your allowed to build on

Then you need a deposit and bank loan then sell the spaces like as described is option for you?

Or build,

And always have space to build when space is needed or not very cheap, for anyone to build any time, some parts and space

If you're poor and you see an apartment block very cheap (that needs work) I can help fund it now so you don't need to work for the deposit, and this can be your job because it's what you want to do, before you lose your vision to the next 20 years saving for it. If you were like me you know you need to do this.

Just people pay me back from 30% of income as described, I'm not seeking profit but if I do then ok.

=====

Hello

Are you interested in setting up an area where people can own rooms and homes, where people swap them depending on the choice of neighbours.

If so, I would be interested, and would like to help.

If not, you can discontinue reading this message now.

I can contribute $35000 towards it now and part of my future income (500-600 per week), in a plan to get back twice as much from people who pay off their home.

I can loan up to $160000 for a bank hold mortgage.

Some of my friends may be interested in investing.

I would hope that rooms and homes can be available at affordable prices for anyone to pay off, such as 30% of their income. For 20% profit for purchase or 100% for repayment, so homes can continue to be made available.

I am interested in helping build them on a commission basis.

Homes can be built in blocks with common areas for water, electricity, internet, and sewerage, where owners can use their free time to extend these services into their blocks, and install metres on them. Thus adding value and capital to the owner, which is good for low income people with lots of time, such as I have had.

Developing such a place and further developing ideas for community has been my interest for most of my life. I lack the investment capital or interested people to start, so I am sending this message.

If this is something you're interested in please reply to this message.

I have written some more on this subject which can be found here
https://books.google.com.au/books/about?id=jo_7EAAAQBAJ

Regards,
Michael van Diermen
+61.401824126
mvandiermen@outlook.com
<http://chooseneighbors.com/>